ROARS LIKE A LION

Landslide Reported Near Kokomo, Ind.

TWO ACRES OF LAND DISAPPEAR

And a Crater Formed Filled With a Seething, Boiling Mass of Liquid Fire.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—From Kokomo comes the following story which reads very much like one of Joe Mulhatton's fakes: In the village of Jerome, eight miles east of Kokomo, early yesterday morning the residents were thrown from their beds by a terrific explosion. Rushing to the doors and windows they were horrified to find that a quarter of a mile away, at the junction of the Wilmot river and Lily creek, fully two acres of ground had disappeared from sight. The vast gaping crater was filled with a seething, boiling mass of flame, roaring like a mighty Niagara. For eighteen hours the fire raged with unabated fury and the panic-stricken villagers began to abandon their homes.

Floods of Water.

Three weeks ago in the midst of a protracted drouth the dry wells of that vicinity suddenly and mysteriously filled up, and now from every well within a radius of mile water is flowing out the tops of the pumps. The earth is saturated with the water that oozes up to the surface, accompanied by a gaseous substance which keeps the water constantly bubbling and boiling. Cellars are filled with water and gas and fires cannot be lighted for fear of explosions. In consequence the residents are compelled to eat cold food and sit in darkness at night. The water comes in such volumes as to be beyond control, and the foundations of several houses have been washed out. The panic-stricken villagers have nearly all fled, fearing a repetition of the explosion.

"It makes me tired! People ask me—is marriage a failure? Of course 'taint; s'pose I don't know my biz—what am I here for?" If the women only keep healthy they keep in good spirits and cupid is in demand. Let every enfeebled woman know this—there's a remedy that'll cure her, the proof's positive. It does what is promised.

Here's the proof—if it doesn't do you good within reasonable time, report the fact to its makers and get your money back without a word—but you won't do it!

The remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—and it has proved itself the right remedy in nearly every case of female weakness. It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything—but it has done more to build up enfeebled and broken-down women than any other medicine known.

Farewell to My Home.

Farewell, my home, low roofed and quaint!
No more these walls will hear my plaint,
When care and trouble make me sad;
Or listen to my song when glad.
Grief, want and wrong have pressed me here,
And yet I hold the place most dear;
But strangers bid me heartless roam,
Farewell, my quaint, old-fashioned home!

Farewell! oak, elm and maple trees,
That fling your great arms to the breeze,
No more I'll see God's tender blue,
Your interlacing branches through;
Your mossy trunks in dumb prayer,
No more my tear-wet cheeks will press;
No longer 'neath your shade I dwell
My grand, old, guardian trees, farewell!

Farewell! my tiny, sloping lawn,
Soon from your borders I'll be gone.
Upon your shade and sun-kissed breast,
No more my loving eyes will rest.
Trees, lawn and low-roofed house, farewell!
May peace and plenty with you dwell.
With aching heart and weary feet,
Homeless, I pass into the street.

STELLA D. C. STEES.

The True Laxative Principle

Of the plants used in manufacturing the pleasant remedy, Syrup of Figs, has a permanently beneficial effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral solutions usually sold as medicines, are permanently injurious. Being well-informed, you will use the true remedy only. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup company.

The Finest Oysters.

There has yet to be found the enthusiastic naturalist who can trace by any line of consanguinity or physical evolution the line of ascent from the oyster to the monkey. From the man to the monkey is easily traceable, but at the monkey the chain of descent stops. But this is nothing so long as the oyster votes the right ticket and keeps on his own side of the fence. Man, however, unlike the monkey, will not abate his conquest until he has subdued all the earth. In so doing he has many times assailed the oyster in his native haunts and dragged him forth and downed him. Speaking of devouring recalls the fact that while you are devouring you may as well devour the best, and these are always the Anchor Brand. Dettenthaler keeps them for sale at retail and wholesale. No well regulated family should be without them. And then again Dettenthaler has fish and game of all kinds and spring chickens and ducks. There is nothing usually to be found about a first class fish and game market that he does not keep.
