MAXIMILIAN.

Curious Rumor—Reported Quarrel—The Emperor of Austria and his Brother.

From the Avenir National.]

Several journals have stated that secret instructions interdicted the emperor of Mexico from re-entering Austrian territory. We now receive some more precise information on the subject. It refers to a quarrel between Maximilian and his brother, the emperor of Austria, the origin of which dates back some time.

Before leaving for Mexico, the archduke signed at Miramar, toward the end of April, 1864, a document in which he renounced all claim for himself and his descendants, if he should have any, to the throne and patrimonial possessions of the house of Hapsburg. Scarcely, however, had he assumed the crown of Mexico when he sent to the principal European powers a protest against that renunciation. This step alienated the two brothers from each other for a long time, and it was only by means of the good offices of the late king of the Belgians that his son-in-law was restored to favor at the court of Austria. But some time since the American journals published a letter written by M. Eloin, private secretary to the emperor of Mexico, and addressed to this latter.

In that missive, which had been intercepted by the Juarists, M. Eloin expressed himself with remarkable bluntness respecting the internal condition of the Austrian empire, on the discontent caused by the defeat of the imperial armies, the diminution of the influence of the Vienna government, and the prospects which, as a consequence of these events, might present themselves to the emperor's brother. The publication of this letter, which has not been disavowed either by M. Eloin or by his master, revived the resentment of Francis Joseph, and determined him to interdict his brother from all access to the posts and territories of his empire. Our correspondent adds that great efforts are being made to bring about a fresh reconciliation and the withdrawal of a decision which would place Maximilian in a position of great embarrassment the day on which he should be compelled to leave Mexico.

THE REPORTED CONSPIRACY TO MAKE MAXIMILIAN EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA.

From the Avenir National, December 15.]

Yesterday La France excited public attention by this mysterious sentence: "A grave report is in circulation with respect to the Emperor Maximilian, but before giving currency to it we shall wait for more certain information." The information which La France is waiting for we (the Avenir) will give. The journals and correspondence from Vienna speak openly of the application—it cannot yet be called conspiracy—of the Austrian army to place the Emperor Maximilian on the throne of Austria. This strange news seems to be confirmed by our private letters.

THE RESOURCES OF TENNESSEE—ITS COPPER MINES.

Few of our people appear to realize the buried wealth that slumbers in our hills and valleys, awaiting only the magic touch of the genius industry. The following report embodying valuable figures bearing on the copper mines of East Tennessee, is clipped from a circular published at New York by the American bureau of mining. It was compiled by Dr. Trippel and Prof. Credner:

It is probable that the East Tennessee mine alone will produce 1000 tons of 10 per cent ore monthly, when the improvements now in progress are completed. The very moderate supposition of 800 tons, monthly product, will be assumed in these estimates; and the other mines of the consolidated company will be left out of view altogether.

The first statement represents the present system; the second includes the dressing of the ores, and exhibits the additional profits of such a measure:

1. Mining expenses for 800 tons 10 per cent. ore ..... $ 8,000
Smelting cap ron 40 per ton of copper at 6 cents 16,128
Freight and general expenses, 3 cents per pound 5,376
Total expenses, 30 cents per lb. of copper $29,504
Value of 179,200 lbs. of copper, at 30 cents 53,760
Net monthly profit $24,256

2. Mining expenses for 800 tons 1 reading ore up to 15 per cent ..... $ 9,600
Smelting expenses 60 cents per lb. 19,687
Freight and general expenses, 3 cents per lb. 6,576
Total expenses, 11 8 cts per lb. of copper ..... $ 35,824
Value of 179,200 lbs copper at 30 cents 53,760
Net monthly profit $17,936

These figures exhibit an annual profit from the mining and smelting works of $328,832, to which should be added the profit from about 110,000 pounds of cement copper, produced in the Isabella mine.

It is confidently expected by the general agent, that the cost of materials, fuel, etc., will not advance in the next three years, especially since the company has already secured large amounts of timber land. The above estimates will hold good so long as present prices are maintained. The projected increase of monthly produ ion at the East Tennessee to 1000 tons, or the development of others of the company's mines, would reduce materially almost every item of cost. It is fairly estimated that copper will then be produced for ibs more than twelve cents per lb.—a cost far below the average cost of this industry at Lake Superior, and one which would secure an ample margin of profit to the producer, even in the most unfavorable condition of the market.

WOMAN AND MARRIAGE.

I have speculated a great deal on matrimony. I have seen young and beautiful women, the pride of gay circles, married, as the world says, well. Some have moved into their costly houses, and their friends have all come and looked at their furniture and their splendid home for happiness, and have gone away and commented them to their sunny hopes cheerfully and without fear. It is natural to be sanguine for them, as the young are carried away with similar feelings. I love to get, unobserved, in a corner and watch the bride in her white attire, and with her smiling face and soft eyes meeting me in the pride of life, weave a waking dream of future happiness, and persuade myself it will be true. I think how they will sit upon the luxurious sofa as the twilight falls, and build gay hopes and murmur in low tones the not her forbidden fondness; and how thrillingly the allowed kiss and beautiful endearments of the wedded life will make even their parting joyous, and how gladly they will come back from the crowded and empty mirth of the day to each other's quiet company. I picture to myself that young creature who blushes even now at his hesitating caress, listening eagerly for his footsteps as the night steals on, wishing he would come, and when he enters at last, and with an affection as undying as his pulse, folds her to his bosom, I can feel the tide that goes thrilling through the heart, and gaze with delight on the graceful form as she moves about for the kind offices of affection, soothing all his unquiet cares, and making him forget even himself in her young and unshadowed beauty. I go forward for years and see her luxuriant hair put soberly away from her brow; and her girlish graces resigned into dignity, and loveliness chastened with the gentle meekness of maternal affection. Her husband looks on with a proud eye, and shows the same fervent love and delicate attentions which first won her; and her fair children are grown about them, and they go on, full of honor and unblushed years, and are remembered when they die.—Irving.

The population of Houston, Texas, is said to be 30,000. In 1860 it had but 5000 inhabitants.

The Beautiful Snow

A disgusted southerner in Canada writes the following ode to the snow and frost of that country:

Oh! the frost, the freezing frost, biting our nose as we go; all sense of feeling is utterly lost, and our zest for the beautiful snow. The northern king a tribute has wrung, in the shape of a pearly tear, which a moment ago like a dew drop hung, from the point often graced with a sneer. Oh! the frost, the delectable frost, that finds us wherever we go, wrapped in its fearsome shroud like a ghost, and conveying to our meridian blood a thorough disgust for those sentimental donkeys who hypocritically prate of the beautiful snow.

5. Its seam, though cut at every stitch, remains firm, and neither runs or ravels in the least.
6. Its seam is more plump and beautiful, and retains its plumpness after wearing better than any other.
7. Thread can be removed in altering garments, after proper inspection, without picking or cutting thread.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Sept. 1, 1866.

We have this day associated with us in business, Mr. H. M. BUGHER, under the name and style of Anderson, Gay & Bugher.

ANDERSON & GAY.

DEAR SIR:

We would respectfully call your attention to our card above. Having been long engaged in the Grocery and Cotton Factorage business in this place, with superior facilities for the transaction of the same, and an intimate knowledge of the wants of the planting community, we feel confident we can conduct your business to your advantage and entire satisfaction. Our GROCERY DEPARTMENT, with the increased facilities at our command, together with our long experience in the trade, we can guarantee to our friends and customers a full and varied stock, which will enable us at all times to fill their orders promptly and at the lowest market rates. One of our house will devote his entire time and attention to the sale of COTTON. Having a thorough knowledge of the same, and being sellers only, we can at all times obtain the highest market prices. We are prepared to make advances on Cotton consigned to us. All consignments of Cotton will be covered with Insurance in our open policy, unless otherwise ordered. By a strict attention to business, we trust to merit a continuance of the liberal patronage already extended us. Soliciting a share of your business, we remain, very respectfully,

ANDERSON, GAY & BUGHER.

LIBERAL CASH ADVANCES MADE ON Cotton and other Produce consigned to me.

BAGGING, ROPE AND OTHER SUPPLIES furnished at the lowest market prices. All consignments of Cotton insured unless otherwise instructed.

The disastrous results of the late war having forced me to dispose of most of my property, I have concluded to undertake this business, here in the midst of my old friends, for the purpose of making an honest living for myself and family by my own labor, and to retrieve, as far as it may be possible, the losses entailed by the late war. To my old friends, and to all who may feel disposed to give me their business, I pledge my personal attention to its efficient transaction. ao22
