Caution to All Who Use Liquors.—Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.—The above named preparation has become extensively known throughout the length and breadth of the United States, and is universally admitted to be the most delighting healthful, invigorating and pure preparation of the juniper berry that science and a long practice in the distillation and preparation of pure liquors have ever succeeded in producing

A long established manufacturer and importer of liquors of every description, the undersigned devoted himself to the production of an article of pure gin, which should prove a valuable agent in the cure of the manifold diseases which afflict the human race, and for which Holland gin has been prescribed by the medical faculty for years. At length his efforts were crowned with success, at his extensive distillery in Schiedam, Holland, from which place the purest gin has long been imported, and he was enabled to give to the world his schnapps, which, for purity and entire freedom from the pernicious fusel oil and all other noxious ingredients, and delightful aromatic flavor, has never been equalled, and cannot be excelled.

In order to protect himself from pecuniary loss at the hands of cheats, imposters and pirates, who would unquestionably attempt to palm off a vile and spurious article upon the unsuspecting community, and, like the wolf in sheep's clothing, prey upon their vitals, he resorted to the expedient of selling his schnapps only in pint and quart bottles.

The schnapps have been introduced but about five years, but in that brief time their virtues have been acknowledged to an almost incredible extent, until it is a matter of some difficulty to keep up a supply adequate to the demand, so fast are orders pouring in from every State and Territory in the Union—from Maine to Oregon and California.

Determined that the virtues of the schnapps should be thoroughly substantiated by the most undeniable and unquestionable testimonials, circulars were despatched to every regular member of the medical faculty, and professional chemists whose name could be obtained, soliciting their acceptance of a bottle of the Schnapps, with a view of enabling them to test its medicinal qualities in their practice, and submit it to the strictest chemical analysis in their laboratories.

Of the ten thousand physicians and chemists in the United States, about four thousand accepted the offer. Upwards of two of four thousand have promptly furnished their written endorsement that the article is all that is claimed for it, and in the strongest language recommended its general use, not only as a remedial agent, but a delightful, harmless and pleasant beverage. These voluntary endorsements are from gentlemen of unquestionable knowledge and the most perfect science.

Not alone have practitioners and chemists furnished their testimonials. The public press, in almost every principal city and town, has spoken boldly in its favor in its editorial columns.

Were it necessary to do more than simply state this fact, which he who runs may read, this advertisement could be increased to an indefinite length by the publication of these authorities, all on file at the warerooms of the proprietor, in New York.

It is not only as a remedial agent that the schnapps are to be recommended, but as a gentle and perfectly harmless stimulant, which cannot be otherwise but healthful and invigorating, and may be indulged in with impunity by those of temperate habits without the slightest fear of the baneful, mournful, and horrible consequences of intoxication—that vice which desolates the social hearth, entails misery upon countless thousands, fills our hospitals, almshouses, and prisons, and even furnishes the gallows with its deadly fruit.

In countries where pure wines and liquors can be had readily, and for a mere trifle, they are freely used by all classes, and drunkenness is hardly known.

Were Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps to be drank in preference to all other distilled or fermented liquors, our temperance societies would have less arduous labor to perform, and Horace Greeley, Gough, Barnum, Snow, Havens, and other learned, eloquent and devoted friends of total abstinence would rarely be called on to ascend the rostrum and cause thousands to listen with "an attent ear" to the great and startling truths they relate with such fervid and impassioned eloquence. There need be no Maine law to suppress intoxication.

As long as men and women will persist in drinking drugged, adulterated, poisoned liquors, with which the country is flooded, drunkenness and all its concomitant evils must exist.

In many districts of this country, particularly in the region of the great western and southern rivers, the character of their water is such as to produce great disorganization of the system, and frequently chronic disorders of an incurable character, the enumeration and specification of which would be a matter of supererogation to all those who reside in the districts specified. When qualified with the schnapps, the bane is neutralized or destroyed. The fact has become known at the South and West, and the schnapps are used to the extent of thousands of bottles daily. Their great recommendation is their undeniable and well established purity, which can be proved by chemical analysis of the contents of any and every bottle bearing the above enumerated evidences of genuineness. The proprietor relies to the most rigid tests, and defies any person or persons to prove to the contrary, or to produce an equally pure extract of the juniper berry or Holland gin.

The public are again reminded that Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps can only be procured in pint and quart bottles, stamped, labelled, and corked, and in colored wrappers, with the signature of the proprietor affixed; and that the word schnapps belongs exclusively to my medicinal beverage—all others are counterfeit. UDOLPHO WOLFE, sole importer, 22 Beaver street, N. Y.

• FEVER AND AGUE.

GREAT TRIUMPHS AND UNPARALLELED SUCCESS OF RHODES' FEVER AND AGUE CURE; OR ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

Equally certain as a preventive or cure.
Only remedy free from poisonous drugs.

PROOFS.

NEW YORK, Monday, June 11, 1855.

I have made a chemical examination of "Rhodes' Fever and Ague Cure, or Antidote to Malaria," and have tested it for arsenic, mercury, quinine, and strychnine, but have not found a particle of either in it; nor have I found any substance in its composition that would prove injurious to the constitution.

JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D. Chemist.

LETTER FROM A POSTMASTER.

MAXWELL, Delaware county, Ohio, Aug. 10, 1855.

Mr. J. A. RHODES—Dear sir—Your medicine has met with the most favorable success in this neighborhood. I have about five bottles left. I gave it to the man first, "if no cure no pay" although I was not authorized by you to do so, but I took the responsibility on myself. But not a bottle has come back, and so I am almost out of the article. I wish you would forward me one gross of the bottles, if you see proper to do so, and I will be punctual in payment. I enclose a Green dollar on the medicine I have received, for which please send me a receipt. Ship the cure to me as soon as you can—here never has been so much chills and fever since I lived in the State as at present. Yours, &c. RICHARD MARTIN, P. M.

FEVER AND AGUE.

CONSTANTINE, Mich., Sept. 24, 1855.

JAMES A. RHODES, Esq.—Dear Sir—I have just sent an order to Ames & Halliday for another half gross of your fever and ague cure. It has sold like hot cakes and I have only two bottles on hand. One reason it has sold is because when I have heard of a case of ague or chill fever, I have sent a bottle and told them to try it, and if it did not help them they were not obliged to pay for it, and they were all satisfied. I had one case of chill fever where it run four days, but the man came to see me on the sixth day well satisfied. Truly yours, JOHN P. GLADDING.

MOLINE, Ill., Sept. 24, 1855.

MR. JAMES A. RHODES—Dear Sir—The box of ague cure you sent us has all been sold and created a large demand for more; to meet which we have ordered from your general agent at Chicago, J. D. Yerrington. Its sale will only be equalled by the number of fever and ague cases. Hoping these cases may be few, yet have a bottle of the cure for every case, we remain, respectfully yours, &c., RICHARDS & ALLEN.

I. O. O. F.—In another column of to day's paper will be found an advertisement for "Rhodes' Fever and Ague Cure." We are not in the habit of puffing medicines, but desire to say, for the benefit of the afflicted, that Wm. N. Rowe, merchant, Sharpsburg, who has it for sale, informs us that he has sold several dozen bottles, and in every case it has effected a cure. This proves the medicine to be good, and we take pleasure in bringing it before the notice of the public.—Odd Fellow, Boonsboro,' Md., Sept. 4.

CAUTION.

Since the announcement of the new principle to which the composition and singular success of my "Antidote to Malaria" is owing, several active and unprincipled quacks have forthwith made the same claims in favor of their poisonous nostrums that were before destitute of any but the usual wholesale laudation that accompanies disgusting quackery.

I notice one firm, who manufacture a pill, have taken one of my general circulars, prefaced it with the cry of "an Antidote to Malaria found at last," substituted the name of their nostrum for my medicine, and then, with brazen impudence, end their pamphlet with the exclamation, "Let the proprietor of any other medicine say as much, if he dares!"

Against such swindlers it is impossible to do more than warn the public in general terms; any more definite notice would only bring them into the notoriety they aspire to. There is the consolation, however, that they can deceive few but the most ignorant—their only chance for success being to steal the language and belongings of respectability, which, like the lion's skin, always proves to be merely a temporary disguise.

Beyond the following statements, therefore, the public must protect itself—

Premising that I make no claim which I support by my own assertion alone. I am constantly publishing proofs from well known and disinterested parties in every part of the Union.

First—I claim to offer to the public a harmless medicine, and its innocence I establish beyond question by the certificate of chemical analysis given by the eminent chemist Dr. James R. Chilton, of New York, a copy of which I attach to every bottle of the "cure;" and how great a blessing to the world such a remedy must be, all the victims to fever and ague medicines that are yet alive can appreciate better than words can express.

Second—I claim that, as an "Antidote to Malaria," it is not only an absolute preventive of all diseases caused by a poisonous and foul atmosphere, such as fever and ague, or chill fever dumb ague, and other intermittent and remittent fevers; bilious fevers, accompanied by typhoid symptoms; typhoid fever; yellow fever, ship and jail fever, general debility, night sweats, and like forms of disease; but that it is the natural, unerring and unfailing cure for them. This I establish by the unsolicited and voluntary testimony, which I frequently publish, both of individuals who have used it, and particularly that of respectable dealers who have sold it. The letters that I daily receive and constantly publish from druggists and merchants in every part of the United States, stating that they have sold from two dozen to one or more gross, and that "every bottle has effected a cure," thereby creating a demand for more, constitute evidence that cannot honestly be disputed or denied.

I neither have or show any hostility to other ague medicines, or their proprietors, believing that every medicine should stand on its own merit. All that I protest against is, that unprincipled knaves should make use of my language, and assume the principles I maintain, in order to impose their secret nostrums upon the sick and dying, for the sake of a few pieces of silver.

And, as an evidence of the genuine efficacy of Rhodes' Fever and Ague Cure, I make the offer:—

TO ALL MEDICINE DEALERS IN THE UNITED STATES.

I will send a trial shipment of two dozen of the cure to every medicine dealer in the United States and Canadas upon application, accompanied by satisfactory references, and authorize said dealers to guarantee the efficacy of every bottle. My object being to convince the trade and the public that this remedy has all the intrinsic merits which are claimed for it.

LADY AGENTS.

Any capable lady, desirous of a profitable agency, will be supplied upon the same terms as above, and allowed the usual liberal trade commission. All applications from ladies must be accompanied by a certificate of character from a clergyman. The freight will be at my expense, and pre-paid whenever it is possible. There is probably not a district or a town where malarious diseases prevail, but what there is one or more intelligent women who would be glad to thus undertake a business that would benefit her neighbors, and that could be extended, by a little travelling, just in proportion to her own business industry and attention.

For sale in New York by George H. Bates, C. H. Ring, Barnes & Park, W. S. Dunham, F. C. Wells & Co., C. V. Clickener & Co., B. A. Fahnestock, Hull & Co., and all druggists; Philadelphia, T. R. Wright & Co., 15 Chartres street; and by wholesale and retail druggists generally throughout the United States and Canadas.
