Central Union Congregation Gives Big Reception To Departing Pastor and His Wife

PARLORS OF THE CHURCH ARE FILLED BY FRIENDS

Divine Will Leave Honolulu Next Week For His Japanese Pastorate

Central Union Church last night paid full honor to the departing minister who has cared for the spiritual wants of its congregation for almost nine years. The parlors of the church were thronged from eight until ten, and many not members of the congregation, but friends of Dr. and Mrs. Doremus Scudder, were present.

The committee for the evening, of which Mrs. Walter A. Engle was chairman, had promised to give a splendid program, and it amply kept that promise.

The other ladies serving with Mrs. Engle were Mrs. Alexis J. Gignoux, Mrs. Charles W. Baldwin, Mrs. Frank C. Atherton, Mrs. C. S. Judd, Mrs. I. J. Shepherd, Mrs. John Buel Guard and Miss Ruth Anderson.

Miss Anderson had charge of the decorations of the evening and Mrs. Atherton arranged the following program:

Leaving For Japan

One week from today Rev. Doremus Scudder, accompanied by Mrs. Scudder, will sail for Japan on board the Tenyo Maru to resume his work in Christian service in Japan. He was ordained to the ministry in Kobe, June 17, 1885, and hence looks upon the Land of the Rising Sun as the proper place in which to complete his life work. Doctor Scudder will be pastor of the Foreign Church in Tokio, a non-sectarian Protestant congregation.

Doctor Scudder has been identified with Christian work in Hawaii since 1902, having taken service under the Hawaiian board in that year. In October 1903, he was elected to succeed O. P. Emerson in charge of the mission work among the Japanese in Hawaii and in June 1907 accepted a call to the pastorate of Central Union church. He preached his first sermon as pastor of the church, October 5, 1907, and was formally installed November 20, so that he had almost completed nine years in the pulpit here.

His Mainland Service

From 1889 to 1902, he was pastor of Doremus Congregational church, Chicago, then known as the Worker's church. Doctor Scudder was one of the pioneer medical missionaries sent to the Orient, for after graduating with the degree of A. B. from Yale in 1880, he took first a two years' course at Union Theological Seminary and then a full three years medical course at Columbia University and Chicago University, receiving the degree of M. D. He received the honorary degree of D. D. from Whitman college, Washington, in 1898.

Doctor Scudder filled pulpits at Brooklyn, New York and Woburn, Massachusetts, during short periods after his return from Japan before entering the service of the Hawaiian Board.

While in Honolulu he has been president of the Mid-Pacific Institute and editor-in-chief of The Friend. He has acceptibly performed much civic welfare service for Hawaii, having represented this Territory at the Mohonk Conference on several occasions, and has been delegate to many mainland assemblies and conventions.

An Inspired Leader

No pastor has given more of his own individuality to Christian work in Hawaii. A fearless speaker, deep thinker and sound theologian, Doremus Scudder has taken no uncertain part in the social life of this community, so that his retirement from this field constitutes a distinct loss to the community.

He has worked consistently for the cause of prohibition, and to remedy the social evils of a growing community—composed as this is, of multiple racial elements in many strata. He has been a many-sided man, throwing a tremendous force of vitality into whatever he has undertaken.

Lover of Out-of-doors

Mountain climbing was one form of recreation into which Doctor Scudder entered with characteristic enthusiasm. Perhaps his most noteworthy feat was in leading a party to the top of Iao Needle in August, 1911 but this was only one of many exploring expeditions which he has led into previously inaccessible heights.

The following resolutions drawn by Dr. Robert D. Williams, Dr. J. M. Whitney and Judge Walter F. Frear, the special committee appointed by the trustee of Central Union church to draft them, are indicative of the high esteem in which the retiring pastor has been held by his congregation.

Resolution Adopted

"Whereas, our pastor, Dr. Doremus Scudder, has resigned to accept a call to the pastorate of the Tokio Union Church, thus severing a relationship of nine years, during which time he has constantly kept before us, through the spoken word and through his life, the ideal of a simple, direct, personal relationship with God; and

"Whereas, during his years of faithful service among us he has shown a joyous, genial and optimistic spirit that refused to be discouraged, an unaffected manner, a frankness and straightforwardness in his private and public utterances, together with a fearlessness that made him at all times true to his convictions, and a studiousness which kept him well informed in many widely different departments of the world's life; and

Whereas, he has been an active leader in all those movements which have to do with the betterment of our community, through his deep personal interest in clean politics, temperance, the settlements, the suppression of vice in all forms, child welfare work, and has been an uncompromising opponent of everything that stands in the way of individual and community progress toward the perfect life; and

Whereas, he has given so freely of his time and wisdom in furthering the educational problems of the Islands, acting so efficiently on the board of managers of Mid-Pacific Institute from its very beginning, and working with untiring zeal as chairman of its educational committee, thus wisely guiding its educational policies from the first; and

Praise For 'Editor'

"Whereas, the deep missionary purpose of his life has expressed itself through his long connection with the Hawaiian board, first as its general secretary and later as an active member on many of its committees; and

"Whereas, he has been the most effective and forceful editor of the "Friend," making it a recognized force towards the bringing about of a better understanding between the races bordering the Pacific, not only in these Islands but in the States and in the Orient as well; and

"Whereas, his friendly interest in and sympathetic understanding of the Oriental peoples, expressed through his life and words, has brought the races nearer together in our own Islands; and

"Whereas, as the representative of the Church Federation he was loaned by this church to undertake a mission of international importance in his trip to Washington and the Eastern States on behalf of a closer unity and a more friendly relationship between the United States and Japan; and

"Whereas, while pastor of this church he has not only stood for the strengthening of this church as an organization in all its departments, and for a greater church unity in this and in all Christian communities, but has also, throughout his entire pastorate fired the church with his warm missionary zeal, promoting missionary interest and activity in every department of the church life, so that the whole church has stood as a center of helpfulness in the spread of God's Kingdom both at home and abroad, in this way helping us as an organization to realize more nearly Christ's command, that we spread the Gospel throughout the whole world, that every creature may hear the good news of Christ's message; and

Gained the Ideal

"Whereas, through his efforts in organizing the Men's League, and through his constant interest in the women's work of the church, he has helped us more nearly to attain the ideal, 'every member a worker,' and

"Whereas, through his interest in the problems of religious education, he has inspired a large number of faithful leaders, who have brought the Bible School to such a high degree of efficiency; and

"Whereas, through his midweek class for young inquirers he has quietly but forcefully impressed his personality upon a large number of the young people of our community, thus doing a work of educational, social and religious value; and

"Whereas, through the years he has worked untiringly and with a large measure of success in dealing with the problem of the midweek service, enlisting the service and cooperation of so many of our membership in this most helpful part of our church life; and

Whereas, he has always striven to remove from the door of the church all artificial barriers which might keep the earnest seeker after Christ from gaining the fellowship which the church has to offer, and to this end he has simplified the confession of faith and the creed of our church, thus concretely exemplifying the words of our master when he said, "I am the door."

Express Appreciated

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of Central Union Church of Honolulu, take this opportunity to express to him our warmest appreciation of his unselfish and untiring service as our pastor, and of the simple straightforward gospel message which he has constantly lived and preached, and of his cheerful and courageous attitude expressed on all occasions; and

"Be it further resolved, that we do most heartily commend him, together with his good wife, Mrs. Scudder, who has made so many notable contributions in our community and church life to the new friends awaiting them in Japan; and

"Be it further resolved, that we wish them the deepest blessing of the Heavenly Father of us all as they go forward to this new field of labor.

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the church records, and that a copy be furnished to our departing pastor and his wife, and that copies be furnished to the "Friend" and to our daily papers.

For the church

Miss Beyfuss Wins Ladies' Singles From Maile Vicars

Hawaii Champion Did Not Play Up To Her Form and Displayed Nervousness

TENNIS CARD

Ladies' Singles—Miss Beyfuss defeated Miss Vicars, 6—4, 6—4.

Friday, 4 p. m. (Ladies' Doubles)—Mrs. Cullen and Mrs. Guerrero vs. Mrs. Conningham and Miss Beyfuss; Miss Capps and Miss Williams vs. Miss Vicars and Miss Wicke.

Saturday, 3 p. m.—Mrs. Graham and Miss Hopper vs. winner of Vicars-Wicke vs. Capps-Williams match.

Saturday, 3 p. m.—Miss Ruth Anderson and Miss Pauline Schaefer vs. winner of Cullen-Guerrero vs. Conningham-Beyfuss match.

Saturday, 3:45 p. m. (Men's Doubles)—Vanatta and Tanaka vs. Cunha and Newell; Pitts and Burlingame vs. Vincent and Morgan.

Saturday, 4:30 p. m.—Norton and Waterhouse vs. Ohye and Uno.

Sunday, 3 p. m. (finals of Men's Singles)—William Eklund vs. Alan Lowrey.

Playing far below her best form Miss Maile Vicars was defeated by Miss Vera Beyfuss of California, in straight sets yesterday afternoon on the Hawaii Polo and Racing Club courts, 6-4; 6-4. The Hawaii champion seemed to have stage fright at times and her play went to pieces. At other times she displayed flashes of tennis that took Miss Beyfuss off her feet. The younger player handled her strokes with greater ease and finesse than the California player, and although she covered the courts faster, her play was marred by her apparent nervousness.

Miss Beyfuss displayed greater poise and kept her head at all times. Because of this she was able to outplay Miss Vicars both at the net and in the back court.

Both players used the backhand stroke freely and a great share of the play was at the net. Many pretty exhibitions of volleying were displayed. Miss Vicars had the harder serve, but lost her points by unstendiness in returning her opponent's drives.

The match was closely contested, as attested by the score.

Many of the games in each set went to deuce and add.

Miss Beyfuss took the first three games of the first set before Miss Vicars started her play. The third game went to deuce and was characterized by many pretty volleys. Miss Vicars seemed to gain better control of herself for she took the next game, also the sixth and seventh, and caused the eighth game to go to deuce before Miss Beyfuss won. The Punahou player ran the last game of the set to forty when Miss Beyfuss won the game and first set.

Both players used the net to a great extent in the beginning of the second set. As in the first set Miss Beyfuss won most of her games in the first half of the play. The fifth game went to deuce and a double fault gave the add to Miss Vicars. On an error by the Hawaii player the game went to deuce again, and in an attempt to return a fast loft by Miss Beyfuss, Miss Vicars lost the game. Miss Vicars took the seventh and eighth games handily. By winning the ninth game, she ran the score up to 5-4.

But Miss Vicars showed apparent nervousness with the score so close, and her serves went wild in the last game, which Miss Beyfuss won, and with it the set and match.

A good gallery was in attendance and applauded the efforts of the players freely. Both players will be seen in the doubles this week and some interested play is promised when the teams on which they play meet.

The summary of the match is as follows:

First Set—
Miss Beyfuss G G G 30 G 30 15 G 30 G-6
Miss Vicars 30 15 A G 30 G G A G 40-4

Second Set
Miss Beyfuss G 15 G G G 15 30 G 15 G-6
Miss Vicars 15 G 15 30 A G G 40 G 30-4

AN ANONYMOUS GIFT

GREATEST BATTLE OF ALL

man & Platt, a director of the Metropolitan Bank and of half a dozen other great corporations; De Lancey Nicoll, of New York, former district attorney; John Barry Stanchfield, former Democratic leader at Albany and the Democratic nominee for Governor of New York in 1900, and others of equal prominence in the nation as lawyers.

From the names of the legal giants being retained by each side, it is evident that the two political parties, having emerged almost equal from a bitter political campaign, are now about to engage in the greatest legal battle for the greatest prize in the history of the nation.

It is certain that the Republicans will demand recounts in North Dakota, New Hampshire, California and New Mexico, where the total electoral vote is twenty-four votes. Should the Republicans win in California or in the three others combined the switch would be sufficient to change the election results. The Democrats are certain to demand a recount in Minnesota.

Last night, according to San Francisco reports, Chester Rowell conversed over the long distance wire between Fresno and New York with George W. Perkins, announcing that he would watch the official count of the California vote, beginning on Monday. He predicted that there would be a split in the Californian electoral college vote.

BULGARS DEFEATED, RETREAT RAPIDLY

Russians Continue Their Offensive In the Dobrudja District With Success

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, November 10—With the Bulgarians defeated and retreating before the fierce blows of their Rumanian neighbors and foes the situation in the eastern theater of the great war appears to be undergoing a marked change. The official reports from Bucharest yesterday announced that the Rumanians have occupied the town of Hirsova, driving out the Bulgarians and that the latter are fleeing, burning villages and bridges behind them whenever possible.

In the Dobrudja district the Russians are reported to be continuing their offensive against the Bulgars and Germans under the command of General von Mackensen, and are said to have driven the Teutonic allies back southward, inflicting heavy losses upon the invaders.

In France the changes reported yesterday were of minor importance, although in places there was intense artillery activity. A German attack on the Sailly-Saillisel sector was driven back by the fire of the Allied guns, but the infantry of the Entente powers was comparatively quiet.

The German general staff issued a statement in which it was asserted that repeated attacks by the allied troops in France were repulsed by the German artillery fire, with heavy loss to the attackers.

SACRED HEARTS ACADEMY HAS FAIR AT KAIMUKI

This afternoon at one o'clock, the fair which the young women of the Sacred Hearts Academy, Kaimuki, have work so hard for, will be opened to the public. The fair will be given to obtain funds to aid the good Sisters in Europe.

Fancy work and delicacies soothing to the taste will be sold and the inevitable grabbag will tempt those who wish to fathom its mysterious contents.

At half-past two the academy girls will entertain those present with a play which is a production originated by the local talent of the institution.

Honolulu has brought itself to the fore whenever worthy affairs of this kind are given and a good attendance is expected to be on hand today to aid the young women to achieve success in their noble undertaking.

The increase is largely in the schools of this city and island.

FIGHT ON ADAMSON MEASURE OPENED

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

KANSAS CITY, November 10—The officials of the Santa Fe railroad system do not intend to wait until January 1 for the testing of the constitutionality of the Adamson law, which establishes an eight-hour basis for the payment of trainmen—locomotive engineers, stokers, conductors and brakemen—and makes the present ten-hour scale the eight-hour scale after January 1. Immediately after the bill became law, last September, the Santa Fe announced its intention of fighting it on the grounds that congress is not empowered to fix wages in any private industry by legislation.

Yesterday the attorneys of the company filed a petition with the federal district court enjoining the federal district attorney and the labor leaders from making any attempt to put the statute into effect.

The matter is thus brought into court seven weeks in advance of the date upon which the law becomes operative, giving that time in which to advance the matter to the supreme court of the United States for a final and authoritative decision on the constitutionality of the law which did more than anything else to reelect President Wilson.

A supplementary appropriation bill calling for nine hundred and thirty-four million francs was also introduced.

CHINA WILL ACCEPT JAPAN'S PROPOSALS

(Special Cablegram to Hawaii Shinpo.)

TOKIO, November 10—According to official statements issued last night China has decided to accept the offer made by Japan for the settlement of the difficulty arising over the killing of a number of Japanese soldiers on duty in Manchuria by Chinese bandits. ST. LOUIS COLLEGE FOR PREPAREDNESS

(By Wid Affonso)

A few weeks ago military training at St. Louis College passed into its second year without any pomp or ceremony. It was but one year ago that military drilling began at the school for the benefit of the boarders.

These military exercises have become popular with the students, who are staunch advocates for preparedness. Drills are held twice a week but still many of the collegians are anxious for the time to come when they may perform every day. One of the features of these military exercises is the playing of the St. Louis College band, which made a big hit on the two occasions in which the collegians gave an exhibition to the public.

T. Hore, a one-time Kamehameha School student, is captain of the battalion. The other officers are L. Gaspar, first lieutenant; R. Judd, second lieutenant; F. Almeida, first sergeant, and Edward Vredenburg, second sergeant.

Squads In Charge of Corporals

There are eight squads, containing seventy-two young men. The squads are under the following corporals: A. Silva, Squad 1; P. Christian, Squad 2; P. Lee, Squad 3; H. Cooper, Squad 4; C. Spencer, Squad 5; L. Lino, Squad 6; E. McGettigan, Squad 7, and H. Stender, Squad 8.

The first and second squads form the first platoon, which is in charge of the first lieutenant. The second platoon is composed of the third and fourth squads and is in charge of the first sergeant. The fifth and sixth squads have as head the second sergeant, and the seventh and eighth squads are guided by the second lieutenant.

C. Eckland, right guide; C. Lino, left guide; and F. Aiu and C. Hayselden, guides in the center from the pivot points.

Former Instructor In Texas

Cpl. C. Nestor, formerly of Company B, Second Infantry, U. S. A., was the first instructor of the college. In April of last year his term of enlistment expired but when the Mexican crisis was at its height he reenlisted and was transferred to Brownsville, Texas, right on the Mexican border.

A letter received by one of the Brothers of the college a few days ago contained the news that at a recent contest Corporal Nestor made one hundred per cent in drilling and all other tests called for; his squad showed what a good disciplinarian he is, for it averaged ninety per cent.

Drilling Pleased King Kalakaua

St. Louis College back in the days of the monarchy had military drills and exercises. The late King Kalakaua took great delight in witnessing the proteges of the Brothers of Mary in their military evolutions and on many occasions complimented the faculty of the school by declaring that he would stay more around the palace if his own soldiers could drill like the youngsters.

Many of the men now high up in private and public life were pioneers in military training at St. Louis College; among these being Mayor John C. Lane; David Kalauokalani, city clerk since the municipal government was established in Honolulu; James A. Thompson, clerk of the supreme court; William P. Jarrett, high sheriff, and Charles H. Rose, sheriff.
