Two More Records Go When Swimmers Close Their Meet

Miss Claire Galligan and Norman Ross Establish New Figures In Two Events and Crowd Disappointed By Interference With Honolulu's Favorite Merman Who Nevertheless Wins

It was a great swimming meet and it came to a great end in a splendid dash of a hundred yards between Duke Kahanamoku and Kelii in which several watches caught the time as fifty-four seconds flat, the same time as that in which he had won the hundred yard championship.

Two more records went by the way, both American, one for men and one for women. Norman Ross won the half mile swim in the record time of eleven minutes, twenty-seven and three-fifths seconds, and Claire Galligan of New York won the quarter of a mile event for ladies, and in so doing reduced her own and the American best previous performance by five seconds.

Duke Kahanamoku did not lower his hundred yard figures although he was going splendidly and seemed about to do so until he was seriously interfered with by Ross who had lost his sense of direction badly.

Three nights of glorious aquatic sport came to a close with the finish of the four hundred yard special relay race for men last night. Such records as have survived the strain of the big Hawaiian meet may rest in comparative ease and safety for a time for it is unlikely that there will soon be another such wholesale smashing of "former best figures" as Honolulu has just offered to all lovers of natatorial competitions.

It is true that last night was not so replete with thrills and excitement as was the long to be remembered Wednesday night that had Duke Kahanamoku for its chief hero, but it was a night filled with events that compares favorably with the very best swimming meets that are held elsewhere.

Unfortunate Mix-up

No, Duke Kahanamoku did not break the record in the hundred yard championship. It is again the oft heard story of "might have been" for he made one of the best starts of all his long swimming career and was going strong and fast when unfortunate interference made his efforts at record breaking for the last night of the meet ineffective. His chance was gone, his old record still stands. And even if he did not break any records he won in the face of difficulties and he retains a well warranted championship.

The 100-yard national championship swim was the second on the program but the third event as carried out and was the event in which interest for Honolulans, chiefly attached. In the drawing Siegel secured 1 and the outside position to the left, Jones was next to him, Lane next, Duke Kahanamoku fourth, Kelii fifth and Ross had the outside to the right.

Duke Starts Out Fast

It was a pretty start with Duke off in far better than his usual style. He, Kelii and Ross went strong and fast. Ross soon began to swing slightly to the left, then more and more. Over toward Kelii he went and kept right on across him. Here is where he is criticised for not swinging to the right. Instead, he kept on as he was going and went across Duke's legs. Numbers of men in the crowd shouted foul and indignation ran high. Duke finally got out of the mixup and got his swing and kick going again and went on to a winning finish, a second behind his own record.

Lovers of clean sport were loath to say that Ross had acted as he did with deliberate intent and were generally ready to give him the benefit of the doubt because of the erratic courses he had steered in his previous sprint swims, but they also were sore and dissatisfied. Had it not been for what Ross had previously shown in poor judgement of direction he might have been more generally criticised and condemned than he was.

Two American records did go even though the 100-yard mark remains untouched. Norman Ross lowered the figure in the eight eighty and Claire Galligan broke the record for the four forty for women. These did not have popularity that would have been attached to a new record in the hundred however.

Some Delays Occur

There did not seem quite the snap and go to the events of the third night that had been shown in the second. There was a delay in the start and several times there was a dragging in the program, some rather exasperating halts.

First on the program and next to last to be finished was the 100-yard novice race. It required four heats in all and then the finish was not satisfactory, owing to general mixups from wild sense of direction. The two preliminary heats went off well but the finial was swum over and then was about as badly muddled in the second attempt. Those placed in the first heat were Terrill, Perkins and Paris, and in the second Lambert, Bowers and von Holt. The final award was Lambert first, Bowers second and no award of third for disqualification. The time in the second and fourth heats was the same, 27 seconds.

Ross Smashes Record

Then came another of the big features of the night, the 880 yard open swim. Ross was entered in this event and Honolulu hung its hopes on "Stubby" Kruger. There were five starters, Ross, Kruger, Walker of the Service, Genoves and Crozier, who appeared very boyish as he stood up with the rest. They were sent away and at the end of the first lap Ross led slightly with Kruger next, Walker third and Genoves fourth. Crozier was already distanced but kept on for three laps further. At the second turn the positions were unchanged and Kruger still held fairly close to Ross. Gradually the latter drew away until fully twenty-five yards ahead and won by more than that margin to spare. His time was eleven, twenty-seven and two-fifths. Walker finished third and Genoves fourth.

Next came the attempt to swim the final of the novice race. There came such a muddle and mix up that it was decided to swim it over later.

Breaks Her Own Record

It was the 440 yard swim for ladies that broke the second record. For the first hundred it was close between Miss Galligan and Miss Cowells with Miss Burns in third position. Then Miss Galligan slowly drew away. Miss Cowells lost her sense of direction somewhat and lost distance correspondingly and on the last lap was passed by Miss Burns. Miss Galligan finally scored an easy win and was five seconds ahead of her own American record.

Duke Swims Past Hundred

The Club Relay, six men, 100 yards each, closed the meet and was an exciting event, particularly so because Kelii of the Healani and Duke Kahanamoku of the Hui Nalu were the pair to swim the sixth and last lap. Kelii got away fully seven yards in the lead of Kahanamoku, the latter closing up the distance between the two men and losing out at the finish by a head. Duke's time, taken by a number of watches, was 54 flat.

The Healani Club won this race, with Hui Nalu second and Palama third. It gave the winners a big boost in figuring their points, in the relay the points being ten for the winners, six for second and two for third place. This race closed the evening's performance and the three-day meet.

Officials' Work Well Done

"The local A. A. U. officials," said John F. Soper, chairman of the registration committee, in discussing the meet last night, "owe a big debt of gratitude to the many officials who contributed toward making the meet the success it was. We are also thankful for the services of the band and the glee club which helped enliven things last night, as well as to the public in general. The boys and girls who took part in the races are also to be thanked and complimented for their work. I have not known of a more successful and pleasing swimming meet ever having been held in Hawaii."

DRAFT SOON FOR MEN OF HAWAII

Orders Come Which Foreshadow Calling Out National Guard; Hawaii Honored

Drawing of the men registered on July 31 for the selective draft will be made in Honolulu at the earliest possible date under authority of the war department, which has sent definite directions and instructions for the operation of the draft in the Territory. Francis J. Green, who served as executive officer of the central registration board, has been named as chairman of a committee to carry out the instructions of the war department.

The date of the draft cannot be named with any certitude as yet, as the tabulation of registration cards for Hawaii and Oahu has not been completed. This is the only matter that will cause delay in the arrangements for the draft. The completion of the registered lists will be hastened to bring the date of the draft as close as possible. It is probable that three weeks or a month will be needed for the work of preparation by the committee, but the delays on Hawaii and Oahu in the registration tabulations may still further postpone things.

After preparations for the draft have been completed the committee will notify the war department at Washington of the date on which they will be prepared to make the draft, and it is considered practically certain that the date named by the local committee will be designated by the President in an official proclamation as the day on which the selective draft for Hawaii will be begun. The draft cannot be made without direct authorization from the President of the United States.

Instructions Inconclusive

Full information for the actual conduct of the draft were included in the communication received here, with authority to change or modify them to suit local conditions. No word was received as to whether this drawing would correspond to the first or second draft on the mainland.

It is thought that the working of the selective draft here will advance the date of assigning the national guard to local garrisons in place of regular army organizations which may be ordered away.

All who are drawn here may be organized at once into a national army regiment for local training or be sent to training camps on the mainland.

No statement was received as to the number to be drawn in the territorial draft. This will be known later, as well as the other points not definitely stated in that portion of the letter from Brigadier-General Crowder which has been made public. General Crowder says:

"While at present the necessity for speed in completing your organization is not urgent by reason of the fact that you have already furnished more than your first quota, nevertheless there is every reason why there should be no unnecessary delay. The drawing should take place at the earliest practicable date, consistent with efficient preparation."

Working on Details

The local draft board in addition to the actual drawing of the numbers will be responsible for the arrangements for the mobilization of the men when called by the government and their transportation to the training camp. Chairman Green will name his assistants within a few days. He is already working on the details of the drawing.

The date of the first drawing of the numbers will be made an official event. It will take place in the senate room in the presence of the high officials of the Territory.

Hawaii is the only section in the Union in which the operation of the selective draft is left to the local authorities.

Definite decision as to the status of Filipinos under the draft has been received, said Chairman Green last night. They are not considered as citizens unless they have taken out their first papers, and cannot be drawn unless such first papers have been taken out. This will considerably reduce the number of men from whom the selective draft will be made, as no aliens can be included. These may be accepted later as volunteers.

LYMAN-THOMPSON

In the presence of a few relatives and friends Miss Frances Thompson and Henry Lyman were married yesterday afternoon by Bishop Henry Bond Restarick of St. Andrew's cathedral at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Giffard, Nuuanu. The witnesses of the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Giffard. Thompson is a cousin of H. B. Giffard.

After a few days of honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Lyman will sail for Hawaii, where Lyman is the owner of large tracts of property. The bride has been teaching school on that island. The engagement was announced about a week ago at a large party given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingle for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shingle, who were sailing for the mainland.

LIVESEY-DEAS

The Lihue Union Church was the scene of a charming afternoon wedding, Thursday, August 30, when E. Livesey of the Wireless was married to Mrs. Josephine L. Deas of Waipouli by Rev. J. M. Lydgate in the presence of some forty or more of their intimate friends, says last Tuesday's Garden Island of Lihue, Kauai.

The church was very effectively decorated in palms, ferns, and large masses of white lilies by the sisters of the bride, Mrs. Cheatham and Mrs. Israel.

The bride was simply but very prettily gowned in white silk crepe de chine.

The bridal bouquet, the work of the sisters, was a very original and effective combination of white flowers, ferns and white silk streamers, starred with white narcissus.

After the ceremony the bride, standing on the steps of the church, threw the bouquet out to the guests assembled on the lawn. It fell to Judge Charles S. Dole.

MAYOR OF CHICAGO BRINGS LIBEL SUIT

Claims He Is Being Persecuted By Chicago Herald and Seeks Redress From Court

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 6—(Associated Press)—As a climax to the propaganda that is being waged against him, attacking his loyalty to the United States, Mayor William Hale Thompson today filed a suit for $250,000 damages against the Chicago Herald, claiming libel.

"My persecution has reached the point where the newspapers are accusing me of being a traitor to my country," declares the complaint. "My enemies are hounding me to death; their spies are continually trailing me and even dictographs have been placed in my office and my home to secure anything that might be construed as reflecting on my patriotism."

The mayor has been the target for newspaper criticism and individual rancor ever since he refused to invite the British war commission to join the French mission in a visit to Chicago. This led to an outburst of indignation and daily he has been openly accused of lukewarm sympathy. This latter feeling has been heightened by the refusal of the school board at the mayor's instigation to delete paragraphs from the text books praising the kaiser.

LABOR IS FIRM IN ITS PATRIOTISM

Strong Resolutions Denouncing Pacifists and For Support of Country Passed

MINNEAPOLIS, September 7—(Associated Press)—Vigorous resolutions denouncing as unwarranted the recent declarations of the Peace council at its meeting in Chicago which was broken up by the police there under instructions of the governor of Illinois, and of the resolutions and declarations made or passed by other similar organizations were unanimously adopted by the Alliance of labor and democracy at its session last night. In the afternoon resolutions had been unanimously adopted endorsing the war aims as set forth by President Wilson in his various messages and in his reply to the Pope and his former reply to Germany.

The second day of the great labor convention held in this city brought forth a stinging indictment of the pacifist leaders in the United States congress from Charles Edward Russell, the noted journalist and author.

Addressing the assembled delegates, Russell denounced La Follette, Gronna and Stone in no unmeasured terms. "Riga's fall was due to such men as La Follette, Gronna and Stone", declared the speaker. "When the kaiser issued his declaration of victory full credit should have been given these men. They and men like Mayor Thompson of Chicago are doing more to prolong the war than any others, and that means a greater slaughter of American soldiers by the kaiser. Every disloyal act and resolution is interpreted by the Russians as meaning that the United States does not desire to fight, and weakens their faith in this country's promises."

IRON WORKS FOREMAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

W. G. Jordan, an employee of the Honolulu Iron Works for ten years and foreman of the boiler shop, died in the Queen's Hospital yesterday after an illness of a week. He was a native of California and leaves a wife and two daughters, who are at present in the East, where the daughters have been pursuing their education. Word has been sent them of their father's death.

The funeral services will be held today at three o'clock from Williams' undertaking establishment. Interment will be in Nuuanu Cemetery.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 7—(Associated Press)—In deference to the wishes of Dr. Harvey A. Garfield, of the food production board, the coal mine operators and the officials of the United Mine Workers have postponed their planned conference, at which the question of increased wages for the coal miners was to have been discussed.

FAILURE OF BOND SALE TIES UP ALL IMPROVEMENT WORK

Treasurer McCarthy Now On Way Home, Having Sold Only $200,000 Worth In New York

BUYING OF SECURITIES HERE IS NOW ONLY HOPE

Construction of Belt Road and Many Other Projects Halted Through Lack of Funds

Charles J. McCarthy, territorial treasurer, left New York yesterday, en route to Hawaii, according to cable advices received yesterday, and is due to arrive here about the end of the present month, after his practically futile attempt to market in New York territorial bonds to the amount of $1,500,000 which were authorized by the last legislature.

To date only $200,000 worth of bonds have been sold, and of this amount but $50,000 worth were disposed of in New York, the financial center of the United States. Treasurer McCarthy's trip can, therefore, hardly be called an unqualified success, but that does not reflect in any way upon the treasurer. The fact is that the country is flooded with bonds just now, the exigencies of war being largely responsible. The Liberty Loans, for billions of dollars, have very naturally greatly affected the bond market.

The $50,000 worth of bonds disposed of by the treasurer in New York sold for 98. The Bank of Hawaii has bought $100,000 worth at 98.03 and Bishop & Co. have taken $50,000 at 98. An effort is now being made by Acting Treasurer Henry Hapai to dispose of more bonds in the Territory. An advertisement issued by him says that the $200,000 realized from the sale of bonds "will be principally spent on items that are in the interest of and to the advantage of the whole group."

Up To the People

Of the unsold balance of $1,300,000 the advertisement says: "This sum approximately applies to the various islands as follows: Hawaii, $405,000; Maui, $205,000; Kauai, $38,000; Oahu, $650,000. It is up to the people of each of these islands to purchase each its quota of bonds receiving a guarantee that the money will be spent on each island, in full or pro rata, to its subscription. It is plainly a case of put up the money, of which there is plenty, or going without the improvements."

While the above statement may not be entirely lucid, the apparent fact is that unless the people of the Territory purchase the bonds, which cannot now be sold in the East, the contemplated improvements for which they were issued cannot be made.

The territorial bonds pay interest at the rate of four per cent, and are nontaxable. The new Liberty Bonds are expected to bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per cent, but will probably be subject to tax, and the war taxes on them will probably be more than enough to make up for the difference of one-half of one per cent between the interest paid by the territorial bonds and that paid by the Liberty Loan.

But the cold fact remains that our bonds have not sold and that unless the people of the Territory who have money to invest come through and purchase the bonds, we cannot have our belt road, or new wharves and the many other improvements contemplated by the legislature when it authorized the bond issue.

Oahu Hard Hit

The Island of Oahu will be particularly hard hit, for the people of this island have been counting heavily upon the construction of the belt road, for which bonds to the sum of $500,000 were authorized.

The board of supervisors recently appropriated $10,000 out of the cash basis fund for a survey of the proposed belt road and that survey is now in progress. The board is paying out $1000 a month, out of current revenue, but that appropriation runs out at the end of the present month, and whether or not it will be renewed is a matter still to be decided. Certain it is that unless we buy our own bonds, we shall have no belt road, for the present, anyway.

Meantime, however, the board of supervisors is continuing work on the Pali road. The concreting has been extended beyond the famous Hairpin Turn, and an excellent job has been done. The turn has been broadened by extending the concrete out over the edge of the cliff, so that the curve has been shorn of its dangerous qualities.

Work Nearing End

But how much farther the work can be carried with the funds at present at the disposal of the board is not known, but it is expected that the work will have to come to an end soon, for this year, at least. After the beginning of next year the board will have considerably more money with which to work and more progress along the line of permanent improvements can be made.

The failure to sell the territorial bonds will not hinder the downtown street work contemplated by the board, according to a statement by Charles N. Arnold, chairman of the road committee of the board of supervisors. There is left in the permanent improvement fund, he says, $57,000, which can be used to create the proposed improvement disrtict and pay the city's initial expense. That is expected to carry the work over into next year, when more money will be available.

WASHINGTON, September 7—(Associated Press)—In the senate today the war tax bill dragged along slowly and but little advance was made despite the fact that the date set for the final vote is only a little more than a week off and many points must yet be considered.

In the house the bill which authorizes the issuance of bonds and treasury certificates to the amount of eleven and a half billions of dollars was unanimously passed.
