VALLEY ISLANDERS TAKE LAST POLO GAME FROM KAUAI

Most Spectacular Match of Season When Old Rivals Fought It Out For Second Place

GARDEN ISLAND FOUR FOUGHT TO THE END

Many Snappy Plays and Good Combinations Marked the Contest Throughout

Oahu is this year's polo champion, winning both its games. Maui won one and the Army four won the other game of the tournament. The scores were as follows:

August 18—Army 3½, Kauai 3¼.

August 25—Oahu 13, Maui 7½.

August 31—Oahu 11½, Army 5¾.

September 1—Maui 7½, Kauai 4½.

In one of the most interesting and spectacular polo games of the 1917 season Maui defeated Kauai by the close score of seven and a half to four and a half at Kapiolani Park yesterday afternoon. Maui had the advantage in mounts, but the organization with which the Kauai four waded into their opponents aroused the admiration of the spectators, who frequently applauded brilliant plays and bits of daring horsemanship on the part of the Garden Islanders. Nor did the applause all fall to the lot of the Kauai quartette, for on more than one occasion clever plays in heated scrimmages, tricky formations that were often successful, and unusual backhand drives by the Mauiites, elicited well-earned cheers from those in the grandstand and automobiles parked along the mauka side of the field.

Both teams missed frequently in the first period and little teamwork was apparent. The ball see-sawed back and forth without much advantage to either side, Jimmie Spalding finally scoring in eight minutes and fifty-eight seconds. John Malina fouled, and a foul was also called on Frank Baldwin for crossing at a dangerous angle. When the period ended the score was Kauai one-half and Maui minus one-half. This gave heart to the Kauai supporters and it was evident that the two teams were evenly matched. However, the speedier mounts of the Maui players were to be reckoned with in the distance, and this was realized by all.

Score Evened Up

At the close of the second chukkur the score was one and one-half all. Dave Fleming scored for Maui in the third period and Jimmie Spalding for Kauai. At the close of this period neither team had the advantage in points, the score being Maui two and one-half, Kauai two and one-half. Sam Baldwin made the only goal in the fourth, which gave Maui a lead of one point, a lead which was never overcome by Kauai.

Spalding, who played a cracking good game, made the only goal in the fifth period, but half of this was lost when a safety was called on both Malina and Philip Rice.

There appeared to be a ray of hope for the Garden Islanders up to the eighth period, but when Sam Baldwin scored in one minute and fourteen seconds, followed shortly after by Fleming, the "Closed for the Season" sign went up over the grandstand.

Crowd Not Large

The game was called at two-thirty sharp, that the Maui players might return to their homes on the Mauna Kea, which was held until five o'clock for them. The crowd was little better than on the previous day, the grandstand being barely half filled. The Waikiki bleachers were practically vacant and none were seated on the Ewa side of the grandstand. It was a perfect day for polo, though not ideal, as was the day before, for the sun shone more brightly, there being no clouds overhead.

Mainland and local women swimmers who will compete in this week's water carnival, occupied boxes in the grandstand.

There was little room for more machines along the mauka rail, the space there, being practically all taken.

Season Closed

Yesterday's polo game closes the 1917 season. When the next contest will be played is problematical, for many of the players, especially those of the Army team, have been called away, and a feeling of uncertainty is prevalent among the remaining organizations. It is possible that games will be arranged between the Island teams later in the year, but there is nothing definite as to this. All things considered, the season just ended has been one of unqualified success.

GAME BY PERIODS

First Period

Ball was taken to Maui territory immediately after the throw-in, where there were several light scrimmages around the goal. It was returned to center field where it remained for one minute and a half. Much see-sawing in midfield, with both teams missing frequently. Kauai carried the ball toward their goal but lost control just before reaching the posts. Malina was ridden off. Maui took the ball with a clear field but missed scoring by a big margin. Frank Baldwin was playing a good game on Carry the News. There was much individual playing by both teams. A long back hand drive by Maui was greatly applauded. Field was very dusty. Spalding scored for Kauai. Time, 8:59. Malina fouled by hooking into foreleg of pony. Frank Baldwin fouled by crossing at a dangerous angle. Kauai ½, Maui ½.

Second Period

Ball was carried to Kauai territory from the throw-in, but was returned by Maui, missing a goal narrowly. Malina scored. Time, 2:25. A long drive by Malina missed. Kauai was riding off splendidly. Charles Rice fell from his horse. Time was taken out. The ball see-sawed again. Harold Rice scored. Time, 6:59. Fleming scored after the bell had rung. Time, 7:30. Kauai 1½, Maui 1½.

Third Period

Time was taken out shortly after play commenced. Referee sounded whistle when Frank Baldwin lost a mallet. Fleming of Maui scored. Time, 2:40. Some pretty teamwork in midfield, neither side gaining materially. Spalding of Kauai scored. Time, 4:58. There was some lively mixing and Malina saved. Ball was carried dangerously near Kauai's goal when the period ended. Kauai 2½, Maui 2½.

Fourth Period

Considerable play in Kauai's territory. Ball remained near the Kauai posts. It was carried out and Sam Baldwin scored. Time, 3:15. The play was exceptional. Kauai saved. Maui's ponies showed the speed in the distance. Ball went over the rail. Maui took the ball from the throw-in, the speed of their mounts showing plainly. Spalding made a pretty back hand drive and the period closed. Kauai 2½, Maui 3½.

Fifth Period

Safety was called on Malina. Kauai penalized. Ball remained in Maui territory, possession being hotly contested. Malina apparently was riding a mean horse. Safety was called on Philip Rice. Harold Rice saved. Sam Baldwin had control of the ball but missed. Spalding scored from up field. He had a clean sweep and a fast horse. Kauai 3, Maui 3½.

Sixth Period

Harold Rice scored for Maui in twenty-two seconds. Philip Rice was thrown on his mount's head. He regained the saddle with some difficulty. Philip was playing a wonderful game, considering that he had not played since 1916. Frank Baldwin made one of his old-time high drives, but the ball went out. Period ended with the ball in Kauai territory. Kauai 3, Maui 4½.

Seventh Period

Organization of both teams perfect. Malina fouled. Lively scrimmage near the Maui goal. Malina saved. Sam Baldwin scored in three minutes and nine seconds. Kauai missed narrowly. Charles Rice was playing a great game. Kauai missed again. Charles Rice scored for Kauai. Time, 7:07. Kauai 3½, Maui 5½.

Eighth Period

Sam Baldwin scored. Time, 1:14. His speedy horse was never challenged. Kauai was riding hard. Jimmie Spalding was playing good game. Team work was excellent. A few of the players were worn, the strenuous riding telling plainly. Fleming scored for Maui. Time, 5:25. Malina scored for Kauai. Time, 6:38. Kauai 4½, Maui 7½.

PUT FOREIGN SHIPS ON COASTWISE LINES

Bill Referred To Committee On Merchant Marine

At the suggestion of the United States Shipping Board, Representative Alexander on July 31 introduced in the house of representatives a bill giving the President authority to admit by proclamation foreign vessels to the coastwise trade. The bill was referred to the committee on merchant marine and fisheries, of which Mr. Alexander is chairman. As introduced the measure read:

"That during the present war of emergency the President may, if in his opinion the interests of the United States so require, permit by proclamation vessels of foreign registry to engage in the coastwise trade of the United States in such conditions and as he shall deem wise."

It was pointed out that there are a number of ships in the coastwise trade which are fast and seaworthy which could be used to admirable purpose in the trans-Atlantic trade. But these vessels cannot at present be spared from the trade in which they are now engaged. The coastwise shipping has already been drawn upon to a considerable extent by the demands of overseas shipping, and it is feared that some great hardships would be endured by certain industries were more of them withdrawn, unless a substitute service is performed by permitting foreign vessels to engage in coastwise trade and permitting a foreign vessel taking on a part of a load for overseas destination, take a coastwise cargo from one to another domestic port while collecting its overseas cargo.

POLO CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY OAHU IN HARD GAME

Clean Victory Over Army Team On Friday Marked By Hard Riding and Difficult Plays—Contest Was Not Spectacular But Marked By Many Unusual Plays

By its clean victory yesterday, Oahu won the Island championship of the 1917 polo tourney. Although the Army was plainly outclassed, both from the standpoint of mounts and organization, they rode Oahu hard and succeeded in blocking many of the long plays of their opponents. This made the game less spectacular but it was hard on the players. In fact, the contest was so unusual that a just comparison of the two teams would be most difficult. One thing is self-evident: had the Army played a loose game, the score would have been 20 to 5¼ instead of 11½ to 5¼ at the close of the eighth period.

A noticeable feature of the game was the teamwork of both aggregations. On several occasions when a long drive had been made, the ponies were neck and neck in pairs racing at great speed for the ball. Although the Oahu mounts would draw away from the Army ponies in the distance, these races occasioned frequent applause from the spectators in the grandstand and in the automobiles parked along the mauka side of the field. Each player covered his man well, and while there were times when both teams resorted to individual playing, teamwork was generally apparent.

Game Not Spectacular

The game was far from spectacular and at times appeared almost listless. Harold Castle was always in the fray and his work yesterday was greatly admired. It has been said that Castle plays his best game either with the Army or with Kauai, and if this be true, he certainly lived up to his traditional reputation in yesterday's contest. He made five of Oahu's goals and was penalized one-half point for fouling in the third period. Walter Macfarlane did not play anywhere near the game he did in the Maui-Oahu contest last Saturday, although he made three goals of the twelve.

Walter Dillingham played his usual brilliant game but was ridden off on numerous occasions. He made four goals, two of which were from difficult angles. Arthur Rice, playing back, failed to score. Army did not score until the third period, when Capt. John K. Herr made a goal in one minute and thirty seconds. Army scored again in the sixth chukkur when Lieut. Karl C. Greenwald made a goal in the first minute and a half of play. He scored again in the eighth, making two goals to his credit. Capt. V. P. Erwin scored three times in the seventh and eighth periods. As in the case of Oahu, one man failed to score, he being Capt. R. E. D. Hoyle, playing No. 2. Yesterday's play was fast in spots; in other spots it was slow and featureless. But, as has been stated, it was a game different from any seen in the history of Island polo, which, in itself, made it worth attending.

Crowd Was Small

The crowd was the smallest that has attended any game of the series, but Friday has always been a poor day for attendance, regardless of the event. Although there were nearly as many machines parked along the mauka side of the field as on the previous Saturday, there were very few people in the grandstand and bleachers. The bleacher seats on both sides of the grandstand were virtually vacant, and there were probably two hundred in the grandstand. The Hawaiian Band played between periods.

It was an ideal day for both players and spectators. A light breeze was blowing and the clouds served excellently as a shelter from the sun. Light showers down town and threatening clouds might have caused a few to remain at home. There was not a drop of rain at Kapiolani Park.

GAME BY PERIODS

First Period—Oahu got away to a good start, Castle making the first goal of the game in exactly three minutes of play. Dillingham added to this by scoring in four minutes, repeating in another minute and a half. Army missed frequently, teamwork and faster mounts of Oahu showing plainly. At the offset, Army played an individual game, the men being all over the field. Macfarlane scored. Time, 6:30. Field extremely dusty. Oahu 4, Army 0.

Second Period—Army hit better. Castle, in a fast scrimmage, broke a mallet. Ball see-sawed back and forth without much advantage to either side. Army made a long drive, missing goal narrowly. Army was playing better polo, but they still lacked organization. No score and no penalties. Oahu 4, Army 0.

Third Period — Macfarlane scored. Time, 0:15. Both teams were riding harder and Army was hitting more consistently. Capt. John K. Herr scored, making the first for the Army. Time, 1:30. Herr's goal was from a most difficult angle and he was applauded greatly. Time was again taken out for Castle, who had to return to the camp for a mallet. Ball remained in Oahu territory. Play was featureless. Army saved. Both teams were missing toward the close of the period. A half hearted scrimmage near the goal posts closed the chukkur. Neither team was penalized. Oahu 5, Army 1.

Fourth Period—Army was away with the ball to a clear field, but the Oahu mounts were too fast, Oahu gaining control of the pellet. Castle returned the ball for the length of the field and scored. Time, 1:1-4. He took the ball from the throw-in for a repeater. Time 1:3-4. Oahu teamwork was excellent in this period. Dust was frightful, the ball being generally obfuscated. Several pretty drives were made by both sides after the bell had been rung. Castle fouled. Oahu was penalized one-half point. Oahu 6½, Army 1.

Fifth Period—Army missed another goal by inches. Luck was playing against them, although their aim was inaccurate. Army came back strong. That they were playing at great odds was apparent. Scrimmages were numerous. Macfarlane took the ball from Army territory for a goal. Time, 4½. The period was characterized by individual playing on Army's part. Army missed a goal narrowly. Army was penalized three-quarters, a foul and safety being called on Captain Herr. Oahu 7½, Army ¾.

Sixth Period—Lieutenant Greenwald scored. Time, 1:1-2. Dillingham scored again for Oahu in the next minute of play. Both teams were riding hard, the play being more thrilling than at any time previous. Army again missed by inches. The ball was dangerously close to the Army goal posts, but it was retrieved by Castle, who carried it the length of the field and scored. Time, 6:00. Castle drove high after carrying the ball for one hundred yards but it went out. Oahu 9½, Army 1¾.

Seventh Period—Army missed several close ones at the beginning of the period. Both teams were riding hard. A neck and neck race resulted in Castle scoring. Time, 3:00. Army missed. Dillingham scored. Time, 4:00. Dillingham was playing an excellent game on Helen C. Erwin scored for the Army. Time, 6:1-2. Much play in Army territory and Erwin scored again. Time, 7:1-4. The goal ended the period. Oahu 11½, Army 3¾.

Eighth Period—Army riding desperately but hopelessly outclassed. Army teamwork excellent in this period. There was a pretty steal by Dillingham, who passed to Castle. Castle missed. Some brilliant riding-off. Erwin made a pretty backhand goal. Time 6:1-2. Greenwald scored. Time, 7:00. Herr rode Dillingham hard during last period. Oahu 11½, Army 5¾.

The lineups:

Oahu—Walter Macfarlane, No. 1; Harold Castle, No. 2; Walter Dillingham, No. 3, captain; Arthur Rice, No. 4.

Army—Capt. Vincent P. Erwin, No. 1; Capt. R. E. D. Hoyle, No. 2, captain; Capt. John K. Herr, No. 3; Lieut. Karl C. Greenwald, No. 4.

JOHNNY WILLIAMS BEATS COOMBS NINE

Allows But Two Hits, While Schuman Team Secures Half-a-Dozen

Johnny Williams' great pitching was responsible for the Schumans winning over Coombs by the score of 3 to 1 in the opening game of the special series which is to decide the 1917 Commercial League championship. The game was played yesterday morning at Athletic Park.

The ex-big leaguer proved well nigh invincible, Kai Luke and Kan Leong being the only ones to connect safely and this but once each. Thirteen—that hoodoo number—seemed to be a favorite with Johnny for he got just that many strikeouts to his credit. He walked only one man.

Luck Yee, the Coombs' twirler, presented the winners with half a dozen safeties and two passes. He ill-treated four Coombs by sending them back to the aqua bucket.

Polo Players Present

Among those present were Charles A. Rice and John Malina of Kauai. After a rather strenuous polo match at Kapiolani Park the day before they were seeking a little recreation, by viewing a baseball contest.

The greatest bone out this season was pulled off by Crabtree. Schuman was on third and Crabtree on the initial sack. As Luck Yee wound up Crabtree started for second, drawing a throw from Kan Leong which was received by You Bun, who heaved to third to get Schuman. Then the joke began. Crabtree made his base but as Bun threw the ball to third he returned pell mell back to first base. For a few moments the spectators were too dazed for anything but when they recovered, they burst out laughing at the best boner seen here in ages.

In the fifth Mark made a great one-hand stab off Lee's bat, going back against one of the supports to get the ball. Yen China also broke into the limelight by making a fine catch off Kai Luke's grounder in deep short, throwing his man out at first.

In the second Schuman scored two runs. With two gone "Scotty" Schuman connected safely, stole second and reached third on a wild pitch. Crabtree walked and then came that one big laugh. Lee was passed and the bases were filled. Yen China hit a hard one to third, who fumbled, Schuman scoring. In trying to catch Kong Tai Pong, who was running for Lee, off second, Crabtree after getting his second again and then third made home on the play.

Coombs saved the whitewash in the eighth. Luck Yee was lucky and got life when he was hit by a pitched ball. The next two men up were out but in the meanwhile Luck advanced and tallied on Kai Luke's bingle.

Schuman got back the run in their half. Pong died, but Williams singled and was put out on a fielder's choice of Dreier's grounder. After Dreier had pilfered second Sumner sent him across the plate by a hit to center.

MAUI NIPPONESE DEFEAT HILO NINE

Japanese Team of Big Island Wins One Out of Four Games In Series

In the baseball series with the Hilo Japanese team, which was finished on Tuesday of this week, the Maui teams demonstrated their ability as players and made a showing, of which Maui may well be proud, says last Friday's Maui News.

The first game, which was played last Saturday afternoon between the Hilo J. A. C.'s and the Maui H. A. C.'s, was somewhat of a joke, and ended with a score of twenty-one to twelve in favor of the visitors.

There was no doubt but that the Hilooites were somewhat upset by the trip from Hilo. The local team for some reason or other failed to play to form and allowed the visitors to scamper around the bases until they were practically worn out. The balance of the games, however, were a different story and the local boys made good, and Maui saw some baseball that was really worthwhile.

From a financial standpoint the series was very disappointing to the promoters, who were left to make up a deficit of a considerable amount in order to meet the expense of bringing the Hilo team to Wailuku. On no occasion were the crowds up to expectations, which was no doubt due, in part at least, to the poor showing made in the initial game. The scores for the different games were as follows:

Saturday, August 25—
Maui H. A. C. 3 4 0 0 2 2 1 0 0—12
Hilo J. A. C. 6 2 0 3 0 2 2 6 0—21

SAMPAN RAMMED BY STEAMER HELENE

Japanese Crew Think Their Boat Is Victim of Unrestricted German Ruthlessness

At two o'clock Saturday morning while the gasoline sampan Abeyan Maru, owned by P. J. Goodness, inspector of chauffeurs and autos, was lying at anchor about three miles off the coast opposite the big gulch on the pali road to Lahaina, she was run into and cut in two by the Inter-Island steamer Helene, which was on her way to Hawaii, says the Maui Times of last Friday.

One of the sampan's crew of three men, Japanese, was asleep in the sleeping compartment in the bow of the vessel and the other two had just turned in after completing their work of cleaning the engine. One of the men was sleeping in another compartment abaft. The Helene cut the sampan right clean through as a knife cuts a piece of cheese, her sharp bow striking the bulwark close to the engine room. The two men in the cut-off part of the sampan were saved, as well as the one in the room astern, and both parts of the sampan kept afloat, though turning turtle.

It all happened so quickly they did not know what struck them, but one of them was sure a torpedo from a German submarine had been fired at them. The Abeyan Maru is forty-one feet long and equipped with a fifteen horsepower gasoline engine. She had fish on board valued at $100. The officers and crew aboard the Helene claim the sampan was shrouded in total darkness, displaying no lights whatever.
