Report of Mr Mikado, F Moore, Commander.—Experienced continued heavy weather from Sydney to Auckland; more moderate from thence to Kandavu. From latter port to Honolulu had very strong NE trades. NOTES OF THE WEEK.

☞ The steamship City of Melbourne was advertised to leave San Francisco Feb. 7, and will, no doubt, leave Thursday, the 10th.

☞ It is reported that Dr. Jaquess was from Honolulu. He was to leave San Francisco for this place about January 31. If so, she will probably be in the day and bring a mail.

☞ Mr. Edward Hall, on the sales room, on Saturday next, the 12th inst., a valuable piece of real estate, situated in Nuuanu Valley, containing an area of 7½ acres, from 12½ acres in community adjoining.

CHINESE HOLIDAY.—Ah Tulapalapa, had a holiday on account of his name in a series of introduction, and commenced to quarrel with his wife. During the month which ensued, he did not trouble anyone but himself and especially, which was fitting on the task, and succeeded in spoil of life.

JAMAICA.—It is reported that a woman, resident of Honolulu, who is on the voyage to Portland on the Bottle Bending attempted to play the Captain of the ship for her passage, dressing in the young lady in distress on his wife. Failing in this he endeavored to commit suicide, but his purpose was again frustrated.

☞ An alligator from Sat. Sog, weighing 30 pounds, jumped from the water on the quarter-deck of the Morning Star just at daylight Dec 7th, when off Mile, Marshall Islands. He was after a flying fish, which fell from his mouth on deck. He came over the starboard rail not feel from the water's edge, and crawl the house by the Captain's stateroom window, which was stripped of its outer curtain by his tail.

ELEGANT CHRONOMETER.—Mr. F. E. Jackson has recently completed an advertising board for the cabin of the steamer Kilauea, containing the best specimen of a number of Honolulu houses. The lettering and ornamental work is all done by hand, and indicates a high degree of skill. We also notice that he has been engaged in filling up the blank squares of the Post Office advertising board, which is also handsomely executed.

FOR THE CENTENNIAL.—The steamer Mikado brought up from Melbourne, en route for Philadelphia, one hundred and fifty packages, destined for the great American Exhibition. This is only a small part of what the Colonies have forwarded, and it is certain that they will make a most comprehensive and creditable exhibit of their products. The Sydney Herald says that these packages are all taken by the Company free of charge to San Francisco.

THE WEATHER.—For the last ten days the wind has been strong from the Northeast, accompanied with a great deal of rain. On Monday last, nearly one inch and a tenth of rain fell. The roads throughout the city, and up to the pali, are in a most deplorable state and reflect very little credit upon the state of engineering skill here. The coral roads to the Northwest including Lilika street, alone remain dry and free from mud, which speaks well for that material.

HAWAIIAN ART.—On Nuuanu street a short distance below Hotel street may be seen a specimen of high art in the form of a sign bearing the inscription "Houses to let, by G. Uaua." The artist got the thing all right on the side of the board facing down street, but on the opposite side, apparently thinking it was essential that the sentence should begin at the outer end of the board, he got his notice reversed so as to give it a very cabalistic appearance. This is the way it looks "uaua G. Ugh, tel ot sesuoH." In the lower corners are paintings illustrating the difference between the horsemanship of a Hawaiian and a Shell-back.

THE CONCERT.—In spite of the rain and mud, the musical concert came off as announced on Saturday evening, and considering the unfavorable state of the weather was remarkably well attended. The music, both vocal and instrumental, was very good, and the occasion was one of genuine enjoyment to the audience. The following is the programme of the performances.

1—Chorus—"God save the King."
2—Solo—"My soul to God, my heart to Thee."
3—Quartette—Selected.
4—Duet—Piano—Selections from the Opera Fra Diavolo.
5—Quartette—"Tidings from over the Sea."
6—Solo—"O Sagrado per amor fedeli."
7—Duet—Piano—Selections from the opera Il Trovatore.
8—Quartette—"Away hi! ho a."
9—"Oh! Julia, fair."
10—Chorus—"Hawaii Pono."

ANNUAL PARADE.—The Honolulu Fire Department had its annual parade on the 3d inst. The turn out was not as large as on some previous occasions, but the engines and hose carriages were in a state of perfect order, and some of them were elegantly adorned with evergreens and flowers. The procession marched to the martial strains of Berger's band through the principal streets of the city, giving a rousing cheer for "Our Fireman King" on passing the residence of His Majesty. After the parade was over, and the engines had been housed, the various companies, each in their own engine house, partook of substantial collations, devoting a short time to the pleasure of gastronomy.

HURRICANE AND TIDAL WAVE AT THE MORTLOCKS.—A Typhoon visited Satawan of the Mortlocks islands in November 1874. Trees were uprooted and a part of the islet called Ta was washed down to bed coral. A famine ensued in which thirty persons starved to death. Starving mothers threw away their infants and left them to perish. A small island called Tamatam, 120 miles to the westward, was entirely destroyed, and the dead bodies of its inhabitants were found covered by sand and stones and uptumed trees. This peculiarity marked the storm at Ta; the water suddenly flooded this islet from the lagoon side, in some places standing four or five feet deep, driving the people from their low houses to the trees for safety. All the breadfruit trees were destroyed, as was also the taro, and the island had the appearance to the Morning Star in October, 1875, of having been through a great fire.

LATEST FROM CAPT. HAYES.—This notorious freebooter, and outlaw, who, a year ago was converted, under a peculiar stress of circumstances, having secured his object, has returned to his old habits of predatory violence, and licentiousness. A list of charges against him now on file, in English and American Admiralty Offices, and officially certified by Commander Dupois of H. B. M's ship "Rosario," includes larceny on the high seas of $300 worth of property from the wreck of the brig Kamehameha IV, in February, 1874; his sending ashore in March of the same year, and bringing off the chief of Pingelap who was forcibly detained on board the vessel, until a ransom of 5000 cocoanuts, and two women, should be paid. The natives not being able to comply with this demand he released the chief upon the receipt of about 4000 cocoanuts, and one woman: also his robbery of Daly's agent at Marakei, Gilbert Islands, and a number of other lawless acts, which a regard for decency compels us to suppress.

HURRICANE AT JALUIT.—Loss of the Julie Reitz, Sawall and Jelimuta. On Thursday, November 18th, 1875, a tremendous gale wrecked the Russian barkentine Julie Reitz, 259 tons burthen, from Hamburg, bound home with 436,000 pounds of copra and 26,000 pounds of ivory palm nuts on board; while laying at anchor in the lagoon, opposite Cappelle & Co.'s warehouse, and one half mile away. The gale began in the south and east, flew around to the southwest and reached its full fury about noon. Two heavy anchors and 195 fathoms of chain were insufficient to hold the Julie Reitz, and she lay on the inner reef, behind a coral ledge over which she had been driven; her rudder, stern-post, and keel, gone; holes in her bottom, 6½ feet of water in her hold at low water, and her cargo working out and floating to sea, at the time of the arrival of the Morning Star, November 23d, 1875. The Julie Reitz was condemned and sold at public auction for $420. Her cargo brought $485, at the same sale. The Morning Star brings up her Captain, William Reisinger, his mate, cabin boy, and two of the seamen. The second mate remained in charge of the remainder of the crew, who expect to find an early opportunity to get to Samoa. The Sawall and Jelimuta are both small schooners, in the employ of Cappelle & Co. The Sawall belongs to the firm, is a total loss, lying on the shore high and dry, at low water—insured. The Jelimuta can be got off and repaired. She belonged to the late chief of the Marshal Islands. Both these vessels went on shore in company of the Julie Reitz. Cappelle & Co. had a carpenter shop and several dwellings blown down, but no very heavy losses on land. Trees of all kinds were prostrated and twisted off. The breadfruit was generally killed for the season. No person was injured. The gale damaged the food trees of Namorik and Ebon, and much suffering is anticipated by the natives.

New York, Jan. 14.—Reports are circulated both in and between Spanish and Cuban circles here, to the effect that Gomez, Quesada, Maceo, Salcedo, Maceo, will, after the survey of the situation, place themselves in the West Indies. This the Cubans, in arms will especially press, while the Spanish element on the island will oppose it as impracticable. It will then be endeavored by Jovellar, and the Spaniards, feeling themselves too powerful, will, will then connect with the Cubans whose numbers now active and prestige, absolute independence from the mother country. Chicago, Jan. 14.—A Times Washington special says: "Since Congress has set its face against all subsidies, there was a general impression that the Texas Pacific scheme has been abandoned for the session. It is found upon inquiry, however, that a quiet canvass has been going on for the securing of concession in the House by a pledge of support on the part of the Southern members to several measures desired by the North and Northwest. It is further hinted that the South, which is indifferent to the tariff bill, will join hands with the protection wing of New England and Pennsylvania, Missouri, Central Indiana, Ohio and other parts of the Northwest.

A newly-discovered shoal has been found by the bark Professor Airy, on a voyage from Cardiff to Pisco. It is the track of San Francisco bound vessels in latitude 18° south, longitude 82° 44' west. There is but 17½ feet of water on it, and the Captain of the bark thinks it is coral reef in the course of formation. The bark struck on it and remained fast for an hour. It is about 180 miles from the Coast of Brazil. Skippers take notice.

In the California Senate an Assemblyman, Mr. Wilcox, recently attacked Fred. W. Somers, the correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle with a heavy cane, inflicting a severe cut on the side of his head. The attack was caused by certain humorous remarks made by Somers in reference to something said by Wilcox on a question of privilege.

PROSPECT OF A GRAND HARVEST.—In no year since California became a State has the prospect at this season of the year been so magnificent for the farmers. Looking over the whole State there is one general expression of satisfaction, from the northern to the southern of the counties. The area of land under cultivation is much larger than in previous year. A considerable area has been reclaimed, and a still larger one rendered fertile by irrigation. Unless some unforeseen and some unfortunate change in the weather should take place before the harvest time, we shall be able to pour into the markets of the world from 20 to 25 per cent. more of the cereals than in 1873-4; in other words, we shall have to sell from 800,000 to 700,000 tons of wheat. Unless the European markets should be specially unfavorable, this will bring into the State an enormous amount of money, that cannot fail to place our farmers fairly on their feet and stimulate every branch of business. Our wine and wool crops will also add some millions to the income of the State for the ensuing year. From present appearances, no State in the Union has brighter prospects than California. It is high time that our farmers should have a season of good luck, to recompense them for some of the losses and discouragements of the past.
