ANOTHER WOMAN WANTS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Fannie Penrod Charges Husband With Desertion, After Four Years of Wedded Life.

Mrs. Fannie Penrod has brought suit in the local district court for a divorce from her husband, Stephen Penrod, whom she charges with desertion. In her petition, Mrs. Penrod claims to have been deserted in 1906. The Penrods were married in Louisiana, Mo., in 1902.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Grand.

We have a great many inquiries every week if we will have some certain feature of the Pathe's Weekly back again. The answer is always a disappointment. The Pathe Weekly is an exclusive feature at the Grand every Wednesday, and the only safe way to prevent missing some very important event is to go every week. Among the events that will be presented tomorrow night is the base ball game between New York and Chicago, resulting in a victory for the former. You will find every subject on the reel this week very interesting.

There is a great treat for all who attend the Grand tonight: "Kentucky Girl," the Kalem race track story is something out of the ordinary, introducing a very exciting horse race which is won by a Kentucky girl. "The Half Breed's Sister," a Pathe western story is a beautiful scenic production. You will be pleased with the offering tonight.

COMING AND GOING INFLUX OF PEOPLE

Now Visiting in Keokuk on Various Missions Bent—On Business and Pleasure.

There are quite a number of out of town business men from various states coming into and leaving Keokuk these days. The retail merchants of several western states are arriving and departing every day. They are the patrons of the Irwin-Phillips company making their semi-annual trade visit to Keokuk to inspect the fall and winter stocks of the house and to make their purchases. The Huiskamp brothers' traveling men are also making their visits to Keokuk. Then there are a large number of other visitors coming and going daily, in various lines of business, besides the sight seers and scientific people coming here to take a look at the great water power dam now that it is so near completion.

The hotels are taxed to their capacity in providing accommodations, emphasizing the fact that one or more new and up to date hotels are badly needed in Keokuk.

MURDER SUSPECTED OF MACOMB MAN

J. C. Thomas Believed to Have Been Murdered and Thrown From Train Near Quincy.

[Special to The Gate City.]

QUINCY, Ill., Aug. 20.—The dead body of J. C. Thomas, of Macomb, was found along the railway track near La Prairie, a short distance from this city, yesterday by the crew of a passing train. Thomas had been to Quincy visiting a son and took the evening train for home. According to the nature of the wounds on the man when found, the physician who examined them stated he was convinced they had been inflicted before the man had been thrown from the train. An investigation is being carried on.

CITY NEWS.

—Cards received from Ed. S. Lofton who is attending the Moose convention in Kansas City report the Keokuk party enjoying the meeting but encountering very warm weather.

—Regular meeting of Loyal Order of Moose, Keokuk lodge No. 704, tonight at 8 o'clock in Moose hall. Visiting brothers cordially invited. Ed. G. Vaughn dictator. Roy M. Martin secretary.

—Have harness repaired at Sherwood's.

—The parsonage of the Episcopalian church appears from the outside to be nearing completion. The front porch is now being added. When this stone building is finished it will make a commanding and fitting comparison to the other stone structures forming a group of handsome buildings on the Episcopalian grounds at Fourth and Concert streets, extending with the exception of one lot to Fifth street.

—Buy buggies at Sherwood's.

—"My inquiries from out-of-town are increasing," said a real estate dealer this morning when asked how the business looked for the coming fall and winter. This real estate dealer was positive that Keokuk would take big leaps forward and that a steady increase in the population would result. His opinion was that this city had not as yet even witnessed the slightest approach of a boom and that when the old town did really start there would be something for the people to thing about and something for them to take unlimited pride in.

—Fly nets are selling for a little money at Sherwood's.

—The Iowa weather crop bulletin for the week ending August 18 has just been issued from Des Moines as follows: Showery weather continued during the week with the average temperature about normal, but the week closes with much warmer weather. Showers were frequent, and the rainfall heavy over the western two-thirds of the state; the largest amounts of rainfall being reported from the Missouri slope, where many stations received more than three, and a few more than four inches. Slow progress was made in threshing and stacking, and some grain in shocks was more or less damaged by wet, cloudy weather. Corn has made fair growth, and over the western half of the state has received sufficient moisture to mature the crop. Pastures and aftermath in meadows have been revived, and are now in fine condition. Late potatoes also give promise of a good crop. Telegraphic reports indicate heavy rains in northeastern part of the state during the 24 hours ended 7 a. m., August 18. Dubuque reports, 5.16 inches, and Waterloo, Black Hawk county, 4.00 inches.

—Excursionists from the south taking the Keokuk trip to see the dam Sunday were treated to a real live exhibition of the Sir Walter Raleigh type, transferred to modern day surroundings. While disembarking from the boat at the landing, a large sailor hat of the Merry Widow variety, worn by a woman who was in the act of crossing the gang plank, was caught by the wind and swirled merrily away into the waters of the Mississippi. Nothing daunted, one of the chivalrous deck-hands, who operates the donkey engine, leaped fearlessly into the watery depths and as skillfully as a lady milliner, rescued the floating bonnet before it had been damaged to any extent.
