WESTERN FARMERS IN CONVENTION.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 3, 1873.

The Farmers' Convention reassembled at the Opera House at half-past nine o'clock this morning, the number in attendance being perhaps half as large as yesterday.

State Senator CASTLE was called upon to address the Convention, and made a few remarks, in which he expressed his sympathy with and concurred in the movement for relief from the unjust action of railroads, and urged upon the farmers the importance of united and persistent action.

Letters sympathizing with the objects of the Convention were read from M. L. Dunlap, of Champaign, Ill.; Thomas B. Bryan, of Amherst, and from the Western Freight Association of New York.

A resolution was offered and adopted recommending to the farmers of Illinois the keeping of a farm-expense account during the present and succeeding seasons, in order that the actual cost of production may be estimated and made public, for the purpose of reaching a fair and equitable remuneration therefor to the farmers of the State.

Mr. S. M. SMITH, of Henry, Ill., said this Convention was called solely to organize the struggle of the farmers with the railroads, and all other questions or issues which had been brought in were simply designed to distract the attention of the farmers from the railroad issues and to divide them in the fight upon them. He referred particularly to the Illinois River improvement project, which, he declared, was in the interest of a single county only. He declared that the resolution favoring the repeal of the tariff on iron, steel, &c., had no place in this Convention, and he moved a reconsideration of the vote by which it was adopted.

After an irregular and excited debate the vote was taken and decided by the Chairman in the affirmative.

A motion was then made to reconsider the vote by which the resolution censuring members of Congress for voting for and the President of the United States for signing the bill increasing salaries was yesterday adopted. This motion was also declared carried, and a motion was then made and carried to postpone indefinitely the further consideration of both resolutions.

Mr. LAWRENCE, of Warren county, rose and entered a protest on behalf of the Farmers' Association, of which he was a delegate, against the action of the Convention in reconsidering the resolutions, as a majority of the delegates had gone home. The resolutions had been adopted separately as a whole by the Convention yesterday, and he believed that the present meeting had no right to undo the work of the Convention.

The speaker was constantly interrupted, and a scene of great confusion and disorder prevailed. The presiding officer appeared to have very little control over the meeting, and it was some minutes before any approximation to order was restored.

Finally a delegate succeeded in offering the following resolution, which was adopted:—

Resolved, That any legislation that is not based on the eleventh article of our State Constitution, entitled "Railroads," will not meet the necessities of the producers in confining monopolies to reasonable maximum rates of freight and passenger tariff and prevent unjust discriminations, and that such maximum rates should be fixed by legislative enactment as directed by our State Constitution.

At half-past eleven A. M., after the passage of the usual resolutions of thanks to the officers, the Convention adjourned sine die.
