FINE ARTS.

AN AUTHENTIC PORTRAIT
OF
CHARLES DICKENS.
Messrs. TICKNOR & FIELDS have just ready a Lithographic Portrait of Mr. Dickens, drawn on stone by S. Eytinge, Jr., the popular illustrator of the "Diamond Dickens." It is beautifully printed with an India tint upon heavy white paper, size 19x24 inches, suitable for framing. Its admirable qualities as a likeness, and the low price at which it is offered, make it the most desirable portrait of Mr. Dickens offered to the public.
[From the New York Tribune.]
A PORTRAIT OF CHARLES DICKENS.
It is natural that a good portrait of Charles Dickens should be generally desired at the present time. We are, therefore, glad to notice that a portrait of Dickens is announced by Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, who, since they are Mr. Dickens' authorized publishers in this country, may naturally be supposed to publish the best picture of him extant. The supposition is rendered a certainty when we say that the picture is from a drawing by Mr. Sol. Eytinge, Jr., who has drawn the illustrations for the Diamond Edition of the works of Dickens. This is the best picture of the novelist that has yet been given to the public. The grand repose of his nature is thoroughly indicated in it, together with the delicacy, the tender thoughtfulness, the heartiness of feeling and the exhaustless imagination which give to Mr. Dickens his pre-eminence among modern writers and his endearment to the world of sympathetic readers. This is certainly the best portrait of Mr. Dickens that can be procured.
Price $1 50. Mailed to any address on receipt of price.
TICKNOR & FIELDS,
124 Tremont street, Boston, or 65 Bleecker street, N. Y.
