COMMERCIAL.

HONOLULU, MARCH 25, 1873.

Regretting the withdrawal of the old packet line Comet, and the trade between this port and San Francisco, the Bulletin says:

The bark Comet is announced for a whaling and trading cruise. This vessel has been long known as one of the regular line of packets between San Francisco and Honolulu. There were formerly two packet lines on the route, with occasional vessels to suit the requirements. The inauguration of a steam line, together with some changes in the business, broke up one of these packet lines. The other has been maintained with regularity up to within a few weeks. This line was composed of the Comet, D. C. Murray and Queen Emma. The last named vessel in this port the Queen Emma was withdrawn and sold to Peru, who needed her.

The Comet, D. C. Murray, remains at the wharf, having left here for Hanalei on the 12th inst. The competition among our local Sugar refiners, by which the price of Brown Sugar has been reduced to 8@9½ cents, has made it a matter of doubt for Hawaiian planters to ship their Sugar here, and hence the light freight offerings for vessels here.

Of the market for Coffee the same paper says:

Late mail advices from New York report that higher prices for Coffee at Rio Janeiro and small shipments to the United States, together with growing competition for the coming crop, combined to produce a tendency to make the market even harder than of late. There were no sellers except at late extreme, and some advanced prices. The stock was reported scant, and in few hands.

Regarding the newly-patented method of curing Tobacco, we find the following in the S. F. Commercial Herald:

The Daily method of curing tobacco, as introduced from Manila and described as follows: It has been customary to hang the tobacco up to the hot sun under a shed, with no protection against the night. Mr. Daly hangs up the tobacco in the shade, and at night lets it remain in a night house, in a night house that it can be ventilated and heated. By means of allowing the plants to hang upwards they are dry enough to tie, the leaves turn from green to a light yellow, and the midrib dries several times and left quite brittle; in fact, the process being based on actual results of experiment, the tobacco is treated in the same way as the process of the good, good tobacco, and the throwing off of the bad qualities found in the plant when green, or formed during the process of curing."

The following shows some pretty fast sailing—equal to ordinary steamer time. The Young America has just left San Francisco again for Liverpool:

"Tuesday Young America, which arrived yesterday, made the voyage from Liverpool in ninety-nine days, the fastest time on record between these ports. The highest day's run was 307 miles, and in the first twelve days out she made a total of 2,242 miles, her average for the first seventeen days being 200 miles per day. The voyage to the Sandwich Isles was made in 8 days and 22 hours, the fastest time ever made in those waters."

In local commercial matters we have to note the arrival of the Barkentine Jane A. Falkenberg, Forbes, 25 days from Portland, with an assorted cargo of Oregon produce consigned to Bowen, Castle & Cook. She will load immediately for Portland.

The bark Kalulani discharged her cargo of coal, and will load cargo for San Francisco, affording the next opportunity for a coal to the United States.

The whale bark Camilla, Fisher, arrived from Elie on Monday, before reported, with 90 bbls sperm. She will cruise off north till the arrival of the next mail steamer.

The whale ship W. Wolfenden, Capt. Winsell, is reported at Elie, with 65 bbls sperm. This is the second whaler arrival, of which we may expect about 25 this spring.

The schooner C. H. Ward returned on the 20th, from a cruise among the Gilbert Islands, with 25 laborers, where she reports everything quiet.

Mr. Barrow held yesterday a credit sale of very fine new French and German staple goods, which was well attended. The sale will continue today.

Arrived in Honolulu March 20th, making the round trip in 47 days.

Capt Bickham reports a large school of whales having been seen from Enderbury Island on the 14th of February, and also the following whales as having touched at Enderbury Island: Bark Delta, Bonhagen, arrived at Enderbury Island Jan 8th, one month from Honolulu, with 100 bbls sperm. Report also the loss of the entire boat, who died two or three days previous to sighting the island.

Bark Europa, McKenzie, arrived at Enderbury Island Jan 20th, 36 days from San Francisco, with nothing since leaving port. Reports all on board as well, and bound west.

Bark Arnolda, Beasley, arrived at Enderbury Island Jan 22d, 15 days from Honolulu. Saw no whales since leaving port. Reports the loss of one mate off Washington Island, and all on board as well, and bound west.

The Hawaiian bark B W Wood had touched at Howland's Island, and the brig Kamehameha V at Baker's.—both clean.

BIRTH.

On Saturday, March 22nd, to the wife of T. A. Lloyd, Esq., a daughter.

According to some information recently obtained, the rapidity with which the population of Alexandria, Egypt, has increased of late years is more than American. When the first Napoleon was in Egypt this city contained 7,000 inhabitants; in 1847, 60,000; in 1862, 164,400, and in 1872, 200,000. According to Consular reports the entire population of Egypt in May, 1867, was 4,915,500.

The following record of female avocations in the United States is taken from the recent census returns: Independent of women farmers there are 45 female stock herders, 6 apprentices to barbers, 24 dentists, 2 hostlers, 2 professional hunters and trappers, 5 lawyers, 525 physicians and surgeons, 1472 compositors, 2970 book folders, 67 clergymen, 2 scavengers, 7 seamen 10 'canalmen,' 196 'engineers,' 1 pilot, 6 guano laborers, 4 gasmakers, 33 gunsmiths, 7 gunpowder makers and 16 ship riggers.

Roughing It, dramatized from Mark Twain's book of that name, has been produced at the Grand Opera House, New York. John Brougham enacted the part of "Denis Macduffle," and Mrs. John Wood that of "Miss Antoinette Macduffle," while Miss Annie Delano assumed the part of "Miss John Wood, the Queen of Comedy and Song." The piece concludes with an opium den in San Francisco and a transformation.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

Several whalers will be found reported by Capt. Rickman, under the head of Ship Memoranda.

We invite attention to the card of Dr. Cummings, homeopathic physician, who has taken an office at No. 63 Fort street.

The Fair at Waialua, Oahu, which was held on the 13th, for the benefit of the Girl's Boarding School at that place, resulted in the receipt of about $150.

His Honor Judge Widemann, accompanied by Attorney-General Judd, sailed for Nawiliwili on Monday last, to hold the Spring term of Court for Kauai.

Another load of lepers, 29 in number, left in the schooner Warwick, for Molokai, on Tuesday. This makes 58 who have been sent to the Leper Hospital within ten days.

Whales have been seen quite frequently about the Islands the past few weeks, as is usual in the Spring months. They are of the "humpback" species, and resort here to breed.

Her Britannic Majesty's Acting Commissioner and Consul-General, Theo. H. Davies, Esq., will give a Ball at the Hawaiian Hotel to-morrow evening, in honor of His Majesty's accession to the throne.

Ship Malay.—This vessel lay in the stream waiting for a crew, when the Moses Taylor left San Francisco. She was loaded with flour for Hong Kong, and it is possible that she may leave a mail in passing this port, though there is no certainty of her stopping.

The Emperor William's birthday anniversary occurred on Saturday last, when the venerable Kaiser entered on his 74th year. The German Consul, J. C. Glade, Esq., received his friends at the residence of Judge Widemann, where a generous spread was provided, and the health of the Emperor and the Imperial family drew out patriotic toasts and songs from the sons of Fatherland.

The Winter Term of Punahou College closed with an examination on Friday last, at which teachers and students acquitted themselves with credit. Most of them have already scattered in various directions to spend the two weeks of liberty allowed them. That's right,—roam and romp over the green hills and meadows, drink in the fresh mountain air, and return promptly at the tap of the bell, with nerves braced up and clear heads for another twelve weeks of climbing up the hill of science.

The Schooner Kamaile has lately been purchased by Captain I. B. Peterson, who is now fitting her out for a whaling voyage, to sail early in April. She will be commanded by her owner, who proposes to cruise down the Mexican coast, then towards Panama Bay, the Galligapos, Marquesas, the Line, and back to port, which will occupy eight or ten months. With a smart gang of whalemen, the Kamaile, if she meets good luck, ought to return next winter well filled with oil, of which she can stow away about 500 barrels.

Executed.—On Friday, March 21, about noon, a native Hawaiian, Kahelaumoku, was hung within the walls of the prison in this city for the murder of an old man and woman, committed at Waiehu, Maui, in March, 1872. The evidence was clear, and the prisoner before his execution confessed having committed the deed. He was attended at the scaffold by Rev. Father Modeste, of the Roman Catholic Church. Besides a parting salutation of "farewell" (ohoi oukou), to his attendants, he made no remarks, and appears to have met his fate with the same apparent indifference which he has shown since his sentence.

Concert.—A Musical Entertainment, under the patronage of the King, and the auspices of the French Commissioner and Consul, will take place at the Royal Hawaiian Theatre, on Friday Evening, March 28. The receipts will be for the benefit of the sufferers in the floods which occurred in the great storm in France, in December last. The storm swept over the whole of Europe, doing great damage on the sea as well as land; but nowhere was the suffering greater than in France, caused by the extraordinary floods in the rivers which rise in the Alps. The following Programme gives promise of a varied and agreeable musical entertainment:

For Kauai.—Capt. Berrill's new schooner, the Dauntless, will leave for Kauai on Friday or Saturday next, and will probably make the circuit of that Island. She has a screw, with boiler and necessary machinery for steaming, and as soon as he can obtain a subsidy Captain B. proposes to use steam, and show what the Dauntless can do as a steamer. At present her machinery is not set up.

Foreign Miscellany.

Two men have been sent to jail at Salford, England, for fourteen days, for playing cards for money in a public house.

A large painting of Chicago has been ordered by the Lord Mayor of London, to adorn the banqueting chamber of the Mansion House.

The creditors of an absconding western banker found on opening his safe that the only thing he had laid up there for a rainy day was an umbrella.

A subscriber of a paper in Columbus, Ohio, has "withdrawn his patronage" because the editor treated their recent little earthquake with levity.

They tell of an Ohio man who has applied at the postoffice daily for four years and a half, and has never received a letter. He begins to look discouraged.

Queen Victoria has granted a pension of $250 a year to the widow of the gallant Capt. Knowles, of the Northfleet, who lost his own life in exertions to save others.

The greatest surprise at a surprise party in New Haven recently was occasioned by the discovery that a thief had stolen the refreshments out of the back kitchen.

The City Physician of Boston has been sued for $5,000 damages by a lady whom he sent to the Small-pox Hospital under the mistaken idea that she had the disease.

A handsome young lady named Jennie Brown, living in Wisconsin, saved three men from drowning the other day, and her friends presented her with fifty yards of silk.

One of the Ohio Representatives rose up the other day and moved for a law to prevent any more babies from being named John Smith, but the thirteen John Smiths around him threw so many inkstands at him that he had to sit down.

Far-seeing Kentuckians are taking measures to educate the colored children of the State, and a bill to establish separate schools for them and raise money therefor, is about to be presented in the Legislature.

The foreign newspapers are just now making merry over a story which is going the rounds, relating to the Russian Grand Duke Alexis, and which is doubtless, to say the least, founded mostly on fiction. It appears, according to the story, that during the triumphal course of Alexis through America he was the recipient of hundreds of letters from females, all breathing devotion, and all of which he religiously preserved, with the intention probably of reading them at his leisure upon his return to Russia. These letters, with a lot of arch-ducal baggage, were contained in a large trunk, which was put in special charge of a confidential valet at Havana, to convey to St. Petersburg. This valet, seeing a good thing, confiscated the letters, and sending the remaining baggage along, disposed of the correspondence to a Belgian publisher, who has just announced the novel volume containing it.

Late Foreign News.

Washington News.

Washington, March 4—The President, last night, in speaking of the subject of Cabinet changes, said it was not his intention to make any change in the Cabinet, except in places of members who might insist on the acceptance of their resignation. As to other appointments, none would be made, except to fill vacancies. Some new appointments will be made in foreign offices—in place of Ministers and others who had signified their desire to be relieved at the expiration of their term of office on the 4th of March.

New York, March 4—The Herald this morning has an editorial on the beginning of President Grant's second term, and the close of the forty-second Congress. It says the people of the United States will be glad, not only that the Government passes again into Grant's hands for another four years, but also that the curtain falls on the Credit Mobilier. In Congress there is general hope that the close of the President's first term will shake from him advisers who have not added to the honor and credit of his past administration. The people have confidence that he will rise above faction in his new career, and that the end of his term will leave his fame equal to that of Washington and Lincoln. The popular sentiment points to a remodeling of the Cabinet that should relieve us of the present Secretaries of State and the Treasury.

The World to-day calls Grant the most fortunate man who ever figured in American history. He may fairly count it an honor to be ranked among the list of re-elected Presidents.

The Times considers that he enters on his second term under the most favorable auspices. There are no foreign embarrassments, and the process of reconstruction is completed. The people of the United States could hardly have a safer man at the helm.

England.

London, February 28—Disclosures of the most startling character respecting heavy forgeries on the Bank of England have just been made public. The bills of the bank have been successfully counterfeited to a large amount and extensively circulated. Many of the most eminent firms in the city have been victimized and have suffered serious losses. It is impossible to ascertain to what extent the forgeries have been committed, and no clue to the perpetrators has been obtained. The Government detectives have been set to work to unravel the mystery.

London, February 25—By special invitation Prince Louis Napoleon, yesterday, paid a visit to Her Majesty the Queen, at Windsor Castle. The interview was of an entirely social character, and had no political significance. During the visit lunch was partaken of by the Prince and Her Majesty, with several members of the royal family.

London, March 3—In the House of Commons, this afternoon, the question was raised by a member regarding the distribution of the Geneva award and payment of claims of Americans from the sum awarded by the Board of Arbitration.

Gladstone, rising to the question, replied that England was not concerned with the manner in which the sum awarded by the Arbitrators may be dealt with by the United States Government, nor with the manner of ranking of American claimants under said award. He intimated that with the payment of the sum decreed by the Arbitrators, all concerned with the same passed out of the hands of the British Government, and that the settlement with individual claimants rests with America alone.

The forgeries discovered on the Bank of England were largely in Rothschild's name. Through bills discounted by the bank, a large amount of American bonds have been obtained on the profits of the forgeries. Frederick Warren, an American, is charged with the crime. Five hundred pounds reward is offered by the authorities for his arrest, charged with counterfeiting American bonds to the extent of $250,000. He is also charged with the forgeries recently discovered on the Bank of England, which involves the Rothschilds and others.

London, March 4—The Irish Education bill, which will shortly be put on its passage for a second reading in the House of Commons, will probably be the subject of considerable debate, and it is believed will meet with strenuous opposition from the many Irish members. The Government, however, expects to be able by a small majority to pass this bill to a second reading.

The circumstances of the fraud on the Bank of England remain a mystery. Noyes, the clerk or confederate of the forger, is now under arrest. He is a native of the United States. He protests his innocence, but doubtless knows more than he is willing to tell at present. It is stated that Noyes made startling revelations to a member of the House of Rothschild, who visited him at Newgate to-day.

It is reported that the frauds amount to $2,000,000, and that of this amount $350,000 was drawn upon Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., $300,000 upon the Rothschilds, and a large amount upon the Barings.

Spain.

London, February 28—In the consideration that induced Amadeus' abdication the possible declaration of a Spanish Republic was never for a moment thought of. It was a complete surprise, a veritable coup d'etat. Amadeus would not have abdicated had he deemed the consequence of his act in any degree probable, inasmuch as the two Latin nations—France and Spain—having each a Republican Government, would have an enormous influence on the third Latin nation, thus directly endangering his father's throne. Amadeus abdicated in the expectation that he would be recalled by the army, whose side he has taken against the Ministry. For this reason he remained in Portugal. The artillery officers are all Monarchists, and all members of old families. He believed that as he had cast away the throne rather than act with the Ministry who seemed determined to humiliate the army, they would pronounce in his favor and he would return at their head, and that his hands would then be free from constitutional trammels; but he was completely checkmated by the turn events had taken. Apparently it was some suspicion of this that induced many members of the Cortes, not Republican, to vote with the Republican party, in order to overreach the royal maneuvers.

Madrid, March 3—Carlist disturbances are increasing. Advices from the districts of Catalonia, Alicant and Murcia say the movement is rapidly spreading. The people are dissatisfied with the Government and are joining the Carlist ranks. The Government troops at Catalonia have become insubordinate, and it is apprehended many may desert to join the Carlists. The Spanish Government will shortly ask the Cortes for a loan of four million pounds sterling to arm volunteers and enable the Government to continue the war against the Carlists.

The Ministerialists are conferring with the Radical members regarding the dissolution of the Assembly. The citizens are organizing, regardless of politics, for the mutual protection of life and property, as trouble is anticipated before the dissolution of the Assembly.

Paris, March 4—The Messager de Paris publishes, in an extra this evening, despatches reporting that Marshal Serrano has been appointed Dictator of Spain, and that the Republicans have suffered a severe defeat at the hands of the Carlists, near Pruen.

France.

London, March 1—A dispatch from Paris says it is generally considered that to-day's sitting of the National Assembly at Versailles will be one of the most important that has occurred since the establishment of the republic. It is expected that both the Right and Left will insist upon a distinct statement from President Thiers of the policy of the Executive.

Paris, March 2—In the National Assembly the discussion relative to the ministerial responsibilities of the Executive was resumed and continued at length. M. Dufaure, in addressing the Assembly, laid great stress on the previous declarations made by President Thiers pertaining to the Executive's power to exercise certain rights and privileges, which he claimed as due him for the proper administration of the Government. The Assembly maintained that the government of France was a republic, and the interests of the people required united action. After a long and exciting debate the Assembly, by a vote of four hundred and ninety-nine against two hundred, decided to discuss the proposals submitted by the Committee of Thirty.

Paris, March 3—In the National Assembly yesterday, President Thiers delivered a brilliant address, in which he supported the preamble presented by M. Dufaure. The address of the President created great enthusiasm in the Assembly and he was loudly applauded.

The report submitted by Duc DeBroglie then came up for discussion, and after an exciting debate, passed the Assembly by a vote of 475 against 199.
