HONOLULU, AUGUST 15, 1874.

The steamship Tartar was signalled on Wednesday last, about noon, and arrived at her pier just eight days from San Francisco. She brought but a small freight, the bark D. C. Murray and the brig Alice Haake having taken what was ready to come by her. She sailed on the following day for Australia, taking considerable freight.

It is quite probable that the line will continue on to the end of this year, though it may meet with some irregularities, as the steamers are only chartered from trip to trip. The new steamship, under the auspices of a new company, will commence service in the first of January, 1875, after which there will be no interruption.

The bark B. C. Murray sailed on the 10th for San Francisco taking a valuable cargo and a large list of passengers. She will be followed on the 20th by the brig Alice Haake, now loading at Brewer's wharf. She is a large carrier and a fast sailer.

The bark R. C. Wylie is at hand from Bremen, with her usual promptness, bringing a choice cargo of European goods to our leading merchants, which will be found advertised in our columns. This vessel is consigned to Messrs. Hackfeld & Co., and will meet quick dispatch for San Francisco, sailing about the 20th inst.

Market reports from San Francisco show a decided advance in the rates of sugar, averaging one cent a pound all around. Coffee, Rice and Tea are all firm at last previous quotations. Regarding Sugar, we have the following:

"The last sale of the California Refinery, adopted on Saturday, are as follows: on a credit of 45 days for lots in bbls, or 2½ per cent off for cash: Crushed, Cubes, Fine Crushed and Dry Granulated, 10½c; Powdered, 10½c; Wet Granulated, 10c; Yellow C, 10½c. Hawaiian grades are held at an advance, the nominal range being 10½c, and 10½c for washed, but there are no sales.

From the whaling fleet we have our first report, as follows:

"A letter from Capt. Fish of bark Java, of N. Bedford, dated Kodiac, June 22th, via Portland, O., June 23rd, reports having taken 250 bbls. whale and 80 bbls. sperm oil during the season. Also reports bark Mt. Wollaston, Minthorn, 400 with 150 bbls. whale oil, taken on Kodiac; a brig from Honolulu had taken a whale, and the Adventurer, Hervelsen, had lost two. The engine of the Java cut in a 120 bbl whale in 2 hours and 15 minutes. Weather fine.

DIED.

LAHO—In this city, August 7th, Mrs Lucretia Nye Lahe, widow of William Lahe, aged 67 years.

☞ A very pleasant reunion took place on Thursday evening at the lecture room of the Fort Street Church, on the occasion of the departure of Rev. Frank Thompson and wife, late pastor of the foreign church at Hilo, and seamen's chaplain for that port. The rooms were well filled, and the greetings which the retiring pastor received showed that he left behind him many warm friends. On behalf of the latter, Mr. H. A. P. Carter presented Mr. Thompson with a well-filled purse contributed as a parting gift, and accompanied the presentation with an eloquent address, which was received by Mr. T. with a few expressions of hearty thanks. Rev. Mr. Damon also made a few remarks, which were very appropriate to the occasion, as what he usually says on such occasions is well-timed. Mr. Thompson and family sailed in the bark "D. C. Murray" for California, where he expects to locate. His place will probably be filled by Rev. A. O. Forbes, who has been called by the church to become their pastor.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

☞ Mr. Bartow holds his usual weekly sale at his rooms to-day.

☞ Bark Wm. C. Parke had a long passage of 27 days from this port to San Francisco—same as the Murray's.

☞ Mr. Thos. W. Everett has been appointed Sheriff of Maui, in place of Mr. Wm. O. Smith resigned.

MASONIC.—A special meeting of Hawaiian Lodge No. 21 F. & A. M., will be held at its rooms this Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

☞ We know of no vessel likely to bring a mail from San Francisco, until the return of the Steamer Macgregor or the bark Queen Emma, which vessels will leave that port on or about August 15.

☞ Steamer Tartar left San Francisco at 1:30 on the 28th of July and arrived at her pier at 1:30 August 5,—just eight days; or from wharf to pilot, the usual reckoning of passages, seven days and 25 hours.

AS USUAL.—The Advertiser tells its readers that an audience took place at the palace on Tuesday of last week. The audience given to the French Commissioner took place on Thursday. This is about as near as the P. C. A. usually gets to the truth.

NEW SCHOONER.—The schooner "Kapiolani" about eleven tons burthen, is the latest vessel launched in this port. She was built from Hawaiian timber by Mr. Jas. Dower, and one or two trials of speed have shown that she is among the fastest craft of her size that sails out from this port. She will engage as a trader around Oahu.

SILVER WEDDING.—The friends of Mr. H. L. Sheldon, editor of the Advertiser, met at the residence of Mr. Jas. Auld, on Saturday evening last, to observe the twenty-fifth anniversary of his wedding, which took place August 9th, 1849. A supper was prepared by the proprietors of that paper, and a silver watch and other useful silver presents were presented to him on behalf of the company.

MRS. ADMIRAL PENNOCK, whom many of our readers will remember during the two recent visits of the Admiral at this port, lately died on the passage to Japan. Her remains were returned from Yokohama by steamer to San Francisco, and thence forwarded by rail road to Norfork, Virginia, for interment. Admiral Pennock has the heart-felt sympathy of many friends in these islands, in his deep bereavement.

THE EUCALYPTUS.—One of our Californian exchanges speaking of this tree, says: "The two Australian gum trees on James T. Stratton's place in East Oakland, says the San Leandro Plaindealer, have probably the largest family in the world. From their seed over one hundred and fifty thousand trees have sprung." Can any of our readers inform us whether this tree has seeded in these islands. There are many trees fifty feet high, and ten or fifteen years old, but we have not heard of their yet having produced seeds.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Friday last, Capt. Hiram Kahanawai died very suddenly, as is supposed from aneurism. He had just entered the King's presence, and bowed to His Majesty, when he dropped on the floor, and was carried out dead. He was a trusty and faithful servant, of a quiet and reserved disposition, and made a favorable impression on all who knew him. His funeral was attended on Saturday afternoon from St. Andrew's Chapel, and his remains escorted to Nuuanu cemetery by the infantry troops and numerous personal friends, including members of the royal family. Among Hawaiians there are few who have left a more pleasant memory.

MURDER.—Another foul murder was perpetrated near Hilo, July 28 or 29, close to the spot where the late Captain Ely was killed some years since. Two very old natives, a man named Kanghnanaoku and his wife, were this time the victims. The bodies were found—that of the husband near the door, and that of the wife some distance away, under a taro tree. The bodies of both were mutilated, apparently with an axe, and deep gashes were found cut across the heads. After the murder, the house seems to have been searched for money, as the trunks had been broken open and money taken therefrom. The old man was a pot vender and kept pigs for sale, and was of a thrifty and saving character, and is believed to have saved up considerable money, a fact which must have been known to those engaged in the murder. Two natives have been arrested on suspicion and their examination was probably held last week.

BARBAROUS.—An atrocious outrage, says a recent S. F. Alta, was perpetrated yesterday, at North Beach. A Chinaman was quietly at work not far from Taylor and Chestnut streets, saving some scraps of iron from an old smoke stack that had been thrown aside as worthless. Just then he was attacked by a dozen boys, and stoned as if he had been a wild beast. When he attempted to drive them away, tearing his baskets and their contents to do so, others of the young scoundrels seized his goods, spilled them about, dragged his baskets, hook and carrying-stick away, and as he attempted to regain them he was pelted with stones and beaten with cudgels. We have never, during a not short life, witnessed such a disgraceful scene, and to make it worse, some of the white women whose vile fry were guilty of this cruel, unprovoked and infamous act, were howling imprecations upon the Chinaman because their sons, candidates for the State Prison, were "being ruined by Chinese." As usual, not a policeman could be found throughout all the northern portion of the city. Only some foreign born citizens lent aid to the poor Chinaman."

Hanging is the only punishment which these American savages merit.

A CELESTIAL FLIRTATION.—The planets Venus and Jupiter have presented a pretty sight the past few evenings, as they have been approaching each other for their periodical conjunction. They can be seen from 7 o'clock till 8:30 in the western sky. Venus is (or was last evening) the lower of the two planets, and much the brighter of them. This evening she will occupy a position to the left of Jupiter, and perhaps a little above him, half a degree distant, and will on each succeeding evening rapidly ascend. This celestial coquette is making herself unusually notorious this year. After dancing around grim Jupiter and having her periodical tete-a-tete with him, as she is now doing, she proposes a chase after the Sun. When she flirts with Jupiter nobody cares much about it, though all most confess she plays her part well, and makes the fellow stand aside for her. But when she approaches old Sol, as she intends to do December 8, and undertakes to make him her beau, then all the savans in the universe are started up, and chase all round this globe to get the best position to observe the color of her skirts, and measure the length of her shadow. A strange girl is this Venus—look at her this evening, and tell us if you don't think she is pretty as she waltzes post old Jupiter?

"Trot them All Out."

To the Editor of the Gazette:

What is said by those brilliant and virtuous lights that revolve around the Advertiser, may be of no great concern to you; but there are some incidents which have not, as I am aware, yet been published, which will amuse the public abroad, and serve to illustrate the unrivalled talent that exists here, and what pinks of morality display their virtues in the columns of that journal.

When Mr. George Nebeker of Salt Lake was last here, he met the then editor of the Nukoa, who is now said to be on the Advertiser's staff, in the store of Messrs. Walker & Allen, and in the presence of several witnesses, charged him with having become a Mormon emissary for dishonorable purposes, and with having deliberately swindled native Hawaiian Mormons out of the money which they had collected and entrusted to him, as an envoy of President Brigham Young, to purchase land on Lanai. Mr. Nebeker made this charge, publicly and before at least twelve witnesses, against the editor of the Nukoa, and those who were present will remember his pitiable look as he left the store unable to give a satisfactory reply to one who spoke "by the book." Mr. Nebeker, moreover, said that he had ample evidence to prove every assertion he made. I recall this incident to show that some of these rumors are founded on facts.

Now for luminary number two of the Advertiser trio. There are those who served in the late American war, who have a faint recollection of a certain gallant volunteer, who enlisted and marched down to Tennessee to whip "them cussed rebels," and when he heard the first gun and smelt the first powder, took to his heels, and didn't stop running till he got where Uncle Sam's bull dogs could not trouble him. Can any one furnish the name and produce a copy of the reward offered for the apprehension of this deserter? or is it all a slander?

Number three of the celebrated Advertiser illiterati has also a brilliant record, which would unfold into a startling tale, not a slanderous tale either. I leave that for another chapter, with the plain reminder that "those who live in glass houses should not throw stones." VIDO.

[REMARKS.—Our correspondent appears to have documents which we are not possessed of, and which certainly have not been published. We should like to hear farther from him, though it may not be advisable to publish all his statements.—EDITOR.]

HONOLULU, August 11, 1874.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

SIR.—If the writer of the letter in Saturday's Advertiser, signed "Nuuanu," was an eyewitness of the barbarity he describes as taking place on my premises in my absence, and if he had been a gentleman, he would have called upon the Bishop, whom he covertly attacks as "a certain reverend gentleman," or have sent him a note to acquaint him with what he had witnessed, that he might have inquired into the circumstances on his return. He did neither, but allowed his letter in a public paper to be the first notification the Bishop received of the alleged cruelty. If he was not an eyewitness, to publish the statements contained in the letter on the authority of goosly condemns him as a man, why to serve a purpose would not hesitate to stab a neighbor in the dark. I can therefore afford to leave him and his letter to the judgment of every Christian gentleman in Honolulu.

The letter bears on the face of it such marks of malice and falsehood, that its charges are not worth refuting. I will only invite the Editor of the paper to apologise in his next issue for the insult he has offered me by publishing them, as the letter may have been inserted inadvertently on his part.

ALFRED HONOLULU, BISHOP.

The London correspondent of the Tribune says Rochefort is still in London, which he has never quitted since his arrival. The report of his going to Geneva was set afloat for the benefit of the enemy. London is probably a safer place for him than any continental city, and more convenient for most purposes, except Brussels, which latter is out of question.
