RESOLUTIONS.

By Alderman FARLEY—

Whereas, It is alleged that malevolently disposed persons have promulgated among many of our citizens, who are heavily taxed, upon the ground that the expenditure of the money imposed upon by such representations, that it is the intention of his Honor the Mayor to veto the ordinance recently passed by the Common Council, appropriating $2,500,000 for the purpose of equalizing the burthens of the Conscription act, and to encourage and stimulate volunteering, and that such veto will be, and will effectually prevent the operations of the benefits intended to be conferred by the said ordinance; and

Whereas, At this time, when the minds of the community are so excited, and the alarms created by the resistance to the draft in the city, are so unfortunately allayed, such an impression is calculated to be productive of much apprehension.

Resolved, That the members of the Common Council here assembled, in their constituents that in the event of the ordinance in question being returned to this Board with the objections of his Honor the Mayor thereto, that they will, as it is competent for them to do after the expiration of the period of ten days, as required by the charter of 1857, adopt the said ordinance, notwithstanding the objection of his Honor the Mayor.

When was adopted by the following vote, viz:—

Affirmative—Alderman Fox, the President, Aldermen Henry, McCool, Reed, Mitchell, Ryers, Jeremiah, Hardy, Masterson, Farley and Long—12.

On motion the Board then adjourned, and the President announced that the Board stood adjourned until the first Monday in August, at 1 o'clock P. M.

D. T. VALENTINE, Clerk.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD.—I UNDERSTAND IT IS REPORTED THAT I fired at the company congregated at the Manhattan Gas Works on Monday last which is a great mistake as any one may know by asking any of the men who were with me on that day. There was not as much as one angry word spoken by either party. Having always tried to befriend the poor man, I take this means of saying that such a thing was far from my thoughts, and I sincerely hope I shall never be placed in any position that will compel me to do such a thing. Being truly sorry that such a thing should be said, I take this method of contradicting it.

JOSEPH FRENCH, Manhattan Gas Works,
Fourteenth street and avenue C.

FOR THE WOUNDED.

FOR BRICK CITY, July 9, 1863.

Since the battle of Gettysburg, the Sanitary Commission has dispatched to the sick and wounded of the Army of the Potomac, and of the enemy lying in the hospitals with them, one hundred wagon loads of hospital supplies, and have now five rail car loads on the way to Gettysburg. The President of the Commission, Dr. Agnew and Dr. Douglas are at Gettysburg; the General Secretary, Professor Steiner, Dr. Winslow and Dr. Brink, with a corps of relief agents and a wagon train attend the movements of the army from this point; Dr. Swalm accompanies the column of General Couch in the Cumberland valley; Major Harris, in Harrisburg; Mr. Lewis, in Philadelphia; Mr. Knapp and Mr. Fancourt, in Baltimore; Mr. Gibbons, in Washington; Mr. Clement, at Frederick, supplying the transmission of supplies. Each of these gentlemen has had two years experience with the army. Cars accompanied by special agents, leave Boston, New York, Buffalo and Philadelphia for the points of demand, as often as supplies are ready to fill in sufficient quantities. Special arrangements are made to prevent delay in their movements with the railroad companies and with the government. The supplies are distributed by the experienced agents of the Commission. Their ready reaching the points where other aid cannot be depended on is indicated by the fact that in the present campaign three agents of the Commission have been captured by the enemy's cavalry in pushing succor to exposed points. The wagons of the Commission, under the supervidence of Mr. Hoag, visited the collections of wounded on the field of Gettysburg while the battles of the 2d and 3d inst. were in progress and hours before supplies reached them from other quarters.

The Commission is operating in the manner in all other fields. One hundred thousand dollars worth of goods have been sent to the column of General Banks in Louisiana. Much more than that to those of General Grant and General Rosecrans. At this moment the Commission is sending goods to the value of at least twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) a day. A work of this character and magnitude can only be sustained by the constant, systematic co-operation of a great number of auxiliary societies, and by frequent contributions from all who appreciate its beneficence. To such the barest statement, reminding them of the facts and of the well known policy of the Commission, can only be required. It is only added that the present occasion may be taken to establish a more complete adoption of the system of the Commission by the connection of individuals with existing societies co-operating with the Commission, by enforcing more steady, regular and systematic methods of collecting and transmitting contributions, and by establishing a conviction of the fully practicable efforts in a work of this kind. Hundreds will give their lives this week to those who did not lend their hand when there was no special public excitement, by which the Commission had stores ready at Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and reserves at Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Those who wish to cordially co-operate with the Commission will now go to work as if we were just entering upon a long war, and with no thought of its ending. A momentary enthusiasm is not desired, but the Commission asks for a steady aid, by those who wish to steadily contribute to the relief of the sick and wounded, and to the comfort of the army, by such means and methods as experience leads it to adopt, until the rebels are conquered and the volunteer army disbanded, which last, under no circumstances, can possibly occur for a long time to come. Let those who have not begun to work systematically for the army begin now.
