The American Citizen.

VOL. XVIII. CANTON, MISSISSIPPI, SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1868. NO. 12.

BY JOHN F. BOSWORTH. PUBLISHED WEEKLY---OFFICE, NORTH OF COURT HOUSE SQUARE TERMS—Four Dollars per annum

Professional Cards.

C. C. SHACKLEFORD.

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

OFFICE, South Side of Public Square, next door to S. C. Cochran & Co.

WILL practice in the Courts of the Fifth Judicial District, in the High Court of Errors and Appeals and the U. S. Circuit Courts. sept5.

A. P. HILL,

ATTORNEY AND SOLICITOR,

CANTON, Miss.,

WILL PRACTICE HIS PROFESSION IN all the Courts of the 5th Judicial District and in the Federal Courts; and High Court of Errors and Appeals at Jackson, Miss.

Office in Masonic Hall building, second floor, jn19-tf

E. J. BOWERS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

CANTON, MISS.,

WILL practice in the Courts of Madison, Leake Attala, Holmes and Yazoo, and in the High Court of Errors and Appeals at Jackson.

Office South-west corner of the Public Square, over Cheatham's Auction House. Brown's New Building. jn19-tf

F. A. LUCKETT. GEO. R. FEARN.

LUCKETT & FEARN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

CANTON, MISS.

WILL practice in all the Courts of the Fifth Judicial District and in those held at Jackson, Miss. Jan5 '67-1y

FRANKLIN SMITH.

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

CANTON, MISS.

Office: Brick building, north-west corner Public Square. jn19-tf

W. BEN. CUNNINGHAM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Canton, Miss.

WILL practice in all the Courts of the Fifth Judicial District, and in the Federal Court, and the High Court of Errors and Appeals at Jackson.

Particular attention to cases in Bankruptcy.

Office in Store House. jn5-1y

O. R. SINGLETON. W. F. GEORGE.

SINGLETON & GEORGE,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

CANTON, MISS.

OFFICE in Smith Building. North-west corner public square.

March 2, 1867-tf

S. F. ALFORD.

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

CANTON, MISS.

WILL attend with promptness and fidelity to all business entrusted to his care, in Madison and adjoining counties.

Particular attention paid to collections. Aug. 29—1y.

JOHN D. FREEMAN, Jackson, Miss | M. B. MCMICKEN Canton, Miss

FREEMAN & McMICKEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

Jackson and Canton, Miss.,

WILL practice in all the Courts of the 5th Judicial District, the High Court of Errors and Appeals, and the Federal Courts at Jackson and Oxford. They may be addressed by the firm name either at Jackson or Canton. 1ly

THOS. SHACKELFORD,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

CANTON, Miss.,

WILL PRACTICE IN THE COURTS OF THE 5th Judicial District, and in Scott, Hinds, Rankin and Carroll counties, and in the U. S. Circuit Court for Southern District of Miss.

C. B. GALLOWAY, M. D. A. H. CAGE, M. D.

Drs. GALLOWAY & CAGE.

RESIDENT PHYSICIANS,

CANTON, Miss.

Office Southside of Public Square.

October 26, 1865. 1y.

Drs. Semmes & Luckett,

CANTON, MISS.

HAVING associated themselves in the practice of Medicine and Surgery, respectfully offer their services to the public.

DR. SEMMES having devoted twelve years especially to the study and practice of Obstetrics and Diseases of females and children, hopes for a liberal patronage in that branch of his profession.

Office over Mosby, Richards & Co's. Jan26-1y

Drs. HARVEY & DIVINE

OFFER THEIR PROFESSIONAL SERVICES to the public.

Dr. Divine having given special attention to Operative Surgery, and having performed many of the higher operations, hopes to share liberally the public patronage in this department. All diseases of the Eye, and all Surgical Diseases of Females will receive his particular attention. nov3 '66

Dental Surgery.

DR. N. C. ORRICK,

HAS REMOVED TO

OFFICE OVER MOSBY, RICHARDS & Co.'s DRUG STORE

ALL DENTAL OPERATIONS DONE AT ANTE WAR PRICES—FOR CASH.

Feb 8 1868—6. 1y.

DR. C. CLAY NELSON,

DENTAL SURGEON,

CANTON, MISS.

OFFICE and residence next to Cowgill & Vaughn, in the rear.

ALL OPERATIONS FULLY GUARANTEED.

Feb. 22-1y

DENTAL OPERATIONS,

At old Prices, for Cash.

IN consequence of the scarcity of money, I have reduced the fees for all dental operations. But all bills must be paid when the service is rendered. Persons of limited means need not hesitate to call. No CHARGE for examination and advice. Chloroform and local anæsthesia (by means of ether spray) used when desired. The attention of the public is called to the great improvement in

ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

They are durable, natural and life like in appearance, worn with comfort and much cheaper than formerly. C. S. KNAPP

January 4, 1868. 2m | Jackson, Miss.

H. J. ZUNTS,

(Late Rhorer & Zunts.)

COTTON FACTOR,

No. 32 Perdido Street, corner Carondelet,

e20-tfn New Orleans, La.

New Orleans Cards.

TOM HENDERSON, Late of Henderson, Terry & Co. SAM HENDERSON, Late of Vinot, Black & Co.

TOM & SAM HENDERSON,

COTTON FACTORS,

—AND—

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

190 Common Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Aug 1-1867. 6m.

W. B. LOTT, Madison County, Miss. C. W. WOOD, Canton, Miss.

LOTT, WOOD & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS,

—AND—

GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS.

Nos 65 Common and 46 Canal streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Maj. G. C. Sebastian has charge of our Sales Department. oct6—tf

BARRETT & LeSASSIER,

COTTON FACTORS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

No. 118, Carondelet Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

THE Internal Revenue tax on cotton consigned to BARRETT & LeSASSIER, will be paid by P. H. Lockett Esq., of Messrs. Mayson & Lamkin. Sept 7, 1867 6m

PLANTERS' HOTEL,

Cor. MAGAZINE & JULIA Sts.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

Having been thoroughly renovated and repaired, is now open for the accommodation of all our friends

HAMMOND & TOWN, Proprietors.

F. M. HAMMOND, Kosciusko, Miss. A. B. TOWN, New Orleans, La

FELIX WALKER. W. C. D. VAUGHT

WALKER & VAUGHT,

(SUCCESSORS TO WALKER & SNIDER)

COTTON FACTORS

—AND—

GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

NO. 43 UNION STREET,

NEW ORLEANS

Dec 7. 6m

TATE & CO.,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

Cor. New Levee, Common & Fulton Sts.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

A. J. DYAS, of the old House of Dyas & Co., is with us and will be pleased to serve his old friends and customers. T. & CO n 9-17

J. R. POWELL,

COTTON FACTOR

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANT

No 190.....Common st.

NEW ORLEANS, La.

Liberal cash advances made on Cotton consigned to this house.

Feb 18 1868 1y

J. H. CARTER,

Wholesale Grocer

Nos. 8 and 10 Tchoupitoulas S

AND 8 AND 10 NEW LEVEE.

NEW ORLEANS.

April 14 '66 6m

J. W. BLANKS. W. T. HICKLE. W. E. CLAR

Blanks, Hickle & Co

WHOLESALE GROCERS

Commission Merchants,

And Dealers in

WESTERN PRODUCE AND CHOICE WINES AND LIQUORS

No. 10 Tchoupitoulas and 10 New Levee st.

NEW ORLEANS. de13-1y

HOME AGAIN!

DAVE C JOHNSTON, Agent,

The People's Hatter,

32 ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Opposite the St. Charles Hotel, and directly opposite his former Hat Store, which was confiscated during the war.

HATS and CAPS of every description, size and price. de13-tf

New Orleans Daily Crescent.

Official Journal of the State of Louisiana

J. O. NIXON, Editor Proprietor

OFFICE, No 94 CAMP STREET.

THE DAILY CRESCENT is published every morning, Sundays excepted. Yearly subscription, in advance $16; Half yearly $8; Quarterly $4; Single copies, 10 cents.

Regular advertisers, who advertise largely shall be allowed such discount from transient rates as may be agreed upon; provided the amount so allowed such discount exceed 25 per cent.

The Weekly Crescent is published every Saturday morning. Subscription, $5 per annum, in advance; half yearly and quarterly, same rates; single copies, ten cents.

J. D. BRITTON, N. Orleans. | R. L. MOORE, Jr. Madison Co. Miss. | W. THOMPSON, New Orleans. (In Commission.)

BRITTON & MOORE,

COTTON FACTORS,

AND

General Commission Merchants,

71 No. 71 Carondelet, Street, 71

NEW ORLEANS, La.

Supplies, Bagging, &c., furnished, and cash advances made on Consignments.

Mr. W. Doney will pay the revenue tax on cotton consigned to Britton & Moore.

Oct 19, 1867-42. 1y.

ST. JAMES HOTEL.

MAGAZINE STREET,

Between Gravier and Natchez sts.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PROPRIETORS:

W. A. Hurd, Feb 15.1y. E. F. Corbery pd.

K. K. K.

THE SECRET KUKLUX KLAN.

CLIPPINGS FROM THE PRESS.

From the Columbia Herald Extra of the 7th.

THE KUKLUX.—This mysterious order has risen as if by magic, into frightful proportions, and assumed a shape the most appalling. But a week ago it was the subject of joke and laughter, and regarded only as a source of amusement; but in the twinkling of an eye it has expanded into the huge proportions of a giant mill of power and of passion. But in its expansion it has lost none of its mysteries. On the contrary, this element it is, that has grown so wonderfully. Twice has this Klan made its appearance in our midst within a week, once at the funeral and around the grave of John Bicknell, and once at the jail to take peaceable possession of the murderer; but on neither occasion has the most active inquiry or the quickest suspicion been able to point to any individual as belonging to the Klan. Who they are, no one can even surmise. But all know they are great in numbers, and as determined as men can be, if men they are.

Since the war closed this community has not been so profoundly agitated as within the past week. At all hours of the day men here gathered in groups, and had serious converse upon the terrible state of affairs. Every face has worn a sail and serious aspect, and scarcely ever a laugh has been heard. And the occasion is one that may well beget sorrow. First came the revolting news of the bloody death of John Bicknell, and when the first numbing sense of horror had given place to the fiercest indignation and thirst for vengeance, when scores of the murdered man's companions and acquaintances were scouting the country in every direction in search of the foul fiend that had taken his life—the community was again agitated with the very deepest sorrow and heartiest sympathy by the news of the death of Col. Bicknell, the father of the murdered man. And to add a deeper coloring to the sad picture, it was announced that the beloved mother and wife was prostrated under the terrible affliction and held on to life only by a thread. Such were the feelings of the community on Sunday when the tolling bell announced the burial of John Bicknell. Although it rained cold sleeting torrents, hundreds and hundreds joined the sorrowing procession and gathered at the grave to testify at once their esteem for the departed, and their indignation at the crime of which he was the victim. The scene at the grave added the element of mysteries that alone was wanting to wind up the public feeling to the highest pitch of excitement. The appearance in the procession of a body of horsemen shrouded in all the mystery of the most complete and fantastical disguises, and their silent solemn ceremonies at the grave, kneeling and, with uplifted hands, vowing vengeance on the murderer, completed the act.

Everybody had wished the murderer caught and executed, but all felt an uncertainty and fear that he might escape, or if taken and condemned by the courts that pardon might be extended to him. But thenceforth there was no such fear. The mysterious band, coming from no one knew where, going no one knew whither, slipped in and took the place in the public estimation that the avenging fates held in the minds of the Greeks. Henceforth there was a breathless waiting, a doom that could not be avoided—a waiting, as it were, for the approach of a dread monster whose spreading shadow had already come. The capture and execution of the murderer was thenceforth a foregone conclusion accepted as events to be expected with almost as much certainty as death itself. The expected event came to pass. Through all his ridings, six resolute untiring young men followed by day and by night, never stopping, never resting until the miserable culprit was caught and safely lodged in prison.

How from the prison he was twice taken, once to escape and be returned, and once to be executed, is elsewhere related. The mournful catastrophe has left the community strangely filled with a sense of satisfaction that justice has been done, of regret that it has been done in such a manner, of wonder and doubt as to the bands that did the work, and finally of dread and uncertainty as to the consequences.

From the Louisville Courier.

NASHVILLE, March 5.—The spread of the mysterious order known as the Klux Klan is causing a good deal of excitement and general comment. The Radicals insist that it is a political organization, and are threatening all sorts of vengeance against the members of it.

The Press and Times says that strong efforts will be made by Brownlow to exterminate the Klan, and this while the Loyal League, a semi-military oath bound organization, is found all over the State. There is no doubt that the Klux Klan are getting pretty formidable, but there is nothing whatever to show they use any intimidation or threats to negroes or others.

The man who was hung by the Klux Klan at Columbia on Tuesday night, for murdering one of their number, was an ex Confederate soldier. If he had been an ex Federal, the Radicals here would have raised a tremendous howl.

In a few months from now the militia will be spread all over the State. Should they commence the business of robbing and murdering, it is not at all improbable that the Klux Klan will take a hand in bringing about pretty lively work.

From the Nashville Gazette

Our mailing clerk who came to the office at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, discovered sticking upon the counting room door the following document. It may be appreciated by some of our readers, but they can't prove anything by us. Solve the document who can. Here it is:

THE KUKLUX KLAN.

DEN OF SKULLS,

DAY OF RETRIBUTION.

Spirits of the dead arise! Your Chief commands. To-day the 7th of the mortals' month March you will scatter the clouds of the grave and be ready for THE MYSTERIOUS MISSION. The guilty are free to commit dark deeds that mortal eyes do not see. We disown them and must be the avengers. BE READY. "In hoc signo."

⋊ 12

THE SUPREME CYCLOPS.

The following order was found posted in Nashville:

GENERAL ORDER, No. 37,

HEADS DEVIL'S DEN IN TENNESSEE R XD.

Den No. 5, of K. K. K. March 8.

I. Great Grand Cyclops of Death Degree Members, so order that a notice be given to warn all person or persons from doing anything under the name of the Kuklux Klan. And if this warning is not heeded, the Stars in the Heavens will shine upon a new-made grave.

Deaths angels are always on the lookout. "Traitors beware."

O. G. G. G. C.

P. S. M. G. G. S

The following rather mysterious notice was found in Memphis, on the night of the 10th and appeared in the Avalanche of the 11th:

K: K: K:

WOLF HOLE, BLOODY MONTH,

Fair Moon, First Hour.

* * * * *

General Orders, No. 1.]

Shrouded Brothers of Memphis Division, No. 60:

"In hoc signo." ⋊ 12

The Great Past Grand Giant commands you. The dark and dismal hour draws nigh. SOME LIVE TO DAY—SO MORROW DIE.

The Bullet red and the right are ours!

To-day, the 11th of the mortal's month of March, you will begin to scatter the clouds of the Grave.

By order of

GREAT GRAND CYCLOPS, G. C. T.

From the Corinth News

Our usually placid and self possessed town, has been somewhat exercised this week, in consequence of the alleged appearance in our midst, of the famous spectral Ku Klux Klan, which has caused so much excitement, and no little consternation, in our neighboring State of Tennessee. Whether or not we have the "sure enough" Kuklux among us, we can not with certainty affirm. It is nevertheless certain, that some mysterious communications have been sent to individuals, concluding with the fearful admonition—"Fail not at your peril,"—over the mystical signature, K. K. K. A letter also arrived by mail (without post mark) to the Postmaster, requesting a box at the Postoffice, with injunctions to deliver the Kuklux mail only to the bearer of a ring engraved with a snake's head, with diamond eyes, &c. On Wednesday night, between ten and twelve o'clock, a squad of mounted men, both horses and men being disguised, came rapidly across the West levee, from the direction of Fort Robinet, where they are said to have held their ghostly levee. They dashed through the streets and disappeared. Who they were, and what they were, we have no means of knowing. They seemed to be the veritable Kukluxes themselves, though some assert that the whole demonstration was bogus, perpetrated by some young gentlemen for amusement. Whether it be bogus or genuine, the colored population were all agog with amazement and consternation. They had the impression that the great object of the Klan was to wage war upon all Africans, and show no quarter.

The Franklin, (Tenn.) Review relates that the "Kuklux," a few nights since, visited the house of a poor widow, whose two sons had fallen in the Confederate service, leaving on her doorstep a package containing one hundred dollars and a quantity of domestics, calicoes and other dry goods. A widow lady of Williamson county, with three children dependent upon her for support, was the grateful recipient of a similar package, inside of which she found one hundred dollars in currency and a letter which stated that the writer was formerly an intimate companion and fellow soldier of her only son, who was killed while a member of a Tennessee (Confederate) regiment.

The following notice was found on a wall in Nashville last Thursday:

ATTENTION, I. O. Y.!—Den No. 1, March 4th, 186x.—Special Orders No. 14.—You are hereby commanded to meet in secret conclave to-morrow night (5th), at twelve o'clock. The cock shall crow thrice. The serpent's head shall be crushed. So say you all.

By order of the

MAJ. W. WOOSHIPPEL, GRAND TEER.

This created an immense sensation and that night a party of the Ku Klux, numbering about thirty, passed through the streets.

FARM LIFE IN TEXAS

THE NEW ORDER OF THINGS.

The following letter, from the pen of one of the most accomplished women of the South, possesses features of interest for us all. It is a pregnant discourse for the times; lessons of self help. Our noble women won the world's applause by their Spartan bearing during the four years' tempest of war. The feverish excitement of the contest is passed, but in their heroic but noiseless struggles with pinching fortune they are still illustrating the highest virtues that can adorn their sex. When we think of this young and delicate Texas lady of the plow, we blush for our sex to see the hundreds of great hulking dawdlers about town:

SAN AUGUSTINE, Texas,

March 4, 1868.

As I know your readers would like to know what is going on in any of our afflicted sister States, I has come into my mind to tell them something of our doings in the piney woods of Texas.

I have good news to tell. A great many of our people, of both sexes, seem to have found out that feeding and housing do not pay, and are vigorously making all their own home wants. A day or two ago, the same day that a lady from a neighboring county, living not a thousand miles from here, had planted a patch of garden herself, "to feed her family," said she, "but how old she is, you guess?" "Why," said my friend, "you know her husband is bedridden, his house is almost alone, and he was pressed for time, they had no money to pay for having the garden plowed, so she got a little negro boy to hold the plow while she led the mule herself. We all told her it would make her sick, for it was a cold damp day, and you know she is quite delicate, but she would do it." "Well, now, I am delighted, said I, I honor that lady, and wish I could have seen the sight.'

A gentleman, who is not as rich as Crœsus, told his son to try to have a man to plow his garden. The son, a boy of sixteen, who had been a student all his life, and decidedly nurtured, borrowed from a kind neighbor a mule and plow, drove it boldly through the streets, and plowed the garden himself, doing a good day's work. He had never plowed before. Were not his parents proud of him? Aye, that they were.

Many of our most refined ladies are doing their own cooking and other work. I saw one of them, not long ago, diligently sweeping her yard, and not long after, I heard her performing on the piano one music of a high character. I know some fair young ladies who are not afraid to roll up their sleeves, tuck up their skirts and run out to milk the cows and when the labors of the day are over, they are ready to entertain their beaux with some really good music. One such girl is worth a hundred fine ladies, who spend their time in imitating the latest fashions, or reading the last novel.

This is the bright side of the picture. I wish there was no dark side, but candor compels me to say that there is still among us much to pain the thoughtful mind. Many of our youth are still too much given to frivolity, extravagance and idleness. They think more of following the latest fashions, as presented in the magazines, than of doing what they can by industry, by thoughtfulness, by prayer, to save our unhappy country. The flood of trashy literature which sweeps over our land, and which people can buy who cannot get money to pay their honest debts, is perfectly appalling. What are the mothers of our young people thinking of? Why do they not warn, entreat and exhort their sons and daughters to rise to a higher life than the grovelling worldly one they are now leading? Alas! I fear too many cases the children are only following in the footsteps of their parents. May God, in His infinite mercy, open our eyes to see our dangers, and give us wisdom and strength to avert them!

Our local folks are not doing much. The seem restless, and are generally out of pocket. We must learn to be independent of them, though those who are willing to work should by all means be encouraged.

If this rambling letter meets your approbation, you may hear from me again.

SO. CA.

☞ Mayor Shurtleff of Boston has not slept outside of that city in thirty years. He clings to the Hub.

Population of St. Louis 230,000.

A Portrait of Stanton.

The following pen and ink photograph of Edwin M. Stanton, the cowardly murderer of Mrs. Surratt—the infamous wretch who placed shackles upon the once free limbs of Jefferson Davis—the man who, in connection with Joe. Holt, sought, by subornation of perjury, to take his life, is from the St. Louis Dispatch. Every word raises a blister, and yet every word is true. The Dispatch says:

Mr. Stanton is again in the War Office—Stanton, the renegade Secessionist, the cowardly persecutor of Gen. Stone, the facile opponent of both Congress and the President, the malignant secretor of the dispatch whose delivery to the President would have averted the New Orleans riot—the cruel minister who is responsible for at least half the horrors of Andersonville. He presumes to hold the office under the very act which he, even more zealously than President Johnson, affirmed to be unconstitutional—to be the Cabinet officer of a President who refuses to admit him to his consultations—a man whom even Radicals themselves detest and despise, for his pusillanimity and his duplicity. He is in the War office, it seems by the insincerity and double dealing of the General of the Army, Secretary of War ad interim.

ORIGIN AND HISTORY OF THE BOOKS OF THE BIBLE.

This book was written by Professor Calvin E. Stowe. It is conceded by all hands that he is one of the best informed Bible students of the age. It is evident to those who have read the book, that he is well prepared for the work he undertook, which is for sale on subscription. Zeigler, McCurdy & Co. 177 Fourth Street, Cincinnati, are publishers, and all desiring agencies should address them.

The first subject handled is "what the Bible is not;" the next, "what the Bible is;" the next, "evidence for the New Testament;" the next, "MSS. of the New Testament;" the next, "Biographies of the one hundred witnesses to the New Testament books;" next, "testimony for the historical books of the New Testament;" next, "the four gospels separately examined;" the next, "apocryphal gospels," and "Acts," and matters therewith connected. The next subjects in order are the Epistles and Revelations, genuine and apocryphal. The book closes with "Bible Prophecies and Classical Oracles," to which is added, a brief account of the "apocryphal books of the old Testament."

The book contains 583 pages printed in large type, on the whitest paper. It is the result of a long life of research and study, and is a store house of valuable information on the New Testament, from which the reader can constantly draw for the confirmation of the faith that is within him. It fully substantiates the claims of the Bible, Old and New Testaments, to be genuine and from God. It condenses, rubs up, brightens, and resets the external evidence upon which the genuineness of the New Testament depends. The student of the Bible is largely indebted to Prof'r Stowe for so much valuable information in so small a volume.

☞ The new york Tribune is enraged by popular demonstrations in favor of the President during the pendency of the impeachment trial. They are calculated to influence the decision in favor of the accused. At the same time it loudly calls for public demonstrations against the President. It is right to influence the decision against the accused. Righteous Greely!

☞ There is as much determination among the masses of the people to have the President impeached as there was to have the rebellion suppressed.—State Journal.

You lie, Jim Dugan, and you know it. Instead of saying "the masses of the people," just say "the niggers and thieves," and we will give you credit for telling the truth once in your life.—Brandon Republican.

It is said that Joseph Morrow, a graduate of Yale college, is the most notorious bandit in Italy.

☞ It has just leaked out that Gen. Grant was quite extensively engaged in operations in cotton during the war, and that he used his official position for his personal aggrandizement. When will the record of Radical rascality close?

SPIRITUAL FACTS.—That whiskey is the key by which many gain an entrance into our prisons and almhouses.

That brandy brands the noses of all those who cannot govern their appetites.

That wine causes many to take a winding way home.

That punch is the cause of many unfriendly punches.

That ale causes many ailing while beer brings many to the bier.

That champagne is the cause of many real pains.

That ginslings have "slewed" more than the slings of old.