The Recess.

HYMN TO THE NIGHT.

I hearkl the footfalls gentlemen of the Night
Passing through our earthly halls;
I see pale shapes all hooded with light
From the celestial walls!

I feel the presence, by the spell of night
Those who are dead yet living,
The calm, majestic presence of the Night,
As of the one I love.

I hear the sounds of sorrow and delight,
The manifold, self-chosen,
That fill the haunted chambers of the night,
Like some old poet's rhymes.

From the cold cloisters of the midnight air
My spirit drinks repose;
The fountain of perpetual peace flows there,—
From those deep cisterns flows.

O holy Night! from thee I learn to bear
What man has borne before!
Thou layest thy finger on the lips of Care,
And they complain no more.

Peace! Peace! Thou orb of beauty! thy prayer?
Descend with broad-winged flight,
The welcome, the thrice prayed for, the most fair,
The best beloved Night.

Love is Indestructible.

BY ROBERT MOTHERWELL.

They can who tell us love can die;
With life all other passions fly,
All others are but vassals
In heaven-indelible cognate Zeuth,
Not empire in the vaults of hell;
Earthly these passions of the earth,
They perish where they have their birth,
But love is indestructible.
Its holy flame forever burneth,
From heaven it came, to heaven returneth;
Too oft on earth a troubled guest,
At times deformed, at times oppressed,
It here is tried and purified,
Then flies to heaven its perfect rest
Heaveth is in soul and core,
But the harvest time of love is there.

Agricultural.

JUNE WORK.

June is one of the fervid months. Hot sunn and drying winds usually prevail, and unless there are frequent showers, plants will begin to fall where careful cultivation is neglected. Much may be done to prevent this, by a frequent stirring of the soil, by mulching the young trees, shrubs, tomatoes and other plants, and an occasional watering of those considered the most valuable. When watering is resorted to, it should be done liberally, wetting the ground thoroughly about the roots of the plant, and then omit for a few days. A frequent dribbling of water only wets a little below the surface, which soon becomes caked, and prevents the admission of air and atmospheric influences.

Those who are cultivating dwarf pears, or any young trees, will find much benefit from mulching; it prevents excessive evaporation, and weeds from springing up; keeps the ground porous, and yet if properly done will admit heat sufficient for the vigorous growth of the plant. Coarse hay, straw, leaves, saw-dust, tan, fine brush, sorts as the tops of white birches, or fine shigs from the door-yard, will answer a good purpose. It should be laid loosely, and not so thick as to prevent the rays of the sun from reaching the ground.

The garden will require daily care.—Weeds will grow while you sleep or take your "morning." Give the garden half an hour's attention just after milking every morning. Fill the waste corners with cabbages for the cows; a few hundred heads may be raised in this way, and the labor scarcely be felt.

MILLET.—This is a fine crop for haying for winter fodder. Some farmers of experience say it is as valuable as an equal amount of English hay. Sow about the 10th of June, eight quarts of seed to the acre.

HEMPSEED.—If the season is a dry one, cultivate a flat surface; but if rainy, as was the summer of 1850, perhaps slightly hilling the corn and potato crop may prove advantageous. The clear, hot days are the days for hoeing; leave the weeds on the surface a few hours at such a time, and they will trouble you no longer.

HAYING.—If some particular pieces of grass lodge and require to be cut early, do not allow this beginning to call off your attention from the hoeing. Great losses are annually sustained among us by this practice. No weeds should be allowed to grow among your hoed crops; and the ground ought to be stirred once in 10 or 12 days, if there are no weeds! This was JETHRO TULL'S theory, and he proved its efficacy by the test of practice.

YOUNG TREES.—Trees coming into blossom for the first time, should not be allowed to perfect much fruit. If it grow on the ends of the limbs, it bends them out of shape, and directs the sap from making wood into the fruit, while the growth of the tree is what is desired.

THE CURCULIO.—Stiff lime-dust over the plum and apricot trees when the dew is on them, and this little plague will not sting the fruit. Two or three sprinklings, at intervals, will probably be sufficient. Try the same remedy on some of your apple trees.

STRIPED BUGS.—Many persons say that a box put round the plants will positively prevent the attack of these bugs. Three shingles 5 to 6 inches, supported by the earth or sticks, answer every purpose. MR. T. O. Paine, in the Eastern Mail, says he has practised this plan with success for twelve years.

☞ Speaking of bees, The Mobile Tribune says: "Such of our readers as are engaged in the bee culture will be glad to learn that a remedy has been discovered which effectually prevents the ravages of the bee moth. The frequent and serious injury caused by this pestiferous insect, has deterred many persons from entering into the business of raising bees, more especially as in some localities the ravages have been so great as nearly to destroy both bees and honey. The plan is this: split joints of cane through the center and arrange them on the four sides of the hive with the split side resting on the platform. The moth, instead of depositing its eggs under the edge of the hive, will lay them under the split cane. From these depositories they may be removed and destroyed as often as necessary with little trouble.—A friend informs us that he knows the plan has been tried and found entirely successful."

ITEM FOR FARMERS.—Wm. Nelson, of Ashtabula county, Ohio, informs the editor of the Ohio Farmer that he has succeeded in raising carrots, at the rate of 2000 bushels to the acre, by high manuring, deep plowing, and carefully and thoroughly pulverizing the earth before sowing the seed.

MR. Charles Dickins in his Household Words said, not long since, "There are four millions of men, women and children in England depending for their daily subsistence on the cotton trade with America; and England cannot condemn American slavery without condemning herself."

Thomas Fuller, after telling young writers that they should let their judgement be king, but not tyrant, over their fancy, adds by way of illustration, that "some, for fear their cautious should giggle will not let them smile. Give it liberty to sneer, for it will not be extravagant. There is no danger that weak falls, if they each about will struggle for, as wanting strength."

Sunday Reading.

I CAN.

Of course you can. You show it in your looks, in your motion, in your speech, and every thing else. Every attitude shows that your body has a soul, and is inhabited by resolution and power sense. I can. A brave, hearty, soul-full, manly expression. There is character, force, vigor, determination, and will in it. The words have a spirit, sparkling, and pungency about them not to be resisted or forgotten.

There is a world of meaning expressed, quiled down, epigrammized, and rammed, so to speak, in those few letters. Whole lectures are there and sermons of mighty grandeur and eloquence, on the stern and noble virtues.

We more than admire to hear the young man speak out bravely, boldly, determined, as though it was an outstretching of his entire nature—a reflection of his inner soul. It tells of something that is earnest, sober, serious; of something that will race and battle with the world, when the way is open for it.

I can! What a spirit, purpose, intensity reality, in the phrase. It is a strong arm, a stout heart, a bold eye, a firm spirit, an indomitable will. We never knew a man of its energy, vitality, unsubdued and energetic fire, that did not attain a place of some distinction among his fellows.

How should, we may say, how could it have been otherwise? Take Franklin, Washington, Wilberforce, Ferguson, La Place, and all the master spirits that have found a name and a place on the page of history, and where is the nation, where is the people among whom they would not be distinguished?

It could not be otherwise. It is the nature, constitution, order, necessity, the very inevitability of things and events that it should be so. I can, rightly and truly said, and then clinched and riveted by manly and heroic deeds, is the real secret, the true philosophy of all great men's lives. They took I can for a motto, and then went forth and made of themselves and the world exactly what they pleased.

Then, young man, hear us, if it be only this once. If you would be something more than a common, proxy wayfarer in life, just put these magic words to your lips and their musing, hopeful, expanding philosophy into your heart and arms.

Say I can, and do it, and you are a man whose fortune will soon be made; and you blessed with the recollection of making it yourself.—(Christian Intelligencer.

REMARKABLE INCIDENT.

In a quiet village situated on the shores of a beautiful lake lived a man of some wealth and independent manners. He disregarded the sabbath entirely, and pursued his business or pleasure as best suited his convenience. He commenced building a boat principally for pleasure excursions on the lake. While he was proceeding with the enterprise, which it was whispered abroad, would afford an opportunity for Sunday sailing, he was called on by a minister, who inquired about the boat, and expostulated with him, as the enterprise would increase the wildness and immorality of the village. "I am afraid," said the minister, "your boat will prove a sabbath-breaker." The man looked him in the face, and with much assurance said, "Yes it will; that's just what I'll name my boat. I've been thinking what to call her, and you have just hit it. I thank you for the suggestion. The boat shall be called THE SABBATH-BREAKER." As he said this he bid the minister good day, with a chuckle at his evident surprise and mortification.—The building went on, and especially on Sunday. She was soon ready to launch and was launched on Sunday, and named "The Sabbath-breaker," amid the cheers of some twenty or thirty half-intoxicated men. An old sailor or two shook their heads at the way she struck the water, but the folly usual to such an owner, hid his eye to the truths. She was rigged and fitted for an excursion. She must go out on Sunday. A general invitation was given, and numbers crowded on board. On the streamer floated the name in large letters, "The Sabbath-breaker."—She was put out. Several, seized by an indefinite dread as they read the name over them, sprang on shore; others would have done so, but she was off. She sailed well enough for a while. The timid felt reassured, and music and mirth began. But scarcely four hours had elapsed, when the boat was struck by a flaw of wind, which came very suddenly upon them. Confusion reigned on board. Scarce an effort was made. She keeled almost instantly over, and went to the bottom. Now, what an outcry! But soon all was over. Forty souls, nastily youth, had found a watery grave, and just above the surface of the lake floated the flag, bearing the inscription, "The Sabbath-breaker," proclaiming to all passers by that there is a God in Heaven, who judgeth righteously.—[California Christian Advocate.

KNOWLEDGE OF CHRIST'S LOVE—It is a peculiar kind of expression where the apostle prays that they might "know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge. We may know that experimentally which we cannot know comprehensively; we may know that in its power and effects which we cannot comprehend in its nature and depths. A weary person may receive refreshment from a spring who cannot fathom the depth of the ocean from whence it proceeds.—[Doct. Owen.

"SPIRIT RAPPING INVESTIGATED."—The Rev. H. Mattison of New York has published his work with the above title.—He advises:

"Keep away from the "Mediums," keep away from their circles and lectures. By going to them, you give your money and influence to sustain a systematic onset upon the Bible, the Christian Religion, the Sabbath, the Christian Ministry, the Government of your country, the Marriage Institution, and every thing else that the wise and good of all ages have regarded as sacred."

"Oh, let me die in the country, where I shall not fall, like the single leaf of the forest, unheeded; where those that love me need not mask their hearts to meet the careless multitude, and strive as a duty to forget me! Bury me in the country, amid the prayers of the good and tears of the loving; not in the dark, damp vault, away from the sweet-scented air, and the cheerful sunshine, but in the open fields among the flowers that I loved and cherished while living."—[Fanny Forrester.

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT. A shepherd lost a sheep with its lamb. He went in pursuit of them. He tried to drive those home but was not able. At length he picked up and carried off the lamb and the mother followed. Thus the Saviour brings a mother to himself, by taking away the little child of her bosom.

It is difficult to conceive anything more beautiful than the reply given by one in affliction. When he was asked how he bore it so well, "I lighten the stroke," he said, "as I draw near to Him who lays the rod."

INFORMATION

For those who Want, and for those who have

MONEY or PROPERTY!

DO YOU want to sell or mortgage any real estate? Have you a bond and mortgage you wish to sell? Have you houses, taverns, lots, that you wish to sell or lease?

Have you a mill, factory, foundry, tannery, or other manufacturing establishment, that you wish to sell or rent.

Have you iron, ore, coal, potters' or fire clay, or other minerals, you wish to sell or have worked on shares?

Have you land that you would like to have drained or cleared, by contract or on shares?

Have you water power that you wish to sell, improve, or rent?

Do you want additional capital, or a partner in your business?

Do you want to sell your stock of merchandise?

Do you want to form a company to create capital for any specific object?

Do you wish to exchange your property for other property?

Do you want in your neighborhood, mills, foundries, tanneries, or other manufactories?

Have you any wild waste improvement in machinery, or any article which you want to sell, or which you want means to manufacture?

If you have any of the above wants, or others of a similar character, and will enclose to our address, (post paid,) a legible, clear and exact description of them; and if practicable, its quality, proximity to canal, railroad, or navigable water, its churches, schools, mills, stores, &c., the lowest terms on which you will sell, mortgage, lease, exchange, or otherwise dispose of; and if you are willing to pay a commission of one or two dollars, (the receipt of which will be acknowledged) your wants shall be recorded on our Register, and your letter placed on the file designated for your State and County, for the inspection, free of charge, of those who are seeking to purchase, lease, exchange, or invest.

We make no charge to any for examining our Register and files. When they make known their wishes, they are referred to your own statement of your wants; and agents have Maps of the different States, and of such counties as may be desirable to procure, and as we employ agents to visit the steamers and vessels that arrive with Emigrants, (of whom from 1,000 to 5,000 are daily arriving,) and as we also have agents to distribute our Circulars among the strangers who throng our streets, and as we have the principal papers in the City of New York, and also in various towns throughout all the States, as well as in the different countries of Europe, from which Emigrants come, and where we expect one of our Firm will for the present spend his time, and where, also, we shall have agents in the principal ports of embarkation, inviting all who wish to purchase, exchange, lease, or invest, to visit our office, without charge.

We are confident that this is a better medium of making your wants known to those who desire to know them, and of securing the end you desire, than any other mode yet practiced.

The best place for you to effect a Sale, Lease, Exchange or Loan on your property, is in its vicinity. If you can not do it there, the next best place is in the city of New York. Or, if you want Emigrants or Settlers of any class here is the place to obtain them.

Because there are probably 100,000 more than there are 30,000 to 50,000 strangers, many of whom are seeking for investments or homes.

Because there are probably 100,000 who want to remove from the City or its vicinity.

Because there is now flowing into great proportion of the surplus capital of the Union, seeking investment.

Because here, money is ordinarily worth from 5 to 7 per cent. per annum, on unlocked security, or while you are loaning it on ample security, or other inducement, where it would produce greater rate of interest, either in annual income or increased value

Because here, an examination of our Files will inform thousands of persons of places, where the property is to be found which they seek.

Because here, there is an opportunity to exchange country or city property, for property in this city or its vicinity.

Because a person, by spending a few hours in our office, without charge, can obtain more information of the property in market throughout the country, and the wants of community, than by months of travel.

Because, finally, it is the commercial Metropolis, where is concentrated the money and wants of a vast multitude throughout this and other countries, by securing this opposite, but corresponding wants of our own country, both parties, those who wish to purchase, and those who desire to sell, can be mutually benefited.

In the description of property, be careful not to overestimate its advantages in any respect; for if you do, and we do our duty, you may be disappointed, the owner of the reality with your statement might defeat your object. When your property is sold, or otherwise disposed of, it is required that we shall be immediately informed of the fact. As we do not propose to sell, but negotiate, and merely participate in the commissions, special authority to us is required, but when it is desired that we should sell, authority must be given.

Our Commissions on sales, exchanges, &c., are 2 per cent. The raising of companies, and other matters requiring special negotiation, will be subject to special agreements.

☞ Several Farms in the same neighborhood often find a more ready sale than a single Farm, as Emigrants desire to remain near companions.

AZOR'S TURKISH BALM.

THE GREAT TURKISH
REMEDY FOR BALDNESS,
And for Invigorating and Beautifying the Hair.

As a toilet article, for beautifying and keeping the hair soft, glossy, and in a healthy condition, it is unequalled. Its positive qualities are as follows: Infuse it from the head from dandruff, strengthens the roots, promotes health and vigor to the circulation, and prevents the hair changing color, or getting gray. Still—It causes the hair to curl beautifully when done up in it every night.

You fellas to made from the original receipt procured from the original Turkish Bakim (physician) of Constantinople, which it is universally used. The Turks have always been celebrated for their wonderful skill in compounding the richest perfumes and all other articles. In Turkey the aromatic herbs, &c., of which this Balm is compound, are almost universally known and used for the hair. Hence a case of baldness or thin head of hair is entirely unknown in that country. We wish but one trial to be made of it, that will do more to convince you of its virtues than all the advertisements that can be published, and that all may be able to test its virtues, it is put up in large bottles at the low price of 50 cents per bottle.

Remember the genuine has the signature of Comstock & Brother on the splendid wrapper.

DEATH

Can be and has been prevented in thousands of cases by this nature's own remedy.

Indian's Chemical Extract of Cherry and Lungwort.

This medicine unlike most of the patent remedies of the day is the result of the careful study and experience of a scientific and experienced Physician. The two principal ingredients have long been known and celebrated.

WILD CHERRY BARK

When the strength of this is properly extracted is the best medicine known for curing the worst Coughs and other Pulmonary diseases, it loosens the phlegm and enables the sufferer to expectorate easily, and thus will cure the most obstinate cough, which if neglected always leads to consumption.

LUNGWORT.

This is a plant the virtues of which are known to nurses, it has been said by the most learned men of all times, that Providence has provided a remedy for each and every disease," and the discoveries that are daily made, go to prove its truth. Lungwort is doubtless the remedy designed by nature for consumption. Its healing properties are truly wonderful, and its rapidity with which it cures the worst cases of Ulcerated Lungs, soothing and subduing all irritation, almost immediately is a proof of its adaptation to this disease.

These two articles combined with other purely vegetable ingredients, form a medicine that is certain to cure the worst cases of Consumption if taken before the sufferers entirely prostrated. Do not be discouraged, a trial can do no harm, but will convince the most skeptical of its real worth.

Caution.—To protect our own as well as the interest of the consumptive sufferer, we are obliged to caution all to find the signature of Comstock & Brother on the wrapper, without this it is a worthless counterfeit.

EAST INDIA HAIR DYE.

Colors the hair, and will not the skin.

This dye may be applied to the hair over night, the next night turning the lightest sandy or red hair to a dark brown, and by repeating a second night, to a bright jet black. These facts are warranted by the gentleman who manufactures it, who is the celebrated Chemist, Dr. Comstock, author of Comstock's Geology, philosophy, and other works, and school books, well known.

For the Married.

"BE YE FRUITFUL AND MULTIPLY."

It is command that should be cheerfully obeyed by the children of men. Dr. Jarrette's Jesse Cordial, or Procreative Elixir, prescribed to be effectual restorative in cases of Debility, Impotency, or Barrenness, and all irregularities of nature. It is all that it professes to be, viz: Nature's Great Restorative, and remedy for those in the married state without issue. It is a certain cure for Seminal emissions, General debility, Gleet, Weakness of the Genital Organs, Nervous Affections, Leucorrhoea of Whites. As an invigorating medicine it is unequalled.

Carlton's Condition Powders for Horses, &c.

The changes of weather and season, with the change of use and feed, have a very great effect upon the blood and sinewy fluids of horses. It is at these changes they require an assistant to assist to throw off any disorder of the fluids that may have been taken in, and which, if not attended to, will result in the Yellow Water, Heaves, Worms, Bots, &c. All of which will be prevented by giving one of these powders, and will at any time cure when any symptoms of disease appear, if used in time. They purify the blood, remove all inflammation and fever, loosen the skin, cleanse the water, and invigorate the whole body, enabling them to do more work with the same feed. The action of these powders is upon all the secretive glands, and therefore they have the same effect upon the Horse, the Ox, the Ass, and all Herbivorous animals—all diseases arising from or producing a bad state of blood, are specedily cured by them. Observe—Remember and ask for Carlton's Condition Powders, and take no other.
