THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

The Great Country Paper of the West.

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Meetings End Tonight—The series of religious meetings held for the last two weeks in the Central Christian church will close this evening.

T. J. Taffey Dead—Word was received in this city yesterday, announcing the death at Portland of T. J. Taffey from appendicitis. His wife was formerly stenographer at the Knutsford and Wilson hotels.

Heavy Wind Yesterday—There was a 42 miles an hour wind yesterday afternoon, that made things uncomfortable for pedestrians while it lasted, and filled the air with clouds of dust. The temperature was lowered considerably for the time being.

Anxious to Find Woods—J. W. Woods, who recently got out a little book entitled "Utah—Investments and Banking" for a prominent local banking concern, can not be located, and the Century Printing company, one of his creditors, would be delighted to know where he is.

Disease Among Cattle—The secretary of the state board of health received word last evening, of the prevalence of a peculiar disease among cattale in the vicinity of Richfield, and it is feared that it is pleuro-pneumonia. As a number of cattle have already died, Dr. Frederick of Logan has been sent to the scene to investigate.

Transfers Good—The notice is posted in the street car barns that high school transfers punched for the O. S. L. depot, North Temple street or Warm Springs will be good on any of these lines between 8 and 9:30 a. m., on such days as the school is in session. Another notice calls attention of conductors to the need of greater care in punching transfers, and that it is absolutely necessary to see that all bell ringing mechanisms are free in action.

Invitation Accepted—The Utah Art Institute has accepted the invitation of the State Fair directors to display an art exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce. This will include valuable paintings belonging to members of the institute, and to the Alice collection and which are at present decorating the walls of the state university. The State Fair association will place shadow boxes for the paintings and make other arrangements for the judicious placing of this class of exhibits.

Fred Croxford Dead—Frederick Croxford, who formerly lived in Salt Lake, and who is a brother to Arthur Croxford, of 867 east Eighth South street, is dead at Seattle, Wash., whither he removed about two years ago. The cause of death was appendicitis. Arthur Croxford has gone to attend his brother's funeral. Croxford Brothers were large contractors and builders up to the time that Fred left this city. He is survived by a wife and three children.

Inspection Trip—The board of public works last night decided to take a trip of inspection to the southwestern part of the city this afternoon to see how the sidewalk work is progressing. It is the intention of the board to put things in shape so that other sidewalk extensions may be pushed along and completed before bad weather arrives. The work on the intercepting sewer on Eighth West street will be commenced within 15 days and will be completed in nine months.

Debating Manager—William P. Mifflin was chosen debating manager yesterday afternoon, by the state university seniors, and arrangements for the senior promenade were discussed. A committee including George W. Bailey, R. A. Hart and Hazel Stephens was chosen to arrange for caps and gowns and other details incident to the graduation exercises. The freshmen also met and chose N. Cummings their debating manager. Arthur Taylor was chosen sergeant at arms and D. A. Rayboudd keeper of trophies.

Shepard Claims Books—R. B. Shepard, the bookseller, is trying to induce a Helena hotel man to release rare books said to be worth $600, which Mr. Shepard says belong to him. The books were entrusted to a man named S. H. Bell for sale, but that worthy disappeared from the Helena hostelry without liquidating his board account, and the books were seized by the hotel proprietor as security for the board bill. Shepard claims he has really the first call on the books as they were held in trust for him.

Salt Lake Ahead—The Denver Times recently stated that "Denver has more telephones than any other city of its size," as that city has 20,000 phones in a population of 200,000, or one phone for every 10 people. However, in Salt Lake there is one phone for every 4.5 people, as in a population of 70,000, the Rocky Mountain Bell company reports 10,500 phones, and the Independent company 5,000 phones, or 15,500 phones in all. New York has 250,000 telephones, in a population of 4,000,000, or one phone to every 16 people. So it will be seen that as compared with Denver and New York, Salt Lake leads.

Furniture Burned—A van load of furniture belonging to Chris Larsen and which was being removed to Murray, was burned yesterday while en route to the latter place. The blaze was started by live coals that had been allowed to remain in a kitchen stove that was placed in the rear of the van. The teamster and help went along State street entirely oblivious of the fact that the wagon in which they rode, with its contents, was fast being consumed. When their attention was called to the situation, the fire had gained such headway that it could not be extinguished and the van and the furniture were rendered worthless.

Page Out; Riley In—On Friday of this week, Howard S. Page, who for three years has been a deputy in the office of the United States marshal, will be succeeded by Julian Riley, who was appointed some time ago by Marshal William Spry. Mr. Riley was named for the position some time ago, but the confirmation has only recently been made. On retiring from the place that he has so ably filled, Mr. Page carries with him the best wishes of a large number of friends. Persons who have had to do with the marshal's office have found in Mr. Page and efficient and obliging officer. He was ever attentive to business and would go out of his way at any time to impart desired information.

We pay 4 per cent interest per annum on $1 to $5,000. Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Co. Joseph F. Smith, President; O. C. Beebe, Cashier.

FINE TRIBUTE TO JUDGE MARSHALL

Impressive Services Held Over Remains of Well Known Lawyer.

MANY MOURNERS ATTENDED.

Funeral Was Conducted by Bishop Scanlon—His Remarks Listened to With Marked Appreciation.

At the funeral yesterday afternoon, of Judge Thomas Marshall, Bishop Scanlan paid a tribute to the deceased that was listened to with marked appreciation by the large attendance of mourners present. The bishop said in part:

"Almost his last words were, 'Bishop, I want you to conduct my funeral'" said Bishop Scanlan, "'I want you to preach my funeral sermon.' This last wish pleased me, yet pained me. If he had not made this request I would have permitted his remains to go quietly to the grave. The great Master had no funeral sermon preached at His burial. He preached His own sermon by His great works and beautiful life. When St. John the Baptist sent a disciple to ask Christ, who art Thou? the Lord did not say with an air of bravado, 'I am the long looked for Redeemer of the world.' 'Go back to St. John the Baptist,' was His answer to the disciple. 'Tell him what you have seen and heard while with me—the blind made to see, the deaf to hear, the lame to walk, the lepers cleansed, and the dead to walk from their graves. That will tell who and what I am. That's my answer.' The sermon on the mount was made more than mortal philosophy by the grand and beautiful life of its Orator. Every man shall preach his own funeral sermon by a clean, noble and spotless life. I have very often tried to picture what the life of Mr. Marshall was like, and came to the conclusion that this was precisely what he did—he preached his own funeral sermon.

AN IDEAL MAN.

"For forty years he has been conspicuous on the streets of Salt Lake both in appearance and by his life. Life sermons are greater than eloquence. I have tried to picture an ideal man, a rational man leading such a life as his reason approves. This is what distinguishes the civilized man from the barbarian—leading a life satisfactory to the reason. I have met few men who came so near my ideal man as the deceased. If he were on the streets of Athens when Diogenes went about in broad daylight with his lantern in search of an honest man, Mr. Marshall would have been discovered towering, physically, mentally and morally, above all others. Diogenes would have seen in my now silent friend the object of his search. The deceased was tall, physically, noble and erect and as noble and straight in his dealings with his fellow man.

"I remember one time when I was asked to request Mr. Marshall to take a case to which some scandal was attached. 'Will you take it, Mr. Marshall?' I asked. 'I will not,' he said decisively. I explained to him that his client had plenty of money and would pay well for legal assistance. Mr. Marshall answered that he would not take it if there were thousands of dollars in it for him.

"'I never took such cases and will never begin to take them,' he answered. I tell this little story to show how strictly the deceased obeyed the dictates of his reason. Money was no attraction to him in anything contrary to his ideas of nobility.

"Mr. Marshall was great in mind and simple in life. I remember when the Orphans' home was on First South and Third East streets. It was a usual thing for him to invite the children frequently to a fruit feast. He would leave his office to mingle with the children, and for a few hours was a child himself. He delighted in amusing them and knew how to make them happy. He knew that happiness is found in making others happy. Man derives happiness from the happiness he creates for those around him.

COMMON LOSS TO ALL.

"His was an ideal home; his, a happy family. Many evenings have we spent together and when I left his home I always left a better man. I asked him once why it was I always found him home in the evenings. He told me he believed a man's place wa swith his family—he said it was his faith and his practise.

"Mr. Marshall has left us and in doing so has made a great void. It will be a long time before his place among us will be filled physically or mentally. While the loss is greatest to his family, his is a common loss to us all. He was a great advocate of moral teaching and often expressed it as his belief that the perpetuation of the United States rests upon the natione's morality and rligion. He was conscientious in the discharge of his duties. The bar of Utah has lost one of its greatest men and the moral firmament has been darkened, for a star has fallen. His example will live as long as Salt Lake lives."

AN AWFUL COUGH CURED.

"Two years ago our little girl" had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bussard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

SUGAR CITY IN GLOOM FROM YESTERDAY'S ACCIDENT

(Special to the "News.")

Sugar City, Ida., Oct. 17.—This city is plunged into gloom as a result of the terrible accident at the sugar factory yesterday by which Chief Engineer J. B. Gaddie lost his life. The accident occurred about 2 o'clock. Mr. Gaddie was partaking of his lunch, when word reached him that the electric generator was becoming unmanageable. He at once went to the room to see where the trouble lay, and was directly in front of it when it burst or blew out, several pieces of steel striking him and inflicting almost immediate death. He breathed only 15 or 20 minutes, and was entirely unconsicous till the end came. He was struck in three places, but the wound which caused his death was inflicted by a piece of steel which struck him in the head. Two other men, Hansen and Jenkins, who stood near by, were only slightly injured. The flying pieces of steel cut one of the steam pipes, and the factory was filled with escaping steam, but after a short time this was remedied, and the plant was lighted by switching on to the wires of the Teton valley plant.

General Manager Cutler arrived from Salt Lake this morning and gave orders for all work to be suspended for a time out of respect to Mr. Gaddie.

The deceased was most highly esteemed in this community and his loss will be severely felt, not only by the people, but by the sugar company, with which he has been associated since its organization. Prior to that he was with the Utah Sugar company of Lehi for many years. Mr. Gaddie was the first counselor in the bishopric of Sugar City, and was a most active and enterprising spirit in all that pertained to the welfare of the people of the community. He was associated in several business enterprises here, aside from his connection with the sugar company. He leaves a widow and several children.

WOUNDS, BRUISES AND BURNS.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

Cold lunch! Hot dinner! MOUNT'S Pickles! Just right!

DAY IN STATE PRISON.

Reports Reached Sheriff's Office of an Impending Lynching.

For a time yesterday afternoon it looked as though Salt Lake would be the scene of a lynching, that the victim would be Day, the slayer of Voss, and that the avengers would be people of his own color. Crowds of colored folks gathered on Franklin avenue, the street where Voss lived and where he met his death, and the animated conversations and extreme activity manifest were taken as evidence that an attempt would be made to storm the county jail and make an end of the murderer.

It is said that such a move had been under contemplation since the day of the killing, and that many colored men had made purchases of revolvers, in order to be armed for the affray. So well founded seemed the reports that reached the sheriff's office of impending throuble, that it was deemed advisable to secretly convey the prisoner to the state prison. Accordingly, Day was placed in a carriage and driven rapidly to the institution that is within impregnable walls and patroled day and night by armed guards.

Day seemed to realize why he was being removed, and during the progress of the journey he was nervous and ill at ease. When the state prison had been reached he felt much relieved. Seldom has the colored population been so thoroughly wrought up to a state boardering on frenzy as on the killing of Voss. He was popular with his people, and many of them were too impatient to let the law take its course with regard to the man who slew him.

TO ERECT BUILDING.

Decision Reached by Board of Governors of Commercial Club.

The board of governors of the Commercial club met yesterday afternoon, and decided to arrange for the erection of a Commercial club building, part to be used as the permanent headquarters of the organization. The plan includes a nine-story structure, the two top floors to be occupied by the club, and a sketch submitted by Architect Neuhausen. Messrs. C. A. Quigley, J. W. Houston, L. H. Farnsworth, H. M. Wells, and W. J. Halloran were appointed a building committee. A choice of location will be arrived at later.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—The engagement of "The Royal Chef" closes with performances this afternoon and evening. The house will be dark the remainder of the week.

* * *

Orpheum—The Orpheum bill this week apparently has hit the popular taste judging from the size of the audiences and the applause which greets each act. Chinko, the English boy juggler, the Italian trio, Katherine Nugent and Minnie Kaufmann are apparently the favorites.

* * *

Grand—Tonight sees the final performance of "The $10,000 Beauty" and tomorrow night the Beach & Bowers minstrels make their first appearance.

* * *

Lyric—"The Man Without a Country" will run out the remainder of the week with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

INQUEST CONTINUED.

Coroner's Jury Investigating Cause of Death of James Reilly.

The inquest conducted by Acting Coroner Dana T. Smith to inquire into the particulars attending the death of James Reilly, who died under suspicious circumstances a few weeks ago, was not concluded yesterday, but sufficient evidence was brought out to warrant the setting at liberty of Charles A. Hager and John Friedrichs, who have been held as witnesses in the case. Mrs. Amelia Dudler went back to the city jail, and will doubtless be kept in custody until the investigation is over.

Mrs. Dudler yesterday reiterated her former statements that she administered at least two doses of cocaine to Reilly. She said that the man claimed to be a habitual user of the drug, and it was at his urgent request that she wrote a note, whereby he was able to procure the cocaine, and that she afterwards gave him injections of the poison.

Other witnesses who testified yesterday were Dr. E. W. Whitney, Chemist Harmes, C. C. Knowles, E. S. Jenkins, Brigham H. West, J. H. McHugh, David B. Harmon, and Officers Seager and Pierce. None of them knew anything of the affair, except as to the condition in which Reilly was found shortly before his death and the treatment he received at the emergency hospital at the city jail after being conveyed there. James O'Boyle, who was with Reilly all day on the date of the latter's death, and who is now in Schofield, is wanted as a witness in the case, and the inquest went over until Friday.

ARTHUR BROWN WAS FOUND GUILTY

Convicted by Jury of Forgery—Deliberated for Eight Hours.

TO BE SENTENCED FRIDAY.

He Stole More Than $9,000—About to Leave the City When Arrested By Capt. Burbidge.

After deliberating on the case for eight hours, the jury last night returned a verdict finding Arthur Brown guilty of forgery by uttering a forged instrument but recommended the defendant to the mercy of the court. The case was on trial in the district court for nearly two days and was submitted to the jury just before noon yesterday and the verdict was returned about 8 o'clock last night. Brown will be sentenced by Judge Armstrong on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The defendant is a young man who has held may positions of trust in this city. He was a teller in the Bank of Commerce and when that was absorbed by the Commercial National bank he became connected with the latter institution. He left the employ of the bank and accepted a position with A. J. Orem & Co., as bookkeeper and purchasing agent for the Utah-Apex Mining company. While thus employed he forged the names of his employers to checks amounting in all to more than $9,000. When the forgeries were discovered he made preparations to leave the city and was arrested by Capt. Burbidge at the Short Line depot just as he was about to board the train and leave the state.
