GALVESTON.

GALVESTON, Nov. 17.—[Special.]—In Commissioner Spann's court to-day, J. F. Stone, late mate of the steamship Kate Carroll, who was discharged from the ship last night, made a confession which will in all probability implicate others in New Orleans. The steamship Kate Carroll sailed from that city in the latter part of September under the command of Capt. J. Mc. C. Baker for Providence Rhode Island, with cotton. On arriving there, Capt. Baker was relieved of the command by Captain William N Cooksey, who began the work of discharging her cargo. When the work was finished four bales were found over and nothing regarding them could be ascertained. So when the ship sailed for Baltimore, the cotton was left in the hands of agents to be sold for account of the ship in the event there was no demand for them. After leaving Baltimore, Captain Cooksey's suspicions were aroused against Stone and he determined to discharge him on arrival at this port. An opportunity presented itself yesterday, he did so, and in paying the mate off deducted $23.60, being a claim against Stone for extra work in breaking out several bales of cotton stored in New Orleans belonging to another ship which Stone had stored in the Carroll, his explanation of this at the time being that it was done through mistake, but subsequent events point directly to an attempt to capture the cotton. On Captain Cooksey's refusal to pay him the full amount he became very demonstrative and made some reference to the mysterious four bales. He then went ashore and entered suit against the ship for wages. Captain Cooksey appeared with counsel, and during the trial Stone admitted to having bought two bales of cotton from a cotton press drayman in New Orleans for $5 a bale, and said the nefarious business was carried on to a great extent among mates and draymen in New Orleans. Thus two of the sample bales were accounted for. Stone was formerly mate of the ship Sandusky, owned in New Orleans, and has been in the Carroll for some time. The case against the ship was continued. Stone's confession created considerable comment in maraitme circles and will probably lead to the arrest of some parties in New Orleans.

DR. HAYGOOD'S ADDRESS.

Dr. Haygood spoke on the general subject of christian education. He antagonized the idea that common schools, conducted by state authority leads to unbelief. Higher education without Christ does breed a race of infidels. The history of education confirms the statement. It is not in the teaching of the three R's that there is opportunity for teaching either religious or unbelief; this opportunity comes when the student enters ethics, metaphysics and history. In Germany infidelity did not arise in the common schools, but in the gymnasium and university. At this time I am not discussing the state university, but the duty of the church to establish thoroughly a university of her own. For whatever may be true of subjects not discussed here to-night, this is true beyond question: Higher education without Christ, does breed a race of infidels. The church should not oppose common schools supported by the state. For, first, the church has no substitute for the state system; second, the state system is the American system, and it has come to stay. We will not change facts by theories; the common school is here and the church should make the most of it. The speaker said that he had been charged with inconsistency in that ten years ago he had made a speech opposing the common school. Such criticisms are of small moment; many things he once believed to be true he does not now believe. A man who thinks and recognizes facts must modify many opinions. His platform now is: A system of public schools that provides opportunity for primary education for every child of every race in the republic; as to questions incidental, as the reading of the Bible in the public schools, let them be determined by local authorities. (There is more danger of centralization of the state capitols in their relation to municipalities than of centralization at Washington in relation to state governments.) Let the church provide college and university education and keep the state in the better establishments of the common schools. The church wants colleges not to rear up teachers, but preachers, teachers, lawyers doctors, farmers, artisans. The speaker congratulated Texas on her opportunity to make a grand system of public schools, and the Texas conferences on their harmony of views as to the Southwestern University. He expressed his gratification that the system of co-education had been adopted at Georgetown, and expected the best results.

The address of this eloquent speaker was frequently interrupted by applause.

THE JOHN F. SLATER FUND.

Mr. John F. Slater, of Norwich, Connecticut, about two years ago gave one million dollars, the interest on which is to be used to forward the "Christian education of the lately emancipated people of the southern states." The words inquotation are taken from Mr. Slater's deed of gift. Of this fund, which yields about $60,000 per annum, Rev. Dr. Atticus G. Haygood, president of Emory College, Oxford, Georgia, is the general agent. While in Texas he will visit the leading schools for the education of the colored people. The great object of this state fund is to prepare teachers among the colored people for their own race. The board of trust confines its appropriations to institutions that couple industrial training with education in books. Senator Colquitt, of Georgia, and Rev. Dr. Boyce, a leading Baptist minister of Kentucky, are the southern members of the board of trust.

He was too badly hurt to be moved, and consequently was left at home temporarily, but he recovered rapidly enough to make his escape, since which time he has not been seen until today, when Officer East found him in the starr store and took him in. There are several indictments hanging over him, one for murder.

There was a killing freeze to all tender vegetables Friday night. Pork's plentiful and better still; beef is at least down at prices in reach of all. The heavy fall in cattle is owing to the expense of carrying them through the winter, stockmen fearing such heavy losses as were incurred last winter. Some attribute the loss in prices to fence cutting, because a few stocks have been forced on the market by this means. Some are looking to the Legislature to do big things as to the fence laws.

FORT WORTH.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17.—[Special.]—Officers Walker and Rushing, at 11:30 to-night, arrested an Idian Cherokee named Joe on information sent here some time since, from Paris, in Lamar county. The Lawyers in Luck.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—A bill in equity has been filed in the United States circuit court by the Western Union Telegraph, American Speaking Telephone company, Gold and Stock Telegraph company, and Harmonic Telegraph company, against the American Bell Telephone company, praying for an injunction on account of discovery, from the respondent corporation arising out of an alleged breach of contract, the terms of which have been published, and between the parties and the National Telephone company, of Massachusetts, which was subsequently purchased and merged into the respondent company. The bill avers that a large and profitable business has been built by the organization of telephone exchanges, another respondent is deriving great gains by the sales and rental of telephone, and seeks to evade paying plaintiff sums due under said contract. The Western Union Telegraph company asks for accounting for all royalties, rental, and amount of stock and paper securities so received by defendant in the sale of licenses for telephone rights and privileges of the American Bell Telephone company.

The Bell Telephone company has been served with a notice to show cause why the prayer of plaintiff should not be granted.

Set Right.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Mr. Schoonmaker, whose name has been connected with the discussion of cable service as developed in the Central News suit in London, was seen to-day by a representative of the Associated Press, and said that he objected to what had been said of him and would like to be set right. He said that the representative of the Philadelphia Press had misrepresented his conversation. What he did say was that he never had sent out a cable that he did not receive from the cable lines. He said, further, his arrangement was this: He is supplying two classes of service by cable, one to the United Press association, and one to such Associated Press papers as choose to buy. He has an agent in London who makes up his reports, which he supplies to the United Press and addresses it "U. P. A.," and another agent who prepares the matter for the special cables, which he sells to Associated Press papers. The address of this is "City," and the copy is delivered to Mr. Schoonmaker personally, while the other goes to the United Press' general office. There is, therefore, no connection between the two reports, except that implied by his personal connection with both services.

The Last of Major Nickerson, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—[Special.]—The arrival to-night of fifteen members of congress from California, New York, Alabama and the northwest, including S. J. Randall, of Pennsylvania, adds life to political haunts, where the chances of candidates are discussed with vigor. Randall is receiving a few friends at his private residence, and will be at his parlors at the Ebbitt, on Monday. All predictions of votes are sensational, being figured out by reporters and over zealous friends of the candidates. The opinion is that with the present conditions neither Randall, Cox nor Carlisle will be nominated on the first ballot. Carlisle told Representative Watson to-day he would rather be senator than speaker, but persons who ought to know say Blackburn and Carlisle understood each other when the former withdrew from the speakership contest and announced for the senate, and the fact that Carlisle is making no perceptible effort for the senate gives a healthy color to the statement that all candidates for speakership are now here.

Major Nickerson's resignation has been accepted by the president to take effect November 15th.

Racket of the Rail.

A BIG BATTLE ABOUT TO BEGIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Formal notice has been given by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road of its intention to withdraw from the pool after the expiration of thirty days. This has provoked a nearer approach to real excitement than any kindred event in railroad circles here for a number of years. Whatever contracts have occurred between western roads have been strictly maintained for the past twelve years and the break in Omaha rates have been looked upon as involving the entire southwest. The present move of the St. Paul road is deemed by the co-operating lines as opening the battle, and it is said that a no compromise fight will follow unless the demands it will likely make to the other four roads are acceded to. The published statement made here as to the excess of its Omaha earnings has grown out of the fact that it has carried the bulk of western cattle coming to this market. Under arrangements made by a combination western cattlemen along this line, who after an attempt has been made to secure better terms from the pool, if possible, have this would result in a rupture between the roads. It is stated this combination of cattle men offer to put up an enormous money guarantee to ship their cattle over one line, provided it would give the combination special rates. Having failed to make terms with any one line or the pool, the other course was proceeded with, of shipping cattle over a single line and the road owes the loss in its revenues from this. The war it is understood, grew out of the demand of the St. Paul road for an increased percentage. Officials of competing roads decline to make any statement this morning beyond the declaration that the price will certainly be maintained for thirty days and that a meeting will be held in the meantime, when efforts will be made to avert an open fight. And one prominent official: "Of course, it was cannot agree (knock) we will have to fight it out. Everybody knows what that means.

CAIRO, ILL., Nov. 17.—The south-bound passenger train, No. 3, on the Illinois Central railway, collided with No. 4, bound north, near Bradford station Tennessee at 2 p. m., killing the colored porter, a telegraph repairer named Cobern and the express messenger. Both engineers were badly hurt and five cars burned. The engineer of train No. 3, left the station while the conductor was getting orders. A number of passengers were hurt.

A freight train on the Cairo division of the Wabash railway ran through a bridge at Crosswell, Illinois, this morning, fatally hurting Joseph Elliott, of Crosswell. The conductor and brakeman were slightly hurt.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—A dinner was given to night at the Burnett House by the order of Cincinnati, in honor of the opening of the Queen and Crescent City route of the Cincinnati Southern railway. About 100 guests were present. Toasts were responded to by John Scott, Albert S. Berry, C. F. Noyes, Samuel F. Covington, G. Bancaren and Amos Smith, jr.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—At a meeting of the security holders of the Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis railway, a committee was appointed to report a plan of reorganization. The road voted that Henry D. Hyde be added to the elective committee, that it was the sense of the meeting, that if the receivers certificates are put upon the road the iron of the road shall not be included and that the reorganized committee have the power to add to the membership.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Denver & Rio Grande, 24 5-8; Houston & Texas Central, 52; Missouri, Kansas & Texas, 23 3-4; Missouri Pacific, 96 1-2; Texas & Pacific, 21 7-8.

Money easy; prime mercantile paper, 6 1-2. Sterling, B. B., dull, 482 3-4, 5's, 100 1-8; 4 1-2's, coupons, 114 3-4; 4's, coupons, 122 1-4.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Governments, strong; railways generally firm; states quiet.

The announcement that the Chicago, St. Paul and Milwaukee company had given formal notice of its withdrawal from the Iowa pool, exerted an unfavorable influence in the stock market to-day. Manitoba declined 3 3-8 to 97 1-2. This stock was also affected by reports that parties interested in the St. Paul road are building in its territory and that the Manitoba had notified the company in question that if the building did not cease, it would retaliate by extending their lines in the St. Paul's territory. In the afternoon there was a sharp rise in Villards on attempts to cover by shorts. The impression prevailed that all matters pertaining to the new second morigage bonds have been satisfactorily arranged. Oregon & Transcontinental rose 1 3-8 to 49 3-4; Northern Pacific, 1 1-4 to 30 3-8, and preferred 2 1-4 to 66 1-2. At one time there was a difference of 3-8 to 1-2 cash and regular way, in preferred stock. The rise in Villards strengthened the remains of the active list, which rallied 1-4 to 1. In the final sales the improvement was lost. As compared with last night's closing, prices are down 1-4 to 1 1-2 for the general list and 2 5-8 for Manitoba. The bears made but little impression in Union Pacific today, which closed 1-8 lower at 87 5-8.
