LAWS OF THE U. S.

Passed at the Second Session of the Fortieth Congress.

An act to admit the state of Arkansas to representation in congress.

Whereas the people of Arkansas, in pursuance of the provisions of an act entitled "An act for the more efficient government of the rebel states," passed March second, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and the acts supplementary thereto, have framed and adopted a constitution of state government, which is republican, and the legislature of said state has duly ratified the amendment to the constitution of the United States proposed by the thirty-ninth congress, and known as article fourteen: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the state of Arkansas is entitled and admitted to representation in congress as one of the states of the Union upon the following fundamental condition: That the constitution of Arkansas shall never be so amended or changed as to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the right to vote who are entitled to vote by the constitution herein recognized, except as a punishment for such crimes as are now felonies at common law, whereof they shall have been duly convicted, under laws equally applicable to all the inhabitants of said state: Provided, That any alteration of said constitution prospective in its effect may be made in regard to the time and place of residence of voters.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
H. F. WADE,
President of the Senate pro tempore.

In the House of Representatives, U. S.,
June 20, 1868.

The president of the United States having returned to the house of representatives, in which it originated, the bill entitled "An act to admit the state of Arkansas to representation in congress," with his objections thereto, the house of representatives proceeded, in pursuance of the constitution, to reconsider the same; and

Resolved, That the said bill do pass, two-thirds of the house of representatives agreeing to pass the same.

Attest: EDWD. McPHERSON,
Clerk H. R. U. S.
