☞ Fresh Maine seeds—Retailed, pure rye whiskey, at the Exposition Saloon, corner of Fort and King streets, just received by the Morro Castle. This is the article for medical purposes, possessing, as does all pure rye whiskey, the medicinal properties inherent to be found in any other distilled spirits. The demand is its warrant.

A Hint as to a Fine.—We are told that a "wicked and adulterous generation" seek for a sign, and on occasions, however, with our informant, George Simkinson, the palatial, who has invented one of the most striking and utterly unique productions of the brush, in the shape of a sign, perched on the First story side of the house in the Fortress Block premises. The design and workmanship of the production deserve commendation, and prove Mr. S. to be not only a good workman but a true artist. The gray horse, milky white and silver, are especially fine, while the whole picture is well calculated to call attention to the premises. The design and purpose of the sign is to direct attention to the fancy stables of Mr. James Dodd, and to ensure full for accomplish the object intended, as it is certain to arrest the attention of passers by, who can for full to admire it as a work of art, from which, with his brush, is a genius and an artist, and should be encouraged.

☞ The native concert at Kaumakapili Church, on Saturday evening last, was well attended by a large number of natives. The singing was very creditable to those who participated on the occasion, and the remarks applied alike to males and females. There is a plaintive melody and sweetness in the native Hawaiian voice which gives a peculiar charm to their singing, and this quality was not wanting on Saturday evening. Among the many excellent pieces which were sung we were particularly struck with the song, "Darling, don't you go," which was sung by six male singers in very fine style; but the gem of the evening's entertainment were the two pieces by Miss Lucy Wananiha, namely, "Maoli Nani" and "Ua Liwaliwa." The first was sung in two verses, melody and style, in which Miss Wananiha displayed her great vocal powers, which if improved by culture under the guidance of a competent teacher, would very soon rank her among the best of professional singers. The second piece was rendered with skill and pathos, and made a good impression upon the audience. We could not help regretting that this gifted young lady has not the courage she ought to have to develop to their utmost their her vocal powers. As a whole the native concert was a success. The proceeds we understand footed up the sum of $[illegible].

Tug Boat Sold.—In the Police Court, last week, the first officer of the British bark Lady Lampson was tried, convicted and sentenced for three months at hard labor in the chain-gang for indulging in an opium transaction. It appears that a Chinaman had furnished the officer with the sum of $[illegible] to purchase opium for the Chinaman, but neither the opium nor money were forthcoming on the arresting of the vessel. The officer stated to the Chinaman that in consequence of the vigilance of the Custom House officers, he was afraid that the opium would be discovered and to escape detection he threw it overboard. This did not satisfy the Chinaman, who made a complaint at the Police office, on which the apprehension, trial and conviction of the officer followed. If, as is suspected, the ship's officer took the opium to another party and received the money for it, he has made a clear speculation of a goodly sum of money; but this is but poor consolation to the Chinaman who furnished the $[illegible], all of which is a loss to him, besides the profit on the freight of opium. After all, it is a question of the lesser being lost, or in other words, an illustration of the folly of putting too much confidence in a pale face by an innocent celestial Mongolian.

A Rare Chance.—The remainder of the fine mules received per bark Discovery will be sold at auction on Monday next. These mules are the finest we ever received here, most of them being large Kentucky-bred animals, and we predict they will go off like hot cakes.

Business Meeting.—A business meeting of the Library Association will be held at their rooms on Fort street, on Saturday evening next, at which matters of importance will be discussed, and therefore it is hoped there will be a general turnout of the members of the association.

☞ The band will play at Emma Square this Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The following is the programme:

1. Polacca—Glide ..... Bellstedt
2. Overture—Poet and Peasant ..... Suppe
3. Cavatina—The Harper ..... Bellstedt

6. Waltz—Marguerite ..... Strauss
7. Quadrille—The Traveler's Farewell ..... Vandenbeede
8. Polka—The Little Foxtrot Race (new) ..... Faust

Sale of Fine Horse Stock.—Mr. E. P. Adams sold at his salerooms yesterday the following imported horse stock: Mare Daisy Vanden to Dr. Trousseau for $[illegible], three Sussexes to Herbert Gear for $[illegible], three Suffolks to Dr. Trousseau for $[illegible]. The above stock was imported into this kingdom by Mr. A. Rolfe, and is said to be of fine blood. There will be an acquisition to the horses of these Islands.

Something New.—A fine melodeon worth $75, is advertised to be given away at Wolf's Music store, No. 66 Fort street. Any person purchasing one of the American Sewing Machines will secure a ticket which will entitle the holder to one chance in the drawing of the prize. Only ten tickets will be issued. The drawing will take place as soon as ten machines have been sold.

☞ We call attention to the sale of useful and fancy articles which is to take place at the Kawaiahao Female Seminary, on Friday evening, the 6th inst. The articles are furnished by the members of the Seminary, and the proceeds of the sale are for the benefit of the Seminary. Admittance 25 cents. Doors open at 5 p. m. We hope there will be a large turnout on the occasion.

Alarm of Fire.—Our citizens were startled on Friday evening last by the fire-bells sounding the alarm of fire, which was occasioned by the burning of bed clothing in the servants house on the premises occupied by Col. Wm. F. Allen, on Hotel street. The firemen responded promptly to the alarm and the flames were extinguished in a remarkably short time, but owing to the intricacies and elegant discovery of the firemen being put out with buckets of water—their services were not required.

☞ The Mule Social at the Hawaiian Hotel, on Friday evening last, was a delightful affair, affording pleasure and healthful exercise to all who participated. His Majesty, the Chancellor of the Kingdom and lady, and other dignitaries of the Government, were present; with the large turnout of the elite, beauty and fashion of Honolulu, contributed to make the entertainment one of rare pleasure. The dancing was kept up till the usual hour, 12 o'clock, when all retired delighted with the events of the evening.

A Sudden Death.—A Chinaman by the name of Ahee, on last Monday morning, a short distance above the premises of Mrs. M. A. McLean, on Nuuanu street, dropped dead upon the pavement. His remains were taken charge of by some of the government resident in the neighborhood, and conveyed to his late home at Kapalama. The cause of his death is not positively known, but is supposed to have been heart disease. He was well known, having resided on these Islands for some years. He was a man of family and leaves a wife and several children.

Repairs to the Storm Bird.—The repairs to the Hawaiian brig Storm-Bird are being pushed to their usual vigor by Messrs. Thrilla & Sorenson, and the vessel will soon be made ready for sea. We understand from the hands of the contractors she will be in prime condition. The Storm-Bird needed no overhauling and she is now undergoing a thorough one. This is as it should be; a few thousand dollars more or less expended upon this vessel now, will be well expended and a saving in the end. It is a true as well as a trite saying, "that whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well."

☞ We regret to be compelled to chronicle the fact, that the measles have made their appearance in one or two families in Honolulu. The disease was brought here, as we are informed, on the last steamer from San Francisco. So far the disease has been confined to the families where it first appeared, and no apprehensions are felt that it will spread. It is to be hoped that it will soon give way and entirely disappear. Families having young children who have never had the measles should be cautious not to expose them to the disease as they may be, if they will, the offices of the physicians and the Board of Health may be able to confine it within narrow limits.

Fire Department.—The election of officers of the Honolulu Fire Department took place on Monday evening last, with the following results:

Chief Engineer—George Lucas.
First Assistant—John Nott.
Second Assistant—J. U. Kawahai.

The members of the Fire Department have shown their usual good sense in the selections they have made, inasmuch as the gentlemen chosen for the different offices are men who take a deep interest in everything pertaining to the interests of that important arm of the citizens' defense against a terrible foe, a conflagration. We have always thought that there never was in any community a proper appreciation of the services of the faithful, efficient firemen, who, when the destroying angel visits our homes, make such sacrifices to save the lives and property of their fellow citizens. Talk as we may, there is no class in any community entitled to so much praise as the devoted firemen, who is at all times ready to risk the life for the protection of the lives and property of his fellow citizens. The firemen is a hero, whose deeds of daring will outstrip those of the battle field in the most exaggerated struggle. The devotion of the firemen to duty is the most sublime exhibition of moral heroism that we find in the history of the noblest deeds of daring. All honor to them, we say, for they are the true heroes and philanthropists of the age. In the hour of danger they are ever ready to battle with the dreaded foe, the destroyer, for the possible protection of doing good. If ever is not heroism, then we confess we do not understand the meaning of the term. All praise to the noble firemen of Honolulu.

Cowardly Deed of Blood.—On Monday last, at about 1 o'clock a. m., there was perpetrated a deed of blood on board the American bark Morro Castle, lying at the wharf in this harbor. The facts, as we gather them, are as follows: All the men belonging to the ship, it appears, were in the forecastle asleep, except one by the name of John Brown, who claims to be a Canadian Frenchman. At the hour named Brown came on board, went to the forecastle and commenced hearing the mosquito nets from the berths of the sleeping sailors of the ship, and at the same time conducting himself in a disorderly manner, using the language and threatening to cut the hearts out of any who opposed him. Brown had a large knife in his hand at the time he was making the threats. One of the men on board, at the instance of the Custom House officer, struck Brown's arm and knocked the knife out of his hand, but he immediately exclaimed that did not make any difference as he had another knife. In a much shorter time than it takes to write it, Brown armed with a second knife rushed upon a shipmate by the name of John Fredericks, a Finlander by birth, who was asleep in his berth, and cut him in the abdomen till his intestines protruded. Immediately after Brown had cut Fredericks he gave himself up, saying it was not necessary to send for a police officer. We saw the captain of the Morro Castle, who says that Fredericks was one of the best men he had, that he was a quiet, peaceable, inoffensive man, who always did his work well. Both men were shipped in New York. It is not known or believed that any cause existed between the two men for the deadly assault of Brown. The act was one of those cold blooded, unprovoked, cowardly assaults, that only a murderer at heart can commit. We learn, as we write this article, that poor Fredericks is dead. Brown is in custody, awaiting his trial, and will have to answer with his life the unpremeditated murder of an unoffending fellow creature. The officer on board the Morro Castle who gave us the information about the affair, could not say whether there was a light in the forecastle or not when the cutting was done, but thinks there was no light at that hour of the morning. If there was no light at the time, then Brown was determined to kill some one, for he is not insane man, and the malice he bore still worse, because he had a heart filled with malice towards all mankind, and totally bent upon mischief. We have hardly ever heard of a more wanton, fiendish act in a long life than that perpetrated by this murderer Brown.

☞ The new steamer Lehua will probably sail to-day for Hanalei, Hawaii, on her initial coasting trip, taking a large freight, mostly sugar machinery. Owing to the illness of Capt. Bates, Capt. Reynolds, of the Likelike will command her on this occasion. Capt. Shepherd has again temporarily assumed command of the steamer Likelike, and sailed last evening on a circuit trip.

Sunday School Exercises.—On Saturday afternoon next there will be a procession of all the members of the Sabbath Schools of this Island (Oahu) which will march to Kawaiahao Church, where the exercises will consist of singing and addresses, in accordance with a prearranged programme. After which a collation will be served, in the yard of the Theological Seminary, to the members of the different Sabbath Schools. In the evening there will be a concert at Kawaiahao Church, given under the auspices of Her Royal Highness the Heir Apparent, Princess Liliuokalani. The proceeds of the concert are to be applied to defraying the expenses incurred in making some necessary contemplated repairs to the church building. We hope our citizens will patronize liberally this concert, the object of which is so highly commendable.

Supposed Thieves.—On Wednesday evening last he police surprised a gang of Celestials who had congregated in a house on Nuuanu street for the purpose of indulging in their favorite pastime of gambling. At the time the police made the descent upon the crowd there were quite a number in the house; but no sooner did the "cops" make their appearance than the wily Mongolians made their exit through every possible aperture that would admit them to pass. The retreat was so precipitate and noisy that those in the immediate vicinity, not knowing what was taking place, thought it was thundering in the distance. Out of the whole lot there were but nine apprehended by the police—so we are informed—who were marched to police headquarters in a gang, the queue of the Chinaman being tied to the queue of another to prevent the escape of any of them, the novelty of this procedure exciting considerable comment from those who witnessed the proceeding, them to render an account to the offended laws of the Kingdom. This is a move in the right direction and should be vigorously prosecuted until all houses are visited where it is known gambling is allowed. The police force deserve credit for their vigilance on this occasion; but we think that if there had been a little more strategy used, the entire number of celestials might have been flanked, surrounded and captured. Such an act would have been highly creditable to the efficiency of the police force, and we would have been pleased to so chronicle it.

Purchase of the Britons Bark Zephyros by the Hawaiian Government.—We learn that the Hawaiian Government purchased last week the British bark Zephyros, now lying in this harbor, for the sum of $12,000. The Zephyros is a fine bark of 228 tons burthen, and in excellent condition. She is intended for carrying immigrants from the South Sea Islands to this group, under the auspices of the Board of Immigration. She will accommodate comfortably about 300 persons, when fitted up, and this afford facilities to swell the labor ranks so essential and vital to the interests of the Hawaiian Islands. This act of good judgment and prudent foresight forthright on the part of the government, shows that there is no lack of energy on the part of the authorities on the labor question; but upon the contrary, exhibits a lively interest that must eventuate in the increase of population and add to the wealth of the nation untold millions in a few years from the brilliant labors of a hardy, industrious race of people suited to amalgamate with the native population of these islands. The Zephyros, we presume, will have her name changed when she is put under the Hawaiian flag, and will be dispatched very soon on her mission by the Board of Immigration, to some place we have not learned who will command the new vessel, nor when she will sail. With the Zephyros and the Storm-Bird the government will be able to urge forward the immigration business with dispatch and energy that will soon tell favorably upon the labor question.

News Items.

Hot Weather in Australia.—The weather we have had during the past month has been something terrific. We find the thermometer at the Observatory, on the 29th of January, showing 106 degrees in the shade and 148 degrees in the sun. This is comparatively cool to what it is said to have been at Yarrawonga, a small township on the River Murray, where it is said to have been 126 degrees in the shade on the hottest day we have had. Owing to the intense heat of the weather, deaths by sun-stroke have occurred in various parts of the colony.—Melbourne Argus, February 21st.

Beer Drinking Germans.—Of course "art" lifts in Germany, instead of being disassociated from beer, is intimately connected with it. The Hof Brewery and Augustiner are the principal breweries in Munich. At certain times these buildings are so thronged that standing room cannot be had. Here every man washes his own "mast." The Hof Brewery makes such an excellent quality of beer that the Emperor makes an annual donation to the proprietors, to help maintain the establishment. Having heard of the superiority of the food of Gambrinus, General Grant visited the place with Mr. Horstman, the Consul. The two went after their own "masses," procured them, washed them out, and took their beer standing, as everybody else does. The General enjoyed heartily this following of German custom. Beer is drunk from a stoneware mast, or from a half mast, made either of stoneware or glass. Almost always any vessel for holding beer has a pewter lid which is sometimes quite a work of art. The lids at one "gasthaus" are made after a design of Barthe, a former professor of the academy. If one leaves the lid of his empty mast open, the kellners fill it without ceremony; but if he must be thoughtlessly left open while there is beer in it, everyone who sees it lifts the lid of his own mast and stands it on top, and the one whose mast is at the bottom pays for all above. This is termed "stacking."
