Announcement Party.
A beautiful entertainment for yesterday and a pretty compliment to two charming young women, Mrs. Blair Rice of Belton, and Miss Florida Harris of this city, was the elegant course luncheon given by Miss Bessie Major, at her lovely home on South McDuffie street.
A charming color scheme of gold and green was effectively carried out in the decorations of the pretty luncheon table, in the yellow chrysanthemums used. Over all was the radiance of many soft lights.
After the guests were all seated, each drew the ribbon attached to their plate, and read the attractive little verse written on it. When Mrs. Julian Clinkscales drew her card she read the announcement of the engagement of Miss Florida Harris, and Mr. Prue Clinkscales, two of Anderson's most popular young people. This announcement was received with the heartiest congratulations of all present for Miss Harris and she was the recipient of many expressions of love and interest from her friends.
This marriage will be an interesting event for the Christmas week, and will be the most important social event of the month.
A delightful course menu was daintily served, and a most enjoyable morning was spent.
Among the guests present were: Mrs. Blair Rice of Belton, Mrs. Leon Rice, Mrs. Prue Clinkscales, Mrs. Julian Clinkscales, Misses Jean and Florida Harris, May Ligon, Maggie Clinkscales, Janie Gilreath, Annie Cooley, Nelle Barton, Rosamond Burdine, Wilhelmina Fant.

Childish Silliness.
"If we prepare for war we'll get it," says Chancellor Day of Syracuse University. By the same token, we have it to guard against the habit of locking the safe by 10-ens are that the money will be stolen. The foolishness which came of the apostles of anti-preparedness are preaching these days tells nothing short of childish silliness. Of course we may get war if and when we are prepared for it, but we are a great deal more likely to get it if we are not prepared. To be ready to meet an enemy may not prevent attack, but certainly it is that to be unready and have that fact known is to invite attack.—Norfolk Virginian.

RECIPES

Written especially for The Intelligencer by Miss Jayne C. Garlington, Home Demonstration Work, Anderson county.

The Fireless Cooker.
There should be a fireless cooker in every kitchen in the land, because it does away with much of the drudgery which three meals a day, 365 days a year ordinarily entail. It is absolutely reliable. Think what it is to cook without having to stay in the kitchen to watch the food or to feed the fire! Food in a fireless never burns nor dries up—it is sure to be done on time.
There are many reasons why one should own a fireless cooker, because it is economical in fuel, saves about 90 per cent of the fuel used in cooking. Food does not stick to the utensils when cooked in one. It is economical because cheap cuts of meat, tough fowls, and vegetables may be made tender by cooking in it. It is economical because there is no evaporation of food cooked in it. Meat packing companies say that there is a saving of 20 per cent in shrinkage of hams cooked in the fireless. Hotels and mess halls for the armies and navies are doing likewise. Why should not the housewife follow their example?

To sum up the matter, a fireless cooker saves the time, strength and nerves of the cook. She is healthier and happier because of this saving.

How One Is Made.
In making a fireless cooker, choose a close fitting box, bucket, keg, or old trunk. Place a 4-inch layer of hulls in the bottom. Place a fifty pound bucket on the hulls; then place the hulls around the bucket as high up as the bucket is tall; place a close fitting cover on the tin bucket. A cushion of hulls placed on top of the bucket fills up every bit of space between the top of the bucket and the lid of the box. Heat a soap stone, place in the tin bucket, and place your vessel containing the food on the soap stone. A great many people dislike a cooker for the simple reason they do not know how much liquid to put in the food being cooked. The following are tested recipes for a fireless cooker:

Vegetable Soup.
One soup bone, cold water, one carrot, two medium onions, one small cabbage, salt, one parsnip, one turnip two potatoes, pepper. Allow cold water to soup bone, allowing one pint water to each pound of meat and bone. Bring slowly to a boil. Let boil ten minutes, and place in cooker over night. Add other ingredients in the morning, allowing a teaspoonful salt and a salt spoon pepper to quart liquid. Let boil 15 minutes and place in cooker until dinner.

Creamed Cabbage.
Cut the cabbage into quarters and soak for half hour in cold water, adding a tablespoon of salt. Drain from the water and cut into slices. Put in large vessel and nearly fill with boiling water. Bring to a boil and place in cooker from one to two hours, according to age of cabbage. Pour into colander and drain well, chop, season, with pepper and pour over it hot a well seasoned cream sauce.

Baked Chicken.
Dress and stuff as for ordinary baking. Place the fowl in pan with two tablespoons butter and 2 pounds of flour, turn it until it is thoroughly browned. Place in cooker, pouring over it the melted butter and one half cup hot water, allow it to remain in cooker 45 minutes for every pound. When ready to serve add hard boiled eggs to gravy.

Rice.
One cup rice, four cups water, one tablespoonful salt. Wash rice in boiling water, bring to boil in salted water. Let boil for five minutes and put into cooker for one hour.

Chocolate Pudding.
Two tablespoonful butter, one-half cup sugar, one egg, pinch salt, two cups milk, one cup flour, one spoonful baking powder, two squares melted chocolate. Cream butter, sugar and beaten eggs, milk, flour, baking powder and salt. Add two squares melted chocolate. Steam over a fire 20 min. and in cooker for two hours. Serve with lemon sauce.

PENDELTON

Miss Louise Hunter gave her friends a very happy Thanksgiving. About thirty of the young people were invited and an evening of old fashioned genuine fun and frolic followed. Games were played, corn was popped, laughter and joy, music and song made the hours fly. The J. T. Hunter home has always been noted for its generous hospitality. As many of the older people of the town well know, their pretty young daughter is now opening the welcoming doors to the younger set.

The School Improvement association gave its monthly reception Friday evening. Mrs. and Mrs. Hanna, and the young ladies who teach, entertained the children of the school, their parents, too, of course, and so many little ones came and a royal good time they have.

It is a pretty sight to see these tiny beaux and belles of the future. Such dimples and shy smiles on the part of the little ladies, such bashfulness and blushes from the gallant small men. Mrs. Hanna and the teachers, Miss C. W. Miss McCutchin, Miss Hunt, Miss Jones and Miss Sullivan are experts in the line of entertaining children. They keep the games in full swing and every thing runs on smooth wheels, and the youngsters enjoy every minute of the evening. Chocolate and crackers were served.

WITH THE CHURCH WOMEN

Christian Growth Club.
The Christian Growth club has held several interesting meetings recently. They voted to have two of their members to go with the leader each week to visit the county jail. Two went yesterday afternoon on one of these weekly visits.

On the afternoon before Thanksgiving the club gave a pound party. They played games and had a great deal of fun and concluded by eating half of the good things they had brought. After the party was over about ten of the girls went by the jail and gave the prisoners the other half of their refreshments.

Y. W. A.
The Y. W. A.'s of the First Baptist church held two interesting meetings during November. At the first one Miss Bessie Tribble was the leader on the subject of "Brotherhood." She gave a helpful talk on this and Misses Nellie Pruitt and Helen Burdiss two phases of the subject.

At the second meeting "Optimism" was the topic for study. Miss Lura King discussed the Christian's grounds for optimism. She stated that faith in God is the foundation for all optimism. Miss Lucile Burris gave some of Browning's views on the subject. His poems are brim full of optimism. He says: "God is in His Heaven all's right with the world."

All those present greatly enjoyed Miss Bessie Major's report of the meeting recently held in Spartanburg which was pronounced one of the best ever held by the women, one full of spiritual power and inspiration.

Delightful Meeting of the Philathea Class.
A delightfully pleasant meeting of the Senior Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church was held on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Sam Murphy and Mrs. Walter Murthy at the home of the latter.

The president, Mrs. Kelly Prevost, presided and a large amount of business was disposed of, the reports of the various committees showing a splendid month's work.

After appointing the new committees for the month of December the meeting was devoted to the social feature, which was unusually pleasant, the two hostesses serving an elegant salad course.

Ladies Aid Society.
The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Methodist church will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Drowned Out.
It is safe to say that the calamity howler's voice has been drowned out by roar of engines and the scream of steam whistles. Yesterday we quoted from a news article in The Press of this city on the astonishing degree of business activity, and we learn from displayed headlines over a news article in yesterday's New York Tribune that America is experiencing an unprecedented era of commercial growth. Timidity in business can not be justified, they say in view of proofs that now as never before opportunity beckons. Optimism expressed by individuals is borne out by statistics and trade reports. We have been pointing these things out for many weeks; we are glad our friends the enemy are discovering them. There must be a fair degree of confidence abroad when pig iron and steel bars are being contracted for to be delivered in the third quarter of 1916.—Philadelphia Record.

One Lesson Learned.
"In this practice to become a soldier your first lesson must be of prompt and unquestioning obedience to your superior officer."
"That's all right, captain; I'm married. What's the next lesson?"—Baltimore American.
