TERRIBLE STORMS ALL OVER THE EAST

The Government Weather Map Presents Most Extreme Conditions of the Winter.

HEAVY SNOW IN NEW YORK CITY

Half a Foot in the Streets and Wind Blowing at Rate of Forty Miles An Hour.

LOW TEMPERATURE IN FLORIDA.

Cold Weather Will Probably Continue Throughout Thursday and Friday.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The middle Atlantic coast is the scene of a severe storm, and the weather map today, according to reports to the weather bureau, presents the most extreme conditions of the winter. A marked cold wave extends into Tennessee and general snows, accompanied by severe northerly gales, have visited the territory east of the Mississippi river. In the Missouri valley and the northwest the temperatures ranged from 18 to 30 degrees below zero. West of the Rocky mountains the weather continued generally cloudy with rain over the north districts and California. Still lower temperatures may be expected tonight in the east and south, with freezing temperature in Florida, probably to the twenty-sixth parallel, and temperature between 12 and 15 degrees on the middle gulf coast. Cold weather will continue during Thursday and probably Friday.

BLIZZARD IN NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 25.—New York is today struggling with a storm which in violence has not been equalled in many winters. Beginning last evening with a gentle fall of snow, the elements gathered strength, until by noon today only intense cold was lacking to make it a typical blizzard.

Traffic on the streets soon became demoralized. Broadway was practically blockaded to a standstill. Horses were stalled or down, and the car lines made little headway.

The heart of the storm seemed to be along the New England coast line, although snow and high winds are reported up New York state and low temperatures prevaled everywhere.

With six inches of snow on the ground, a 40-mile wind from the northeast blowng the snow into high drifts, and the temperature at 18 degrees and falling, New York experienced today one of the worst storms of the winter. The snow began last night and continued falling steadily today. As it became colder, travel in the streets became difficult.

No attempt was made to run surface cars on th eBrooklyn bridge. The big malt house of the Kip Brewing company caught fire while the storm was at its height and was practically destroyed. There were hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain in the bins.

A fire which threatened an enormous amount of property in the dry goods district in the vicinity of Walker and Church streets gave the firemen a desperate struggle for an hour today. The flames finally were subdued after causing damage to the extent of $50,000.

Several transatlantic and coastwise steamers which were due to arrive today had not arrived in the harbor long after they were due. Among them is the steamer Rotterdam from Rotterdam, and the Menominee from London. They probably rode out the gale outside of Sandy Hook bar last night waiting for daylight and a cessation of the blinding snowfall before attempting to come up through the crooked channels of the lower bay.

The gale was increasing in force at the hook today.

The first death as a direct result of the storm was reported from Brooklyn, where Raino Vanalatizo, an Italian, was found lying dead in a snowdrift. His death was caused by exhaustion and exposure.

BOSTON HAS SNOW.

IOWA IS SHIVERING.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 25.—Iowa is shivering today from a fierce gale blowing from the northwest and the temperature at 14 degrees below zero. The wind has blown a light fall of snow into the railroad cuts, making traffic difficult and all trains entering Des Moines are from 4 to 12 hours late.

SEVENTEEN BELOW AT OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 25.—Today the weather bureau reports the minimum temperature 17 degrees blow zero. Ice cutters have been driven from their work by the fierce winds.

SIX BELOW AT ST. LOUIS.

Noda complied and, while she was wildly flourishing the weapon in the air, it was discharged and fatally wounded the Japanese.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY FAVORS RACE SUICIDE

New York, Jan. 25.—The Women's Society for Political Study has discussed the injustice done to children in large families, where the parents are unable to support them properly, and after due consideration, those present came out strongly in support of "race suicide."

The discussion was started by the reading of the weekly municipal report. It developed that the society desires anti-pauperism laws that shall restrict the propagation of the human species. The speakers expressed the belief that such laws would furnish the solution of the child labor question, of overcrowded schools and all other complaints that hang upon the rapid increase of children.

"We are wasting sympathy," declared one speaker, "on people who surround themselves with large numbers of little ones when they cannot possibly feed them. Let the parents starve if they bring paupers into the world."

AN INDIAN'S SORROW.

Returns Home and Finds Children Watching Dead Mother.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Jan. 25.—John G. Johnson, an Indian, who has been hunting in the winds of Algoma beyond the end of the Algoma Central railroad, returned to his house this week and found his wife dead. The couple's three children were keeping a tearful vigil in the stricken home beside the silent woman who could no loner respond to their cries. Taken sick suddenly in the lonely hut 100 miles from the nearest town and with the children too small to realize their parents' distress or prove of any assistance the helpless woman died without anything being done to alleviate her sufferings. The husband brought his three little ones to Sault Ste Marie and all started back on his long tramp to bury his wife in the woods near the home in which she died. The children have been sent to the Shinwauk home for Indian children. Nobody accompanied the hunter on his homeward journey and he alone will be present at the burial.

There was great alarm at the delay of the party in returning.

The king went out at 3 o'clock and was expected back early, but did not arrive until nearly 8 o'clock. In the meantime the rest of the royal family remained on the balcony of the palace looking out for the missing ones, and finally telephoned to the police for information.

Fisk, chief commissary of the civil department of the Philippines, is in Chicago for a conference with the heads of the packing houses relative to changing the manner of canning meats used by the constabulary and police of the islands. He complained that the intense heat in the Philippines caused a sweating of the cans, which almost spoiled the meats, and his mission is to secure the adoption of some new process to make canned meats heat-proof. Practically all the meats used in the Philippines are supplied from Chicago.

TRAGEDY ON A TRAIN THROWS PASSENGERS INTO A PANIC.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Passengers on an eastbound Metropolitan elevated train have been thrown into a panic when George H. Gould, cashier of an insurance company, shot and fatally wounded A. R. Hammond, a guard employed by the road.

Hammond was off duty and was returning home. Gould boarded the train and entered the car where the guard was sitting. Witnesses to the shooting say he at once accused Hammond of alienating the affections of his wife, who, Gould said, left home, deserting her husband and three little children, a week ago. Words followed, and before the train had reached the next station, Gould drew a revolver and fired two shots.

There were more than twenty passengers in the car, and these persons fled to other coaches of the train. The train crew telephoned to the police asking for an ambulance to meet the train at the Marshfield station. They then hurried the wounded man to that station without making stops. Gould stayed in the car and surrendered himself to the police.

Mrs. Gould, who met the train at the station, was locked up with her husband. Hamond was taken to a hospital, where it was said he could not recover.

Before her marriage Mrs. Gould was Mary Leevarts. Her relatives live in Rhode Island.

A REMARKABLE RECOVERY.

Woman Who Severed Her Windpipe About Well.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The remarkable recovery of Mrs. John Leiendecker, who after severing her windpipe over a month ago, is almost completely restored to health, is causing astonishment, not only among her friends, but among medical men. A peculiarity of the case is the apparent removal of the disease which had inspired the woman to take her own life.

For many months Mrs. Leiendecker, who is the widow of the late John Leiendecker, for many years prominent in Democratic party councils, had been ill with a chronic stomach trouble which caused her much suffering. Seeing no prospect of relief and crazed with pain, she secured a sharp knife during the absence of the nurse on Dec. 21 and completely severed here windpipe.

Within a few seconds after the incident the nurse returned to the room and found the woman lying on the floor in a condition that warranted small hope for recovery. An instant call brought a physician, who stitched the wound with as much care as though it were but slight, and with the aid of the physician, and the nurse and the patient herself, Mrs. Leiendecker has steadily improved until now she is able to be up.

CASE AGAINST SENATOR SMOOT.

It Has Closed So Far as the Taking of Testimony is Concerned.

NO EVIDENCE IN REBUTTAL.

Judge Tayler Decided Not to Offer Any on Behalf of the Protestants.

ARGUMENTS TO BEGIN TOMORROW

Each Side Will be Allowed Five Hours, but They May File Extracts From Testimony.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The investigation of protests against Senator Smoot so far as the instoduction of testimony is concerned was brought to a close today. When the senate committee on privileges and elections convened, A. S. Worthington, counsel for Senator Smoot, announced that he would not put other witnesses on the stand and that he had nothing further to offer.

Judge R. W. Tayler, counsed for the protestants, decided not to offer any evidence in rebuttal. Chairman Burrows, after brief discussion between counsel, ruled that arguments should be begun tomorrow and limited to five hours on each side, with leave to file extracts from the testimony. It had been expected by the defense to use Senator-elect George Sutherland as a witness but after a consultation before the committee convened, it was decided to close at once. The decision took Judge Tayler by surprise and he is not ready to begin his arguments, but said he could begin tomorrow. He asks that there be a full attendance of the committee and the chairman agreed to see every member personally and urge them to attend.

It was finally agreed that Judge Tayler should open the arguments and be followed by counsel for the defense. Judge Tayler will then be permitted to close.

The investigation was opened Jan. 16, 1904, and occupied much of the time until the adjournment of the last session of Congress. It was resumed soon after the present session convened and for the past three weeks sessions have been held every day.

PT. ARTHUR'S SURRENDER.

Astonishes Those Who Have Seen the Fortress.

London, Jan. 25.—The Times correspondent at Pekin, who has returned from a visit at Port Arthur, describes the impressions he gathered there and says:

"Without seeing them, nobody could form any idea of the stupendous strength of the forts or the incredible heroism displayed in their capture. No foreign officer is able to explain the reason for the surrender of Port Arthur. Those who have seen the condition of the fortress believe that no more discreditable surrender is recorded in history.

"There were 25,000 ablebodied men capable of making a sortie, hundreds of officers, all well nourished and plenty of ammunition, the largest magazine being untouched and full to the roof with all kinds of ammunition for naval guns. There was, further, ample food for three months, even if no fresh supplies could be received, and, besides, the waters are teeming with fish. There was an abundance of wine and medical comforts, and large quantities of fuel of all kinds.

"The stories that the Red Cross buildings were wrecked by the Japanese fire are admitted by reputable residents to have been pure fabrications to excite sympathy. All accounts agree in condemning the majority of the officers, who feared the failure of comforts more than of ammunition, and agree that no man ever held a responsible command who less deserved the title of hero than Gen. Stoessel."

AGAINST SUGAR REDUCTION

Western Beet Sugar Men Before Ways And Means Committee.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, Jan. 25.—Beet sugar delegations from all over the west are arriving in Washington to take part in the hearing before the ways and means committee of the house having in charge the Philippines' bill which proposes to reduce the duty on sugar from those islands, 75 per cent. Mr. Cutler of the Utah and Idaho companies, and Mr. Eccles of the Amalgamated are to appear in behalf of the intermountain sugar factories, and others interested from California, Colorado and Michigan will take part. While the fate of the bill in the house is uncertain, the beet sugar men do not fear that it will pass the senate, as the sentiment there is known to be decidedly adverse to enacting any legislation that would affect the growing sugar industry of the west.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Jan. 24.—At a hearing before the committee on ways and means today Secy. Palmer of the American Beet Sugar association opposed the pending bill reducing the duty on sugar and tobacco from the Philippine islands.

Mr. Palmer said that just prior to the tariff agitation regarding Cuban sugar in 1901, 86 sugar factories had been projected in this country. Not one of these was built. Since that time Europe had curtailed her sugar crop under the terms of the Brussels agreement and the price had gone up to the point where American capital was on the point of again enlarging the sugar industry in this country. Now to open the Philippine market in competition with the American beet sugar industry would again discourage this movement.

In replying to a question by Mr. Curtis, whose bill was under consideration, Mr. Palmer said that the total sugar product of the Philippines was 145,000 tons annually and if the United States took it all there would still have to be imported 1,500,000 tons to supply the demand.

FOR LONGER TERMS.

Bill Providing for Increasing Tenure Of County Offices.

A bill is now in process of preparation for presentation to the Legislature providing for increasing the terms of all of the county officers excepting county attorney to four years instead of two. The change as proposed will go into effect in the year 1908. The office of county attorney, it is contended is a constitutional office, and can not be changed, but the other county offices are statutory and may be changed.

The bill provides that none of the officials who have served a full term can succeed themselves. Should such a bill be passed and also the one which is now pending, increasing the terms of the city officials to four years, the city, legislative, congressional, supreme judge and county attorney election would be held the same year and the state, county and national election the same year. By the change there would only be an election every two years, instead of every year, as is the case now, and the taxpayers would be saved the expense of an election every other year. The cost of the last election was $10,129.06, and it is urged by those who favor the new bill that a saving of that amount every other year would be worth considering.

DAVIES MAY SUE SHERIFF.

Former Deputy County Clerk Seeks Redress for False Imprisonment.

It is probable that a suit will be filed in the district court by the attorneys of D. B. Davies, who was arrested in connection with the bounty frauds in this county, against Sheriff C. Frank Emery for false imprisonment. The attorneys for Mr. Davies say that he was arrested on Jan. 14 without any complaint or warrant being filed against him, and unlawfully held until Jan. 19, upon which date a complaint was filed.

Sheriff Emery, when asked about the matter today by a "News" reprecentative, said that he was readyq to meet any action which the attorneys for Mr. Davies might take in the matter, and was ready to put in a defense to the charge of false imprisonment. Should such an action be started it will not be until after the criminal action against Mr. Davies is disposed of.

RECITAL ON NEW ORGAN.

Prof. J. J. McClellan Home from Grand Junction—His Experiences.

Prof. J. J. McClellan returned this afternoon from Grand Junction, where he gave a recital last evening, on the new organ in the First Congregational church. The building was crowded by an appreciative audience from the best people of the city, and that it was a discriminating one was evidenced by the encoring of such numbers as the "Gavotte" from "Mignon," the "Spring Song" of Mendelssohn, Batiste's "Communion in G," and the "Pilgrim's Chorus" and "Divine Evening Star" from "Tannhauser."

The organ has 30 stops. It is a Kimball, the same as the Tabernacle organ, and cost $3,500. Prof. McClellan was delighted with the instrument, as the registration was of the highest order of selection, and the entire affair was so acceptable that he is to be invited back for a second recital later on. The visiting artist was the recipient of many social attentions, and made many friends. He says the fact that he is a "Mormon" did not appear to go for much, though one old lady did quietly edge her way up to him and ask, "You aint a Mormon, are you?" Prof. McClellan assured her immediately that he was, and very much of a "Mormon;" whereupon the old lady gave a curious, incredulous look, and glided away.

U. OF U. PREPS.

Athletes Organize and Elect Officers For the Track Season.

The Preps athletes met today at the University of Utah, and were addressed by Prof. Byron Cummings and Coach Maddock. The former told the students that they would be separate from the regular University athletic team.

Coach Maddock advised the boys to organize immediately and begin practise, and accordingly an organization was soon thereafter effected, with Earl Bennion as captain; J. B. Dix, manager; and N. W. Anderson, assistant manager.

Last year in the collegiate meets of the high schools of the state, the University Preps were barred, as it was claimed they belonged to the regular University team. The boys are advised that this year none will be debarred excepting those actually belonging to the senior organization.

HUNDREDS OF ARRESTS MADE.

Lack of Money and Food Operating Against Continuance of the Strike.

WEEPING WOMEN RETURN TO WORK

Managers Afraid to Open Factories—Moscow is Quiet—Threats Brought On Strike at Kovno.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25, 3:50 p. m.—Gov.-Gen. Trepoff was in supreme command of the city today. Although a state of siege has not been actually proclaimed, it practically exists, the emperor having conferred upon him as governor-general almost absolute power, authorizing him to use the military, gendarmerie and every other agency of the government to preserve order, placing under his control the government works and schools, and even empowering him to exile persons who are inimical to peace. During the night hundreds of arrests were made.

The only decision of the government thus far is to preserve order at all costs.

"The government is living over a volcano and can do nothing else," said a high official this morning. "Every other consideration must give way to the question of public order."

Private advices from all the big cities and towns of Russia indicate that there is excitement everywhere. The red flag demonstrations at Helsingfors, Finland, last night were disquieting, but there is no evidence yet of a general movement. The appointment of Senator Linder as secretary of state for Finland just at this time is considered to be an unfortunate blunder and is likely to prove exceedingly distasteful to the Finns. Although a Finn himself, Senator Linder is exceedingly unpopular, owing to his support of the policy of the Russification of the towns of the Baltic provinces.

Troops are marching through the streets of Riga, Reval, but the eyes of all Russia are today fixed on Moscow.

STRIKE AT KOVNO.

Kovno, Russia, Jan. 25.—The governor has issued a proclamation announcing that the general strike at Kovno has been brought about by the threats of a small group of workmen whose hopes for changes in the factory regulations and an increase of wages cannot, the governor says, be attained by such means. He urges the strikers not to listen to the promptings of the evil disposed, but to resume work, promising to examine the men's demands and so far as possible grant them. At the same time the governor warns the strikers that in the event of disturbances in the streets he will take vigorous measures, using armed force if necessary.
