VOL. XVIII.---No. 51. HONOLULU, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1883. WHOLE No. 988.

Three Angels.

They say this life is barren, drear and cold;
Let the same sad song was sung of old,
Let the same long, weary tale is told;
And to our lips is held the cup of strife,
And yet—a little love can sweeten life.

They say our hands may grasp but joys destroyed,
Truth has but dreams, and age an aching void,
Where Dead Sea fruit long, long ago has cloyed.
Where night with wild, tempestuous alarms is rife—
And yet a little hope can brighten life.

They say we fling ourselves in wild despair
Amidst the broken treasures scattered there,
Where all is wrecked, where all once promised fair;
And stab ourselves with sorrow's two-edged knife—
And yet a little patience strengthens life.

Is it, then, true—this tale of bitter grief,
Or mortal anguish finding no relief?
Let, amidst the Winter shines the leaves's leaf;
Three angels share the lot of human strife,
Three angels glorify the path of life.

Love, Hope and Patience cheer us on our way,
Love, Hope and Patience from our spirit's stay,
Love, Hope and Patience watch us day in day,
And bid the desert bloom with lovely vernal,
Until the earthly fades in the eternal.

—Temple Bar.

Miscellaneous.

The true grandeur of humanity is in moral elevation, sustained, enlightened and decorated by the intellect of man.

One copy of Mr. Ruskin's volume of "Poems" recently brought over $100 at a London sale.

A coat of varnish mixed with fine sand and coal soot will give a fresh oil painting a soft, creamy, "old master" look.

Crushed strawberry is no longer fashionable, shot blue and plum color having, in a great measure, taken its place.

Miss Eleanor Arnold, the daughter of the poet, has shown her filial devotion in the preparation of "The Matthew Arnold Birthday Book.

Boston's big sewer, which has been nearly ten years building, and which has already cost about $4,000,000 is expected to be in working order by the 1st of January next.

Ruskin says "there is in every animal's eye a dim image and gleam of humanity, a flash of strange light, through which their life looks up to our great mystery of command over them, and claims the fellowship of the creature if not of the soul."

Lady.—"Now, Mr. Snapper, as I saw you at church last Sunday, tell me what you think of our new preacher?" Snapper.—"I think he would be a first-class martyr at the stake." Lady.—"Why so, Mr. Snapper?" Snapper.—"Because he is so very dry."

Victor Hugo is now hard at work, his home with the pen extending from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m. He has several small tables in his study which are covered with MSS. of the various subjects on which he is engaged, and he passes from one to the other as ideas on any subject occur to him.

A picture, long deposited in the National Gallery, because its owner, the Duc de Ribalde, asked an enormous sum for it was a Raphael known as the "Raphael d'un Million." It is reported that the owner, who died recently, has left it to the ex-king of Naples, together with the Titian found in Farnesina.

A substitute for India rubber has been invented by M. M. Dankworth and Landers, of St. Petersburg. It is composed of a mixture of wood and coal tar, linseed oil, ceokerit, spermaceti and sulphur, which are thoroughly mixed and heated for a long time in large vessels by means of superheated steam.

"Och, if yez wur only boardin' at our hotel, Biddy, ye'd hav' the foin atin, oice crame at every male," said one lady's maid to another. "Och, an'is it only oice crame yez have?" Fair, then, we hav' billyfares beyant on our tables all the whiles; an' shure it's stuffed wid aiten 'em I am."

The following is said to be an excellent stain for giving light-colored wood the appearance of black walnut: Take Brunswick black, thin it down with turpentine until it is about the right tone and color, and then add about one-twentieth its bulk in varnish. This mixture, it is said, will dry hard and take varnish well.

An English paper points out that the statistics of insanity and idiocy in the United States are very curious, females showing many more cases of insanity than males, and males more cases of idiocy than females. Of 91,997 insane people, 44,408 are males, and 47,589 are females; while of 76,895 idiots, 45,308 are males, and only 31,586 are females. It appears therefore, that in the United States, at all events the female sex is much more subject to violent mental disease, while the male sex is much more subject to imbecility.

The following is an extract from an Hawaiian romance. "Crouched at the foot of the old board fence that hid the humble dwelling from the sharp scrutiny of passers by, she sat and idly gazed upon the passing vehicles and men. She was fat and large of limb, and her round brown cheeks glowed with the rich warmth of the chestnut. Her long lashed eyelids drooped over her lustrous eyes, and the thick tresses of her blue black hair shaded her neck and bosom. Suddenly some passing object arrested her attention, and the dark pupils of her eyes expanded in amused surprise. Her rich red lips parted and there flashed on the landscape two rows of beautiful white teeth. Slowly her mouth opened wider and wider. Deeper grew the dimples in her bronze cheeks. Brighter danced the sunbeams in her eyes, until a stray ray darting through the foliage of an overhanging bough illuminated the deep cavern of her mouth, bringing into view the back of her head. Then seeing us gaze intently upon her she shut her jaws, and darkness fell upon the scene."

The Mexican Government has concluded a contract with Mr. Oscar A. Droege to plant two millions of trees in the valley of Mexico within four years, commencing March 15, 1884. Half a million trees a year are to be planted in such places as the Government shall decide. The contractor pledges himself to 80,000 ash, 35,000 willows, 120,000 poplars, 60,000 eucalyptus trees, 60,000 tronos-japenes, 60,000 mountain cypress cedars, 60,000 acacias, and 120,000 of miscellaneous varieties. The trees must be in plantations of from 50,000 to 100,000 each, and Mr. Droege has to maintain them for two years after planting. He is not compelled to plant trees along the highways, however. Three graduates of the School of Agriculture are to be received into the nurseries each year, there to study the science of forestry. He is also to raise fruit and other useful plants for free distribution. There is to be translated from the German every year a work on arboriculture of recognised merit. An inspector is to superintend, and Mr. Droege is to receive annually 40,000 dollars till the sum reaches a total of 200,000 dollars.

The existence of Cetewayo is now proved beyond a doubt. Official intimation has been received at Pietermaritzburg that he is alive, and in the reserve territory. He is stated to have almost recovered from his wounds, and to be demanding redress of his grievances. His reappearance upon the scene of action has caused the old anarchy to break out again in Zululand, for we have a report that two of his chiefs, Mnyamana and Undabuko, have attacked Usibepu and inflicted a severe defeat upon him. The latter is said to have escaped on horseback, and fled to John Dunn for assistance, which was promptly refused. As there is little doubt but that John Dunn has been instrumental in egging on Usibepu to attack Cetewayo, he seems to have discarded his tool rather suddenly as soon as he found it was broken. Had not Cetewayo been proved to be alive, it was the intention of Lady Florence Dixie to have set out to Zululand to aid Dabulamanzi in establishing his claim to the vacant throne. As it is, this spirited young lady intends to go out to assist her sable protege in recovering his lost power at the earliest opportunity

The American Register has been looking up the history of the Tower of London, and finds that some curious ceremonies are still kept up in that grim old pile. That of locking up the Tower of nights is the most ancient and certainly the most stately one. A few minutes before the clock strikes eleven the porter with an attendant appears before the main guardhouse, carrying a lantern, and calls out: "Bearer keys." The guard, supplied alway from the Queen's household troops, then turns out and escort "key" to the outer gate, called the "gate," each sentry challenging, as they pass his post: "Who goes there?" "Keys." After the gates are securely locked and barred the procession returns, the sentries exacting the same explanation as before. When they come in front of the main guardhouse the sentry stationed there gives a loud stamp on the ground with his foot and demands. "Who goes there?" "Keys," "Whose keys?" "Queen Victoria's keys." "Pass Queen Victoria's keys, and all's well." The porter then calls out, "God bless Queen Victoria!" to which the man no guard responds. "Amen." The guard then presents arms, the officer kisses the hilt of his sword, and the keys are deposited in the lieutenant's lodging. After this all ingress or egress is impossible. It sometimes happens that strangers visiting the pile do not get out before the time come for locking up; in that event they may have to sleep, or keep awake, on benches in the guardroom.
