DENVER NEWS

The Denver graded school, which has been in session since October 11th, is making splendid progress in all phases of its work.

The pupils of this school have manifested a great interest in their work from the very beginning. Thereby, they have reflected credit to themselves, encouraged their teachers, and

One feature that has been introduced into the Denver school this session is that of marching to chapel, and into the class rooms after recess. So far this plan has worked admirably well.

Two medals have been offered to the pupils of the Denver school. Miss Bolt has offered a medal to the pupil in her room who shows the most marked improvement in reading during the session. Mr. Corbett will present a medal to that pupil—one of the advanced grades who attains to the distinction of making the highest average grade for the entire year.

The Denver School Improvement association met at the school building on last Friday afternoon, and discussed several important questions pertaining to the school. The association decided upon increasing the number of books in the school library and providing the school with a good dictionary. The selection of the dictionary was to be left entirely with the teachers of the school. Also, Mrs. Hammond, president of the association appointed an entertainment committee. Mr. V. P. Corbet, Miss Emma Bolt, and Miss Marie Bowie were asked to act on this committee. Mr. Corbett was also asked to give his supervision to the culture of the rose garden, which the ladies of the community hope to have planted on the school grounds. Finally, the president appointed a yard committee, the chief duty of which will be to prevent the cutting of the yards on rainy days by the patrons carelessly driving immediately in front of the school building. Mr. Fred Garrison is chief member of this committee.

Mrs. Hammond wishes to announce for the information of the members, that the Improvement association will meet on the third Friday of every month hereafter.

Officers of the Denver school for session 1915-16:

Mr. B. C. George, chairman of trustees.

Mr. W. B. Bakew, clerk of board of trustees.

Mr. Rothrock, trustee.

Mr. V. P. Corbett, principal.

Miss Emma Bolt, assistant teacher.

Miss Marie Bowie, assistant teacher.

BIG GINNERY WAS BURNED LAST NIGHT

Plant Near Neal's Creek Church Wiped Out By Fire.

The Neal's Creek ginnery was destroyed by fire shortly before midnight last night. The gin was reported to have caught on fire about closing time the afternoon before and it is supposed that the fire originated from sparks or some fire left in the cotton from the afternoon fire. The original fire started from a piece of metal being sucked into the gins and striking the saws, making a spark from which the flames started.

The ginnery was a three-gin affair and was owned by the Anderson phosphate and Oil company of this city. Mr. Caltoway Milford was in charge of the gin and when he closed down for the day there were no signs of fire. The fire broke out about 11 o'clock and burned steadily until after midnight.

Seed reported to be worth from $1,000 to $1,200 was burned and one bale of cotton owned by Mr. John Eskew was in the gin and also was burned.

This gin was located near Neal's Creek church and has been doing a good business this season.

Every Man Needs An Anchor

WHATEVER else you are compelled to give up during this period of readjustment, don't give up your insurance. It is a hard-times proposition—that is, you need it more when business is below normal than you do when things are coming your way.

In this modern day of uncertainty, insurance is the one thing that a fellow can count upon in adversity. Other investments may prove of no account. Many a man has believed himself to be in good financial condition, only to awaken in the morning to find that he wasn't worth a cent. But the man who is insured is absolutely certain that in the event he is called to the Great Beyond those dependent upon him will have something to count upon.

Not only should one manage to keep up his insurance at this time, but he should take out more of it, if it is at all possible. For the man unskilled in handling money, there is no other investment any safer—and even the fellow who supposes he knows all about handling money is frequently mistaken. If there had not been a place in the economy of things for the insurance companies they would long ago have been forced out of business—Editorial, Dayton (O.), Daily News, January 13, 1915.

WHEN a man insures with the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company he invests his savings in as strong and safe an institution as there is in the world. Furthermore, under a Mutual Benefit policy by taking advantage of any one of the valuable settlement options, he may safeguard the interests of his beneficiaries who may not be versed in financial matters.

Such a policy is the strongest kind of an anchor to windward. In fact, such protection is essential in disturbed times like these!
