thing needed. The imprint of the lesson Fate meant to teach would not have been so deep if a Seward, a Chase or a Sumner had saved the state. These were men of the ruling caste. They had been trained to affairs. Their business was high politics. But who could doubt or forget the inherent strength of Anglo-Saxon democracy, its power to meet emergencies, when, in its direst peril, this nation could turn to a rail-splitter of Illinois and a tanner of Galena and find in one a statesman greater than Pitt and in the other a captain greater than Marlborough?

When Lincoln Died.

It was at the very zenith of his career that Abraham Lincoln died—at a time and in a manner which crowned his just fame with martyrdom and gave it that certainty of lasting which the daggers gave to the fame of Cæsar. Indeed, it has been said that Abraham Lincoln was as fortunate in death as he had been in life; for if he had lived, his magnanimity towards the Southern people might not have found the support of the North and he would have had to endure the obloquy which so often befalls the man who is ahead of his age, especially when he tries to stem a rising tide of prejudice. It needed the assuaging influence of forty years to bring the North to the state of mind and heart which Abraham Lincoln possessed when he came out of the war smoke and faced the problem of reconstruction. Happily for him he did not live to see idolatry turn to distrust; and he must have lived at least a generation longer to see the sons of the North and of the South clasp hands where their fathers had crossed swords.

When One Despairs.

Fellow citizens, when one despairs of the republic it is good to sit down and read the story of Abraham Lincoln and try and realize that the kind of people who made him possible are still busy in the villages and on the farms; that they are still at work in field and forest; that, as in the day of the emancipators, they still obey self-given laws, still fear God and honor the flag. And as they are highly resolved that their martyr-President shall not have died in vain, may we not believe, that, if other great crises come, there will again emerge from their Cromwellian ranks some Man of Destiny in whose hands the Ark of the American Covenant will be safe.

Lincoln's True Monument.

In a cathedral of the Old World lies the body of its architect and above his clay are inscribed these words: "If you seek his monument look about you." The dust of Abraham Lincoln lies in the city where began the real work of his public life; and there towers above it in granite and in bronze, the splendid conceptions of the sculptor. But if you seek his monument look about you. You will see it where this free republic rises in its strength and majesty, its white pillars no longer stained with the blood of slaves; its flag unchallenged, its people happy and no sedition within its walls. There was an Emperor who found Rome brick and left it marble; here was a commoner who found a slave republic and left it a free republic; who found a nation weak and left it strong; who found Democracy on trial within the forum and left it in secure possession of the altars. A century ago today he was born: a thousand years from now the world will be the better for his life, the happier for his example.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Honolulu Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow:

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills cure them all.

Honolulu people endorse our claim.

W. J. Maxwell, truant officer, of Honolulu, Hawaii, says: "A constant dull pain in the small of my back kept me in misery for years and being advised to try Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, I procured a box at the Hollister Drug Co. They relieved me from the first and I have since recommended them to several of my friends."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50) or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

No one apparently knows when the Kitsagata Maru is coming into this port. She has been on the due list from Yokohama for the past week, and not a word has been heard of her. She is carrying a cargo of sulphur for Davies & Co.

Land Question and Homeseekers.

From various mainlands points, during the week, have come many inquiries concerning the public lands of the Territory from prospective homeseekers. These inquiries have come to the Governor, to the Land Commissioner, the Promotion Committee and to private persons, and are the result of the publicity given Hawaii at present in the mainland periodicals. Commissioner Newell writes that interest in Hawaii among landseekers is great.

This week a number of land seekers have called upon the Governor for information regarding land, while other parties are either in the Islands looking for suitable locations or on their way here from the mainland. As full and explicit information has been given those here and sent to those inquiring by mail as can be given, which, in view of the nature of the land laws, can not be described as definite. The interest in Hawaii is widespread at the present time, however, and many of those inquiring for land or home sites have capital. A significant thing in connection with the inquiries for land is the fact that one of the callers upon the Governor is at present a member of the Fifth Cavalry band, soon to get his discharge. Between now and the end of the year one hundred and fifty of the men of the Twentieth Infantry will have served out their term of enlistment, while from the Marine Corps, the Engineers and Cavalry there will be a steady freeing of young men from the service, men in the prime of their young manhood, the class of settlers to whom inducements should be extended by the government.

A sale of government lots was held during the week at Waimea, Hawaii, and out of seventy offered by the Land Commissioner fifty-six were sold at the upset price.

In the city there is a steady demand for real estate, with the price gradually increasing. Houses to rent are almost an unknown quantity.

Plantation to Suspend.

It has been announced that the Paauhau plantation, on Hawaii, will probably be wound up after the present crop is taken off. The cultivation of the land in cane has not been profitable. Manager Hinde, of Paauhau, is now in Honolulu on business connected with the plantation. The stock is not listed here.

Labor Situation.

While the reports from the different plantations continue to the effect that the attempt to create friction between the field hands and managements have produced no appreciable effect, the trouble-makers are still at work from the Honolulu center. At the present time the efforts are being directed to setting one class of Japanese against the other on the plantations, the field hands against the luna and interpreters, the language employed to incite the laborers being extreme. The Territorial grand jury, which began to take evidence in the matter, has made no report, although the Nippu Jiji, the organ of the agitators, has certainly been guilty of publishing obscene matter, if not matter to incite violence.

Early in the week it was reported that the agitators intended to precipitate strikes on some of the smaller plantations on the Island of Hawaii as a means of impressing the planters with the seriousness of their intentions in the matter of higher wages.

Secretary Tsuchiya, of the Japanese Consular staff, who returned this week from a tour of the other islands, reports a satisfactory state of affairs on all the plantations.

BRECKONS CASE STILL REMAINS IN STATU QUO

By Ernest G. Walker.
(Mail Special to the Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, February 1.—The resignation of District Attorney Breckons, at Honolulu, is apparently expected at the Department of Justice. In spite of the great secrecy observed about the case, an official said today: "I should not be surprised if Mr. Breckons resigned. He says he does not care much about retaining the office."

The papers in the case, including the report of special Attorney Harr, are still at the White House, where they were sent by the Department of Justice. Secretary Loeb said today that the Department of Justice was handling the matter, and the Department of Justice said that President Roosevelt was handling it. The truth is that the President has given directions about what shall be done and his directions are being carried out by the Attorney General.

From all indications the President is anxious that Mr. Breckons should quit office. However, it was said authoritatively this afternoon that there had been no official request for his resignation. It is more or less of a surprise, but may prove to be true, that Senator Warren of Wyoming has been the medium of communication with Mr. Breckons. He received a copy of the Harr report and is known to have gone over it carefully, because of his interest in the District Attorney, who came from Wyoming. Action of such a nature could have been undertaken appropriately by Senator Clark of Wyoming, who is chairman of the judiciary committee that has the consideration of most nominations of that character. But Senators Clark and Warren work together, and Senator Warren is recognized as the State Republican leader.

It transpires that the resignation of Judge Kepoikai has not yet reached the Department of Justice, although the nomination of his successor has been sent to the Senate. The Department of Justice, however, was notified some time ago that the resignation was in the mails and could be expected here in due season.

The mystery about the Kepoikai charges has not been entirely cleared up. The Department of Justice does not make such charges public, although they often reach the public through the medium of the people at home who preferred them. It was denied in most emphatic terms at the Departments of the Interior and Justice for weeks and even for months that there were any such charges. Finally one morning over a month ago the charges appeared in the mails of the Department of Justice. One who is in a position to know said this afternoon that he understood Governor Frear had been carrying the papers around in his inside pocket for a very long time. Another statement is that they were sidetracked at Oyster Bay and kept in the President's files for a long time.

An official request was made by the department for Kepoikai's resignation. The department is careful, for its own reasons, not to say that Kepoikai was removed.

Princess Kalaniannole, wife of the Delegate from Hawaii, has issued cards for a tea on February 9, when the guests are invited to meet Queen Liliuokalani.

BLOODED STOCK ON MISSOURIAN

(From Sunday's Advertiser.)

Hawaiian cowboys on Kamehameha's [illegible] were [illegible] yesterday afternoon when one of the ponies from the Parker ranch, in the small herded [illegible] of blooded stock, broke away on the same train [illegible] Missourian from Seattle. The cattle are the latest importation of Parker ranch stock and they are each and every one of the highest pedigree.

There are two dozen of the heavy animals and they arrived in perfect condition after the journey of [illegible] days from the Northwest. The stock was brought here from North Yakima, Washington, where it arrived in a fight. Among the stock are [illegible]. There are thirteen bulls and eleven heifers in the herd. A special car was taken from charge of Tom [illegible] down on the Kinney and he stated yesterday afternoon that the animals [illegible] the cattle arrived here in a good condition as the day they left. In fact the drunkest deal of the lot, according to the accounts of the men, [illegible] brought about the disaster.

The animals were driven along the waterfront streets to the corral of the Union Feed Company, where they will be kept until they are shipped to the ranch on one of the interisland steamers.

Besides the blooded stock which the Missourian brought from the Northwest, she carried a large cargo of grain from the east coast. The second lot is now loaded, making the ship down to a few days for two days. The Missourian is one of the largest vessels of the American Hawaiian fleet. She was last year for a few days after the large ship she brought down the coast Mariposa, and will also probably go over to Honolulu.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC CHOLERA AND DIARRHŒA REMEDY

This remedy stands alone in our opinion, if not the opinion of those who use it. The quick cures it effects, even in the most severe cases, make it a favorite everywhere. It is equally valuable for children, and when reduced with sweetened water is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., Agents for Hawaii.

BOOTH IS FREED ON DEMURERER

(From Sunday's Advertiser.)

On the ground that no crime was committed even if the allegation was true as the indictment found against Charles W. Booth and David Kaunamoana by the grand jury on a charge of arson, Judge De Bolt yesterday sustained the demurrer entered by Booth's attorneys, Alex. Robertson, J. A. Magoon and Kinney, Marx, Prosser and Anderson. Upon the decision of Judge De Bolt, Deputy Attorney General Whitney entered a nolle prosequi in the case of Kaunamoana.

Judge De Bolt held that if the charge in the indictment was admitted to be true there would be no infraction of the law, declaring that anyone possesses the legal privilege to destroy one's own dwelling at any time, supporting the argument that was made by Alex Robertson in replying to the contentions and legal points raised by Attorney General Hemenway and his deputy, Mr. Whitney.

"I don't see how I can do otherwise than sustain the demurrer," declared Judge De Bolt, in the course of his decision. "The charge is a very grave one, and very important from any possible point of view, to be sure. It might be thought better for me to overrule the demurrer and let the Supreme Court finally pass upon it. If there was any doubt in my mind, although I might be strongly inclined to sustain the demurrer, that might be the better course to pursue, but it seems to me that the proposition is so clear that it would be idle to even do that.

No Crime Involved.

"It is a clear and conceded proposition, as I understand it, that a man has a perfect right to do what he pleases with his own property so long as he does not injure the rights of others. What he may do of himself with his own property he can direct or authorize another to do. So, in this case, Mr. Booth had an absolute right to burn down his house; there can be no question about that in reason, common sense nor at law, as I look at it. Having that right he could employ or hire anyone else, assuming, as the indictment says, that he did direct or employ David K. Kaunamoana to burn the house, he did no more than he had a right to do, and David Kaunamoana, obeying the orders and demands, as it is claimed, committed no crime.

No One Harmed.

"There is no doubt but that burning one's own house under certain facts and circumstances, bringing it within the operation of some existing statute, if those facts and circumstances are set forth in the indictment, would be a crime. Possibly, where the house is contiguous or adjoining or in the immediate vicinity of other houses or property, then I can see that the public is directly interested, that the rights of the public by that burning one's own house would be endangered. We cannot go beyond the language of the indictment and say that the house is situated in a populous district; we can not assume and take into consideration that the house was that is the only house that the court knows as far as this indictment is concerned. The court cannot assume that other houses are dangerously near it to be endangered by a fire. Those are elements which, as they are essential to make out a crime, should be alleged and cannot be assumed."

Booth was charged in a joint indictment as accessory before the fact on a charge of arson in the second degree. It was alleged that he had his home on Pacific Heights burned about seven years ago, Kaunmoana being charged as the actual perpetrator of the deed. About the only evidence considered in connection with the indictment was the unconnected statement of David Manuel, a police officer. The securing of the insurance on the building was the motive of the crime alleged in the indictment.

BEFORE WE CAN

use them, iron and gold must first be got out of the ore. The same principle applies to cod liver oil. Its virtues are not in its fatty matters; much less in its sickening taste and smell. No consumptive, or sufferer from any other wasting disease, was ever greatly benefited by the so-called "plain" cod liver oil. The shock it gives to the nerves, the repulsion and disgust it excites in the stomach, the outrages it commits upon the senses of smell and taste, are enough to spoil any medicinal potency that may be in it for the majority of people. This—to say nothing about its being indigestible. Yet there has always been reason to believe that, among the elements which form cod liver oil, there existed curative properties of the highest value. But it was necessary to separate them from the nauseating waste material with which they were combined. This was successfully accomplished in and in this effective remedy, made palatable as honey, we have the very heart and soul of pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. These constitute a tissue builder, a blood purifier, a health renewer beyond comparison. Disease yields to it with a completeness and rapidity which astonishes medical men quite as much as it delights their patients. In all wasting conditions, Scrofula and Blood Disorders, La Grippe, Influenza, etc., it never fails to relieve and cure. Dr. E. J. Boyes says: "I have found it a preparation of great merit. In a recent case a patient gained nearly twenty pounds in two months' treatment, in which it was the principal remedial agent. It cannot fail or disappoint you. Sold by all chemists everywhere.
