BERDELL PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

The Cases Against Brady and Kellogg Called Up and Bail Required.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—M. C. Berdell appeared in the Criminal Court this morning, accompanied by Messrs. Merrick and Ker. Judge Wylie asked Berdell if he desired to withdraw his plea of guilty of conspiracy in the Star route case. Berdell answered in the affirmative. "Under the circumstances," said Judge Wylie, "the Court has no hesitation in allowing that to be done. One man cannot be guilty of a conspiracy. The jury has acquitted the others, and that is enough."

Mr. Merrick said: "The Government enters a nolle pros. for him." The Court directed the Clerk to enter the nolle pros.

After the organization of the juries for the June term, Mr. Ker called up the case against William Pitt Kellogg, charged with receiving money in connection with a mail contract while in the United States Senate. Mr. Ker said he understood that Mr. Kellogg was under bail. Mr. William A. Cook obtained permission to despatch a messenger for Mr. Kellogg, who was with his counsel, Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Ker then called up the two cases against Thomas J. Brady charging him with receiving money while Second Assistant Postmaster-General, in consideration for increasing certain mail service. Mr. Ker said that bail had not been furnished in these cases, and asked for a process to bring Gen. Brady into court. Judge Wylie replied that Mr. Ker could have the process if he wanted it, and the Court would make it returnable to-morrow.

Mr. Wilson came into court and said that Mr. Kellogg would waive the reading of the indictment in his case and proceed to file certain pleas in abatement. Judge Wylie replied that Mr. Kellogg must waive the reading of the indictment in person. Mr. Kellogg soon appeared and did this.

Mr. Wilson then presented his pleas. One of them attacks the construction of the Grand Jury that found the indictment. Another plea raises the point that the orders of the Court were disregarded in the failure to return an indictment corresponding with the presentment. Others complain of Mr. Ker's presence in the Grand Jury room, and his participation in the deliberations of the Grand Jury. "The whole thing is to the effect that we made up the jury," said Mr. Ker to a reporter. At his request Judge Wylie fixed Saturday next for hearing argument upon the pleas.

Mr. A. B. Williams, for Gen. Brady, asked that the warrant ordered to issue in that case be withdrawn, stating that Gen. Brady was already under $50,000 bail in the two arrests and original Star route indictment. The Court said that bail was necessary in this case, but consented to withhold the warrant upon Mr. Williams's promise to cause Gen. Brady's attendance in court to-morrow.

STREET DUEL IN TEXAS.

Two Passers By Shot and One Killed, but Neither of the Principals Hurt.

COLUMBIA, Tex., June 18. Charles Winsterd, a resident of this place, and one Thomas, an itinerant gambler, had had some dispute in a gambling room, and, meeting on the street, began shooting at each other with revolvers. Five or six shots were exchanged, when one from Winsterd's pistol struck William Eberling in the neck, killing him instantly. A ball from Thomas's pistol struck Robert Henry in the leg, making a painful and serious wound. Winsterd was uninjured. Thomas left immediately, and it is not known whether he was hurt. Many others narrowly escaped. Eberling was one of the best young men in the town, and is a great loss to a widowed mother. There have been no arrests.

The Hostile Apaches will Not be Admitted to the San Carlos Agency.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Indian Agent Wilcox telegraphs from the San Carlos Agency:

"Gen. Crook telegraphs from Willcox that between 400 and 500 Indian prisoners, requiring to be fed, should be here in four or five days. The presence of renegade bucks on the reservation will dissatisfy friendly Indians, excite fear and distrust among white settlers in Arizona and New Mexico, and in my opinion, will result in adding to their past bloody history a new list of murders, rapes, child stealing, and robbing. I earnestly protest against so dangerous an experiment. In answer to your despatch, Secretary Teller reiterated his instructions to the agent to refuse to receive the Indians mentioned in the despatch, and stated that there need not fear an attempt by the military authorities to place the Indians upon the reservation against his will.

A Sail in the Pilgrim.

The million-dollar Fall River steamer Pilgrim made her trial trip yesterday. She is the flagship of the line, and was commanded by Benjamin M. Simmons. Five hundred ladies and gentlemen witnessed the animated picture of the barber and boy from the three hope decks. John Rosch, who built the steamer, went sailing about in the rain in a white summer suit. In the evening the vessel was again thrown upon for the inspection of another throng of guests. The Pilgrim is the largest inland passenger and freight steamer in the world. She is a ship within a ship, built to float her bottom should be stove in. She has 193 water-tight compartments and water-tight collision bulkheads. Her deck is 384 feet long, and her 912 electric lamps are fed by ten miles of wire, and over three miles of carpet cover the floors. The grand saloon can hold 1,400 passengers without crowding. It has 18 staterooms, and there are eighty more on the gallery deck. The freight storage rooms hold fifty car loads of freight.

Miss Leonarde's Laudanum Bottle.

Helyn Leonarde, who shot Mrs. Sarah C. Smith on Friday, is still confined in the Jefferson Market prison, where she will remain until Mrs. Smith, who is improving, appears to prosecute her, or is well enough to warrant Justice Gardner in accepting bail. She has industriously read all the published accounts of the shooting. A number of women called upon her yesterday, but she refused to see any but one particular friend.

Warden Finn went to the prison yesterday to inquire about a vial of laudanum which Matron Burris found in the prisoner's possession on Sunday. Miss Leonarde said that she had voluntarily surrendered the drug to Matron Burris, and that she had not the slightest intention of using it for self-destruction. She bought it for an aching tooth.

Salesman Sheerer Arrested in a Pawnshop.

Whitney & Matthews, dry goods commission merchants at 85 Leonard street, notified inspector Byrnes on June 16 that they were being robbed of silk handkerchiefs and silks. Yesterday Detectives Adams and Crowley saw a salesman in the store named James L. Sheerer enter a pawnshop in Sixth avenue. After waiting for him to pawn a piece of silk they arrested him. In his pockets were found fourteen pawn tickets representing eighty handkerchiefs and twelve pieces of silk, which had been pawned at different places for about $150. The goods, which Sheerer is supposed to have taken are valued at $2,400.
