FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONEY MARKET.

SUNDAY, June 11—6 P. M.

During the past week the stock market has not been at all buoyant. Railroad stocks have been steadily settling down, and all speculation in them has disappeared. The bears have not been able to put out contracts upon satisfactory terms, in consequence of the absence of buyers, and that class of securities is fast losing favor with speculators. There has for several years past been so much financiering in railroad bonds and other evidences of indebtedness, that capitalists are completely disgusted, and show a disposition to abandon them altogether, and turn their attention more to incorporated companies, deriving their revenue from different sources. Competition in railroads is rapidly increasing, which, with the steady increase in cost, must ultimately make them less productive, and consequently less desirable investments. The developements recently made in Parker Vein coal stock are enough to deter outsiders from touching anything of that kind again; but fortunately that company is, we believe, the exception, and not the rule. It has been known for a long time that the most desperate, ruinous financiering has been practised in its management, and purchasers of the stock have not been ignorant of the fact. Holders are now waiting the movement of the new board of directors, and no time should be lost in making public the actual condition of the company. We want the whole story—no patching up—that those interested may see what sort of a management the company has been under since its organization. The difference between good and bad management is clearly illustrated in the Parker Vein Coal Company on one side and the Cumberland on the other. While the first has run down almost out of sight, the other has been steadily advancing, and must soon reach higher points. Since the recent election of directors for the ensuing year, the President of the company has put forth the following report. It is brief and to the point:—

OFFICE OF CUMBERLAND COAL CO., June 5, 1854.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS:—Since I assumed the active duties of President of this company, I have made a statement of its financial condition, with a brief inventory of its working material, which is annexed, and have only to add that its position is materially strengthened, and its resources increased from actual business.

The business of the season opened flatteringly, with a pressing demand for our fuel at satisfactory profits. In the month of May, we brought to market 28,684 tons of coal, which is the largest month's work yet done by this Company, and an increase of more than 11,000 tons, or seventy per cent., over the corresponding month of last year. I shall rapidly increase this quantity; and may remark that, with the addition of a single locomotive and twelve iron cars, which are ordered, this Company will be enabled, without any additional outlay, to mine and send to market from 2,500 to 3,000 tons per day, so soon as the public works of Maryland, now being enlarged, shall be perfected.

I anticipate the period when the market will require that amount from this Company. About two-thirds of the coal has been transported in the Company's vessels; and we have realized fair profits, not only on the coal, but on the transportation also. But the results I shall present at the semi-annual meeting will be more appropriate and satisfactory.

The advantages possessed by this Company in owning its vessels and barges, enable it to fill orders with promptness, and place it above dependence on transient vessels.

There is an increased energy in the management of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal—the result of an enlarging trade—which must prove highly beneficial to our interests, and the interests of the coal-field of Maryland.

Such is the magnitude of our enterprise that it has taken more time than was anticipated to complete the plans of its projectors. This delay has created disappointment; but a large proportion of our stockholders—the early and earnest friends of the company—assured of the intrinsic value of its property and the certainty of its developement, have never been disheartened. In regretting the loss of time, we must bear in mind that our works are now complete, and that, unlike other companies, our business may annually be largely increased without corresponding expenditure.

The wisdom of the projectors of this enterprise is now apparent, in thus anticipating the wants of the company, and providing for the largest increased demand ever made upon one coal district.

Various applications have been made for the privilege of mining coal from our lands on a royalty, which would produce at the rate of not less than $5,000 per acre for the great vein alone. I have felt it my duty to decline these propositions, as realizing less than the actual value of the property. In view of the large coal estate of the company, it may be advisable hereafter, on satisfactory terms, to adopt this method of increasing its revenue.

This company is now earning a dividend on its capital stock, and no doubt exists as to its future prospects.

All of which is respectfully submitted, by order of the stockholders. ANDREW MEHAFFEY, President.

Total value of merchandise exported during week ending June 9, 1854.....	$959,643
Do. specie, do.....	646,676
Total.....	$1,606,319

The amount of merchandise, both outward and inward, during the past week, was more limited than we have known for many months. We notice some very important changes in the course of our export trade. Shipments of merchandise from this port to European ports have been somewhat out of the regular channel. To London, Liverpool and Havre, the exportation has become largely reduced, while to ports in the northern part of Europe it has been larger than usual. In more active times, this change will be more apparent.
