CHIQUOLA K. P. LODGE TO GIVE BIG BANQUET

District Delegates and Local Members to Be Entertained in Style.

Chioula Lodge of K. of P., is making plans for one of the biggest entertainments in its history for the meeting of the district delegates in Anderson on November 16. The committee of arrangements asked for bids for a banquet for the delegates and the members of the local lodge and the Piedmont Cafe was given the contract for the supper. The banquet will be held at the Acme Cafe and will be attended by a large number of Knights, a few city outsiders and several newspaper men.

Mr. John Madden, who is a member of the committee on arrangements, has asked that all members of the local lodges who intend attending the banquet will please send in their names to some member of the committee on arrangements. This will be a great help to them, as they are in doubt now as to the number of persons they will have on hand at the banquet.

District Deputy James Craig has asked that all district lodges, those in Anderson, Abbeville and Greenwood counties hold their meetings at once and appoint members now, sending in the name of the lodge and the number of delegates they will send to Anderson.

All members and delegates are requested to meet at the K. of P. hall in Anderson at 7 o'clock on the afternoon of the 16th. The lodge and the delegates will march to the cafe from the hall.

ECONOMIC BENEFITS

War Stimulates Men Physically and Mentally

In his article "Will Prosperity or Poverty Follow the War?" in the November World's Work, Theodore H. Price effects of the great war and of war generally:

"In France, England and Germany the war has already put most idlers at work and made men willing to labor longer and more efficiently, and the fact that war always has this effect probably explains the paradox of the prosperity by which it is nearly always followed.

"It comes to this: The increase of wealth is in proportion to the intensity and efficiency of human industry, for which war is the greatest stimulus thus far known.

"War is, in fact, stimulating to mankind both physically and mentally.

"It not only makes men willing to labor longer hours, but it leads them to devise ways of making their labor more efficient.

"With every great war there is an increase in the use and invention of labor-saving machinery.

"In Europe, the area of railroad building that succeeded the Napoleonic wars increased the world's wealth by many times the sum the wars had cost. In our own country, industrial coordination and the use of automatic machinery was so rapidly extended after the war of the Confederacy that our national wealth, estimated at 7 billion dollars in 1859, had grown to 187 billion in 1912."

Smelting a Bore.

Richard Harding Davis is much troubled by bores. He has a short way with them, however.

Mr. Davis, for example, sat in the smoking room of a Bar Harbor hotel one evening with a cigar and a novel when a bore said to him from across the room:

"Well, sir, is Wilson too proud to fight or not?"

Mr. Davis looked up calmly from his novel, blew a cloud into the air, and said:

"Wilson? What Wilson?"

"Why, Woodrow Wilson, of course!" said the astonished bore. "President Woodrow Wilson! Did you ever hear of him?"

"No," said Mr. Davis, "I never did," and he yawned and took up his novel again.

The bore regarded him darkly for 10 minutes. Then he attacked him again.

"Looking kind of black for Bernpapers, hey?" he said.

"Bernstorff?" said Mr. Davis. "Who the deuce is Bernstorff?"

"What! You never heard of him, either?" shouted the bore.

"No," said Mr. Davis, "never!"

Five minutes of silence. Then the bore took a long pull at his glass and said bitterly:

"I guess you never heard of Adam, did you?"

Mr. Davis frowned as if in intent thought.

"Adam? Adam?" he said. "What's his last name?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Waste of Money.

The present war conditions in Europe make it necessary for postoffice officials to state that while they give receipts for money sent to foreign countries they will not be held responsible if the money does not reach those to whom it is sent, says The New York Post. An Irish housemaid in Boston sent her mother $10 for a birthday gift, and when speaking about it later to her mistress said:

"An' a fool was to be makin' so much. Sure an' if she isn't goin' to get it towe, would of been a milt'ry to of kin!"

"I told my girl the other night that if she didn't marry me I'd have my self in front of the house."

"What did she say?"

"She said: 'Oh, don't do it. You know that father doesn't want you hangin' around here.'—Philadelphia

NEW CONFERENCE TO MEET IN SPARTANBURG

The Upper South Carolina conference will convene in Spartanburg, November 24. A special meeting of the state board of missions and the presiding elders of both conferences has been arranged for November 23. This meeting of the presiding elders is held to arrange any transfers from one conference to the other that might be desired by the ministers. All Methodist ministers may request a change from one section of the state to another; that is from one conference to the other. These requests are granted, provided of course that the transfers from one conference are equal to the transfers of the other.

The meeting in Spartanburg is especially interesting as it is the first convention of conference since the division of the state of South Carolina into two distinct conferences. The Lower South Carolina conference comprises that territory south of a line running parallel with Columbia across the state. The upper state conference is the rest of the state and has a membership of 49,000.

The conference in Spartanburg will show what results the division has made. Rev. John W. Speake, pastor of the St. John's Methodist church of this city said that the division was good for the state conference and that the results of this past year's work will show up well. He stated that there was considerable opposition to the plan to divide the conference, but now even those who fought the proposition have stated they believe the division was the best thing possibly under the circumstances.

Anderson people going to Spartanburg will be numerous. The conference attracts a great many visitors to any city in which it is held.

Big Gun Silencer.

(Yorkshire Weekly Post.) Several things give away the position of a big gun when it is fired, the two chief being the noise and the smoke. Thanks to the smokeless powder, however, the latter has practically been done away with.

The silencing of a big gun is a more difficult problem, and, though in the case of rifles and small guns the report can be made almost negligible, the gigantic rush of gases when a big shell is fired prevents a complete silencing.

A silencer which the French are using is so effective that no sound of firing can be heard over a greater distance than a hundred yards or so.

The silencer is attached to the muzzle of the gun. As the shell leaves the gun a small shutter springs up and prevents the explosive gases escaping in the usual way. It is the sudden fierce rush of the gas which causes the "bang" when a gun is fired.

The gas passes out through the two channels with nothing like the rush that is caused in the ordinary way. It is impossible to stop the gases escaping altogether, for the pressure is so terrific that the gun would be blown to pieces.

Ugly Bereft.

Mrs. Barron was paying a visit to Mrs. Atkins, whose husband was away fighting at the front. The visitor found the soldier's wife in a paroxysm of grief, says The Rochester Times.

"Whatever is the matter?" asked Mrs. Barron. "Ain't yer 'eard? Bill's in 'ospital with both arms off?"

Mrs. Barron was obviously shocked with a view to easing her grief, however, she said: "But the government will be sure to provide for you?"

"That ain't it," was the tearful response. "Who's-a-goin' to turn the mangle for me on washin' days now, I'd like to know?"

We can't all get rich in Wall street because some of us have got to save a few dollars to lend later to the men who are now buying war stocks.—Grand Rapids Press.

Barrowers—Beware!

Gophers and prairie dogs are the bane of western farmers, while in the east woodchucks are the type of burrowing animals that cause the illers of the soil to forget some of the things the dominie tells them on Sundays.

Don Leonardo Ruiz, a California rancher, says "dynamite is the proper medicine to give ground squirrels, gophers, prairie dogs, etc."

Take an inch and a half or two inches of dynamite. Put it in a bit of cloth or several thicknesses of paper to form a small round cartridge. Tie the cloth or paper firmly about one end of a piece of fuse twelve or fourteen inches long, but do not use a cap.

Insert one of these charges well into the mouth of every hole and pack loose dirt around the fuse, leaving enough of the end outside to light easily. Light the fuse and go on to the next hole. There will be no explosion; the dynamite will simply burn, filling the hole with dense, poisonous fumes that will almost instantly suffocate and then kill every living thing inside.

Advertisement for meat forms. Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a full misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, distaste, your stomach sour, tongue in coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delicious effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder

EDUCATION RALLY HELD AT COLLEGE

Distinguished Speakers and Good Music Charmed Large Audience.

The educational rally at Anderson college was held Tuesday night and was a success. A good crowd was present and heard the addresses. Dr. Currell, Prof. Daniel and Prof. Thompson all made good speeches and their addresses were supplemented by music rendered by Messrs. Von Hassel, and McCauley and Mrs. Martin and Misses Stranathan and Devane.

Mr. Thompson was the first speaker of the program and he made a short talk on education. He spoke interestingly of the changes which have been brought about since he began his work as an educator. Dr. Currell spoke on the "Fraction of Happiness" and his talk was particularly enjoyed. Prof. Daniel spoke on civic work. His address showed how well he is acquainted in such matters.

Dr. Kinard was very much pleased with the results of the meeting and expressed his desire to have another such meeting in Anderson. Dr. Kinard presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Advertisement for fine diplomacy. Smith and Jones looked much alike and are frequently mistaken for each other, says The St. Louis Post-Dispatch. One day Smith was in a certain big hotel and went in the dining room for dinner. The negro waiter busily brushed off the crumbs and said: "Why, how is you, Mr. Jones—how is you? I's glad to see you. I hasn't seen you since I waited on your table when you at used to have a little game upstairs."

Anderson, S. C.,      Belton, S. C.,      Greenville, S. C.

We are recommending our 10-1-0 and 10-2-0 and 10-2-1/2-0 for wheat and oats this fall when you sow it.

This will give it stalk and grains in the head, and that is what you want in grain. If you will sow five acres in wheat and five in oats this fall, after preparing the land well and fertilizing it well with either of these goods, you will find it advantageous. The 10-2-1-0 is an especially fine goods for grain. Let us hear from you.
