Short Term Investments

Investment bonds and notes issued to mature in from one to five years are favored by many investors as yielding a somewhat better income than long time obligations. In addition, such securities, particularly of the larger issues, usually command a ready market and are less subject to wide fluctuations in price.

We have prepared a booklet giving brief descriptions of the principal issues of such securities, which we will be pleased to furnish on request.

LOOK FOR LOST MACKEREL.

Experts of Ten Countries Begin Inquiry To Aid American Fishermen.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. The combined knowledge and experience of the world's greatest fishery experts, representing Great Britain, Germany, Russia, the Netherlands, France, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, all of northwestern Europe and all having important fisheries, have been enlisted by the bureau of fisheries, Department of Commerce and Labor, in the effort of the United States fishery authorities to learn how and where the American fishermen should seek for the mackerel shoals which have been lost to sight for years.

The mackerel was one of the great staple fish foods of the country as far back as Colonial days, and the fishery was very actively prosecuted in New England and to some extent in the middle Atlantic States. In 1886, after several years of unprecedented abundance, the mackerel dropped off suddenly and has never resumed its former plenteousness.

The fishery of last year was the poorest in the histroy of the country. As against a catch of about 500,000 barrels of salted fish in 1885 the catch of 1910 was only 2,700 barrels.

There are to-day invested in the mackerel fishery nearly $2,000,000.

Sixteen hundred men have been year after year holding on to this fishery with the hope that something will turn up. If the mackerel were to come back their vessels would make tremendous profits. Salted mackerel are worth $40 a barrel to-day, whereas in 1850 they sold for $4 to $5 a barrel.

The diminution in the catch came so suddenly that it is difficult to ascribe it to active fishing operations. The bureau of fisheries experts have been inclined to believe that there are some physical factors operating on the eggs and the young which prevent the development of the young fish, but they do not know positively.

It is hoped that the international investigation by the foreign fishery experts will determine whether the mackerel has recently undergone a decrease in abundance or has sought other grounds and is likely to return.

The condition of the American mackerel fishery and the problems it presents have been placed by the bureau of fisheries before the Permanent International Council for the Exploration of the Sea, which has its headquarters at Copenhagen and which is composed of official delegates with full powers from the ten foreign countries mentioned previously.

PHILIPPIC AGAINST SPEEDERS.

East Orange Council Urged to Do Something to Stop Auto Murders.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Jan. 1.—Dr. Charles S. Stockton, whose custom it has been for years to say something to the City Council when it organizes on New Year's Day for the year, delivered a philippic to-day against the speeding automobilists, taking as his text the fatal accident at Main and Day streets, Orange, on Christmas Day.

"When young men of an age to know better commit murder on the streets," said Dr. Stockton, "it is time something was done."

He went on to say that he had observed numerous instances of autoists "burning up the roads" and urged the Council to help the police and the Recorder to stop the abuse.

"The other day," said the speaker, "I was crossing Main street when I looked up and saw an automobile bearing down on me. The fellow yelled at me, 'Look out, doctor, you'll get run over!' 'Yes,' I replied, 'so long as such damn fools as you are driving cars.'"

THE WEATHER FORECAST

WASHINGTON PREDICTIONS FOR TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW.

For eastern New York and New England, fair to-day and probably to-morrow; not much change in temperature; light to moderate westerly winds.

For New Jersey, fair to-day; unsettled to-morrow; not much change in temperature; light variable winds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The storm which caused high winds throughout the West and the lake regions passed northeastward into Canada over the great lakes yesterday. This northerly movement caused a continuation of snow in the lake regions and in northern New England and left fair weather over nearly all other parts of the country except the Gulf States, where there was rain due to colder weather which set in behind the storm area.

The temperatures in the Atlantic States remained high and generally above the freezing point. The cold wave spread southward and eastward almost to the Gulf coast, where the temperatures were but slightly above the freezing point, while in the West and Northwest they were generally below zero; the zero line extending eastward over the upper Mississippi Valley nad upper lake regions. The winds along the coast were generally south to southwest.

In this city the day was fair; slightly higher temprature, wind mostly light to fresh southwesterly, average humidity, 57 per cent.; barometer, corrected to read to sea level, at 8 A. M., 29.96; 5 P. M., 29.90.

The temperature in this city yesterday, as recorded by the official thermometer, is shown in the annexed table:

1912.	1911.		1912.	1911.
9 A. M. ... 32°	32°	6 P. M. ...	34°	42°
12 M. ... 36°	37°	9 P. M. ...	32°	47°
3 P. M. ... 37°	38°	12 Mid. ...	32°	48°

Lowest temperature, 31°, at 9:48 A. M.
