MRS. JODRELL REHEARSING.

The Duke of Marlborough's Cousin Opens Her Season May 5.

The Fifth Avenue Theatre Will Probably Be Closed Next Week.

Mrs. Churchill-Jodrell, the lady who claims that she is a cousin of Lord Randolph Churchill and the Duke of Marlborough, is now rehearsing daily in this city, and is to open on May 5 at the Chestnut Street Opera-House, Philadelphia. Mrs. Jodrell experimented managerially with two theatres in England—one in London, the other in Liverpool—and, it is said, lost a great deal of money. Now she is going to tour as a star, not only in this country, but in India and China. Mrs. Jodrell is very affable and refined. Her favorite literature, so report says, is Burke's Peerage, which is of course a very nice though hardly sensational volume. When she opens, Monday week, her play will be "A Gay Deceiver," though this title will probably be changed. She has also in consideration a piece called "Discretion." Miss Chase, a daughter of Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, will make her appearance with Mrs. Jodrell. Other people in the company will be Myron Leffingwell and Fred L. Power. Miss Chase is a graduate of the Lyceum School of Acting.

* * *

The Fifth Avenue Theatre will probably be closed next week. "At any rate," said Mr. Reynolds yesterday, "we who own the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the week have no attraction that we can play for three days, so we shall have to close. The Thursday, Friday and Saturday belong to our successor, Mr. Miner."

* * *

Poole, the English comedian, is said to have made a great hit in Australia, where he is now playing.

* * *

The "Shenandoah" company is racing to San Francisco with Herrmann's Transatlantic Vaudevilles. Both organizations are to open in 'Frisco on Monday night. The "Shenandoah" is running ahead on the Denver and Rio Grande, while Herrmann's people are being propelled by the Union Pacific. Both companies started from Kansas City at the same time. The question now is who will reach Ogden and catch the first train on the Central Pacific to 'Frisco. There is champagne bet on the result. Either George W. Lederer, of the Transatlantics, or Charles Frohman, of "Shenandoah," will drink it.

* * *

There is to be a roof garden on Prof. Herrmann's theatre in Brooklyn. Comic opera will probably be a Summer feature at that house. Next season's attractions are being rapidly arranged.

* * *

Miss Florence St. John went to see the City of Berlin start Wednesday. By it she sent her companions back to England. This lady has attended Miss St. John for sixteen years, and the actress says that the companion was very kind to her when she was poor. The American climate affected her health and she was obliged to return. Miss St. John had plenty to say for her friend. She alluded to the criticisms of America with which she has been credited, and declared that some of them she had never uttered. It would be absurd, she said, to abuse a nation while she was getting its dollars. If she had been inclined to do so—which she had not—she could have waited until she got to the other side of the Atlantic. Miss St. John said that she liked America immensely, although she recognized that her tour had been made at a very bad season. American men, she thought, were very agreeable, but they were too much attached to business. "I talk a great deal," said Miss St. John, "and am not in the habit of putting my language into curl papers."

* * *

George Grossmith, the comedian who made so many successes in Gilbert and Sullivan's opera in London, was to have come to America shortly, but the scheme is now "off."

* * *

Louis James is to have a very extensive repertoire next season. He will not, however, play "Richard III.," which seems to have fallen into disfavor. His list will include "Macbeth," "Hamlet," "Othello," "Julius Cæsar," "Virginius," "Richelieu" and "The Marble Heart."

* * *

Miss Rosina Vokes received a very handsome stand of flowers from Mrs. Kendal two nights ago. Mrs. Kendal "telegraphed" the flowers to Miss Vokes, with whom she is very friendly. Miss Vokes will do a new play on Monday night at Daly's, called "Awakening." It is a slightly Americanized version of the English comedietta.

* * *

Some of the "supers" employed in New York theatres are full of comedy possibilities. Last night at an uptown house one of them saw that the door leading to the street was locked. He immediately struck an attitude and exclaimed tragically: "Great heavens! The door is locked. Now I can escape!"

* * *

Stuart Robson's appearance on the stage of the Star Theatre to congratulate his old comrade, W. H. Crane, is not without precedent, inartistic and peculiar though it was. Miss Lodinski Young tells of a similar incident that occurred at Booth's Theatre. W. J. Florence was playing in "The Ticket-of-Leave Man." Edwin Adams was appearing at another theatre, and his performance ended first. He came to Booth's Theatre and rushed onto the stage just as Florence was about to speak the tag. Adams interrupted him, and much to the surprise of the actor and of the audience recited the tag of "The Lady of Lyons," in which he seeks repentance for the past should woo the angel Virtue in the future.

A Splendid View.

[Humoristische Blätter.]

"Had you a good view on the Rigi, Herr Lieutenant?"

"Yes, magnificent! Had three splendid girls sitting opposite to me at the dinner table."

Betrayed.

[From Dorfbarbier.]

Mistress (looking into the kitchen)—Do you happen to know at what time your master came home last night?

Servant Girl—No, ma'am; but this morning at 7 his boots were still warm.

Overheard at the Mess-Table.

[From the Wochenblatt.]

"Prince Sulkowski has applied for a divorce on the ground, as he alleges, that he was mad at the time he married."

"Come, that won't do; everybody might say that, you know!"

The Ruling Passion.

[From Puck.]

Mr. Clarkson—Mr. Wanamaker, there's a man waiting in my office who wants a Government place, and I think we owe him something. What shall I offer him?

The Postmaster-General (in deep abstraction)—Ten off for cash!

[From the Epoch.]

Mrs. Brown—What made you make a face behind my back?

Little Johnnie—Why, Ma, you didn't think I was fool enough to do it before your face, did you?

Bound to Stay.

[From the Lawrence American.]

"There is one solace left me at least," remarked the old farmer. "After all my boys leave and go up to the city, after the pigs and the cattle die, and everything else forsakes me, there is at least one thing that will stick to the old farm."

"And that is ——?"

"The mortgage."

Their Loss His Gain.

[From the Washington Post.]

"You see," said the young man, who was applying for a position, "the trouble with so many men is that they lose their nerve. Now, I never do that."

"That's so. A great many men lose their nerve."

"They do, assuredly."

"And it strikes me that you must have been following these unfortunates around picking up what they lost."

No Notice Taken of It.

[From Munsey's Weekly.]

First Tramp—I don't see why our names don't get inter the papers, Bill.

Second Tramp—Why should they?

First Tramp—Well, I read to-day that a dinner was given to some big gun in New York a day or two ago. We get dinners given to us every day and nothing is ever said about it. Folks is prejudiced, Bill.

Paying Business.

[From the Lowell Citizen.]

"I understand young Briefless is about to marry the daughter of old Bonds, the millionaire."

"Yes, so I am told."

"Will he give up the law business?"

"Yes; he will give up the law business and go into the son-in-law business."

Discrimination.

[From Munsey's Weekly.]

Cumso—What a difference there is in the value of swords.

Fangle—What do you mean?

Cumso—William Ross Wallace got but $3 for "The Sword of Bunker Hill," while the Government proposes to buy Gen. Shields's sword for $10,000.

Proof Positive.

[From Tägliche Rundschau.]

A—Come, now, you must own that you have gone partly mad on the score of gymnastics?

B—Mad? Why, gymnastics mean strength, health, long life.

A—That may be, but the fact is our forefathers knew nothing of gymnastics, and——

B—And they are dead, every man Jack of them!

TWO GOOD SET-TOS TO-NIGHT.

The Lynch-McBride and Corbin-Dixon Mills Will Make Sport.

Victor Jack McAuliffe Returns from His Western Triumph.

The directors of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club are anticipating a successful season in spite of the war between the Players' and National Leagues. They are relying upon the great popularity of their team with the Brooklyn baseball public, as proved during the years when it was a member of the American Association. Another very great point in their favor is the accessibility of Washington Park and its convenient and ample arrangements for the accommodation of its patrons.

* * *

The score cards issued this season by the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club will be something very handsome. They will be artistic and decorative, with a number of improvements and inventions to facilitate scoring. In addition, the "cards," or rather books, contain a picture of each member of the team, with a biography of each.

* * *

Much to the chagrin of the Yale students Charley Gill, captain of last Fall's football team, cannot be persuaded to take a seat in this year's eight-oared crew. The crew is an exceptionally heavy one, and in spite of the usual announcement of their utter worthlessness, which Yale men are always careful to spread about concerning their athletic teams, will, without doubt, render a very fine account of themselves.

* * *

If hard and persistent work and devotion to his cause counts for anything, Capt. Frank Connell, of the Dauntless Boat Club, should be rewarded by seeing some fine oarsmen developed among his fellow members. His junior eight-oared crew isn't to be sneezed at, not by a long shot. His precept and example are creating a general furor of interest in rowing among his fellow-members.

* * *

The Metropolitan Rowing Club will give a valuable prize to the member rowing the greatest distance during the rowing season, which officially ends with the Club on September 20.

* * *

The enthusiasm manifested in the recently organized Middle States Rowing Association is highly flattering to its projectors. Without doubt this organization will take its place this season as one of the leading rowing associations of this country.

* * *

Just now the plungers and enthusiasts on pugilistic events are flashing their cash very conspicuously before each others eyes, and all over the Reagan-McCoy match, which will be boxed May 1.

All sorts of bets are being made as to first blood, first knockdown and first everything else. It looks as if the quarters provided by the Puritan Athletic Club for the crowd will be too small to hold the number who will flock to see this notable meeting.

* * *

There are two very pretty little pugilistic mills down for to-night, and both of them are public affairs. One that is attracting general interest is that between Jimmy Lynch, the wonderfully clever and game victor over Tommy Danforth, and Paddy McBride, whom Philadelphians believe tops over anything of his weight in the country. The "go" is with gloves, ten rounds, at the Knickerbocker Garden, Hoboken. The other little pugilistic fracas that a good many critics of boxing desire to see is the six-round contest between Harry Umlah's pupil, Mose Corbin, colored, and the ebony-tinted Boston feather-weight, George Dixon, who "stood off" Cal McCarthy so gamely at Boston. This will occur at Nilsson Hall, Fifteenth street.

* * *

The Jersey City Athletic Club will show some very clever performers at their athletic entertainment, which occurs next Tuesday. The usual gymnastic evolutions will be gone through with on the regulation gymnastic apparatus, the entertainment closing with a tug-of-war contest. It is expected that teams from the most prominent athletic organizations of this vicinity will compete.

* * *

The Police Gazette has received word that Jack McAuliffe, the vanquisher of Jimmy Carroll, and Billy Madden and party will arrive from their Western trip this afternoon. They are due at the Grand Central Depot at 5:30 and will be met by a delegation of friends.

* * *

The Manhattan Athletic Club has engaged the services of Jim Robinson, the celebrated trainer, for five years. The preliminary contract was signed yesterday at the office of Mr. Eugene Van Schaick, First Lieutenant of the Club. Robinson has won great fame as a trainer at Princeton College, where he is regarded as unrivalled in his line.

CHICKENS FOR JAPAN.

Consignments of Hamburgs Shipped Thither from the Hub.

After all, New England commerce is not quite extinct, says the Boston Post, for we enjoy an export trade with Japan in cocks and hens. I learn that a Boston fancier, noted for the excellence of his Hamburgs, has sent several consignments of them to this far-away land, the birds making the journey by way of California, and costing the Japs about $10 apiece. Their beauty, it seems, is the quality which appeals to the Oriental imagination.

In time, no doubt, the Japanese will have Hamburgs of their own; but, considering how long they have been breeding fowls and how gifted the nation is in small matters, it strikes me as very odd that we should be able to teach them anything in this respect. In part, at least, it removes from us the reproach that we have neglected beauty. And let no one find food for ridicule in the fact that our progress in the arts and graces of life is thus announced to the foreign world through the medium of a Yankee hen.

In the course of years we may be sending pictures to France and statues to Italy.

A New Name for It.

[From Life.]

"Mr. Gould now is your canal stock, today?"

"I have no canal stock, sir."

"I beg pardon; my mistake. For the moment I imagined that the large amount of water in your railways had converted them into canals.

PREPAID STEERAGE TICKETS.

Suspicious Aid Given to a Large Percentage of Our Immigrants.

The Sub-Congressional Committee on Immigration met at Castle Garden today, to continue their investigations.

The first witness was William Coverly, of the Anchor line of steamships, who has been connected with the passenger department for twenty-five years.

Last year the steamships of the Anchor line brought to this country 23,000 immigrants. About one-third of the immigrant tickets are sold prepaid in this country.

During the year the agents sold 3,574 Italian prepaid passages. The agents were supplied with books containing from ten to twenty-five tickets.

The Company took every precaution against selling tickets to immigrants who might be declared undesirable by the authorities of the United States.

From this country last year the Company's steamers carried to Europe about 14,000 steerage passengers. There are more Italians who go back to their native country than any other nationality.

They come here in the early Spring, work through the Summer and Fall and then take passage for home with nearly all the money they have earned.

Truly Economical.

[From Munsey's Weekly.]

Constituent (to his Congressman)—We want an appropriation of $500,000 for a public building at Dugout City.

Congressman—Why, there are only two houses and a blacksmith shop there!

Constituent—I know that; but see how cheap a site can be had now. Wait a few years and the Government will have to pay for ground to build on. It's a measure of economy to do it now.

Valuable Ordinance.

[From Harper's Bazar.]

Trenton Man—We have a city ordinance now that we have needed a long time.

New York Man—What is that?

Trenton Man—One requiring mosquitoes to be muzzled during dog-days.

Tommy Was Right.

[From Harper's Bazar.]

"I is"—— began Tommy, when his teacher interrupted him.

"That is wrong; you should say 'I am.'"

"All right," said Tommy, "'I am the ninth letter of the alphabet.'"

The Famous Cocoa of Europe.
The Coming One of America.

Van Houten's has fifty per cent more of the flesh-forming elements of cocoa than is obtained by the best processes of other manufacturers.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

Doctors and analysts of the highest standing all over the world, certify to this immense saving, and by VAN HOUTEN'S special process only can this be attained.

☞ VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA ("once tried, always used") possesses the great advantage of leaving no injurious effects on the nervous system. No wonder, therefore, that in all parts of the world, this Cocoa is recommended by medical men, instead of tea and coffee or other cocoas or chocolates, for daily use by children or adults, hale and sick, rich and poor. Ask for VAN HOUTEN'S and take no other. 31

Donovan, to settle the st.ike, have not yet been successful.

Otto Reimer, one of the Socialist exiles who came to this country in 1880, when the state of siege had been proclaimed in Berlin and Hamburg, will return to Germany by the steamer Ems to-morrow. Mr. Reimer is a cigarmaker, a fluent speaker and an active agitator. He was elected to the Reichstag by the workmen of Altona. Many other exiled Socialists think of returning to the Fatherland since the Emperor himself has become "tainted" with Socialism.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

LODI, SAN JOAQUIN CO., CAL., Nov. 29, 1887.

GENTLEMEN: We have just bought another box of Dr. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, which we find to be so excellent for keeping the system in order and overcoming sick headache that we never use anything else. I cheerfully testify to the merit of Dr. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS. Mrs. J. E. HOUSE.

In case of sick headache, biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia, costiveness, Dr. C. McLANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS never fail to give relief—for both sexes and all ages. They are compounded with regard to even the most delicate constitutions. Sold by all druggists; price, 25 cents. Prepared only by Fleming Bros., Pittsburg, Pa. Look out for an imitation made in St. Louis, which is often palmed off on innocent purchasers as ours. Insist upon having only the genuine.
