MANCHESTER.

—The citizens' line of steamers now leave Troy for New York at 6 P. M. instead of 8 1-2 as heretofore.

—At the caucus Saturday evening, Loveland Munson was unanimously elected as a candidate for town representative.

—The ladies' sale of fancy articles at the church last week brought something over one hundred dollars for the benefit of the society.

—Everyone, and especially every school teacher, should read the essay of Miss Mary A. Burnham on the first page. Miss Burnham is one of the very best teachers in the State, and we are sorry that her services in that capacity cannot be secured for some school in this town.

—We send out another lot of bills for the JOURNAL this week and hope the money will be forthcoming. We are nearly as bad off as the minister who borrowed five dollars every Saturday night and returned it Monday morning, because he said it was impossible for him to preach without money in his pocket.

—We are glad to notice that D. W. Bennett has become proprietor of the Monadnock House, Winchendon, Mass. This is a first-class house and always receives a good patronage, especially in the summer. We are confident that "Dan" will make a good landlord. He has been connected with the house for some time and has learned the tricks of the trade.

—Frank Kilburn is repairing his saw mill, and one day last week his son, about three years of age, fell through a hole in the floor into the wheel pit, a distance of sixteen feet, on the rocks below. The little fellow was taken out senseless, but no bones were broken, and no serious injury except a long gash cut in his forehead by the rocks. He is out again now, a living specimen of a tough boy.

—Tuesday one of Manchester's fairest (adopted) daughters, Miss Wilhelmina Munn, took a new departure in company with a tall chap who is a man in every sense of the word. Though we dislike to have our young ladies leave us, not excepting to return permanently, yet the good wishes of the community go with the happy pair and many an old shoe will be thrown after them (mentally) on their departure.

—Our citizens have formed themselves into a sidewalk association for the purpose of laying marble walks wherever they may be needed about the village, and have elected A. J. Gray, Treasurer, W. A. Black, Secretary, and F. H. Orvis, C. B. Munson, L. H. Hemenway, Executive Committee. It will be necessary to have more funds in order to do what is needed in this direction. Our city cousins have helped us materially in the matter by liberally patronizing entertainments for this object, and we hope the committee will go to work immediately and commence the walk to the cemetery, to show that we mean something more than talk, and with such men at the head of the enterprise we have no doubt another year will show a large addition to our marble sidewalks.

—Election passed off very quietly and only a small vote was polled. Loveland Munson was elected representative, having 222 votes, J. H. Bousteed, 43. For Congress, Joyce had 245, Heaton 28, Willard 5. For Senators, Colburn had 269, Houghton 265, Remington 45, Hard 25, Gray 22. Assistant Judges, I. N. Sykes 284, M. W. Potter 267, J. Montgomery 50, W. H. Beebe 34, Sheriff, Crofut had 253, Powers 48, States Attorney, Batchelder 265, Sibley 27, H. A. Harman 23. High Bailiff, McCall, 291, Fuller 27, Judge of Probate, Burton, 291, Gray 23. The following Justices were elected with the Vote for each: A. J. Gray 273, M. Canfield 244, E. L. Wyman 242, E. B. Smith 202, R. W. Dean 229, R. Howard 232, A. L. Miner, 255.

FACTORY POINT.

—Ransey Howard has been making repairs about his residence, which have very much improved its appearance.

—S. E. Thayer advertises his residence for sale. It is one of the pleasantest and most convenient in the village, and ought to find a purchaser at once.

—A new marble walk, new fence and fresh paint have wonderfully improved the appearance of "Dave" Kent's house and premises. Next.

—E. Estabrook has been grading the premises near his residence, and has laid the foundation for a new building.

—Thayer has been grading and improving the trotting course until it is one of the best in the State. It ought to develop some fast horses in this vicinity. There is nothing that will bring out speed in a community like a good trotting course. Bring out your horses.

—The sidewalks made last spring have become smooth and hard and will be a great improvement, especially in wet weather. The people all feel that it was a good investment.

—Graves is busily at work on his new residence but will not complete it before another spring.

—Wm. S. Blaisdell offers his house for sale. His business and profession calling him henceforth away from this town, is the reason for this course. The sale must be made and all other matters adjusted at an early date.

—The hour of evening service in the Baptist church has been changed to 7:30 P. M. The evening of the weekly prayer-meeting has also been changed from Saturday to Thursday, and a teachers' meeting has been established on Friday evenings.

—Quite a large addition has been made to the burying ground in this place by purchase of land of E. B. Hollister and S. B. Young. We suppose a new fence will be built and other improvements made.

MT. TABOR.

—A few weeks since we noticed the arrest and fining of H. Montgomery, of this town for maliciously destroying a tax bill. We gave the facts in the case just as they were given us. We have since learned the other side of the case in which it is claimed that Montgomery is prudential committee in said district, and that the tax bill was fraudulently obtained of him by said Scott who collected about fifty dollars on it which he appropriated to his own use, and that he is not a responsible man. Monday last J. T. Scott was arrested by officer Howe on complaint of Montgomery for libel and held in the sum of $5000 bonds for trial at the September term of the Rutland county court. The matter seems to be a little mixed and the real facts can only be determined by a competent legal tribunal. *

LANDGROVE.

—Apples are very scarce. Not enough for home consumption.

—We think Peru a very unsafe place to live in with snakes five feet in circumference. We think the man who killed it must have been near sighted as no such serpent has been reported since the good old time of "Adam and Eve." [We made the snake story a little larger than it was told us. For feet it should have read inches. We don't like to spoil a good snake story but truth compels to contract our snake somewhat. Editor JOURNAL.

BENNINGTON.

—There was a monster picnic at Glastenbury one day last week. It was estimated that sixteen hundred were present. They came from several different towns.

—There is rather more than the usual excitement before the elections, and the amount of horse shedding is rather unusual, even for Bennington. The county ticket will be pretty well scratched if the result depended on the Southshire alone some of the regular candidates might fall of an election. For representative we have three candidates, L. P. Norton, regular republican, Daniel Carpenter, independent republican and John Robinson, democrat. A lively three cornered fight is expected.

—A very large number have visited Mt. Anthony since the new observatory, and Mr. Robinson has his hands full in his efforts to care for them but he proves fully equal to the task. They come from the neighboring towns and also many city guests. The livery stables are reaping a rich harvest. We think a summer hotel on the mountain would prove a good investment.

SANDGATE.

—If actions speak louder than words, the picnic at Guy Smith's last Friday P. M. was pronounced emphatically by the entire party a success. The house of Mr. Smith, an old-fashioned, commodious brick mansion, is located on the height of land between Rupert and Sandgate, where he has resided for two years, since his return from Wisconsin. Will some philosopher tell us why picnic-ers usually seek elevated localities? Dr. Maynard, of Salem, who was present, suggested that the air at such heights being rarer and purer was provocative of health and a fine flow of spirits; R. T. Hand, of West Arlington, that it was to arise out of and above business cares and trouble which were thus left behind and below, that the present hour might be the better enjoyed. Whatever the principle, all seemed happy and hilarious. The tables groaned beneath the weight of good things of every variety, and among other things there was a loaf of delicious cream cake which nobody owned and nobody knew where it came from, and at last it was conjectured that it had dropped from the skies. One sober, gray-haired gentleman, on tasting it, gravely remarked that it made him feel devotional, but he feared it would be sweet in the mouth and bitter in the belly! At last the entire party adjourned to Bennett's Hall, whose doors were thrown open gratuitously by the proprietor, there with music by Burt's band, dancing was engaged in with zest for three hours, and at parting three cheers were given for Guy Smith, three for Burt's band and three for Lorenzo Bennett, proprietor of the hall.

DORSET.

—Rev. Mr. Morse, a guest of Dr. Prentice, gave us an interesting sermon last Sunday.

—Mrs. Prentice and other ladies are having weekly meetings called "Bible readings," in which all ladies who feel an interest are invited to attend. They meet Wednesday afternoons at 3 o'clock at the house of Justus Holley. The meetings give promise of being highly interesting and profitable.

—There was fine music in church on Sunday of last week, from a New York solo singer, not to mention a repeated favor from the New York organist.

—The good word for Dorset from your Albion correspondent, was received with applause. The people of Dorset have too long rejoiced in the beauty of her encircling hills to feel dependent on outside favor; but—

"The love of praise,
Howe'er concealed by art,
Reigns, nevertheless, and dwells
In every heart."

—We give the following abstract of Dr. Hamlin's address, which was too late for last week:

"The address of Dr. Hamlin, on Wednesday evening of last week, was attended by an audience of over one hundred, called together on a few hours notice. He spoke of the Progress of Education and Christianity in the Turkish Empire during the last thirty-six years. When he first went to that country he found the people holding on to the ancient oriental civilization, thinking the same thoughts, following the same manners and customs, using the same rude plow, and willingly subject to the same social and civil bondage as in the days of Abraham. They had schools but the single master of two hundred pupils, who were closely packed in a small room, sitting upon the floor from early morning till dark, who had only the apparatus of a terrifically long-lashed whip with which to enforce the mere memorizing of Arabic letters and sentences inscribed upon a large card upon the wall. They were about as well acquainted with their own native tongue, the Turkish, at the close as at the beginning of their education. Their religious service consisted largely of picture worship, and had little influence on their moral character or conduct. Now schools of various grades abound, teaching in the languages in common use and giving instruction in the advanced sciences of the age. About fifty newspapers are published in Constantinople, thirty or more being issued daily, and the press in its defence of the popular sentiments and rights is already a power which the government is compelled to respect and conciliate. These and other wonderful and beneficial changes in the heart of the eastern continent are among the fruits of the wise and faithful labor of the missionaries of the cross. The speaker made scarcely an allusion to own distinguished personal services in behalf of education, practical science, humanity and a christian civilization; but there was genuine eloquence in his quiet selfpossessed manner of speaking and in his clear, humorous statement of the wonderful facts and noble principles involved in this great movement. Perhaps no other man living has worked so intelligently and efficiently to inspire the great, dead East with the spirit of the nineteenth century and with the light and liberty of the religion of Christ as has Cyrus Hamlin. Before he first went to Constantinople Mr. Hamlin came to Dorset for a wife, and married the estimable Henrietta A. L. Jackson, September 3d, 1838. She died in 1850, and her remains were buried on the shore of the Bosphorus. Her visible monument in Dorset is her favorite tree, "Henrietta's Elm," often inquired for by visitors and admired by all, and which increases in strength and grandeur from year to year. The bereaved missionary visited the old parsonage in 1856 and now once again in just eighteen years more. Whatever his future, he will not have lived in vain, and his name will long be held in highest esteem.

—Mr. Vance, the artist, who has been working here this summer has taken over 50 studies from nature and painted several finished pictures.

—We are having some additions to our number of inhabitants. Mr. Collins and family, of Rutland, have recently removed to our village. Mr. Collins is employed as engineer in Tyrel & Kents marble mill. Earlier in the season two mechanics moved into the village, one a wheelwright, the other a shoemaker, a Mr. Gleason who has rooms over Collins' marble shop. We hear his work well spoken of.

—The present season has been very healthy in Dorset, except for the past week or two there have been a few cases of fever. The ground is becoming very dry and dusty, and a good rain would be a luxury.

—Our city guests have been enjoying themselves visiting the marble quarries, Dorset cave, Hagar's brook, and other points of interest. Several have left town this week.

—A most novel mode of conveyance (for this season of the year) was adopted lately by a dozen young people, for amusement, who walked from Mr. Aaron Sheldon's to the top of Mt. Merrick, and after gathering roses, &c., rode down on a sled drawn by a span of horses, one of the number blowing a horn to announce their coming. They came down without accident.

CHATHAM, N. Y.

—The last line of Harvest Home was both acted and sung with us during the past week, to which a chorus of most hearty thanksgiving should be added for the bounties of a kind Providence which has filled our granaries to overflowing and filled our hearts with gladness.

—New England is noted for its splendid elms, but among them all perhaps it would be difficult to find one with more peculiarities than the one of which I write, standing, or lately stood, on the edge of S. Wilbor's meadow, near this place. Six feet from the ground, it measures 19 feet 4 inches in circumference. From this point it separates and forms itself into 17 distinct trunks, all upright and together, forming a complete and symetrical top of large dimensions. About two years ago three of the trunks were blown down, breaking off about 7 feet from the ground, and in a later tornado 7 more of them fell at one time, thus leaving but 7 of the original trunks standing. From the parts that fell some 18 logs were cut suitable for sawing, and from those standing nearly an equal number might be cut.

—Died in this village, where she had been spending a few weeks, Miss Addie H. Root, daughter of Russel C. and Mary H. Root, and granddaughter of John Harper, of New York city, aged about twenty years. She was not in full health when she came here, and from some exposure a fever set in which assumed a typhoid character and terminated her existence in about three weeks. The sincere sympathy of her many friends here is extended to the bereaved family circle of which she was so lovely and cherished a plant.

A Burton officer, writing from Teheran, Persia, to the London Times, remarks:—A Cathartic Pill, manufactured by an American Chemist, Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass., has cured the shah of a liver complaint that threatened his life. This simple fact, as might be expected, renders the Americans immensely popular here, while we English are overlooked. Doubtless our own scholars made the discoveries which he employs, and thus it is in everything, we do the labor, then the mousing Americans put their mark upon it and take the reward. Dr. Ayer is idolized by the court and its retainers here, and will doubtless be reflected to him on a gold snuff box or diamond hilted sword, while not even the name of Davy, Christison or Brodie—the great lights by which he shines—is known.—New York Sunday Paper.

Centaur Liniment.

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling it will not subdue, and no lameness which it will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. It has produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock jaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked breasts, scalds, burns salt-rheum, ear-ache, &c., upon the human frame and of strains, spavin, galls, &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. It is a counter-irritant, an all healing pain reliever. Crippler throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are rendered harmless and the wounded are healed without a scar. It is no humbug. The recipe is published around each bottle. It is selling as no article ever before sold, and it sells because it does just what it pretends to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for sprained or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw-worm in sheep. Stock-owners—this liniment is worth your attention. No family should be without Centaur Liniment. Sold by all Druggists. 50 cents per bottle large bottles, $1 00. J. B. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a refutation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvelous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs and Colds and Consumption that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready relief of its members. The prudent should not neglect it and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

A CARD FROM

H. L. BRIGGS, ESQ.,

To my Friends and the Public:

It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. S. W. Smyth in the treatment of disease, and express my sense of obligation to him.

About six months ago, under the advice of my family physician, I placed my son Norman, aged 17 years, under the care of Dr. Smyth for a throat and lung trouble. Previous to that time the symptoms had become very alarming, such as loss of flesh, appetite, pains in the chest and side, frequent and violent coughing spells, spitting blood and a profuse expectoration of yellowish matter and a general prostration.

From the first week my son was under the care of Dr. Smyth he began to improve, and in six weeks he had gained as many pounds in flesh, increased in weight as his health improved and, when a few weeks ago Dr. Smyth discharged him cured, he had gained seventeen pounds. During the past month Norman took a severe cold but suffered none from the old complaint, and is now quite well again. I feel that Dr. Smyth, through his skillful treatment of my son, has effected a permanent cure, and it is a proof that pulmonary consumption can be cured.

Thanking Dr. Smyth most sincerely for his kind attention to my son, I cheerfully recommend him to the afflicted.

H. L. BRIGGS

EDITORIAL EXTRACT

From the Whitehall Times.

May 23, 1874.

Some few days ago Dr. S. W. Smyth, the eminent Aurist and Oculist of Rutland, Vt., performed an operation for deafness on the ears of Mrs. P. Dayton at the residence of Geo. Hall, Esq., of this place, with almost miraculous success. Mrs. Dayton is 77 years old and has been quite deaf for several years, the past two of which her deafness increased with great rapidity, until it became almost impossible for her to hear or to hold conversation with her without the aid of an ear trumpet. Dr. Smyth was called to examine the case, although but little hope was entertained that any successful treatment could be instituted; however the result of an operation has proved quite the contrary, and instead of being an injudicious movement, as some physicians thought it would be, has been completely successful. Mrs. Dayton can now hear ordinary conversation with ease, and can even hear the ticking of a watch, and of course feels grateful to Dr. Smyth for his kind attention and the skillful operation he has performed on her ears. We cheerfully recommend him to the confidence of the afflicted, feeling assured that he will give an intelligent and candid opinion of all cases brought to his attention.

STRONG TESTIMONY.

LETTER FROM

CHAUNCEY K. WILLIAMS, ESQ.,

Editor Rutland Daily Globe.

RUTLAND, VT., April 29 1873.

Dr. S. W. Smyth:

My Dear Sir,—I desire to return you my personal thanks, as well as to testify individually to your professional skill, gentlemanly bearing and kindly interest in the sick room. I can, of course, only speak particularly in reference to your treatment of diseases of the eye. What I wish to speak of particularly, and thank you personally for, is the treatment of my little daughter Louise, for a scrofulous disease of the eyes. That the trouble originated from scrofula—probably inherited—there is, and I think can be, no doubt. Some six or eight physicians had seen and prescribed for her, but without permanent benefit. These physicians were eminent—and justly so—in their profession, and resided in the city of New York, Brooklyn, Rutland and elsewhere. Louise is, or was when you first visited her—about six weeks ago—some two years and six months of age. She was totally devoid of sight and the eyelids so badly swollen that it was impossible to open them, even for an examination. I may as well confess here, that, although I had become somewhat acquainted with you personally and by reputation, I had not much, if any, hopes or confidence in your successful treatment.

The result however, proved otherwise, and the cure is complete. Her sight is now as good as that of any person, and her eyes are perfect. It was almost a hopeless case, but your skill has effected a complete cure and, as I believe, removed the cause. Under the circumstances, in justice to myself, and to calm whatever of your untiring, persevering and kindly attentions and professional skill, I cannot do less than return you my most heartfelt thanks, bearing witness to your professional acquirements and skill and tendering you their personal acknowledgement.

Very truly yours, &c.,

CHAUNCEY K. WILLIAMS.

FARM FOR SALE OR TO RENT

For two, three or five years.

The subscriber on account of poor health, has decided to dispose of his farm as above. Said farm contains 125 acres, has about 500 apple trees and plenty of other fruit, such as pears, plums and cherries. Every field has a spring of living water that never fails in the dryest time. There are about 500 sugar maples and 25 acres of woodland, a large barn that will contain 50 tons of hay besides the straw and corn fodder usually raised on the farm, and other convenient buildings. All the land is well seeded with clover and timothy and is in good condition.—Said farm will be rented to any good responsible business man or sold on almost any terms a man can ask. Any one having a small place to turn in towards payment it would be taken at a fair, reasonable price. Said place to be near school, to contain anywhere from five to ten acres, a good house and water convenient. Any one wishing to hire must apply before the 1st of May. Any one wishing to purchase the above offer is open to them for the season.
