To insure prompt delivery, complaints of non-delivery in the city of Anderson should be made to the Circulation Department before 9 a. m. and a copy will be sent at once.

All checks and drafts should be drawn to The Anderson Intelligencer.

ADVERTISING

Rates will be furnished on application. No advertising discontinued except on written order.

The Intelligencer will publish brief and rational letters on subjects of general interest when they are accompanied by the names and addresses of the authors and are not of a defamatory nature.

In order to avoid delays on account of personal absence, letters to the Intelligencer intended for publication should not be addressed to any individual connected with the paper, but simply to The Intelligencer.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1915.

As skirts grow shorter necks grow longer. Jack Frost gets mighty familiar on short notice.

Ever see the like of "agents" as are going the rounds now? Police court offenders know what it is to follow the trail of the lonesome flea.

An exchange says Bryan was left "high and dry." He has always been the latter.

Churchill Says Push Dardanelles Campaign.—Headline. All right, Church, how much are you pushing?

Returning hunters allege that the coverts are unusually large this season. Proof of the pudding, etc.

We hope they will get that story about Kitchener resigning denied before winter is over.

The Teutons are making for the heart of Turkey while Americans are on the road to the honorable bird's nest.

Nothing that ten people are to be tried for five murders in Anderson, the Spartanburg Journal asks if it requires two men to kill another in this county. On one or two occasions it has taken a whole mob to do the work.

"What Has Become of the Old Time Hell?" asks an evangelist. Sorry we can't supply you with the information, Brother, but we have no notion of going in that direction to find out.

From the way statesmen are falling into line for woman's suffrage, we infer that our statesmen are either unexpectedly oblivious or unexpectedly gifted in reading the feminist handwriting on the wall.

There are only 3,000 exhibits in the government's suit against the former directors of the New Haven railroad, and it will only take three or four months to get them on record. Some of the more optimistic lawyers hope that the trial can be completed in six months, but it may take a year.

Which you father be, one of the accused directors, or the trial judge, or the court stenographer?

GRATITUDE TO ENGLAND

A citizen who disapproves of the critical attitude the United States has taken toward Great Britain reminds us that our exports have increased about 100 per cent and our favorable trade balance nearly 300 per cent.

He seems to think it highly ungrateful of us, then, to demand that Great Britain stop interfering with such of our export trade as she disapproves of.

It's a curious sort of reasoning. There's no question that our great increase of exports to the Allies has been facilitated by British control of the sea. But for all that, it doesn't follow that we owe Great Britain any particular debt.

If naval conditions were reversed, and Germany controlled the seas, the exports now going to the Allies in such volume would naturally go to the German powers. In that case we should not owe Germany any more gratitude than we now owe England.

FARM COMMUNITIES

"Heretofore, in rural land development," says Benton MacKays of the United States forest service, "it has always been the single farm that has been opened up."

In laying out farms, each community would be grouped around some center, preferably a shipping point on a railway. The families occupying these farms would then constitute a sort of rural town.

Undoubtedly the chief obstacle to modern pioneering is the loneliness of the pioneer farm. And that obstacle exists also in most of the older communities, where farms have been laid out as separate units rather than parts of an organized rural community.

HOW TO ENFORCE TREATIES

European socialists have a plan for compelling the observance of treaties. As set forth by Edgar Milhand, professor of international law in the University of Geneva, Switzerland, the way to make treaties sacred is to "relieve all signatories of any treaty of any obligation toward a violator of it."

How this plan would work is exemplified by the case of Belgium. He explains that, when Germany violated the treaty guaranteeing Belgium's neutrality, all the other nations that were parties to that treaty would have turned against her.

armies pass through her territory to attack Germany, in punishment for a treaty Germany had broken.

It seems to follow, that the way to insure the peace of Europe would be to have all the nations sign treaties guaranteeing each other's territory and essential rights. And then if any of the nations dared to commit any aggression against another, the rest would automatically combine against her, under the sanction of law.

A LINE OF DOPE

Weather Forecast—Fair Thursday; Friday partly cloudy.

Anderson bankers are looking forward to the meeting of the Third District Bankers' association which will be held in Greenville, Nov. 23.

Yesterday afternoon while a meeting was in progress at the city hall, the purpose of which was to impress the city fathers with the importance of keeping premises clean for the prevention of fires, the fire bell sounded.

The banquet given this evening by the Wesley Bible class of St. John's church promises to be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever given in Anderson.

A telegram received in Anderson yesterday morning announced the death of Mr. Thomas M. Felkel at his home in Ellores.

"I was well pleased with the attendance at the Palmetto this afternoon," stated Manager Pinkston last night. "The house was nearly filled with ladies who took advantage of the special matinee for them."

Al Shaffer's Boys and Girls company continue to delight large audiences at the Palmetto.

The condition of James Elliott, the boy who was injured when his bicycle collided with a dray wagon on Tuesday afternoon, was reported better yesterday.

Mr. J. H. Walker, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America of New York, was a business visitor in the city yesterday and yesterday afternoon addressed a meeting of the strikers at the Brogan Mill.

Joe Trowbridge has gone to Atlanta, Ga., on a business trip. This is strictly on the quiet, but it is understood that he is planning better things at the Anderson theatre.

Mr. Archie L. Todd received a letter yesterday announcing the death of Mr. Carroll Todd, which occurred at his home in Waxahatchee, Texas, Monday afternoon.

Messrs. Colpoys and Bondhelm, special agents of the United States department of commerce and labor, returned to Anderson yesterday.

The arrangement by which the gas electric car brings western mail into Anderson every night, while a little better than the old service, will not be of much more service to the business men of Anderson.

A charter has been granted to the Ranson and Donald Drug store of Williamston, with a capital of $2,500.

The Owl Drug store has set the pace in Anderson by the inauguration into their business, sanitary drinking cups to be used at their soda fountain.

The R. J. Pool place, located north-east of the city, has been sold by Mr. R. Bailey Pool to Mr. G. H. Ballew and Dr. J. O. Sanders.

New British Commander in the Dardanelles

General Munro has been sent to the Dardanelles to take the place of General Ian Hamilton by the British.

Should Disavow It. The action of the commander of the British cruiser in sending a party to board an American steamer in Progress, Mexico, the other night constitutes an affront against the United States.

Joe Trowbridge has gone to Atlanta, Ga., on a business trip. This is strictly on the quiet, but it is understood that he is planning better things at the Anderson theatre.

Mr. Archie L. Todd received a letter yesterday announcing the death of Mr. Carroll Todd, which occurred at his home in Waxahatchee, Texas, Monday afternoon.

The Crux of the Clothes Question

YOU'RE the one to be pleased; you know what you want better than we or the neighbors do; personal satisfaction is the thing in clothes.

Our stock surges with suggestions for the comfort and good looks that make a man pleased with himself and with his purchase. We believe the smart, sensible styling, the staunch hand tailoring, the sturdy wool fabrics of these B-O-E suits and overcoats express just the way you feel about clothes.

GOOD TIME NOW TO ADVERTISE BUSINESS

Dayton, O., Nov. 17.—In the convention of salesmen of the National Cash Register Company, gathered here from all parts of this continent, reports were made indicating the general improvement of business everywhere.

On the basis of these reports, John H. Patterson, president and general manager of the Cash Register Company, predicted that the approaching era of prosperity would probably exceed anything this country has ever known.

Reviewed the business depression of the previous two years. This, he said, had affected all lines—agriculture, mining, industry, commerce, and finance.

"Now," he continued, "the boom is on. Agricultural interests are the first to feel it. The farmers have record-breaking crops, with a big demand. Confidence has been re-established. Various industries have picked up, one after another. Then the stores needed goods, and factory wheels began to move."

"We have three big federal organizations taking care of these various interests. First, the Interstate Commerce Commission; then came the Federal Trade Commission; and finally, the Federal Reserve Board, with its chain of reserve banks. The value of these three boards or commissions to the country cannot be estimated."

SITUATION IS DISQUIETING

allies are confronted with the imminent peril of an outflanking movement. Today in the Bulgarian hands.

While the military situation is darker, from the allies' standpoint the diplomatic phase in the near eastern venture is somewhat more favorable.

Along the eastern front interest centers on the attempted recrossing of the Styx, where the Austrians and Germans claim important successes.

Paris, Nov. 17.—After a violent attack repeated with important forces against Cicevros, says a Havas Salonki dispatch, the Bulgarians retired to the heights of Archangel leaving numerous dead and wounded.

Paris, Nov. 17.—A Havas dispatch from Salonki, filed yesterday, says reliable news indicates that the Serbians are defending Babuna Pass with only one thousand infantry.
