STARLING'S PREPARED GLUE.—To have a favorite piece of china chipped or broken, a pet book with its binding torn, a nice piece of furniture fractured, is a terrible and temper-destroying nuisance! Not without remedy, as we can testify. Mrs. Pudding, who advertises his Prepared Glue in "The Press" to-day, sent us some of it yesterday. We devoted two hours to its practical application—result, two carved chairs completely restored, many odd and ends of china and glass made fit for use a battered tray made as good as new, several daguerreotype cases renovated, and an old folio edition of Herodotus and Homer printed in the year 1500, whose antique boards (literally boards) were split, made strong enough to last for another century or two. We might have mended any quantity of children's broken toys, but saved it after an hour at the worst of them. This Prepared Glue, which is a liquid about as thick as glue, and applied by a brush which accompanies each bottle, is so indispensable in a house that we now wonder how we could have gone without it. oct1-2w

ADVICE.—As the hot season is approaching, every person should prepare their system for the change, and there is no remedy so applicable as Mclean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier." It will purify the blood thoroughly, and at the same time strengthen and invigorate the whole organization. The immense quantity of it that is sold daily, is proof enough of its great virtues in thoroughly removing all impure matter from the blood. We say to all, try it! It is delicious to take. See the advertisement in another column.

We would call particular attention to McLean's notice in another column. We add the following from the St. Louis Herald, which speaks volumes in its favor. We say to all give it a trial:

"We take especial pleasure in recommending McLean's celebrated Strengthening Cordial as an invaluable remedy for general debility and weakness. We have seen it tested in a circle under our own immediate observation, and can vouch for its efficacy and worth. It is an article which should be kept constantly in every family, as it is certainly an invaluable medicine. See the advertisement in another column.

☞ BLODGERS came down town the other night and got as drunk as the mischief, and while swearing and talking Breckinridge Democracy to a small crowd, fell into a mud-puddle and had to be dragged out by the heels. Two of his friends loaded a wheelbarrow with him and drove him home. They placed him on the floor and went to pulling off his boots to put him to bed, while his wife and daughters stood weeping around as if their hearts would break. Master BLODGERS, a remarkably promising youth of about nine summers, was also present and mingled his tears with the rest. But he had swindled himself into the Theatre a few nights before and saw Richard play Roberts the Tobias, and as the last boot came off after a heavy pull, he threw himself into a tragic attitude, and exclaimed with the voice of a young devil:

"Off with his boots!
So much for Buckingham!"

The friends of the elder BLODGERS hurried out to smile, which they did at the nearest grocery.

UNION BARBECUE AT MURFREESBORO.—The Union party of Rutherford county are to have a Grand Union Mass Meeting and Barbecue at Murfreesboro, on Wednesday, the 17th inst. The ladies, all the Union military companies in the State, and every body else, are invited to attend. There will be room enough and plenty to eat for 30,000 people. Some of the ablest speakers in the State will be there.

☞ The Annual Conference of the M. E. Church South meets in Clarksville the day after to-morrow.

THE WORK GOES BRAVELY ON.—The City Engineer and his assistant passed through Hog Alley Saturday afternoon, with a daguerreotype apparatus, through which they were looking to see what improvements are necessary to be made to throw the Alley into the white settlements. The hands will probably go to work this morning. Don't say a word.

The Hon. ERASTUS BROOKS, Editor of the New York Express, says, in a recent issue:

"We have, in many ways, and at many times, expressed our opinion strongly in praise of American Mechanical Art; and a recent visit to the extensive Piano Manufactory of HORATIO WORCESTER, has strengthened that opinion, and we are well convinced, that, in the construction of these beautiful instruments, we Americans are rivalling, if not excelling, Europeans. The Philharmonic Society, the most scientific musical association in this country, use Worcester's Pianos at their grand Concerts. We have had one in constant use for the last fourteen years, and find no diminution in clearness or sweetness of tone. They are said to stand every climate, and are daily being exported to the West Indies, Canada, the Far West, and South. The factory has been newly fitted up in the neatest manner, and ladies visiting it will find every facility for making their selections."

☞ John Swartz was sent to prison, on Saturday, in Philadelphia, for lifting up a boy four years old, and dashing his head on the pavement, without provocation.—Exchange Paper.

We can't believe Mr. Swartz would have treated a boy four years old in that way without some "provocation." The boy must certainly have insulted him in some way.

☞ We learn from the Louisville Journal that ST. CLAIR M. MORGAN, Esq., of this city, addressed a large meeting of Union Men in New Albany, Ind., on Friday night last. He made, says the Journal, a rallying speech of an hour, which was received with great enthusiasm.

THE THEATRE.—Although the weather was very unfavorable, there was a good house Saturday night to see Mr. ROGERS in The Ruy Pickes of Paris. He commences a second engagement to-night with Faust and Marguerite

The Political Prize Fight came off Saturday night, and carried the house by storm. It is a burlesque of the "screaming" sort, abounding in songs, dances, and many local hits, all of which raised a perfect tempest in the parquette. It was a decided success, affording enough fun for the boys to last a week—or at least till to-night, when the piece will be repeated under more favorable circumstances.

☞ A political discussion took place on Monday last at Lawrenceburg, between Benj. F. MATHEWS, Esq., of that place, a speaker of the Union party, and SALEM DUTCHER, a small Breckinridge politician of Columbia. During the debate, a difficulty occurred between them, in which DUTCHER fired at MATHEWS three times. Fearing he might kill some one in the crowd, Mr. MATHEWS did not fire, but is said to have conducted himself very gallantly.

☞ The annual meeting of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Tennessee commences in this city to-day. The following are the officers:

R. S. Moore, of Clarksville, Grand High Priest;
Massalon Whitten, of Newbern, Deputy Grand High Priest;
D. R. Rawlings, of Chattanooga, Grand King;

Geo. A. Price, of Macedonia, Grand Captain of the Host;
L. Howkins, of Columbia, Grand Captain of the Guard;

The annual meeting of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters also meets today. Officers:

Jonathan Huntingdon, of Nashville, Thrice Illustrious Grand Master;
E. D. Wheeler, Murfreesboro', Deputy Illustrious Grand Master;
Samuel Henderson, of Franklin, Grand Principal Conductor of Work;
W. H. Whiton, of Columbia, Grand Captain of the Guard;
W. H. Horn, of Nashville, Grand Treasurer;
C. A. Fuller, of Nashville, Grand Secretary;
A. S. Curry, of Trenton, Grand Sentinel;
M. E. DeGrove, of Nashville, Grand Tiler.

These bodies will meet in the new Masonic Temple on Church street.

☞ Persons attending the laying of the corner-stone of the University of the South on Wednesday next, will return free over the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad.

We have before us the second volume of this elegant little work—shall we not have the first?

FORTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE IN SUNDAY-SCHOOLS. By Stephen H. Tyng, D. D., Rector of St. George's church, New York. New York: Sheldon & Co. Boston: Gould & Lincoln. 1860. One vol. pp. 251.

This is an interesting and instructive little book, and we commend it to all who feel an interest in Sunday-School education.

STORIES OF SCOTLAND AND ITS ADJACENT ISLANDS. By Mrs. Thomas Geldart, author of "Truth is everything," etc., etc. New York: Sheldon & Co. Boston: Gould & Lincoln. 1860. One vol. pp. 180.

A TREASURY OF SCRIPTURE STORIES. Beautifully illustrated with colored plates, from original designs by the first American Artists. New York: Sheldon & Co. Boston: Gould & Lincoln. 1861.

We have something here which will please the little ones—a pretty little volume, containing stories of Sampson, Noah, Ruth, Samuel, David, and Joseph. Thick tinted paper, large type, and pictures printed in five or six different colors. Elegantly bound.

The above works are for sale by GRAVES, MARKS & Co., North Market street.

☞ The Micanopy, Florida, Gazette, formerly a neutral paper, has come out for BELL and EVERETT.

☞ "Halloo there!—I say, Bob!" exclaimed one young gentleman, as another, mounted on a fast horse and "dressed to kill," dashed down College street at the rate of ten miles an hour.

Bob succeeded in pulling up after a run of a hundred yards or so, and cantered back.

"Well," said he, "what's the row?"

"Oh, nothing very particular," replied the other, "I merely wanted to request you to 'hold that horse on the ground.'"

☞ ELEVATORS—PROMOTIONS.—At a meeting of this company, held last evening, the name of "Nashville Light Guards" was adopted. Lieutenant Kennedy having accepted the position of Lieutenant in the Rock City Guards, the office of first Lieutenant was declared vacant, and 2nd Lieutenant, Jno. C. Burch, elected to fill the vacancy, and 3d Lieutenant P. G. Price, promoted to 2d Lieutenant, and Leon Trousdale, Esq., was elected to fill the vacancy thus occasioned. The company is now fully organized, and numbers about sixty men, rank and file. We hope to see them out on parade ere long.—Evening Democrat.

Remarks on Howe's Sewing Machine Extension Case.

In our last number, we announced in a brief paragraph, that the Sewing Machine Patent of Elias Howe, Jr., had been extended by the Commissioner of Patents for seven years. The fact well known to the public, that the patentee had realized a large fortune from his invention, together with the severe manner in which the application was discussed by a portion of the newspaper press of this and other cities, led to a very general conviction that the patent would not be extended.

There are some who do not hesitate to denounce the action of the Commissioner of Patents in this matter, and accuse him of being influenced by improper motives. This we cannot but regard as unjust, for upon a fair and candid review of the testimony brought to bear in favor of the extension, and which was not where impeached, the fact is fully established that the sewing machine is one of the most valuable and important inventions ever made, and that the invention of greater value has ever been secured by Letters Patent in this country, and without which security every invention would be entirely at the mercy of the public.

In acting upon such cases, the Commissioner assumes a grave and important duty, one which he is bound to discharge in an upright and conscientious manner, and upon such sworn evidence as is presented to him on the trial. We incline to the opinion that in this case the general verdict of the public will be, that as a judicial decision, it is based on sound and correct principles. Let every unprejudiced reader make this case his own, and take into consideration the leading facts and circumstances connected with it. In the first place, we do not believe there is a single inventor past or present, who, under the same circumstances, would not have applied for an extension of his patent, and strenuously advocated the justice of his claim. It must be borne in mind also, that notwithstanding all the clamor which is made about it, Howe produced an original invention, one of great importance, even though it were but the foundation stone of many others of more or less value. He did not simply take what others had done, and by adding a little here, taking off a little there, produce an improvement or some new and patentable combination. He struck out into a new and comparatively unknown field of research, and he met success; but only this, but he began life a poor inventor, and had to contend sharply with poverty and prejudice, and was at times almost reduced to beggary. It was only after the first seven years of his patent had expired, that he began to realize any profit from his invention. It is true that Howe has realized within the past six years a large sum of money for his invention, while it is also true that he has freely expended it—not in idle living, but in such ways as are always acceptable to the community. We can testify from our profession experience, that are many cases where the poor but worthy another inventor has received from Howe substantial and much-needed aid; while if he had gone to those who had maligned Howe and his machine, his case would have been met with the cold shoulder and the frown. We admit that such considerations as these, will not weigh as arguments to support a bad case; but we do say that the inventor who treated the no acquired from his discoveries to advance the welfare of his race, and does not sought shut up his bowels of compassion against those who look and need his friendly aid, is justly entitled to more of the praise and gratitude than are those who spurn the inventor as a poor deluded dreamer.

The question is not simply how much has an inventor made, but how much has he added to the wealth of the public? How has he used due diligence to introduce it? Has he been sufficiently remunerated for the invention, considering its value? and has the public enjoyed the rights to which they are entitled?

In a case, in all fairness, where the parties holding the patent had made a very large sum of money, but who it was shown had infringed and invaded the rights of the patentee, and brought him, in giving the patent a lease of seven more years, to the satisfaction of all good citizens who will favor us with a call and patronage. JOHN J. BEECH.

The Late A. A. Stitt.

At a meeting of the member of the Nashville Musical Union, convened at the 2d Presbyterian church, Sept. 15th, for the purpose of taking suitable notice of the decease of Mr. A. A. Stitt, a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to his memory, who reported the following, which was unanimously adopted and ordered to be published in the papers of the city:

WHEREAS, we have learned with deep regret that our late esteemed director, Mr. A. A. Stitt, has been called to leave this world. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That in this separation we feel that we have lost a friend who was worthy of our highest regard and esteem, and an associate with whom we have for years enjoyed intercourse of the most cordial and friendly character.

Resolved, That his zeal as and untiring efforts to promote the cause of sacred music in this city, his cheerful readiness to expend his time, his strength, and talents in this service whenever called upon, and the amount of good accomplished through his efforts, have entitled him to the lasting gratitude of this community.

Resolved, That while we lament the stroke by which he has been cut down in the midst of a career of usefulness and honor, and while we feel that one has been taken away whose place cannot easily be filled, we recognize in this removal the hand of an Almighty Providence, and bow in submission, feeling assured that "the Judge of all the earth will do right."

Resolved, That we tender to the relatives and family of our departed friend our deep and unfeigned sympathy in this their heavy bereavement.

ST. LOUIS, MO., 25, 1860.

At the National Fair this day, the first and highest premium was awarded to the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine, over the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, and eight others in competition. tf
