PUGS ARE RESTING

PRINCIPALS IN COMING FIGHT CEASE TRAINING.

GEORGE SILER VISITS RUHLIN

Well-known Referee and Pugilistic Authority Says the Akron Giant Should Make a Hard Fight.

(By Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Neither Jeffries nor Ruhlin did any work on Sunday. The champion spent the afternoon at a theater and Ruhlin put in the day quietly chatting with friends, who called on him at his training quarters.

None of the big fighters, with probably the exception of Tom Sharkey, will be at the ringside on Friday night when Jeffries and Ruhlin meet.

Sharkey some days ago sent word from New York that he would be present, but no news has yet been received that he has started on the journey across the continent.

George Siler, the well-known referee and authority on sporting matters, has visited Ruhlin and expresses himself as greatly impressed with the pugilist's improved condition.

"Ruhlin is certainly in great shape for the contest," he said. "He looks bigger and stronger by long odds than when he fought Sharkey. He appears to me to be in the best possible shape for the contest and should make a hard fight to win. Madden tells me that Ruhlin has improved wonderfully in his hitting. He always had a fairly good punch and if he has improved in his hitting powers he will certainly make a dangerous opponent."
