AS TO SILVERWARE

The "Dry Goods Economist" has been looking into the silverware business—buying, comparing. This is copied exactly from their issue of the 15th inst:

"Among the articles compared were two shirt waist sets, comprising a pair of link buttons and four shirt studs. Each set weighed 142 grains. They were not merely similar, but were identical in design and value, being made by the same manufacturer. One set was bought from Hilton, Hughes & Co. for 58c; the other was bought from one of the silver goods houses for $1.25. The wholesale price of these sets is about $5.50 the doz. Hilton, Hughes & Co. presumably added one-third for profit; the silver firm added nearly 200 per cent.

Another comparison is still more surprising. The proportionate value of the links in the set bought from Hilton, Hughes & Co. was 24¼c—a trifle more than 4-10c per grain. For a similar pair of links a silversmith charged at the rate of 1 1-13c per grain, equivalent to a charge of 65c for links that Hilton, Hughes & Co. sold for 24¼c. In this case the silversmith added to the cost price a trifle of 250 per cent. for profit; while the department store added about 38⅓ per cent."

There you have it. Same style, same weight, same maker. Everything same except the price. More and more people every day are getting tired of paying double or more for a name on a pasteboard box.

Look at these quadruple plate Fern Dishes at $2; or these Tea and Coffee Pots, richly chased, with embossed borders, at $2.50. They stand for a storeful.

LOST—On Monday, June 24, a small gold heart shaped locket with dark hair inside. $5 reward if returned to BLACK, STARR & FROST, Jewellers, 20th st. and 5th av., New York.

It will do you good to have a suit made to order at $20.00 or trousers at $5.00, that formerly would cost you $75 and $20.

We speak of our purchase of the H. W. MacGrotty entire stock, of 50 and 52 West 30th Street, which we have now displayed in a special portion of our store.

We also call special attention to our $16.00 suit sale, or trousers at $4.00, combining a very desirable line of Clay, Fox Bros.', and Salts's serges, neat mixtures, and pin head checks.

We will be pleased to fit any garment to you, and should the material, style, or workmanship not meet with your approval, we would kindly ask you to return same, money refunded
