PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED FOR SUMS OF not less than $1,000, at the office of G. S. Robbins & Son, No. 52 Wall street, until Wednesday next, the 16th June, at 3 P. M., for $——, $300,000, ——, 7 per cent First Mortgage Bonds of the ——— Tioga Railroad Company, (convertible, at the option of the holder, into stock,) interest payable semi-annually in New York, by coupons, and the principal payable in New York in 1872. The following exhibit, on the part of said company, will explain the character of the security offered:—

The Tioga Railroad Company extends north from the rich bituminous coal mines, near Blossburg, Tioga county, Pennsylvania, to the New York State line, near Lawrenceville, a distance of twenty-six miles, and at that point connects with the Corning Railroad of fourteen miles in length, forming a continuous road terminating at the town of Corning, situate on the New York and Erie, and Buffalo, Corning, and New York Railroads, and Chemung Canal. The Corning Railroad is now being relaid with heavy iron R rails, and has been leased for a period of ten years to the Tioga Railroad Company, so that the latter named company will operate and work the entire line of railroad between the coal mines, Blossburg and Corning. The track of the Tioga Railroad is now laid with a flat bar rail, and its original cost was about $440,000. Under authority of recent acts of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, and with the concurrence of the parties in interest, the bonds, stock, and claims, have been consolidated as follows:—

Preferred dividend consolidated stock, 3,800 shares, at $50	$190,000
Common consolidated stock, 3,850 shares, at $50	192,500
The Legislature has authorized the state authorities to deliver up for cancellation, stock amounting to about	50,000
The Tioga Railroad Company have made a contract with responsible parties for relaying the road with heavy iron R rails, or six feet gauge, and placing thereon very superior heavy iron R rails. This road, the entire completion of which is guaranteed on or before the 15th of August next, will, when finished, equal in the permanency of its structure, any railroad in the United States. For the purpose of meeting the expense of relaying the road and its equipment, the company have, under the most ample authority from the Legislature of Pennsylvania, issued seven per cent coupon bonds to the amount of $250,000, payable, principal and interest, in the city of New York, convertible into stock, and secured by a mortgage, in trust, to Theodore Dehon, Alfred S. Fraser, and Watts Sherman, Esqs., of the city of New York, which mortgage is the first and only lien upon the road, its furniture, and franchises. Locomotive engines and cars are contracted for, sufficient to transport the immense quantities of lumber, coal, and miscellaneous freight, which will pass over the roads, as well as passengers. The coal, which is of the very best quality, and inexhaustible, is now mined and delivered in cars at Blossburg, at about fifty cents per ton; and during the past and present year has commanded three dollars and fifty cents per ton at Corning. With ample facilities of transport, the sale and consumption of this coal will be immensely increased, and it is confidently believed that the demand will only be limited by the capacity of the road. Apart from the convenience of coal, there is a very large local business from timber, lumber, shingles, coke, iron, glass, and miscellaneous articles. There are now over twenty millions of feet of lumber in and near the line of road, which will be carried to a ready and good market when the track is relaid. Many who have heretofore rafted their lumber will avail themselves of the more certain and rapid conveyance by railroad. A plank road, seventeen miles in length, and running through a section of good pine timber land, is now being constructed, and will terminate at an important point of the railroad; the business and profitable revenue of the company will thus be greatly increased. In the vicinity of Blossburg are abundant deposits of iron ore and fire clay of the best quality; fire stone and fine white sand for glass works; stone for furnishing the best material for millstones, whetstones, grindstones, and hearthstones for furnaces, also abound in the same neighborhood. The valley through which the road runs is not surpassed in the fertility of its soil, yielding abundantly superior wheat, and all agricultural products common to the rich valley lands of south-western New York. The population of the county of Tioga has increased three fold since this company was chartered; the local passenger travel is consequently increasing rapidly, and with a steadily increasing through travel north and south, the passenger business must be large and profitable. The company have the most liberal and ample powers granted to them by the Legislature. Branches to mines and mills in any direction are authorized, and will be made whenever such extensions will insure a profitable return for the outlay. There are several very important extensions authorized and contemplated, which, when made, will add greatly to the value of the company's property and earnings. The road being of the same gauge as the New York and Erie Railroad, facilitates the uninterrupted interchange of produce at the least expense along the extended line of country bordering on that great work. The following estimate of business over the road for one year after its completion, is made after a careful consideration of the elements of revenue which surround it.

170,000 tons coal, at 62½ cents per ton	$93,750
35,000,000 feet of lumber, at 40 cents per M	14,000
Passengers and miscellaneous freight	15,800
	122,750
Expenses, say 50 per cent	61,375
Estimated net earnings for the year ending Aug., 1853	$61,375
From which there are to be deducted—
For interest, say 7 per cent on $350,000	$24,500
For dividend on preferred stock $11,400
Less amount assumed and payable by the State under her guaranty 7,500	3,900
	28,400
Leaving a surplus for non-preferred stockholders	$32,975

By reference to previous statements it will be observed that property costing, when relaid and equipped, $780,000, is mortgaged for $350,000, and that the estimated net earnings amount to $61,375, a sum largely exceeding the 7 per cent agreed to be paid on the bonds issued. Referring to sections 7 and 9 of the act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed April 6, 1850, full authority is given to issue these bonds, and create a mortgage to secure them, and a sale of them is made as valid below, as at, or above par.

JOSEPH W. RYERSS, President.
