A RAVIN'.

FROM ARTEMUS W. A. PEE.

Once, upon a midnight dreary, as I slumbered, tired and weary,
Over many a quaint and curious volume of minor bores I pore,
While I nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping,
As of some unwelcome rapping, rapping at my bed room door.
"'Tis some visitor," I muttered, "who's the screwed to bother me this hour—
Only this, and nothing more!"

Ah! I vividly remember it was in a cold December,
And each lone lamp in chamber threw the ghost of ends of light upon the floor;
Eagerly I wished the morrow—being hard up, again, I'd borrow
Every straight in sight in sorrow, from an "Uncle" friend of yours—
From a uncle prompt to lend a fiver, who to me is worth a score,
Merely this, if not much more!

And the crackling, low, intermittent rattling of the frosty curtains
Made me shiver in such style as I had never done before;
So, to stop my shivering, I stopped the beating of my pulse I say repeating
"It's the uncle!" still repeating, entrance at a fellow's door!

This a most staggering Bombshell, hammering coolly at my door,
That's what 'tis, and nothing more!"

Up I got, and opt the entrance, where, without the slightest Bother,
Not a footpaced Time set coolly down upon the Floor;
Though he looked exceedingly shabby, not a moment stopped or stay ed on his
But, with impudence unknown of, walked right to the bedroom door,
Perched upon a vase on right and just beside my bed room door,
Waiting to call, and nothing more!

Then, this swaggy "Tom" impelling my sad fancy into smiling,
By the gay and rakish manner of the nonchalante it wore;
"Cut my head off where it grows, if I don't believe I'm sorry,"
Frankly muttered, grumpier Tomcat, wandering from the nightly shore,
"Tell us your name, you gay fellowship! tell us on you leave my door!"
Quoth the Tomcat "Never more!"

Much I wondered this ungainly fowl to hear discourse so plainly
Though the answer little meaning—little relevance bore;
For I hope we will agree, that no living human being
Ever yet had occasion to hear a cat within his bedroom door,
Sitting Tom cat on a cushion of a pale bustle his bedroom door,
With such a name as "Never more."

But he sat, unused of "rolling" where the cat provoked my mirthing
Straight I dragged a damaged easy chair adjacent the cushioned door;
Gently sank I crashing, (for I was giving way like winking)
Into it, and to divining what this vaginated bird of yore,
What this hideous, low, immoral, grunt and vagabond bird of yore
Meant by uttering "Never more."

Perched, I said, I sat engaging this (I was giving way like winking)
Bird whose eyes of burning, fire burned into my bosom core;
This and much more I divined, my head on velvet lined chair reclined,
On the lamp light gloating, I divined, that he meant by any that's Uttered,
If you are an old unfortunate, tell me truly, I implore!
Will there be a better chance?—Tell me,—tell me, I implore!"
Quoth the Tomcat "Never more!"

—J. M. W. Y. S. D. in the Chatham Observer, Dec.

"Transplanted Nutmegs."

(From the Danbury News, Sept. 13.)

A Danbury boy is "sleeping" with a Hartford carpenter.

Remember the poor when selecting your Christmas gifts.

A Shewson's boy's highest ambition is to grow up and be a city hearse.

A Danbury man was impanelled for sitting on a jury Friday, for sitting on a door scraper Thursday.

A Danbury man was obliged to decline a situation with a mildewed tenant because he was subject to cramps.

A Danbury sawdier always wears wedding ring in order when at work so as not to disturb his neighbors.

A Danbury woman, whose husband is dead drink a greater part of the time, has put on widow's weeds.

One of the mysteries of the season is how the head of the family contrives to catch when he discovers, at breakfast time, that the milk for his coffee is sour.

A Danbury woman, who is the mother of seven children, all boys, and does her own work, was recently asked why she didn't get a girl. She blushed painfully.

A Shewsie man was overpowerfully caught fishing by his pastor on Sunday. The minister was shocked, and so was the fisherman, and in his confusion stammered out something about fearing it was going to rain, and that the fish might get wet.

A Danbury boy was on the stoop reading a murder trial Saturday afternoon, when his father came to him. "How does the thermometer stand, Thomas?" "Unanimous for acquittal on the ground of insanity," was the mechanical reply. Thomas is sure yet, he says.

The most delicious berry is the strawberry. When we were boys, and picked the berries from the swamp lot of a man who didn't understand the promptings of our young heart, and kept a dog, they possessed a flavor they never have since, and never will.

A sharp shrill voice searching for "George," disturbed the quiet of Nelson street for some fifteen minutes on Friday. At the end of that time a very wilted features suddenly appeared through an opening in the fence, and sadly observed: "Your voice ain't what it use to be, mother; you're losing greatly."

A Liberty-street man, whose strawberry patch has been afflicted by robbers, loaded and primed a shot gun in the interests of agriculture, Friday, and taking aim at a robber, which was on the fence trying to decapitate an unction sell, let drive. The robber immediately got out of there, but the charge was not lost. It was subsequently dug out of Gustie Bailey's face, who is a resident of East Liberty-street.

The dull times are not exactly confined to Danbury. The complaint comes from every direction. And yet a New York letter of yesterday says the money market is comparatively easy, that the banks are supplied with reserve, and that the interest is light. We are sorry interest is light. We intend to make an investment. But it is an ill wind that blows no good. We shall get a dollar.

An Elm-street boy exploded a pack of firecrackers in his sister's piano, Saturday. The intervention of his grandfather saved the youngster a well merited thrashing, and, out of gratitude to his deliverer, he sprinkled the inside folds of the morning paper with cayenne pepper, and the old gentleman on opening and shaking it, as has been his custom for years, was taken with a violent fit of sneezing, and threw both of his knees and one thumb out of joint, before the hired man, whose nose he had broken, could control him. The old gentleman has temporarily retired from the business of intervention.

FUN IN THE FAMILY.—Don't be afraid of having a little fun in the family. A merry disposition is a God-send to a home. There's the case of a man on Nelson street, for instance. Saturday he went into the kitchen ahead of his wife, and seeing two huckleberry pies steaming on the table he hastily concealed them in the ice-chest, which stood open in the back hall. Then he went down town chuckling to himself, and ten minutes later the ice-cart drove up and the ice man brought in a fifty pound cake, and started for the ice-chest, followed closely by the fond wife expatiating upon the "muse." He put the cake upon the edge of the chest, and gave it a push over, and when it came down on those two steaming pies, a huckleberry geyser followed, and the ice man with eyes and face full of the discharge, tumbled completely over the woman, and disappeared out of the door. The wife recovered her balance as speedily as possible, and catching up a broom went after the ice man, but he escaped her; then she came back and looked in the ice-chest, and down at the oil-cloth, and up at the ceiling, and around on the walls. The men in the store who were let into the joke by the facetious Nelson street man, are anxiously wondering how it turned out.—Danbury News.

BERLIN had a royal pageant on the occasion of the dedication of the monument raised there in honor of the German victory of Sedan. The Emperor, Crown Prince, the Princes, the royal ladies, Prince Bismarck, and the military were present. The Emperor was received with much enthusiasm by the army, but Bismarck was more honored than all the people—men and women—who cheered him vociferously wherever he appeared.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
CHLORODYNE
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.
THE PUBLIC ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST the unfounded statements frequently made, "that the composition of CHLORODYNE is known to Chemists and the Medical profession." The fact is, Chlorodyne was discovered and invented by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE (ex Army Medical Staff), and so named by him, and it has baffled all attempts at analysis by the first Chemists of the day. The method and secret of the preparation have never been published. It is obvious, therefore, that anything sold under the name, save Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, is a spurious imitation.
CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne.
MEDICAL USES AND ACTION.
This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively, using it in great quantities in the following diseases:—Cholera, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Colics, Coughs, Asthma, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Whooping Cough, Cramp Hysteria, &c.
EXTRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS.
The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians, and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was CHLORODYNE.—See Lancet Dec. 31, 1864.
Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (Dec., 1863) that in nearly every case of Cholera to which Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE was administered, the patient recovered.
Extract from Medical Times, Jan 12, 1866.—"Chlorodyne is prescribed by scores of orthodox medical practitioners. Of course it would not thus be singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"
Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases."
CAUTION.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
