SUGAR SHIPPERS DO NOT EXPECT INTERFERENCE

In answer to an inquiry whether the sugar agencies have placed war insurance on cargoes shipped via Mexico, Manager A. M. Nowell said yesterday that the Sugar Factors Company has taken no action to protect Hawaiian sugars in transit across the Tehuantepec Isthmus. He stated yesterday that the railroad belongs to the Mexican government and is a source of considerable revenue to it, and that so long as the terminal ports are not seized by the United States forces he is quite certain there will be no interference with Hawaii sugars in transit. There were 12,000 tons on the isthmus yesterday. From April 20 to 22 the amount totals 14,000 tons; April 22 to 27, 11,000 tons; April 27 to May 2, 3600 tons; and May 2 to 4, 15,500 tons. The vessels on the Atlantic Coast are smaller than those sailing between here and Salina Cruz, so that sugar may pile up at Puerto Mexico. He said it takes about five days to unload cargoes at Salina Cruz and from eight to fifteen days from date of arrival on this side for sugar to get across the isthmus and leave port on the Atlantic side for New York.

RESOLUTION WHICH BROUGHT LAST WAR

Following is the resolution passed on April 19, 1898, which gave authority for the Spanish war:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled:

"First—That the people of the Island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent.

"Second—That it is the duty of the United States to demand and the Government of Spain at once relinquish its authority and government in the Island of Cuba and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters.

"Third—That the President of the United States be and he hereby is directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States and to call into actual service of the United States the militia of the several States to the extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

Wadman, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Hawaii, will leave today noon on the steamer Mauna Loa for Kona and Kohala, where he will hold meetings and visit public schools in the interests of the anti-liquor campaign. TWO REBEL CAPTAINS CAPTURED AND HANGED

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, April 21.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Agents of the Constitutionalists here declared yesterday that they had received reports that the rebels had captured a railroad station on the edge of Monterey. From Laredo come reports that the federals at that place claim that the rebels were routed in the Monterey engagement and that two rebel captains were captured and hanged.

Henry Zablan, part Hawaiian, and Yuen Yuen, a Chinese, were brought to the police station on complaint of J. F. Childs, manager of T. H. Davies & Company, last night and held for investigation. Manager Childs alleges that goods have been missing from the store for a month past and after watching the men he said he believes they are guilty of having stolen the goods.

Joseph Figarao, who was under arrest for larceny, was dismissed in the police court yesterday morning. The complaining witness was unwilling to prosecute.

* At a special meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday at noon the following resolution was introduced by Supervisor Petrie and passed unanimously by Supervisors McClellan, Markham, Pacheco, Hardesty and Wolter. Supervisor Cox was absent.

"Resolved, that the Mayor and Board of Supervisors of the City and County of Honolulu approve any measure leaving the settlement of Federal Building site to the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, and declare that any of the available sites heretofore mentioned will be suitable; and

Resolved, that the Mayor be authorized and directed to cable Honorable Frank Clark, chairman of public buildings committee of the House of Representatives notifying him of this resolution.

All of the supervisors spoke strongly in favor of the resolution. It was cabled to Washington yesterday afternoon. Another cable was sent to Delegate Kalanianaole announcing the action the board had taken.

JAIL SYSTEM DENOUNCED AS EVIL

be dumped among thieves, thugs, cutthroats and others even worse to await trial because, with all our wealth and luxuries, not to speak of the great many churches we have, Honolulu is still without a proper detention home for these little unfortunates," said an irate citizen after reading the account published in The Advertiser yesterday.

"This thing must cease and proper facilities for handling juvenile offenders must be provided forthwith. The sheriff, his deputies and officers would be pardoned by the citizens of the city if they refused to hold in custody such juvenile offenders who can only be kept in confinement among the sordid dregs of humanity which may be found every day in the station house pen or in the city jail."

Site Was Selected.

The question of a shelter home was brought to Governor Pinkham's attention some months ago by Judge Whitney and on the plea that the Territory was then hard pressed in the matter of finances it was tacitly agreed that the question of authorizing the expenditure of the $7500 appropriation for the shelter home should be allowed to go over until July 1, which is the beginning of the fiscal year in territorial affairs.

At this time Governor Pinkham was requested to set aside a strip of land on Austin lane and King street as a site for the proposed shelter home. This land is part of the girls' old reformatory school premises adjoining the Kaiulani School in Palama. The Governor set the desired lot aside by official proclamation. Beyond this nothing further appears to have been done.

Judge Whitney yesterday stated that at that time Superintendent John W. Caldwell of the territorial department of public works suggested the possibility of acquiring the use of the old Chinese hospital on Rebellio lane, at Palama, for a shelter home until such time as that which the legislature decided should be built could be provided.

"Mr. Caldwell told me then that he would see the Governor on the question and would ask him to allow us enough of the fund provided by the legislature to furnish the temporary quarters," said Judge Whitney yesterday. On this score nothing appears to have been done, either.

Decided to Postpone Action.

"I talked this matter over with a number of Honolulu women who are deeply interested in the question of the shelter home," continued Judge Whitney, "but it seemed to be the idea then that if we used up a portion of the appropriation to furnish the temporary quarters there would be a grave chance that the balance of the appropriation would be insufficient to furnish the permanent shelter home once it be provided.

"This being the situation these women decided that it would be best to wait until the permanent home could be built. When the Governor was apprised of the situation he promised that just as soon as he could see his way clear he would do all he could to help out the proposition."

While Judge Whitney did not say so in as many words it was gathered that he hardly feels disposed to allow further arrests if no better place than the pen of the station house or city prison can be provided to detain juvenile offenders awaiting trial.

The last legislature appropriated $7500 from the loan fund for the shelter home, this item being a territorial charge, and further provided that the municipality pay $2500 a year for maintenance and $900 a year as salary for the matron who is to have charge of the shelter home.

John C. Anderson, probation officer, also feels keenly on the lack of proper facilities for handling the juvenile offenders.

"I went into the pen recently and saw a number of these street urchins mixed up with the bigger fry," said Anderson, "and I asked the guards to keep the youngsters away from the older people. They told me that they had tried to do so, but that it was of no use; the kids would get back again."

George Kawaha and Joe Rezentes, two of the number of youthful delinquents who were recently arrested, are still at the station house, where they are being held pending such time as they may be sent to the Boys' Industrial School at Wailee.

"We have tried to keep some of the boys out of the 'pen' by asking their parents to keep them at home until we are ready to try them, but this won't work as I can show you," continued Anderson. "Take the case of young Louis Medeiros. He was allowed to go home with his mother Saturday evening and both Louis and the mother were told to appear before Judge Whitney at one o'clock this afternoon. Here it is now three o'clock and neither of them has shown up. We can't trust them to keep their word. So, what is the use?"

The case of Joe Rezentes is said to be one of an aggravated nature. He is charged with stealing a gold watch from Dr. Allan R. Rowat, the veterinary surgeon. Doctor Rowat while going into the Popular Theater, it is said, was accidently struck on the forehead by a swinging door and knocked unconscious. While in this condition Rezentes is said to have gone through his pockets and stolen a gold watch which he later sold to a Chinaman who took the casing and melted it into a small ball. The Chinaman's connection with the transaction is now said to be under investigation by the police department and his arrest may follow soon.

EVERYBODY LIED, SAYS ATTORNEY

County Prosecutor Beers Completes Investigation of Volcano Road Jail Charges.

HILO, April 19.—Everybody lied.

This is, boiled down into the shortest possible terms, the text of a report which County Attorney Beers is preparing on the Volcano road jail matter, an affair which has grown to great proportions at a rate which makes the accumulations of an avalanche seem trifling.

That Beers should have joined the ranks of the investigators will probably be a surprise to most people, as the general impression was that there had been investigations and to spare, but Beers received instructions from the board of supervisors to look into the matter. The reports of Sheriff Pua and of the East Hawaii prison commission were passed on to him. He read both over. They differed in many material points. So he decided to do a little investigating on his own hook.

"The supervisors, when they referred the Volcano road jail matter to me, did not give me very clear instructions as to just what they expected me to do," said Beers last week. "I decided therefore that what they probably wanted was to determine whether the facts of the assault upon prisoner Araki made by Luna Oliver Akau warranted bringing Akau before District Magistrate Hayselden of Kau on an assault and battery charge.

Acted In Self Defense.

"I found that Akau did without doubt hit Araki. He does not deny it, but claims he hit him in self defense. As Araki made an attack on Akau, Akau had a right to defend himself. I think he hit Araki a bit harder than he says he did, but then in most places a prisoner would under similar circumstances have been shot down on the spot. Furthermore, the assault took place some eight months ago, so it does not seem worth while to revive the matter at this time.

"I made a thorough examination of all the witnesses called by the prison commissions and of nearly all the witnesses called by Pua. I have still to take the evidence of a couple of the Pua witnesses who are in Hilo. I examined Jailor Maby, Guards Akau, Kawaha and Apiki and seven of the prisoners, including Araki.

Conflicting Evidence.

"The evidence is very conflicting. Some of the eye-witnesses say that after Araki was down on the ground, Akau held him down by placing his knee on his chest and continued to punch him. Others deny this emphatically and say that after Akau had hit Araki, who attacked Akau when he reproached him because he disobeyed orders, Akau hit him, but not hard enough to knock him down.

"I gathered from some of the prisoners that Araki, who has a bad record, having escaped from the jail three times, had it in for Akau, who caught him the second time he had escaped. Araki is very sore because Akau at that time took four dollars from him, which he had in his clothes. Akau admits that he took the four dollars, but he says that he gave the money to informers whose information had led to the catching of Araki, and that he did this with the consent of the jailor, a predecessor of Maby. I may add that Akau is much liked by most of the prisoners, who say he is just and kind.

"I have not the slightest doubt, however, that both the Pua witnesses and the commission witnesses lied deliberately, and I believe that the best thing to do is to drop the matter altogether."

DESPONDENT DRUG SLAVE ENDS LIFE

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, April 19.—Another victim of an unsatisfied craving for opium died last Thursday afternoon at Pepeekeo, when a fifty-five-year-old Chinese, named Yeong Kin, committed suicide by strangling.

He was a common laborer, but had been without employment for the past five months. While he had been able to obtain food, he had not been able to secure opium recently, and in a fit of despondency caused by the lack of the drug he threw a rope over a beam in the camp house in which he lived, tied a noose around his neck, got on his knees and strangled himself Chinese fashion.

The body was found by the other inmates of the camp late in the afternoon when they returned from their work in the field. As it was a plain case of suicide, Sheriff Pua satisfied himself with making a personal investigation, without calling an inquest.

ENTIRE TOWN IN RELIGIOUS FRENZY

Residents of Village of Kealia Imbued With Idea That Jehovah Is to Send Chariot to Take Them to Heaven, Keep Children From School, Join in Prayer and Await Summons; Four of the Leaders Are Arrested.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, April 19.—Another of those crazy religious outbreaks which occasionally seize unexpectedly the people of these Islands has occurred in Kona, where a bunch of Hawaiians disregarded all worldly affairs in order to await the arrival of a chariot wherein they expected to be transported to heavenly regions. They have been locked up by the incredulous police.

The affair was first brought to the attention of Sheriff Pua last week, when Deputy Sheriff Lazaro of South Kona telephoned to him that a part of the population of the village of Kealia, a small settlement just north of Hookena, had gone crazy, collectively and individually, and he did not know what to do about it.

He explained that these people had suddenly refused to send their children to school. The teacher had made a complaint to the police and an officer had been sent to Kealia to make an investigation.

Entire Town in Prayer.

When the officer arrived there he found the people on their knees, praying loudly and fervently. They would not answer his questions; in fact they paid no attention to him at all, and the officer returned, greatly puzzled, to Lazaro, who immediately telephoned to the sheriff for advice.

The sheriff instructed the deputy sheriff to have the teacher swear to a warrant, based on the truancy of the children, which would give the police legal authority to act. Lazaro secured the warrant, and armed with this document he and his officers fared forth to Kealia.

In the meantime the report of the strange doings of the Kealia people had spread far and wide, and a great crowd had gathered to watch the strange proceedings. Lazaro, describing the situation, says, picturesquely, that the entire population of Kona was there.

The police proceeded to talk to the enthusiasts and to try to gain their attention, but the religionists continued praying and paid no heed to them. Finally they arose from their prayers and began to preach to the officers and to the crowd.

Waiting for Jehovah.

With much fervor and enthusiasm they explained that it had been revealed to them that Jehovah was about to send a carriage from heaven to Kealia, in which he would take the true believers and the faithful to heaven. They were waiting for the carriage, and they had kept their children away from school in order that they might not miss the ride in case the vehicle should arrive while they were away at school.

The police would not take this excuse, and the leaders, four in number, were arrested and taken to the jail. Contrary to the expectation of Lazaro, they made no resistance whatever, but followed the officers meekly to the lockup. Charges have been made against them under the vagrancy act, which prohibits the practise of anaana, hoopiopio and various other forms of sorcery, though it seems as if the statute hardly fits the case.

JURY UNABLE TO REACH A VERDICT

Called into court at eleven o'clock last night by Judge Lyle A. Dickey, the jury in the $25,000 damage suit of R. E. Bond against the Hawaiian Gazette Company reported that it had been unable to arrive at a verdict. The jury was out for twelve hours.

A number of jurors stated then that there seemed to be a possibility of the jury coming to an agreement, but on the other hand other jurors expressed themselves as doubtful on that score. A mistrial was entered and the jury excused until this morning at half-past eight o'clock. No statement was made last night as to how soon the second trial of the suit will begin, nor was there any indication as to how the jury stood in respect to the respective parties to the suit.

The fifth and last day of this trial opened yesterday morning at half-past eight o'clock, with Attorney Clarence H. Olson making his argument to the jury for the plaintiff. Mr. Olson spoke for an hour, and was followed by Attorney Lorrin Andrews, representing the Hawaiian Gazette Company, who spoke for slightly more than forty minutes. The judge then read the instructions on behalf of the plaintiff, defendant and the court, and at eight minutes after eleven o'clock the case was submitted to the jury for a verdict. The jury was made up as follows:

William M. Minton (foreman), William H. Soper, Charles A. McWayne, Samuel C. Dwight, Jacob Ordenstein, A. Henry Afong, Charles Girdler, Herbert Donshee, Benjamin Sammons, Henry P. Roth, Ululani F. Lemon and Marshall H. Webb.
