EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN AGENCY.
OFFICES,
GRESHAM HOUSE, OLD BROAD STREET
LONDON, ENGLAND.

Mr. RAWLINGS, who has resided in New York nearly a quarter of a century, and has been actively engaged in business during that time, respectfully informs his numerous friends and the public in general that he has opened offices as above for the purpose of negotiating Lands, sales of Patents, purchase of Railroad Iron and other American interests. Mr. R. flatters himself that his extensive knowledge of the various States in the continent of North America gives him great advantage, coupled as it is with a full knowledge of the continent of Europe. An agency, such as the one now established, has for a long time been desired, especially the department for negotiating Patents. A broker's commission merely is not sought; but in all cases such an interest will be exacted that will justify an energetic application to promote the ends desired by the owners of the patents. Mr. R. has made very extensive arrangements for the purchase of Railroad Iron and the disposition of Bonds, represented by reliable and responsible parties. All letters must be prepaid.
