NOTED SCIENTIST IS ACQUITTED AT LAST

Berlin, Oct. 28.—(Associated Press Correspondence.)—After two sensational trials, the first of which resulted in a conviction, Prof. Dr. Oscar Vogt, director of the royal neurobiological institute and one of the most distinguished scientists of Germany, has been acquitted of the charge of "gross nuisance."

The facts concerning the alleged assault, even at the first trial, soon faded into the background, and the whole issue hinged on the question of whether or not a court would rule or against the public use of French.

The conviction and sentence to five months imprisonment of Gabriele Barthel, a Lorraine girl, for having insulted the Prussian army by referring to its members as "boches" has aroused an even greater wave of discussion that gradually has extended all over Germany.

Legal lights even have been called upon to render an opinion as to whether the word "boche" really is an insult or not, and the answer without exception, backed up by judicial decisions, is that the spirit in which it is uttered determines the innocence or guilt of the speaker.

Judge Horch of Meissen has been appealed to for a decision regarding the word, and from a variety of precedents, largely French, he unhesitatingly declares it is an insult, even though its inherent meaning be not so.

STUDENT LIFE OF FRANCE GOES ON

Paris, Oct. 20.—(Associated Press Correspondence.)—The student life of France goes on unintermittently though somewhat modified by war. The mobilization drew more upon professors than pupils last year.

At the Louis-le-Grand lyceum the oldest in Paris, there are 900 students as against 800 last year and 1,000 average. More than 150 of last year's pupils this year are in the army. Only twenty-five per cent of the usual number of students are registered at the Fine Art school and other sections of the university have suffered equally; the medical school even more, most of the professors being in the sanitary service.

In the art schools the tendency to modernism as not been shaken but it has been cleared of freaks and extravagancies. The artist student is taught to take nature and improve upon what ordinary mortals see of it, but in such rational form that any one can readily distinguish forms and features.

The subjects are serious. The material is largely marine, very little of athletic or other war scenes, excepting in the work of students who have been or still are at the front.

In all schools, primary and advanced there is an increased interest in history, geography and political economy.

Cured Boy of Croup.

Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommend it to every one as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It clears air passages, soothes and heals. Sold everywhere."

NATIONAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE MEETS NOV. 17

Dayton, O., Nov. 2.—The National Municipal League will hold its twenty-first annual meeting in Dayton, November 17-19 in conjunction with which the City Managers Association of America as well as the Ohio Municipal League and the Civil Service Reform League of Ohio will hold conventions. There will also be joint sessions with the Urban Universities Association.

The chief feature of the National Municipal League's meeting will be the discussion of a model charter based upon the city manager plan and the utilization of experts in municipal government. In fact, the whole question of experts will receive extended attention at the hands of the various speakers, for the committee holds that the functions of municipal government have so grown and developed that their proper administration requires the services of men who have made a life study of them.

Civil education is another question that will come up for extended consideration and in this the league and the Urban Universities Association will take the leading part, with particular attention to university education in municipal affairs.

DR. JUICHI SOYEDA HEADS JAPANESE GOVERNMENT RY.

Tokio, Oct. 30.—(Associated Press Correspondence.)—Dr. Juichi Soyeda, who is well-known in the United States through his investigation there of the California land question, has been appointed president of the Imperial government railroads. He has had a long business experience. For over ten years he was president of the Industrial Bank of Japan. During this period he rendered valuable service in the monetary reform of Japan and in the introduction of foreign capital into the industrial circles. He went to Paris and personally conducted the negotiations with French financiers which resulted in the formation of the Franco-Japanese Bank.

Dr. Soyeda received a great deal of praise for his reports on the California question. He constantly emphasized the necessity of friendliness with the United States and argued for a policy of education and mutual understanding.

What is "Punch"?

What is that force in an advertisement that makes you buy the thing advertised?

What is that enables one man to sell two or three cars while the other fellow isn't selling any?

We call it "punch" in a general way, but what is "punch"?

"Punch" is vitality. It is vigor with a voltage behind it. It is "power" coupled with "push". It is power, personality, persistency and pungency done up in the same package.

It is knowing enough—not too much.

It is talking enough—not too much.

It is the correct timing up of a situation.

It is knowing how to say and do forceful things in a forceful way.

It is knowing when to pull the order blank.

It is the ability to get out of a tight place with the order.

It is dominating the interview and coming away with the check.

"Punch" is just plain, everyday "horse-sense" with a "kick" in it.—Ford Times.

A Harsh Answer.

Ho—Do you think obtaining the vote would make woman masculine? She—Why, no. It hasn't had that effect on you.—London Opinion.

ATLANTA BASEBALL FRANCHISE IS SOLD

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—Frank H. Reynolds, a local insurance man, stated tonight that an agreement had been reached by himself and several associates here for the purchase of the franchise of the Atlanta Baseball club of the Southern association. Efforts were being made, he added, to get Charlie Frank, former manager of the New Orleans club, to manage the Atlanta team next season.

It was reported Frank would have an interest in the local franchise whether or not he became manager, but Reynolds declined to confirm this or to name any other associated with himself in the purchase. He stated, however, that Art Candler, Jr., one of those mentioned as being part-purchaser, had no connection with the deal.

Frank, who until the past two seasons has been associated with Southern Association baseball since 1901, when he helped reorganize the league, now is under contract as a scout for the Cleveland American. Reynolds said, and is seeking his release from that contract. Should he become manager of the Atlanta team it is understood he would become part owner.

The purchase price agreed upon was said to be about $75,000 and to include only the franchise and rights to the players. The Georgia Railway and Power company, which has owned the franchise for some ten years, was expected to retain ownership of Ponce de Leon park, and to probably lease it to the new owners of the franchise.

Self-sacrificing Patriot.

The youngster had a grievance, which he confided to his mother. "Mother, you know the way me an' Johnny Smith play I'm Indian and he soldier?"

"Yes dear; what of it?" "Well, if I don't let him lick me every time we play he says I ain't patriotic."—Century Magazine.

Adequate Insurance Would Have Prevented Some of These Hardships---

The following cases were just a few of those found right in the City of Newark by Mutual Benefit Home Office employees who served as investigators for the Home Office Kris Kringle Work in December, 1914:

- 7 CHILDREN—Eldest 15. Father left enough to bury him, that is all. Family supported by mother taking in washing. 7 CHILDREN—Father Fireman, mother dead. Tessie said: "Santa Claus never comes to our house." We saw that he did last year. 5 CHILDREN—Father dead, eldest boy 11, working and earning four dollars per week. (Normally the lad ought to be in school.) 2 CHILDREN—Father died of T. B. Mother supports family by washing. 2 CHILDREN—Father dead. Mother supports family. 4 CHILDREN—Father in Hospital 15 weeks from injury. One child died during his confinement. 14 year old daughter earning $1.00 a week by home work. 6 CHILDREN—Depend on neighbors for food, father presumably dead. 1 CHILD—Mother works in laundry, father in home for indigent. 3 CHILDREN—Father died last June, Mother now seeking work to support family. 2 CHILDREN—Mother works in Clark Thread Company to help support home. 3 CHILDREN—Father died 10 months ago, Mother ill; 17 year old daughter supporting family. OLD LADY—75 years of age living almost entirely on Charity. 2 CHILDREN—Mother dying, conditions extremely poor. 5 CHILDREN—Husband died two months ago. Family in absolute want. WIDOW OUT OF WORK. WIDOW—Washing for family support. 5 CHILDREN—Husband "never sick." Brought home dead a month ago. Enough insurance for burial purposes. Family now in dire want.

The Kris Kringle Committees were able to furnish gifts for about 93 families and 370 children. Besides, money in the sum of $2.00 each was given to 31 families for Christmas dinners. As stated by President Freilinghuysen in his address to the staff on December 17th, the Kris Kringle movement exemplified the name and ideals of the Company, and was of mutual benefit to every one. The Kris Kringle work helped some, but how much more would even a very little Mutual Benefit insurance have helped, for many of the families were evidently people who had lived in comfortable circumstances at one time, before the loss of the bread winner.

Allied Warships East Turk Ports. London Nov. 1.—Four allied torpedo boat destroyers Casley, Hammond, the seaport of Tokosma, Asia, an Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph states. The Turkish forts, the custom buildings, the government residence, the old barracks and a large part of the Turkish quarters were destroyed. The war vessels ceased firing after two hours. It has been maintained over a period of years with the increasing momentum, the unintermitted vigor, and the practical results which this movement can show. The medical profession, the nursing profession, the State Grange with its membership of over 100,000 men and women, the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the State Federation of Labor, and a number of fraternal organizations are assisting actively in the movement. The state has its own hospital for indigent cases at Hay Brook in the Adirondacks, and performs certain duties through the state department of health. Many of our soldiers have tuberculosis associate established or pervasion. A rapidly increasing number of local school boards are providing fresh air classes and schools. "I have been somewhat slow to learn that the state has a small part to play in the old and sweeping movement. It should act as the standard coordinating agency, as the state leader, and as the chief agency. In no other state is a movement so broad and so practical as ours. It is a vital need here, in the country, and the nation's health is at stake."
