HAND IN HAND TO VIEW THE WORLD

RED LODGE BABIES GO OFF TO EXPLORE AND ARE LOST ON THE PRAIRIES.

ONE FOUND IN A HENCOOP

Child of Four Is Discovered Sleeping Peacefully Beneath a Haymow —Speak No English.

SPECIAL TO THE INTER MOUNTAIN.

Red Lodge, July 3.—An employe at the Symington ranch went out to lock a barn Wednesday night, when he heard a low moan in the darkness.

He followed the sound and found a small boy, perhaps 7 years old, curled up in a hencoop.

The lad had crawled into a coop among the chickens and lay with face to the floor, sobbing as if his heart would break.

Could Speak No English.

The lad was taken to the ranchhouse. There it was learned that he could speak no English. The people at the ranch did not know the tot, so it was determined to keep him overnight and hunt for his people in the morning.

At midnight there came a rapping at the door. H. R. Ballinger of Red Lodge stood outside. The steaming neck of his pony showed that he had ridden hard.

He said he was in search of two lost boys.

On His Saddle Bow.

The scream the sleeping tot gave when he woke up and saw the stranger convinced the Symington ranch folk that Ballinger had a right to the boy. He was a neighbor of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Niemi.

So the boy rode back to town on the saddle bow of the man and tried to tell him, in unintelligible Austrian, where he had left his little brother, aged 4. He guided Ballinger to the spot and they found the baby peacefully sleeping in a haymow.

There was joy in the Niemi house early Thursday morning.

NO INDICTMENTS RETURNED

Chicago Grand Jury Declines to Mix in Board of Trade War.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, July 3.—The grand jury today refused to vote indictments against the directors and leading members of the board of trade who were recently charged with permitting the operation of "bucket shops" on the board. One witness was heard.

Ouster Case Is Ended.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 3.—The supreme court today denied a rehearing to Attorney General Crow in his suit for ouster of the Continental Tobacco company and of the Santa Fe and other railroads on charges of violation of the state anti-trust laws. The former decision of the court was against the attorney general. This ends the case.

Made Him Whis.

He floundered and heaved,
Then, in language aggrieved,
Said, "Take these things off of me, plis."

"Is it going to be stag?"

"Yes."

"Then you would better have plenty of room under the table."—Chicago News.

"Do you think a college education fits a man for the practical affairs of life?"

"Indeed I do. Sliding to bases is mighty good practice for a man who's got to dodge automobiles."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Music Is So Entrancing.

A leading member of London's smart set says that if the queen succeeds in inducing women to wear high dresses at the opera, the whole thing will degenerate into a dull, middle-class affair. My! how those people do love music!—Brooklyn Eagle.

IN THE STREET TODAY

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, July 3.—Opening prices showed fractional recessions for the principal stocks, and some of the specialties scored sharp losses. Hocking Valley dropped to 80, making its loss 4¼ before supporting orders appeared.

The price rallied 2 points and again fell to the lowest. Leading stocks were unfavorably affected by this liquidation and were also depressed on the insignificant demand here.

Traders then offered down the usually active leaders substantial fractions, particularly Atchison, Reading, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Norfolk & Western, Southern Pacific, Rock Island, Brooklyn Transit, Amalgamated and United States Steel preferred.

The movement of prices was almost suspended and the market made no appreciable response to the publication of the bank statement. Hocking Valley rallied 1½. General Electric declined 2 and D. & R. G. and Pullman a point.

Bonds were irregular at noon.

There was not enough doing in the market today to indicate a tendency either way. Pressed Steel Car declined 1 and Delaware & Hudson 1½.

As an illustration of the rut into which the stock market fell during the afternoon, the tape only showed 21 transactions for a half hour, of which five were in Pennsylvania and four in Atchison. Pennsylvania rights for the new stock sold on a parity with the old stock at 125.

Prices sharpened sufficiently to bring some of them slightly above last night's level. The movement in itself was trivial. Hocking Valley preferred dropped nearly 3.

The closing was dull and firm.

VERY VALUABLE

But of Little Use to Anyone, it Would Seem, to the Uninitiated.

The people of Milan, and the world at large, are about to have a liberal view of one of the national treasures, until now jealously hidden away in the cathedral.

Centuries ago the duke of Mantua presented St. Carlo Borromeo, the archbishop of Milan, with seven tapestries, executed in his famous works, from designs by Raphael. Some doubt was thrown upon the authenticity of the designs at the time, but they are now generally conceded to be authentic. In 1569 Cardinal Borromeo gave the precious works of art to the Duomo, which, in return, presented him with three marvelous cases, to hold his robes, for the archbishop's palace. Two centuries later, money being urgently needed, it was decided to sell the tapestries, but, fortunately for Milan and her people, no purchaser was found.

The now almost priceless fabrics have only been seen on extraordinary occasions, when one or more have been exposed in the Duomo. Six of them have now been passed over to be exhibited in the new museum that is being arranged in the Sforza castle.

The seventh, which is twice as large as the others, has been retained for the old use in the cathedral. This is a great artistic event, as they are all particularly unknown, while, one, being of a secular subject, has never been seen.—London Pall Mall Gazette.

Matter of Doubt.

"It's just possible," said Miss Giddyun, coyly, "that I'm older than you think I am."

"Oh, I don't know," rejoined young Frankleigh.

On Familiar Terms.

"You musn't say 'devil,' Jimmie. It isn't polite."

"Paw says it."

"I know, but he's on familiar terms with him."—Atlanta Constitution.

MURDER MYSTERY AGITATES CHICAGO

ALL THE POLICE HAVE TO WORK ON IS BLOOD STAINS AND A BROKEN WINDOW.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, July 3.—Blood stains on the sidewalk in front of a tailor shop in North Clark street, a broken plate glass door and a stolen express wagon, which was later returned to its owner, bespattered with blood, are the nucleus of what the police believe to be a murder mystery.

The wagon was driven to the police station early today by its owner, Clarence Gilmore. The wagon, according to the story told by Gilmore, was stolen from his barn shortly before 1 a. m. and returned there three hours later by three men.

The right side of the wagon was stained with blood and in many places short hair was found in the clots of blood.

Later in the day A. M. Nelson, a Clark street tailor, reported that the plate glass door to his place was broken last night and that blood stains appeared on the steps and on the sidewalk in front of the place.

The stains could be traced around the block and back to the store door and then leading north to Division street, near where Gilmore's wagon was stolen.

All trace of the bloody trail was lost at Superior street, several blocks south.

The watchman in the vicinity said the door must have been broken before 2 o'clock, as at that hour he discovered it.
