Winter lingering in the lap of Spring.

A store that sells many kinds of things and many of each kind, can sell 'em cheaper of course. It costs less to buy by the thousand than by the hundred, and rent and other expenses are less for a department than a store.

This explains our $3 derby, $5 dress-suit case, $5 patent-leather shoe, $2.75 soft hat, 50-cent neckties (which, by the way, are exceedingly pretty) light overcoats at a third or a half less than tailors' prices.

We want more business—that accounts for our selling short-trouser boys' clothes, hats, shoes, furnishings, at cost.

Your money back if you want it.
