Vermont Education.

(Published under the sanction of the State Teacher's Convention.)

GO TO THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

We have attended an Institute. We have noted its character and influence; we have seen the power and skill of our Secretary in awakening an interest and an enthusiasm on the subject of Education. We have seen a little audience of sight, in the course of a single day, increase till extra seats in the aisles of a large hall were crowded with attentive listeners. We have seen a teacher of ten years' experience, sitting through all the exercises till a late hour at night of the second day, and then going home afoot and alone eight miles through a driving storm, rather than lose a word. We have seen old and young, men and women, teachers and scholars, roused up to the value of a thorough culture; old interest renewed, new life quickened, and the earnestness and devotion of the Secretary gradually transfused into a large audience.

We have been surprised, too, at the amount that can be accomplished in so short a space of time. The most valuable suggestions on all topics of Common School Education and discipline, were brought out and set home, with a logical order, beauty, point, felicity and wealth of illustration, and impassioned force, rarely equalled. And better yet, was the high moral purpose—running though all like a gleaming thread of gold—stirring the heart rousing and quickening all nobler aspirations, and so giving an impulse toward the great end of all education, the origination of free, independent thought, and the formation of [illegible]

There were no carefully written essays; no fine theoretical views—beautiful to contemplate, but useless to practice;—but the experience of a successful teacher, accurate knowledge of the practical wants of our State, thorough acquaintance with the character of our people, familiarity with the best methods of teaching the various branches, just and refreshing thoughts on the whole subject of Education, presented with all the power and earnestness of direct address.

The Institute is the great agency, in the hands of the Secretary, for infusing life into our School System, for making our legislation and the various appliances of Education effective for good. The Institute is thus made the radiating centre of wholesome influences, wherever it is held. As a means of creating a healthful public sentiment alone, aside from its importance to teachers, it is of inestimable value. No friend of Education can afford to be absent from its sessions; its neglect by the teacher is unpardonable.

Sec. 2. The statistical returns required by law to be made to the Secretary of the Board, by the Town Superintendents of schools annually on or before the first day of September, shall hereafter be made and returned to the Secretary on or before the first day of April of each year, and the Secretary is hereby directed on the receipt of such return to forward a certificate thereof to the Superintendent making the return.

Whenever, upon personal examination of schools the Superintendent of any town shall become satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt, that a teacher to whom a certificate has been granted, is incompetent to teach, or governs his school properly or setting an evil example before his school, the superintendent is hereby empowered to his discretion to revoke the certificate therefore granted to such teacher by filing in the town clerk's office of such town a statement in writing of his having made such revocation and delivering a copy thereof to the prudential committee and also to the teacher whose certificate is so revoked; and every teacher's certificate that shall have been duly revoked pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall immediately, upon the filing of such revocation, become thereafter null and void and of no effect, and such teacher's contract with the school district shall become void therefrom, and it shall not be lawful for the prudential committee to pay such teacher for any services thereafter performed as teacher.

Sec. 6. That portion of the public money which is now by law required to be divided annually, to the respective districts in each town, in proportion to the number of their scholars between four and eighteen years of age, shall hereafter, be divided to such districts in proportion to the average daily attendance of the scholars of such districts (who are between the ages of four and twenty years) upon the common school in such districts during the preceding school year; such average daily attendance to be ascertained from the record thereof to be kept in the registers of such schools as is prescribed in this act, by adding together the number of days of actual attendance of each school, as shown by the record, and dividing the sum of aggregate so obtained, by the number of days the school has been kept during the year, the quotient to be considered the average daily attendance required.

Sec. 7. The Secretary of the Board of Education is hereby required to prescribe blank forms for a school register conveniently arranged for keeping a daily record of the attendance of children upon the schools, and statistical inquiries and interrogatories address to teachers, and to district clerks for the procurement of statistical information as the board of education may seek to obtain in each year; and it shall be the duty of each year the secretary shall procure and furnish to the town clerk in each town in the State a sufficient number of such registers to supply each district clerk in said district with one register for each school in his district for the ensuing school year. And it is hereby made the duty of each town clerk to receive such registers for the town, and immediately forward by mail to the secretary of his receipt thereof, and, on failure to receive such registers by the next day of February in each year, the town clerk shall immediately notify the secretary thereof, who shall supply the deficiency forthwith. And it is made the duty of each district clerk, during the first week in March annually, to procure of the town clerk a register for each school in his district, and be responsible for the safe keeping thereof.

Sec. 8. It is hereby made the duty of every teacher of a common school, before he commences his school, to procure from the clerk of the district in which he shall teach, a school register, and therein keep a true record of the daily attendance of each scholar who may attend such school while under his instruction, in accordance with the form prescribed in such register, and at the close of his school shall compare such register with the school register, and shall make perfect answers to all statistical inquiries therein addressed to teachers, and return such register to the district clerk, previous to the receipt of his wages as such teacher. And it is hereby made the duty of each district clerk to comply with all the requirements made of him in the register or registers of his district, in the blanks for the statistics of his district, and make oath to the correctness of his returns before a justice of the peace of the county in which he resides, and file said register or registers in the office of the town clerk, on or before the twenty-first day of March in each year; and no portion of the public money in any town shall be distributed to any district of which school register or registers shall not be properly filed out and filed in the town clerk's office, pursuant to the provisions of this act.

Sec. 9. The term, not exceeding two days, actually spent by any teacher of a common school in attendance upon the teachers institute, held pursuant to law, in the county in which such teacher shall be employed, during the time for which such teacher is engaged to teach such school, shall be considered as time lawfully expended by such teacher in the service of the district by which he is employed, and to aid in the efficient performance of his duties as a teacher.

Sec. 10. The chairman of the prudential committee of the various districts, composing the Union district, shall together constitute the prudential committee of the Union district, and the member of the prudential committee of any school district first elected, shall be considered the chairman thereof: Provided, that whenever such Union district shall be formed of an even number of districts, there shall be added to said committee one person resident in such Union district, to be chosen by said district at their annual meeting, or at a special meeting warned for that purpose, and who shall hold his office for one year thereafter, and until another shall be chosen.

Sec. 11. The Board of Education is hereby directed to select, or procure to be selected, a list of grammars, geographies, arithmetics, readers, and spellers, to be used in the district schools in this state, limiting the text books in each of said branches to one or more, in their discretion, which selection shall be made previous to January first, A. D. 1859, and shall be published in the newspapers in the State, in said month of January, A. D. 1859, and also inserted in each school register. And said list of books, when thus so published, shall become authoritative and binding upon the Board of Education, superintendents and teachers until January first, A. D. 1864, and teachers and superintendents shall recommend for use in the district schools, no new text-books shall become necessary for instruction in the branches named, no other than books included in said list so established.

Sec. 12. The Secretary of the Board of Education shall annually prepare and print three thousand five hundred copies of its annual report, and have the same ready for distribution on the first day of the assembling of the legislature in each year, and shall distribute the same as follows: one copy to each town superintendent; one copy to each district clerk; and one copy to each town clerk and to the principal of a high school, normal school or academy in the State; the necessary copies for all, except members of the legislature, to be forwarded by the town clerks and town superintendents to them; the remainder to be distributed in the same manner in which the laws are distributed.

Sec. 13. It is hereby made the duty of the trustees of all academies and grammar schools which have been incorporated by the legislature of the State of Vermont, to cause their principals to return to the secretary of the Board of Education, on or before the first day of April in each year, true and correct answers to such statistical enquiries as may have been addressed to them by the Secretary in the month of January previous.

Testimonials.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot confide a case to more able and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Boston, February 8, 1856.—Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on the cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAYLOR, late Commissioner of Patents.

From Sept. 17th, 1857, to June 17th, 1858, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
