Cured Boy of Croup.

Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommend it to every one as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough." It clears air passages, soothes and heals. Sold everywhere.

COUNTY SCHOOLS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

SUPT. J. B. FELTON WRITES TO STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

ARE BUILDING

New Houses Every Year and Before Long All Will Have Modernly Equipped Buildings.

The following letter was yesterday addressed to the state department of education by Supt. J. B. Felton. It tells of what the schools of Anderson county have done in the past and what they are doing this year.

The letter follows:
The schools of Anderson county have shown a very remarkable growth along all lines in the last year, despite the conditions that has confronted all lines of activity.

The county has as a whole not voted the amount of special taxes that it has done at some other times, but when we think that the great majority of districts in the county now have a local levy from two to ten mills and in each instance each one of these districts not with interest the advantages that they are deriving from this source of revenue and the trustees are in many cases considering the advisability of increasing this tax and in some cases thinking of instead of being one of the old fashioned one teacher school of a month term want to increase their teaching force from one to two or even more teachers, and to run for seven or eight months in the year.

The law as the rural graded school act has done more for the rural schools of this county than any other law that has ever been written upon the statute books of this state. I feel that the time is not far in the future when every school of the county will be at least a two teacher school and will have a term of at least seven months.

There has not been as many new school buildings built in this county this last year as in some years that have past, but there were several buildings built during the scholastic year 1914-15 and there are a number of others that will be built during the present year.

We have voted bonds in a number of districts and these houses will be built during the present year. The school at Townville, a district of a part of Oconee and Anderson counties, has voted five thousand dollars in bonds and will erect a fine brick structure of six class rooms with an auditorium. White Plains has voted twenty-eight hundred dollars of bonds and are today erecting one of the best wooden structures of six rooms, two of which can be added to the auditorium and this when completed will be one of the best rural schools in the state.

This last named school last year had an enrollment of nearly two hundred and when the building is completed it will have above the two hundred mark. The next school in this school will have to have six teachers and will have two hundred and fifty children in school.

In a general way the school of the county did better work than they have done before to my knowledge in the fact that every school of the county ran for six months and the average for the entire year was very satisfactory.

The needs of the country school of today is that every citizen of his individual school be a booster of his school and when we have this we will have a school system that we will be proud of and outsiders will point to with a degree of pride and we will be giving the children (the citizens of tomorrow) what we should give them and when they are the citizens they will look back and call us blessed.

Our great need today in schools as in every thing else is money and when we get this we will have the one great essential of a good school.

Wisdom.
"That man wants his photographs to look as natural as possible," whispered the assistant to the proprietor of the studio.
"Then make it as handsome as you can," came the quick reply.
"But—but he's awfully ugly, and insists he doesn't want the portrait to flatter him at all."
"He won't think it flatters him," said the proprietor knowingly. "He'll only feel sure that at least some one has managed to catch him looking just right."—Answers.

11 SCHOOLS RECEIVE STATE APPROPRIATION

SUPT. FELTON WAS ADVISED TO THIS EFFECT ON YESTERDAY

WILL SHARE $1,092

And Are the Same as Announced in The Intelligencer as Making Applications.

Mr. J. B. Felton, county superintendent of education, has been advised by the state department of education, that a voucher for $1,092 has been sent to County Treasurer Boleman to be distributed among eleven schools in the county. This money comes for term extension, the qualifications of these schools being that they have a special levy of at least two mills, and that the regular funds are not sufficient to extend the term to five months. Under these qualifications the schools receive an amount not to exceed the special tax and in no case over $100.

The eleven schools to receive the appropriation are the same as announced in The Intelligencer as making application and are:
Hammond, $100; St. Paul, $100; Savannah, $100; Eureka, $100; Oak Grove, $100; Ebenezer, $92; Bethel, $100; Rocky River, $100; Neal's Creek, $100; Grove, $100; and Mt. Creek, $100. Total, $1,092. This money is now available.

12 REEL FEATURE AT ANDERSON DECEMBER 16

"Cabiria," a $250,000 Production, With 500 People Will Be Shown in Anderson Soon.

"Cabiria," a 12 reel Paramount feature, will appear at the Anderson theatre on December 16. This production cost, it is said, $250,000, and 500 people take part in it. This picture stands next to "The Birth of a Nation," in popularity and demand and in Atlanta, Ga., seats sold for 50 cents each. It takes two and one-half hours to run this wonderful picture.

Mr. Trowbridge stated yesterday that he had good news to the admirers of Charlie Chaplin and that he has secured all of the new releases until Christmas. The dates are as follows:
Saturday night, "Caught in a Cabaret."
Tuesday, December 14, "A Night at the Show."
Saturday, December 18, "The Bank."
Saturday, December 25, "Shanghai."

"In a conversation with Jess Dandy of 'The Prince of Pilsen' he told me that he had acted in quite a number of Charlie Chaplin pictures," stated Mr. Trowbridge last night. "He said he was the 'strong man' in 'The Property Man,' and the cook in 'Dough and Dynamite.' He said that Chaplin came over to this country as a vaudeville actor in 'Night in a Music Hall.' He further stated that the last time he used on the stage was given him by Charlie."

Personal Marketing Injuries Efficiency
In direct contradiction to the views of many economic experts who believe that every housewife should go to market with her basket on her arm is the statement of a housekeeper in the December issue of the Woman's Home Companion. In praising the much abused method of ordering by telephone she wants to know how housework can ever be developed into an efficiently run business if women disregard labor saving devices.

"I have tried marketing in person," she says, "and personally find the economy all wrong. I found the average saving not more than ten cents on a day's purchases, or merely car fare; while the expenditure of my time and strength was a huge loss. I am a busy woman with three little children under school age. If it were not for the telephone I should be obliged to have a nurse, which would increase my living expenses too much, and my children would lose thereby, as my companionship would care far more valuable to them—also some of my strength would be used up, every bit of which I have to hoard to get through what I have to do and do it properly."

"To benefit from marketing one must go in the morning before things are too much picked over, and I have heard many housekeepers remark that a morning trip to town meant a morning lost for other work."

Going Too Far
"That boy of mine is always writing poetry," said Farmer Cobbles.
"Pretty tough," said Sam, "but a better than drinking and gambling, which the gambler's friend says, 'I'm so, but when he's inside on reading, it's no one in the hired man, it's impossible for us to get in a full day's work.'"
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Starts and Conclusions
He—Will you be my partner?
She—Oh, George, this is so sudden. Give me a little time.
He (continuing)—for the next dance.
She (continuing)—to catch my breath. I haven't recovered from the last waltz yet.—Pathfinder.

BAR ASSOCIATION ARRANGED ROSTER

FOR APPROACHING TERM OF CIVIL COURT, BEGINNING, DEC. 6

ONLY SEVEN CASES

Now Stand for Trial and it Will Hardly Take Over Two Days for This Work.

A meeting of the Anderson County Bar association was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the county court house to arrange a tentative roster of cases for the approaching term of civil court. This court begins on December 6 and since it is the first Monday in December and, therefore, a holiday, it was suggested that the jurors be advised not to come until Tuesday. The secretary was directed to communicate with Judge Moore, who will be the presiding judge, by wire to see if this arrangement was suitable. If it is, it will be announced in the Intelligencer later. As the matter now stands the jurors will report on Monday morning.

At the present there are only seven civil cases to be tried and, therefore, the roster is rather short. The roster is arranged with the understanding that court will begin on Tuesday and is as follows:

Tuesday.
Summey versus Anderson county.
Case company versus Watson.
Bristol versus Hammond and Cason.

Wednesday.
Hicks versus Southern Public Utilities company.
Rhodes versus Henderson.
Edmonds versus G. S. & A.
Zemury versus Manos.

It is probable that all of these cases will be heard and if it is necessary court will extend over the two days.

PENDLETON

The wedding of Miss Hattie Whitten, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whitten and Mr. Oia Foster, was a beautiful one, the Methodist church was prettily decorated in green and white. The background was a mass of ferns, the different shades of green and the graceful and feathery fronds made a charming setting for a lovely picture. Just in front of the altar a long arch of white and green, on the top of which were the initials of the bride and groom in tiny electric lights. The rail was massed with lilies and vines. The bride, who is an extremely pretty girl, looked very sweet and attractive in a modish suit of blue broadcloth, trimmed with black fur, her hat was a smart one of black velvet and white wings. She carried a bouquet of large white chrysanthemums and ferns. Miss Annie Whitten was maid of honor and she looked unusually handsome in an exquisite gown of pale green chiffon, over lace, the long tunic and bodice of chiffon were bordered with tiny pink and green roses. The bridesmaids were in the most fetching little white voile frocks, with pink belts and bows, all carried pink chrysanthemums, and I have seldom seen a prettier set of girls. They were: Miss Elsie Foster, Miss Graydon Johnson, Miss Thelma Whitten, and Miss Pearl Garvin. The groomsmen were: Eugene Evans, Gallard Hunter, Lee Wilson and James Terrie. Millage Foster was his brother's best man.

The operetta "Santa Claus Jr.," was more than successful. The music and singing were all that could be desired. Miss Watkins deserves unlimited praise in the wondrous she did with so little practice and the young people who took part cannot be too highly commended. The soloists were Mrs. Edna Terrie, who has a remarkably sweet voice; Miss Zoe Foster, who made a very pretty and successful "Spirit of Winter"; Mr. Margaret Shaw, who was a most charmingly effective "Spirit of Christmas"; and Kay Mays, who, Eugene Evans, who took the part of Santa Claus Jr., Mr. Evans was always full of fun and jolly made an ideal Santa Claus, and Kay Mays was specially good, he has an unusually fine voice, sings easily and well, and acted his part with spirit. Miss Terrie, who is an uncommonly gifted young woman, not only sang delightfully, but acted the part of "Annie" perfectly. Miss Terrie and Miss Harpold are to be congratulated on the way they staged and costumed the play.

An Old Man's Fate
A Confederate veteran's wife, whose abominable temper was well known throughout the state, demanded that an old servant, who had served with her husband in the Civil war, be dismissed.
"Sam," said the old man, "go to your room and pack your things and leave—go away."
"Me—I can't go," he said, in an ecstasy of gratitude. "Then suddenly in a manner changed, as with the usual companion he added:
"But you, my poor friend, you must stay."

ONE NEGRO KILLED; ANOTHER IS WOUNDED

HOT SUPPER FIVE MILES WEST OF CITY RESULTED IN KILLING

FIVE SHOTS FIRED

One Wounded Alec Harris and Two Others Took Effect in Jack McCoy.

Jack McCoy was shot and killed Thursday night about 11 o'clock by Alec Harris, another negro, the homicide occurring on Mr. Mortimer Sloan's place about five miles west of the city. Deputy Sheriff Sanders went to the scene about 12 o'clock and brought Alec Harris, who was also wounded, to the county hospital about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Coroner Hardin spent Thanksgiving at Lowndesville and was notified yesterday morning of the killing. He came to Anderson on the train which arrives over the Charleston and Western Carolina at 3:05 and held the inquest yesterday afternoon.

From the evidence as brought out at the inquest, it appears that there was a hot supper out in that section and McCoy and Harris were among those present. McCoy was drunk, it was stated, and about 11 o'clock pulled out his pistol and shot up through the top of the house. Harris ran up to him, grabbed him about the body and asked that he stop. A friendly scuffle followed, Harris trying to get the pistol. During this scuffle, Harris was slightly wounded. Directly he got possession of the gun and with an oath told McCoy that he was going to kill him. McCoy turned and ran out the door. While he was going out, Harris fired at him, the bullet taking effect in the right side. Harris followed McCoy, who ran around the house, and fired at him three more times, one of which also took effect.

The usual verdict that McCoy came to his death by gunshot wounds in the hands of Alec Harris was returned by the coroner's jury.

HAS SIGNED CONTRACT FOR CHAPLIN RELEASE

Mr. Pinkston Yesterday Announced That Will Have One Every Other Week.

"I have just signed a contract with the agent of the General Film company which entitled me to first chance in Anderson at all Charlie Chaplin releases," stated Manager A. M. Pinkston yesterday afternoon. "These people are only releasing one every other week and that will enable me to show one here every two weeks. I will have six new pictures. I have not decided at which theatre I will put them on yet. Mr. Mariottette, agent for this company, was in the city today and we signed the contract."

This will be good news to the patrons of Mr. Pinkston's moving picture houses.

Dynamite Planted at Archbold Estate.

John D. Archbold, President of Standard Oil.

Dynamiters who sought the lives of John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company, and Mrs. Archbold, planted four sticks of dynamite in a rut in the drive to the Archbold home at Tarrytown. The oil man and his wife escaped death, which must have followed when their automobile would strike the explosive, only because they did not drive forth in their car. Their gardener found the dynamite while raking away dead leaves which it had been covered.
