MANCHESTER.

—Will some old subscriber send us a copy of the JOURNAL for May 11, 1871?

—Go and hear Murray's lecture at Music hall on Friday evening. It will be a rare treat, and one of the best lectures of the course.

—Rev. L. A. Austin supplied Mr. Cushman's pulpit last Sabbath. We learn that Mr. Cushman, who has been suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia, is better, and we hope to see him out again soon.

—Go and hear Washburn's Last Sensation at Music Hall to-night.

—Dr. A. M. Johnson has removed to Wilmington to engage in the practice of Dentistry. We can assure the people of that locality that he is a good workman and will deserve an extensive patronage.

—Read the new advertisements of Cone & Burton and L. C. Orvis in this paper.

—A thaw on Tuesday afternoon and evening settled the snow considerably and has made the sleighing poor in some places. In towns down the valley the snow is all gone.

—A special telegram from one who attended Washburn's show at Arlington last evening, says that it is an A. No. 1 show, and advises all to go and see them.

—The Manchester and Arlington people were indebted to the politeness of J. C. Dunn, Esq., of Rutland, for securing the best seats in the Opera House at the lecture of George Francis Train.

—Col. C. H. Joyce, of Rutland, who was associated with J. K. Batchelder, Esq., States Attorney, in the examination of Farwell and Lawrence, has a business card in today's JOURNAL.

—The heaviest snow storm of the season accompanied by a high wind, set in on Saturday. Though the snow is piled up considerably it will help the sleighing materially in this section. The roads are drifted considerably in the mountain towns.

—Two or three parties from the other side of the mountain were in this village last week looking for residences. We hope they will conclude to locate here and can assure them that for an abiding place Manchester is one of the best places in the state.

—Col. C. H. Joyce delivered his lecture, "The Vermont Brigade," to a fair audience at Music Hall on the 24th ult. The lecture is a good one, and especially interesting to those who took part in the scenes and incidents described. Col. Joyce is an effective speaker and always secures the attention of his audience.

—A horse belonging to H. K. Fowler, Esq., while hitched at the depot on Monday become frightened by an engine letting off steam and broke away, running to A. G. Clark & Co's. tannery where he broke away from the cutter and ran under Clark's sled. No damage was done farther than the breaking of the thills of the cutter.

—This has been a fine winter for lumbermen on the mountains east of us, and a large quantity of logs have been cut and hauled to the different mills. Most of them are nearly through for this season, though the snow is still good. Cochran, Shedd & Co. will finish next week, having secured nearly 17,000 logs. Other parties have done as much, and we judge that the lumber business will be lively for the year to come.

—Wanted. A good correspondent in every town where the JOURNAL circulates, to keep us well posted in matters of interest. Also wanted that our old correspondents in some of the towns round us bestir themselves in behalf of the JOURNAL. The more local news we have, (omitting everything of a personal character calculated to do injury) the more interesting will our paper become. We are bound to make it the best local paper in the state, so help us.

—The milk producers, sending milk to New York on the line of the Harlem Extension railroad, are requested to meet at Bennington, at Library Hall, on Thursday, February 8th, at one o'clock p. m., to adopt some measure whereby we can secure a more uniform and fair proportion of the price paid by the consumer in New York. Col. J. A. Harwood, of the Massachusetts and New Hampshire Milk Producers' Association, is expected to be present and address the meeting. Persons sending milk will be carried free, and others for fare one way.

MILK PRODUCERS.

Clarendon, Feb. 1st, 1872.

—We are sending the JOURNAL free to quite a number of clergymen, with the expectation that they will send us notices of marriages and funerals they may be called to attend. Some send us promptly a notice of all marriages and deaths that come under their observation, but with the majority it is otherwise. People get married with perfect impunity, and not a line from the clergyman; the great destroyer cuts down young and old on every hand, and no word from the minister. This is the result of carelessness more than anything else; they have not been in the habit of doing it and don't think. We are willing to be at all the expense in the matter, and will send stamped envelopes and stationery on application, and if that is not enough, will pay for it besides, rather than not have a full record of such events at the earliest moment. Anything else of interest will be gladly received from the clergymen.

—About 50 persons from Factory Point and this village, 25 from Arlington and 25 from other towns on the line went to Rutland on Monday evening to hear Geo. Francis Train tell why he should be the next President. Superintendent White provided two elegant cars for the occasion and brought the party back after the lecture. Supper was procured at the Bardwell House, mine host Cranton doing all in his power for the pleasure and entertainment of the party. The lecture was very much like the universe before the creation, "without form and void," but abounded in many good hits and scathing remarks on some of the abuses of the day. The party express themselves entirely satisfied with the trip, though we doubt if many of them will vote for George Francis Train next fall, but were unanimous in a vote of thanks to Superintendent White for the handsome treatment they received at his hands. If the managers of the Harlem Extension railroad will give Mr. Superintendent White "full swing" he will very soon arrange matters to the entire satisfaction of the people along the line. Being one of us he knows our wants and his long experience on the road would enable him to arrange trains for the accommodation of the people and at the same time for the financial prosperity of the road. The business of the valley is growing and will grow just in proportion to the improvement of its railroad facilities.

FACTORY POINT.

—Messrs. O. C. Waterhouse & Co have resumed work in their knitting mill.

—The water in the streams is very low, the recent cold weather having seemingly absorbed the greater part of it.

—A numerous company assembled at Mr. A. B. Way's last Friday evening for a genuine old-fashioned "candy-pull."

—The thanks of the community are due J. B. Nichols, for his enterprise in making nice paths for pedestrians with his snow plow after the recent storm.

—C. Spring recently slaughtered a yearling raised by A. G. Clark, Esq., that dressed 845 pounds. An anxious inquiry is made for some one who has or can beat it in this section of the country.

—Leon Gossling, a teamster, who had a horse killed last winter on the Rootville road, lost another horse Monday by it dropping dead in the harness while at work drawing wood.

—The town of Dorset have promptly settled with Peter Wyman & Son, for the loss occasioned them by the breaking of their sleigh by reason of the bad road which caused the recent accident when their teamster's leg was broken.

—A young lad, just old enough to be trusted to drive "Old Buckskin," recently invited a young miss who attended the same school, to take a ride with him. After treating her to a short drive, he brought her back; and although there was a good road to the very door of her father's house, he stopped about thirty rods away, and signified that the pleasant ride had come to an end by saying in expressive tones, "Git out." She meekly "got."

—Daniel Buckley, who had been for a long time ill, recently restored to health, as he thinks, by the use of Mother Noble's Healing Syrup. So firm is he in the faith of its healing powers, that he obtained the agency for the sale of it, and we learn that others have used it and received benefit. It is claimed for it that it will cure rheumatic and nervous complaints, and other diseases.

EAST MANCHESTER.

—A span of horses attached to a load of bark, ran away the other day, starting near the school house, capsizing the load and smashing things generally. The horses were somewhat bruised, the bark will hardly need grinding and the sleigh is in good order for repairs, caused by passing over one of the huge mounds we have in the road in the "old country."

—In the northern region of York in the country round about Hebron in the land of Argyle there dwelleth subcutaneous and subcutaneous bare unto Benjamin four sons and three daughters and they dwelt together in the land of Argyle for the space of six and twenty days, the last born was seized by the swine dealers of that country and carried away into the mountains, even over the mountain called Antonio to other lands in the valley of Joel where runneth the river Battenkill, where dwelleth the people of Reuben, Marsh, Luther, Edward and Isaac with their wives in the reign of Ira. The last born ruled in his Swin Sriga with two others of his tribe for the space of five hundred four and fifty days and his reign ended and he fell by the hand of the swine dressers of that day, John and Truman. He raised the bar to five hundred three and thirty weights and was carried into the bowels of the earth. We judge from the chatter of another tribe that our host will provide his table well with ham and eggs for the last born is in a pickle at the Cliff Dale Chettari, and the one that gets the Cliff Dale property will stand a good chance to raise him out. Don't forget the building has the best in all the country, round about even in the plains of Troy. (We received one of the "other tribe" spoken of and found it excellent.—ED.)

EAST DORSET.

—E. G. Tuttle has fitted up the "Furnace Store" with a good stock of goods, and invites people to trade through the columns of the JOURNAL. Give him a trial.

—The Field Marble Company had a pair of heavy horses, weighing 26 hundred go over the dump at the Blue Ledge quarry the other day. One of them went down a distance of 100 and the other 175 feet, and it took 40 men five hours to get a road to them and haul them out on planks; but, strange to say, no bones were broken and the prospect is fair for their recovery from the effects of their perilous descent.

DORSET.

—The party at Bakers Hotel last Friday evening proved to be a success. Old and young, responded nobly to the invitation, and the result was highly gratifying to the proprietor and also to the participators. Among the enjoyments of the evening, was the playing of several pieces of music—on a fine piano, by Miss Julia Phelps; also by other young ladies—Then the after supper plays and games in the hall—were entered into with zest by old and young. As to the supper I will only say that G. W. Baker, and his excellent lady understand their business, if any one doubts it let them call and see. In the language of some ladies that I overheard speaking of it, it was "just splendid."

DANBY.

—The Eastern Star degrees are to be conferred at Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, afternoon, Feb. 15.

—Preparations are being made for a Donation, for the benefit of Rev. A. W. Eastman, to be held at the Corners on Tuesday evening Feb. 20.

WALLINGFORD.

—The burning of Bradford's tannery proves an unfortunate affair not only to the proprietors themselves, but to many other individuals in the place, to many of whom the firm were indebted, and have not the means now to pay. Besides it has destroyed the market for large quantities of bark. It is hoped that another tannery will be built.

WEST RUPERT.

—Mr. John Boynton offers a good house and lot for sale cheap in to-day's JOURNAL.

PAWLET.

—After a delay of two weeks your correspondent takes the pen to again contribute an item to the columns of the ever welcome JOURNAL. We have no items of interest in particular to note this week still we can let the people in and out of town know what we have been and are doing this cold winter weather. Sleighing has been very good of late, since the last fall of snow, it first-rate and farmers and others are improving it to the extent of their ability, hauling wood to the village, straw to West Pawlet and Granville, for which they receive $16 00 per ton, and potatoes to the railroad, for which they receive 30 cents per bushel, keep the roads well filled with teams and make business quite lively.

—Potatoes, we think, have seen their best day for the season. They are not quick at 30 cents. The main crop is not yet started from the cellars and as there was such a bountiful yield last season and there are still so many back in the country it is surprising how some will hold, in full face of a heavy and declining market. We should say sell by all means now if you intend to sell at all.

—Since our last we have had occasion to visit Danby and vicinity and enjoyed the hospitality of some of its best citizens. The all absorbing topic of conversation and the question on which there is as many different opinions as persons almost, and which materially effects the pockets, is the question of milk the past and ensuing seasons. I particularly refer to the business of selling milk on the Harlem Extension railroad. Some contend that it is a paying business, while others say that the first cost being so much and sour milk so plenty and a to great reduction each month by Messrs Cummings & Co., in the face of a legal contract, will not pay and a man springs his own trap that engages in the business. If reports are true the gross frauds practiced upon some of the producers by the Messrs. Cummings & Co. are alarming to the extreme and a milkman's union is the only thing that will save them from wholesale plunder by such a monopoly. We would advise each one to look into the business thoroughly before engaging in it.

BONDVILLE.

—I notice in your paper of last week quite a lengthy article in regard to the disturbance in School District No. 2. The writer seems to carry some wrong impression. The teacher had a little trouble with Frank Leonard. The school house is a very cold house, the plastering off and the windows broke out, and not fit to stable cattle in; the schoolars were huddled around the stove to keep warm; Frank was sent to his seat, as the teacher supposed, for whispering, (but was proven in court that he was not whispering), his seat being some distance from the stove, he asked to go to the fire after remaining in his seat about half an hour, and was refused; he then started without leave; the teacher undertook to get him back to his seat; in the scuffle the teacher was thrown to the floor. For this offence the teacher made him stand in the floor until school was dismissed; he then punished him by striking him twelve blows on each hand with a rule. There would have been no more trouble in the school if it had not been for the grand juror's having some trouble with the boy's father and in bringing this suit the teacher had entered no complaint,—he let himself capable of managing the school. The boy Frank is 17 years old and is not large of his age. He is a smart, lively boy, and has always had the reputation of being a well-behaved boy in school and everywhere he goes.

The writer casts slurs on the jury and people. Great care was exercised in selecting the jury to get men that were unbiased. Three of the men lived out of town. As for the teacher I have yet to hear of any fault being found with him. He was well liked in the district. There was no display at the trial against the teacher but there was against the grand juror.

OBSERVER.

In regard to this affair it is to be supposed that both the Grand Juror and the Jurors acted in good faith, though it is quite possible that one or both, in the absence of competent legal counsel might have been mistaken in regard to their duties. It is unfortunate, sometimes that people cannot all see alike, though we think in many cases the people are too much inclined to side with the party against the teacher for the good of the school, though that may not have been the case in this instance.—ED. JOURNAL

PERU.

—Owing to the rough weather and bad roads the sleigh ride last week was attended by only the more courageous ones the rest of the party, however, joining in the supper at the Bromley House. The last was got up in Davis' best style, and surpassed anything of the kind ever attempted in this vicinity. The party was a merry one and retired in good order at a seasonable hour.

SUNDERLAND.

—The steam mill of Bradley & Bacon commenced running last Tuesday.

—Last Saturday was the stormy day of the season. A large amount of snow fell, and it is badly drifted.

—The juvenile terpsichorean society are holding a series of meetings for the purpose of learning to trip the "light fantastic." They are enjoyable occasions.

—The storm was so severe on Saturday evening that no one was present at the school meeting. Another will be called soon.

BENNINGTON.

—Rev. Mr. Hurlbut has received a call to the pastorate of the Congregationa church.

—Snow has come at last, to the depth of eight inches, and the livery men are in ecstacies.

—The "Fat Contributor" delivered his discourse on "Injun meal" on Saturday evening. His effort is not very highly spoken of.

—The Drummer Boy of Shiloh has been successfully brought out, having had a run of five nights to very good audiences.

—Hon. Wm. T. Horrobin is expected home from Europe about the middle of February.

—By an advertisement in another column, it is seen that the Glastenbury railroad is bound to go, and that speedily. Proposals for furnishing ties for the construction of the railroad, will be received until the first of March.

—The Supreme Court is in session. Judges Pierpoint, Barrett, Peck and Royce being present. It is expected that the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Farwell and Lawrence will come before them to day or to-morrow. It is expected that no witnesses in the case will be examined, and the matter will be briefly disposed of; and it is hardly probable that they will be admitted to bail, though a strenuous effort will be made to bring about that result.

BERLIN.

—We have fine sleighing at last, and it is being improved without loss of time.

—Elder Mumford's donation party realized to him $182, and all seemed pleased with themselves and each other.

—We learn that Byron Clark of Petersburg, has bought an interest in the store of E. R. Green & Co., and will be at his post March the first.

—Our school troubles seem to thicken, the old district clerk refuses to hand over the district records to Dr. H. Clark of the last board of trustees, (anti-safety valve), and it is thought the state superintendent will have to settle the matter.

—Business or pastime.

"A little nonsense, now and then,
Is relished by the best of men."

Yes, the very best of men, and women too. Artemus Ward said he "had to explain his best jokes before anybody could see the point." My trouble is, some fail to see the point, but see points where all is perfectly smooth. I find there is a reverse side to these excellent passages of scripture: "Love thinketh no evil," "To the pure all things are pure," etc. Let all be assured that the parties in the case are all right in every respect, and (being lovers of fun, in its place) seem to take it as a fair joke, and let it pass. Now a query is added to the conundrum, Who wrote it? Answer: He or she lives in Berlin or the adjoining town, and—keeps house. It that is not explicit enough you may ask VANDERBILT.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

STOP NOT UPON THE ORDER OF YOUR GOING but go at once and buy a bottle of the GREAT ORIENTAL SOZODONT. You will never regret it. It not only renders sound and preserves the teeth and arrests decay, but makes the mouth cool and the breath as fragrant as a rose.

Spaulding's Glue, cheap, convenient, use it.
