AUSTRIAN CRUELTIES.—As there is an utter discrepancy on this subject between the Sardinian and the Austrian accounts, we quote again from an American writer—the correspondent of the New York Post at the seat of war—who certainly ought to be impartial in his statements. Writing on the 26th of May, he says:

"In striking contrast with the conduct of the French is the manner with which those so unfortunate as to fall into the power of the Austrians are treated. At Casteggio, a village near Montebello, through which the Austrians passed the day they made the attack on the division of General Forey, they found some of the families still in the place who had not heard of the approach of the Austrians in time to escape. In the house of one of these families they found an old gun, which had been used by the head of the family in his quality of National Guard.—They executed the whole of the nine persons that formed the family for this reason.—Among those put to death there were two children under seven years of age and three women. The atrocious barbarity of the act needs no comment. I have been assured of the fact by one of the villagers, who was hidden in a pit—a sort of place for keeping farming utensils, dug in the side of a hill. From his hiding place he saw the execution, and, when telling me of it, his eyes glared and his whole frame shook with horror and emotion. This man was still in the pit when the Austrians were forced to retreat, and as they passed through the village he counted 160 wagons filled with their wounded. He says the Austrians were incensed to find that the Piedmontese had destroyed all the provisions they were forced to leave behind them in the village, and that they had knocked in the heads of all the wine casks."

Referring th this affair on the next day, he adds:

"I will relate a similar occurrence. At a village near Voghera, during the time that the Austrians occupied that place, they sent out each day parties of troops hunting for provisions, which they took without payment from the country people. In searching a house they found in it a journal that is inimical to Austria. They took the whole family on to the public square and shot them all—men, women and children. They were all killed, with the exception of one of the men, who is now lying in the hospital at Voghera, where he was conveyed by the people after the departure of the Austrians. I have seen the man and conversed with him—his name is Cignoli. Hundreds besides myself have seen the person and heard his account of the atrocious action perpetrated by the Austrians."

A NEW HAMPSHIRE SCHOOL-MARM.—A correspondent writes from Deerfield, that a lady teacher engaged to instruct one of the district schools in that town, repaired in good season, on the appointed morning, to the school-house, which was found locked, and the key nowhere to be had. She procured an iron bar, wrenched open the door, and set the school in motion at a successful rate. There will doubtless be good order under her energetic rule.—Concord Statesman.

HUMORS OF THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

It is well known that the juices of the body are governed by natural laws, such as regulate the vegetable life in the change of seasons.

In winter they are congealed, or in common parlance, the "sap is down," the pores are closed, and our whole body is hard and firm, and an accumulation of impurities takes place in our system.

The genial influences of Spring cause an expansion of all living matter; the sap rises in vegetable life, and the juices of our bodies are given out and enter into the common circulation.

This is a law to which every human being is subject, and the neglect of it has caused a whole summer of misery.

Now is the time to apply a remedy that cleanses and searches every fibre and pore, and eradicates every acrid and sediment of humor that has lain stagnant during the winter.

Kennedy's Medical Discovery is well known to our readers as the greatest and best Blood Purifier the world has ever produced.

We advise each and all of our readers to use one bottle of it this Spring; we say one bottle, for that will cleanse the impurities of one season and prepare the system for the changes of the next.

Where the disease has fastened itself and become settled in the system, larger quantities are required.

For Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, White Swelling, Tumors, Ulcerated Sore Legs, Humor in the Eyes, Running of the Ears from Scarlet Fever or Measles, the Medical Discovery can be relied upon to effect a perfect cure. 40-45

THE GOLDEN SALVE—A GREAT HEALING REMEDY—It is with much pleasure we announce the advent of this new article to our city, which has met with such signal success in Lowell, where it is made, that the papers have teemed with cases of truly marvelous cures. They chronicle one where the life of a lady was recently saved—a case of broken breast; another where the life of a child was saved—a case of cancer; another of a lady whose face was much disfigured by scrofulous humor, which was brought to a healthy action in a few days; also another of an old man who had a sore on the foot for twenty years—cured in a few weeks. Our citizens will not be slow in getting it introduced, and will herald it all over the land.—Boston Herald. 40-52

MEDICAL REFORM.

That a great change has within a few years been wrought in the practice of medicine, no one will pretend to deny. It is well known that the study and learning which has been for ages lavished upon the use of mineral poisons, as medicines, have failed to answer the reasonable expectations of the public. The old physicians have abandoned the use of the lancet, and have found it necessary to reduce the quantity of medicine given to perhaps one-fifth of their original dose; but, as diminishing the quantity does not improve the quality, such a change can never answer the demands of suffering invalids.

A change was required which should dispense with all poisonous drugs, and substitute a system of innocent medication, which would harmonize with nature, and remove diseases, without the risk of injury to the constitution. For the accomplishment of this object, many talented and learned men have zealously labored, and a great reform has been brought about. Among the champions in this reform, we believe all are willing to yield the palm to Dr. R. Greene, the founder of the "Boston Indian Medical Institute."

Dr. Greene, after studying the various systems of medicine, and finding that they had not the basis of nature, turned his attention to the study of Nature's Laws—spent several years in travel, and received much useful information from those "children of Nature"—the "red men of the forest," whose habits and system of medical practice he thoroughly investigated, and which has greatly assisted him in the development of a system, having nature for its foundation, and science for its superstructure.

About ten years ago, Dr. Greene located in Boston, when the success of his treatment was brought more fully before the public, and his sphere of usefulness enlarged. His Allopathic friends viewed his success with a jealous eye, and his practice was animadverted upon in one or two of their medical journals, in no very dignified terms. That he was successful in all ordinary diseases was admitted; but they were slow to believe that he was able to cure Cancers and Scrofulous Humors. To convince them and the public of his success, he published facts in regard to cures of such cases, giving the names and residence of such persons who were willing to have their names used, so that any one could be satisfied of their truthfulness. He also preserved specimens of cancers as they were removed, that they might be examined by the doctors, or by the public. Several hundreds of these cancers, some of enormous size, soon accumulated, having been put up in glass jars, where they have since remained on exhibition at his rooms, 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, to which the public have free access.

These incontrovertible evidences of success brought out the press in his favor, and drew around him a large number of friends who were interested in the common cause of humanity. The business at the office so increased that it became necessary to relieve Dr. Greene from the details of his practice, in order to make his services available to a larger portion of those applying for treatment. For this purpose, and by the advice and cooperation of influential citizens, an organization was formed under the name of the "Boston Indian Medical Institute." Not that the practice was crude like that of the Indians, but based upon the Indian system, or natural principles, harmonizing with natural laws, and avoiding the use of poisonous drugs. Under this organization the Institution has become the most popular Medical Asylum in the country, where patients are daily received and successfully treated for all the various ills of the human family. But few people have an adequate idea of the extent of business done at this Institution, or the number of cures effected, although nearly all are familiar with the fact of frequent remarkable operations being performed with the most favorable results. Such results are not without their lesson. They speak hope to many sufferers, and the basis of such hope is a firm one, for it rests upon experience, and upon facts.

Consumption has been treated with a success unexpected by the patients and their friends; and the results in numerous cases of Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Female Complaints, Disease of the Stomach, Bowels, and Kidneys, Rheumatism, and various other diseases, give confidence to those conversant with the fact, that cures are effected at this Institution which have baffled medical skill elsewhere.

Facts like these cannot be resisted, and this practice must necessarily take precedence in the minds of the people.

Many clergymen, editors, and other professional gentlemen, have visited this Institution, and signified their entire approbation of the system of practice, and expressed a desire that the facts connected with this treatment should be made known to the world.

The Institution, whose Card is here appended, is now placed upon a firm basis, and is an honor to the city of Boston, and one to which her citizens can point with pride, in view of the vast amount of relief it has afforded to sufferers throughout the country, and the confidence with which the invalid may look upon the results of its practice in the future.

Established for the successful Treatment of Diseases upon Rational Principles.

The Electro-Chemical Baths, together with Dr. Greene's improved Medication, have been adopted in this Institution, and have exceeded the most sanguine expectations in the removal of a great variety of diseases.

All persons having Cancers, or those afflicted with complicated diseases, should avail themselves of the personal attention of the physicians at the Institute, where proper boarding-houses are provided.

A personal examination of each case is preferable; but all the common forms of diseases, except in aggravated and complicated cases, are successfully treated with medicines which can be sent to any part of the world, with full directions, as a very correct knowledge can be obtained from answers to the questions in the "Indian Arcana," a newspaper published by the Institution, a copy of which will be sent free when requested; Also, Dr. Greene's "INDIANOSTATIC," or Science of Indian Medicine, may be had at the office for 12 cents, or by mail on the receipt of four postage stamps.

Consultations and advice are free of charge at the office, or by letter on the receipt of a postage stamp.

DENTISTRY.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES!

IT has frequently been said that more people would have their teeth attended to if the prices for dental operations were not so high; but that "as they are now, they cannot afford it." This may be the case, as many people neglect their teeth altogether. And in order to test the truth of the statement, I will, for the next

THREE MONTHS,

(and longer if the experiment is successful) fill teeth (the only remedy for decay) either with pure tin or gold foil, for a

Discount of 37 per cent from FORMER PRICES.

Now is the time to get your teeth filled; let no one who has decayed teeth neglect them till they are past help. Many one should doubt the truth of the above statement, let him apply to the office of DR. I. D. KILBOURNE,

Over Boles' Clothing Store,

Cor. of Main and Central Sts.,
