COMMERCIAL.

HONOLULU, SEPTEMBER 10, 1874.

The credit sale held last Thursday by Mr. Adams called out a large attendance of buyers, and though the bidding on some of the goods was rather tame, prices were better than had been expected. Prints for native trade sold from 12c to 13½c per yard; black merinoes 65 @ 90c; fine white shirting (Shewalt's A.) 24c @ 26c; heavy striped denims 22c @ 25c; hickory stripes 12c @ 14c; ¾ inch rope, 7, 8 @ 9c per lb. The sale was not a large one, but embraced many desirable staple goods, received by the R. C. Wylie and other vessels.

The cargo of the bark Edward James, which arrived last Tuesday from Hongkong, has been discharged, part of it in a damaged condition. The consignees, Messrs. Along & Ashrock, report a good demand for leading staple importations from China. Nearly all of the 50,000 sugar bags received have disposed of—single bags at 75c, and double bags at 50 @ 55c, according to size. We notice among the new goods some very choice gold and silver jewelry, set with pearls. Also very superior Swiss, such as is used by natives for making sets, made by hand from a fine grown, in the interior of China and almost as strong as wire.

The American bark David Bradley touched at this port on the morning of the 10th, 44 days from Newcastle, for fresh supplies, and proceeding which she sailed the same day for San Francisco. She had on board 1650 tons of coals.

Besides that of the above mail the two war vessels in port, we have no foreign arrivals to note this week.

The bark Deutschland sailed from Liverpool in August for this port with a cargo of assorted merchandise consigned to Messrs. Lorenzo & Co.—we show her time of the year.

Foreign Shipping Memoranda.

A Sailor at Sea.—Captain Bowker, of the ship Garibaldi, states that, during his passage from New York toward Egypt, he was obliged, owing to very strong winds in the northeast, and the wind hauling to the southward, to lay to the windward. On the 14th of March, at 8 P M, in lat 47° 22', long. by two good chronometers, 42° 20', sounded and got 30 fathoms, rocky bottom. At 9 P M, sounded in 25 fathoms, rocky bottom. At 5 P M, sounding in 25 fathoms; wind blowing fresh, with heavy squalls; ship going 3 knots west. At 8 A M, water shoaled so fast were the ship to the westward. At 4 P M, on the 15th, were ship to the westward; at 10 A M sounded in 22 fathoms—rocky. At noon sounded in 20 fathoms—lat 42° 50', long 42° 18'. These soundings were all taken outside of a 100-fathom line in the chart.—S. F. Bulletin.

MARRIED.

SAFFERY—DICKETT—At Waikapu, Maui Mail, September 1st, by the Rev. J. H. Kanaiela, Mr. Wm. Saffery, of Ulupalakua, to Miss Emily Cockett, of Waikapu.

DIED.

SPENCER—In this city, September 12th, Joseph Reynolds, infant son of Capt. Joseph R. and Emily J. Spencer, aged 11 months and 19 days.

NAVAL.—From Panama we learn that the Tenedos Capt. Hay, and Petrel, Capt. Cookson, of the British squadron were there at latest date. These with three ships from Valparaiso and the Canonesa from this port would constitute a fleet of six British vessels there now.

—The U. S. Ship Richmond, Capt. Gherardi, was the only American war vessel then in port.

A curiosity of no ordinary interest is the London Times of June 22, 1815, which has been shown us by Judge Montgomery, containing the account of the battle of Waterloo. The paper is quite small—less than one-fourth its present size. Telegraphs were not then established, and the news of the battle, which took place on the 18th, was four days old when published. Field Marshal Wellington's despatch, which announces the victory, was brought to London by a special messenger. One of the results of the battle was the capture of 200 pieces of cannon, and an immense quantity of war material. But the loss of life in it was fearful.

A Notable Locality.—In the northwestern corner of the Territory of Wyoming, "set like a gem among the mountains," is located the most beautiful lake on the continent, if not in the world. Adjacent to it are the sources of four most majestic rivers—the Yellowstone, flowing into the Missouri at a distance of 1,000 miles; the Missouri itself, which finds its way to the Gulf through the Father of Waters; the Columbia, which joins to the Pacific, and the Colorado, which, passing through the most remarkable canyon in the world, discharges its waters into the Gulf of California. Grouped around this wonderful lake, and in the midst of this remarkable watershed, is the greatest display of cataracts, hot springs, geysers, mail volcanoes and natural architectural beauties anywhere to be found on the face of the globe.

Cyphrenes.—We find the following in a New England paper: "When the mail steamer Cyphrenes was launched this harbor several learned gentlemen were puzzled to know the derivation of the name. Perhaps the following passage from Rawlinson's Herodotus (1858 edition, page 285), may satisfy their spirit for research. It is from book iii, chapter 125, of the author's 'History': 'Cheops reduced, the Egyptians said, 'fifty years, and was succeeded at his decease by Cephren, his brother. Cephren imitated the conduct of his brother, and, like him, built a pyramid, which did not, however, equal the dimensions of his brother's. * * * Cephren built his pyramid close to the great pyramid of Cheops, and of the same dimensions, except that he low-ered the height 40 feet. * * * The reign of Cephren lasted fifty-six years.' This explanation is confirmed by the fact that on the quarrelboards of the Cyphrenes are carved representations of the pyramids."

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

☞ The steamer Kilauea is expected from Molokai to-morrow morning, and will leave for Nawiliwili the same evening.

☞ The moon as well as the planet Venus can be seen almost any clear day at noon. On Monday, about one o'clock P. M., they were in conjunction, and attracted considerable attention.

☞ Hook & Ladder Company, on the 7th, elected W. G. Woolsey as Foreman; D. Houghtailing, assistant foreman; S. B. Dole, Secretary, and W. Herrick, Treasurer.

So we Go.—An organ grinder has at last turned up in the streets of Honolulu. Pennies will have to come into circulation here now, for the benefit of the new street artists.

☞ At the Hotel may be seen a young half-breed angora goat, bred by one of the bucks imported last fall, from a native ewe. It is from Haleakala, Maui, where Messrs. Akana & Co., have six pure animals among their flock of goats. Mr. Young Sheong informs us that they are doing well there, and need no more care or protection than the native goats.

Real Estate.—The most important sale of real estate held for a long time will take place on Saturday next, at 12 o'clock noon, at the salesroom of Mr. E. P. Adams. The Court House premises, the Agricultural Gardens, and 22 acres of land at Makiki will then be offered at public auction. The site of the Court House covers about an acre of ground, (43,000 feet), and will in a few years be the most valuable location in the city.

☞ The steamer Cyphrenes will be due on Friday or Saturday from New Zealand, en route for San Francisco, and will remain in port not over twenty-four hours.

—The Mikado from San Francisco, will be due on Sunday evening or Monday morning next, if she left promptly on her schedule day, and will bring dates to September 12—twenty-five days later than our present advices.

Facts About Coal.—If a load of coal is left out of doors, exposed to the weather, until is burned up in one quarter—say a month—it loses one third of its heating quality. If a ton of coal is placed on the ground and left there, and another is placed under a shed, the latter loses about twenty-five per cent. of its heating power, the former about forty-seven per cent. Hence it is a great saving of coal to have it in a dry place, covered over, and on all sides. The sooner the coal the more it loses, because the most volatile and valuable constituents undergo a slow combustion.

A Choice Work of Art.—At Thrum's bookstore may be seen a large and costly Sea portfolio, the sides of which are inlaid with slight variation of inland woods. It is prepared for Messrs. H. R. Hitchcock, and Prof. Clark, who intend to fill it with the finest specimens of Hawaiian ferns and sea mosses obtainable for exhibition at the Philadelphia Centennial. There are about one hundred distinct varieties of ferns on this group, some of which are very rare and delicate. Dr. Hillebrand collected over two hundred varieties, but some were so closely allied that no one but an experienced botanist could distinguish them apart.

☞ Police Magistrate Jones has been kept quite busy the past week hearing various cases, including six or seven suits against beer shop keepers. A singular case was investigated yesterday. Several natives made a charge before the Marshal that a native woman, who died two or three weeks since, had been killed by her husband, and alleged that there were two wounds on her head, and that one of her legs was broken. Under this statement the Marshal felt as duty bound to investigate the matter, and had the body disinterred and examined by physicians; but nothing was found to sustain the allegation, and after a full investigation the husband of the deceased was acquitted. There seems to have been no ground for the charge, which arose out of suspicion; but it caused a vast deal of trouble and expense to the police and others.

Aboy Birds.—We are sometimes asked what is the best bird to introduce for the purpose of destroying worms. The "minah," which we now have about Honolulu, is said to live entirely on insects, and probably is one of the best insectivorous birds. An American farmer offers a reward of $1,000 for any remedy against the destruction of his crops by insects. An agricultural paper, referring to the above offer, makes the following comments:

"One of the most economical and effective means of preventing the wholesale destruction, would probably be found in the general introduction of the common English sparrow, which is bred in this country (the United States) with perfect success, and the rapidity of whose increase is wonderful. An eminent English author, in a late treatise on "Husbandry and Gardening," shows from actual observation that a pair of sparrows, during the time they feed their young, destroy on an average 2,300 caterpillars each week."

This bird has never been introduced into these islands, but there is no reason why it may not be brought.

Naval.—On Wednesday last H. B. M's ship Sonde, Capt. Cator, arrived from Valparaiso, bringing the scientific commission appointed to visit this group, to observe the transit of the planet Venus, which occurs in December next. On Thursday morning, the Sonde exchanged salutes with Punchbowl Battery. She is of 2400 tons burthen, 400 horse power, and carries 17 sixty-four pound guns. She is expected to remain among these islands for the next four months. The following is a list of her officers:

Captain—Hugh P. Cator.

Lieutenants—William R. Cumerbatch, Edmund E. Gilham, George Worth, W. F. Stanhope.

Navigating Lieutenant—Edward A. Clapp.

Captain and Nav. Inst.—Rev. Francis C. Antrobus, M. A.

Staff Surgeon, Acting—John Dastings.

Paymaster, Acting—William J. Kilroy.

Chief Engineer—Robert Sedge.

Sub-Lieutenant, Acting—Charles R. P. Rouse, Edward F. Drayton, John Lockyer, Cornwallis J. Brower.

Mid. Sub-Lieutenant—Richard B. Williams.

Engineers—William Bell, John Taylor, F. Coombe.

Gunner R. O.—Frederick Toll.

Boatswain R. O.—William Donohoe.

Carpenter R. O.—Alfred Evans.

Midshipmen—Frederick P. Graves, Joseph E. P. Hawkwell, John A. M. Fraser, Reginald de la P. B. Pelew, Francis E. J. Tottenham, Henry J. D. Lacrox.

Clerk—Isaac W. Taylor.

On Saturday morning, the French gunboat Scarde, Capt. Lagrive, arrived from Tahiti, bringing as passenger Mons. A. Le Clue, Superintendent and Inspector General of French Colonies. After remaining here a few days, she will return to New Caledonia, to join the Admiral's fleet in the South Pacific.

The only Native Paper.

Mr. Editor:—Does the publisher of the Kuokoa enjoy a monopoly?—I must a monopoly conducted by law. One would suppose so by the pathetic manner in which the Publishers of the Advertiser allude to "the only native paper." If I am well advised, the "Hawaii Pono," the other native paper, was published by them and became a failure, dying at its first breathing. Perhaps the recollection of its career leads the publishers to apply such epithets as "malicious," "wicked," "disloyal," "unappreciated," and "anonymous," to its more successful rival. Fye, for shame!

FAIRPLAY.

(Communicated.)

Mr. Editor:—Their correspondent "Pikoiu" promises well, but so far his production evinces disappointment, possibly because he selected as striking a wrong place. The institution seems to be to blame the present administration for the existing state of affairs—political and commercial—as a community we forget too easily. Effect does not follow so closely on the heels of cause. To my mind the principal causes of our national decay have been beyond the power of man to arrest; but unfortunately decay has been hastened by the criminal blundering incident to the reign of the last of the Kamehamehas. The message of 1864 was the beginning of the end, by shaking public confidence in the government. No doubt that the administrations under Kamehamehas 5th were most of time, more or less any of their successors; and because we dared not to bridle them, they took the bit in their teeth, and worked out their own speed, without the country's wish. The same want of vigilance and action to-day, on the part of the government, makes disaster more imminent. Jesom.

From Chile.

We are indebted to Capt. Cator, of H. B. M's ship Sonde, for a file of the Valparaiso and West Coast Mail (weekly) to August 1. This paper states that three vessels of the British Squadron—the Rosario, Pearl and Pandora—had sailed for Panama under orders from home. The coast squadron consists of ten vessels, two of which (the Sonde and Rose) will rendezvous at these Islands.

The exports of copper from Chile for 1873 are stated to have been valued at $12,880,000, most of which is shipped to England. The exports of nitrate for the first six months of 1874 amounted to 2,815,355 quintals.

On looking over the shipping statistics, one is struck with the growth of the steam coasting trade of Valparaiso. In one week we observe the departure of fifteen steamers, mostly Chilean coasters. Some of the Pacific S. N. Co's boats register four thousand tons, and find full freights outwards and inwards. The growth of this steam service is the work of the past few years.

Foreign News.

The Escape of Marshal Bazaine.

Paris, August 11th.—There is great excitement in this city in consequence of the intelligence that Marshal Bazaine escaped from the Island of St. Marguerite some time during Sunday night. The details of the manner in which he succeeded in getting away are unknown, except that he used a rope-ladder and got on board a vessel bound for Italy. The night was dark and stormy. The journals declare that the Government will act promptly and energetically in punishing all who connived in his flight.

London, August 12th.—The following particulars of the escape of Marshal Bazaine from his prison on the Isle of St. Marguerite are received: The apartment occupied by Bazaine opened on a terrace which was built on the edge of a precipitous cliff overhanging the sea. A sentry was posted on the terrace, with orders to watch the prisoner's every movement. During Sunday evening the Marshal walked upon the terrace with Colonel Villette, his Aide-de-camp. At 10 o'clock he retired as usual apparently to sleep, but before daybreak he had effected his escape. He must have crossed the terrace in the dead of night and eluding the sentinel gained the edge of the precipice, whence, by means of a knotted rope, he descended to the sea. He evidently slipped during the descent and tore his hands, as the rope was found stained with blood in various places. Under the cliff, in a hired boat, were Bazaine's wife and cousin. They received him as he reached the water, and Madame La Marchal taking the oars herself, rowed directly to a strange steamer which had been lying off the island since the previous evening. They reached the vessel in safety, were taken aboard, and the steamer put to sea. It is thought they landed at Genoa, as the steamer proceeded in that direction.

The first news of the affair came to Grasse, the nearest place on the coast, and the magistrates immediately sent officers in every direction to search for the fugitive. There was great commotion in Marseilles when the facts became known. An investigation was opened. Colonel Villette, who was walking with the Marshal on the evening of his escape, was discovered there and imprisoned. The commandant of Fort St. Marguerite was placed under arrest, and General Laval has gone to the island to investigate the affair.

Paris, August 12th.—It is reported that Marshal Bazaine landed at San Rolo and traveled by way of Turin to Basle. At the latter place he took the train to Brussels, where he arrived at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. It is believed that the rope found on the cliff on the Isle of St. Marguerite was suspended there to mislead the authorities as to the manner of the Marshal's escape, which was effected in some other way, through the connivance of the guards. Le Soir states that Bazaine had given his parole not to leave the island, and the precautions were consequently relaxed. The sentry was withdrawn from the terrace every morning at five o'clock, it being considered unnecessary to keep him there after daylight. Two soldiers belonging to the garrison at the fort swear that they saw the Marshal on the terrace at 5:30 Monday morning.

Paris, August 12th.—Eight hundred and six persons, formerly connected with the Commune, have been arrested in Marseilles. Among them are M. Requirne, Ex-prefect of the department.

Germany.

The Government and the Catholics.

New York, August 10th.—A letter from Berlin on the attempted assassination of Bismarck by Kullman contains the following: "The very first step which the Government takes is to open an attack on the Catholic party. The private dwelling of Christopher Joseph Cremer, acting editor of the Berlin Germania, was searched by the police, who confiscated letters, manuscripts, and some pamphlets. The next visit of the police—seven in number—was to the house of the Counsellor, Van Kehler, Secretary of the Mayence Catholic Union, and their booty was considerable—about 80 documents, letters, and circulars, with the names of the members of the society. On the same evening Herr Van Kehler's work-room was searched, and again on the following morning. The Gesellin Verein Union, and the house of the Vicar and Spiritual Counsellor, Muller, father of Catholic societies in Berlin, were searched. These police inquisitions have been followed by the temporary closing of the Catholic societies of Berlin. One authority states that the members of the Catholic Gesellin Unions in Germany aggregate 80,000. Beside these, there are a hundred other societies, such as the Catholic Adult societies, the Catholic Young Men's societies, university societies, and societies of women and children.

A Bold Abduction.

The American papers have for weeks been taken up with items relating to the stealing of a child about four years of age, named Charlie Ross. It occurred in broad daylight in a street in one of the suburbs of Philadelphia, where the boy and his brother were playing. A carriage, with two well-dressed gentlemen in it, drove up to the sidewalk, stopped and one of the occupants asked the boys if they did not wish to take a ride. They assented, and both got in. After driving a short distance, they put the older boy out and told him to go home, and disappeared with the younger. This occurred about the first of July. A day or two later, the father received an anonymous letter saying that if he would pay $20,000, the boy would be returned to him. Mr. Ross not being able to raise the money, his wealthy neighbors subscribed the amount, and induced the Mayor of Philadelphia to offer the reward, which will only be given in case the child stealer is arrested and convicted. One of the New York papers comments on the case, in the following strain, before the Mayor's reward was offered:

"The abduction of little Charley Ross, of Philadelphia, and the correspondence between the yet undiscovered brigands and the father, in which the enormous ransom of $20,000 is demanded for the restoration of the child, is one of the most startling revelations of crime yet made in this country. The fact that there are men among us fiendish enough to steal a child, and then, in some secure hiding-place, deliberately threaten its destruction if money be not forthcoming, is one that may well send dismay to the hearts of all parents. The fact that such a crime has for nearly four weeks baffled detection is a serious commentary upon the imperfection of our police systems. Mr. Ross, who is not now a man of wealth, has not yet been able to secure the amount demanded by the robbers; but he is endeavoring to do so and will undoubtedly pay the ransom, if he must. This will encourage the repetition of the crime everywhere. No dealing with miscreants who engage in it can be too sharp and summary.
