WALL ST.

STOCK REPORTS.

The Week's Business the Greatest for Months.

Favorable Showing of the Weekly Bank Statement.

Brokers Expect the Volume of Business to Further Increase.

WALL STREET, Saturday, Jan. 9.—The Stock Exchange at noon to-day concluded the most active week's business done in Wall street for a very long time.

There is a general expectation that the transactions, large as they are at present, will appear small before long.

In the early part of the session this forenoon some shares scored the highest figures of the week, among them the coalers, Susquehannah & Western, Richmond Terminal, Jersey Central and New England. While these were moving up, however, others were being sold, and it was plain that the market was full of stocks. In short, the leaders were taking profits.

The effect of this was witnessed shortly before the close, when prices declined ½ to 2 points all around.

There was a good deal of talk again to-day about the latest combination between the New England, Long Island and Jersey Central interests. Those supposed to have the inside track assert that there will be important developments in the near future, and that a vast amount of capital will be enlisted to place the New England on a strong footing.

Chicago Gas was about the firmest stock on the list.

It is reported from Chicago that the Rock Island road is, on the market to sell another block of its 5 per cent. extension bonds.

The net earnings of the Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stock Yards Co. for 1891 were $1,751,000. After paying all charges there was a balance of $801,000.

The bank statement was favorable, showing an increase in reserve of $1,720,075, and the banks now hold $16,061,125 above legal requirements. The items show some wide changes, loans being up $5,575,500 and deposits $11,164,100. Cash on hand (specie and legal tenders) increased $4,320,100.

Following are the comparative figures:

	Jan. 2.	Jan. 9.	Increase.
Loans	$448,616,400	$454,189,900	$5,575,500
Specie	99,972,200	103,372,100	3,400,000
Legals	37,814,000	39,206,000	1,392,000
Deposits	456,218,200	467,382,300	11,164,100
Circulation	5,537,400	5,562,500	25,000

The sales to-day were 408,700 shares of listed stocks, 55,000 ounces of silver and 15,000 barrels of Pennsylvania oil.

GRIP'S DEATH ROLL.

Eleven of To-Day's 128 Deaths Due to the Epidemic.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics reports 128 deaths in this city during the twenty-four hours ended at noon to-day, eleven of which resulted from grip and its complications.

The police sick list to-day contains 216 names.

Two Died for $5.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Jan. 9.—At Challis, Custer County, Monday, in a quarrel over eight dollars, L. Kestler stabbed George Jacoby. The latter then shot Kestler dead. Jacoby afterwards died. Both men were prominent.

RURAL VOTERS TO REGISTER.

One Law Proposed for Country and City Electors.

Tammany Pledged to Support the Democratic Presidential Nominee.

One of the party measures which it is said will be introduced early in the present session of the Legislature is a bill which was recommended by Gov. Hill, and to which Gov. Flower called attention in his recent message as necessary to secure perfection in ballot reform. It is nothing less than a measure making the personal registration of voters obligatory throughout the State.

At present only the voters in cities are obliged to appear personally before registration boards to have their names placed on the lists of qualified electors. In the rural districts the party committees or any member of the registration boards can place the name of an elector on the lists.

This was formerly the case in the smaller cities of the State, but the Ballot Reform law extended personal registration to them and the Democratic Legislature proposes to make it general.

This will be a party measure, for the Republicans will bitterly oppose the passage, as they know if it becomes a law they will lose many thousands of votes.

They say that it is a difficult matter now to get the former electors to travel miles to the polling places to cast their votes; and if this law be enforced they are compelled to make an extra journey for the purpose of registration, there are thousands who will stay away from the polls altogether.

Of course Democratic farmers will be affected by the passage of such a measure as well as Republicans, but not in the same ratio, for the great voting strength of the Republican party of the State is in the farming sections.

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE FORMATIONS.

A Democratic member of the Assembly from this city said this morning that Speaker Rush confided to him the manner of arranging the committees he had determined on with reference to minority representation.

The Speaker believes in a good working majority of stalwart Democrats on every committee, so that no party measure can fail by a fluke such as the possible defection of one of the majority.

He has accordingly determined that the Republicans shall have two members on committees of seven, three on committees of nine and four on committees of eleven.

TAMMANY AND THE PRESIDENCY.

Congressman W. Bourke Cockran has practically put Tammany Hall on record in the matter of its Presidential preference.

"Name whom you will for President, so that he be a Democrat," said he in his speech at the organization of the Wilson's 1892 General Committee, "and leave to us the task of electing him.

"We may have a preference for the nomination, he continued, "but whichever is selected as the nominee will have the unswerving support of Tammany Hall."

Although the Congressman refrained from formally naming his preferred candidate for the nomination, he was free to say afterward that it is his opinion that United States Senator David B. Hill will be the Democracy's choice at the National Convention.

The speech of Mr. Cockran, with the adoption of the ten cent primary bill to which he made it, was discussed freely in Democratic circles this morning.

By some of the more conservative it was criticised in a mild, deprecatory way, while others hailed it as a declaration of the Tammany National platform for 1892.

GRIP DROVE HIM TO SUICIDE.

A. L. P. Grampp Fired a Bullet Into His Brain at Home.

Crazed by a week's illness with the grip Arthur P. L. Grampp, manager of a Broadway importing house, shot himself dead in his home at 638 Pacific street, Brooklyn.

The suicide occurred yesterday, but the case was not reported to the police until this morning.

Grampp was thirty-nine years old, a German, and lived with his wife and child at the above address. He was manager for Moritz Farb, a cloak importer of 385 Broadway, and was in receipt of a handsome salary.

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Grampp left home to visit her mother. She was accompanied by her child and a nurse. At intervals the cook heard footsteps in the hallway, and, upon going to see who had entered, found Grampp pacing the floor in a excited manner.

At 4 o'clock the nurse and child returned home. The cook told the nurse Grampp's queer actions, and the nurse went through the house for him. When she opened the door leading to her employer's bedroom she found Grampp lying face downward on the floor. A revolver was clutched in his right hand.

Mrs. Grampp, who is only twenty-three years old, is prostrated with grief.

A story was told in the neighborhood that Grampp had had trouble in business, but this was denied by Mrs. Grampp and by Grampp's employer, Mr. Farb.

COL. KOPPER'S RESIGNATION.

Private Business Engagements Caused Him to Give Up Command.

Col. Frederick Kopper, whose resignation from the Seventy-first regiment was made public this morning, gives as the reason for taking this step that he finds himself unable to do his duty to the Regiment owing to business engagements. The Colonel found a board at 14 Commerce St., near the front of same.

END OF THE COURT-MARTIAL.

F. R. Coudert Argues for the Accused Major Throckmorton.

The argument of Lawyer Frederic R. Coudert, counsel for Major Throckmorton, second Artillery, U. S. A., whose trial by court-martial for alleged misappropriation of the money paid as a bonus for the release of Lieutenant Kislingbury from the Army Rules in Canada, has lasted two days, was begun in the Army Building in Lower Broadway this morning. It was conceded by counsel on both sides that the case would be submitted to the President of the United States without any decision by the court-martial.

Mr. Coudert, in his argument, said that the charges against his client were "not positive, but circumstantial." He said the evidence was "not sufficient to convict a dog of stealing a piece of meat from a butcher's shop." He said the charges were "reviewed by friends and foes."

The Mohawk Beefsteak Club, of the Eighteenth Assembly District, will give its first annual dinner to-night at 207 East Twenty-seventh street.

FIGHTING FOR HUNT'S PLACE.

Lively Contest for the School Board Presidency.

Commissioners Sanger or Lummis the "Progressive" Candidates.

Some lively politics is being played in connection with the annual reorganization of the Board of Education, which will occur at the meeting to be held next Wednesday. The particular bone to over the Presidency of the Board, and the opponents of the present administration claim that they have a majority of fourteen of the twenty-one votes which will be cast.

President John L. N. Hunt, who is a candidate for reelection, does not accept these figures, but the claim he is still in the lead and will poll a majority of the votes.

Some of President Hunt's opponents claim that he made an alliance with Tammany Hall to secure his reelection, but that the political organization has thought better of the matter and will keep its hands off the Educational Board.

President Hunt, though a Republican, came to the in favor of Mayor Grant and Tammany Hall in a long letter when they were attacked on the school question by Candidate Fassett during the last campaign, and is against of granting other favors to Tammany in return for support which he cannot now have, as Mayor Grant said this morning, that, though he has been importuned to interfere in the fight, he has steadfastly refused to do so.

"There is no secret of my opposition to Mr. Hunt," said School Commissioner Miles O'Brien to-day. "I am in favor of a progressive administration of school affairs, and I believe that the progressive element in the Board is the stronger and will defeat Mr. Hunt.

"We are opposed to this grading and cramming system which makes everything else subservient to the pupils' memory, and believe in a reform which will begin with the primary schools, which are the basis of our system, as the great majority of the city children leave school by the time they are fourteen years of age. Their education should be as complete as it is possible to make it when they do leave.

"It would be greatly to the interest of the city of New York if some of the old fogies who are connected with its school administration were pensioned and pitched out.

"They are doing the best they can with their lights, but they do not understand the meaning of innovations intended to better the system.

"I have no doubt that we will elect a progressive President and that Mr. Hunt will be defeated."

The opposition candidate is Adolph L. Sanger, formerly President of the Board of Aldermen, but Commissioner William Lummis would like the place, though he will not permit his candidacy so long as Commissioner Sanger is in the field. The "progressive party" is willing to unite on either of these men.

There is a vacancy in the Board caused by the resignation of Congressman Joseph J. Little, but Mayor Grant would not say to-day whether he will make an appointment to fill it before the meeting.

Dr. Enslow, a former Commissioner, is a candidate for the place.

SEEKING HURLBERT'S DOUBLE.

Offers of Rewards for News of Wilfred Murray.

$100 REWARD WILL BE ONCE PAID AT [illegible] No. 25 Nassau st., New York, for legal evidence showing that a person sometimes called Wilfred Murray, sometimes Melbermitt and sometimes Wilfred Murray Hurlbert, was seen in the Spring and Summer of, at any other time in the year 1891, and $100 further reward will be paid for any such person, correspondence of such person, accompanied by legal proof that such correspondence is genuine.

Wilfred Murray is the alleged double of William Henry Hurlbert, the New York newspaper man who was sued for breach of promise of marriage in London by Gladys Evelyn, an actress.

The young woman claimed to have been at various places with Mr. Hurlbert, who was known to her as Wilfred Murray, and she introduced in evidence many very damaging letters signed "Wilfred Murray."

Mr. Hurlbert set up against this the story that at one time he had a private secretary named Wilfred Murray; that Wilfred Murray was his double, and that Wilfred Murray, or some one else, not William Henry Hurlbert, had written the letters and done the improper things which constituted Miss Evelyn's ground for thinking William Henry Hurlbert sought to marry her or pay her roundly for deceiving her trusting heart.

The address given in the advertisement above is the office of Seward, Da Costa, Guthrie & Morawitz, eminent lawyers. Mr. Morawitz was seen there by an EVENING WORLD reporter to-day.

The lawyer admitted that the notice offering a reward of $100 for legal evidence concerning Wilfred Murray's doings in 1888, when Miss Evelyn's cause of action was created, was Mr. Hurlbert's advertisement.

The gentleman said that Mr. Hurlbert was very anxious, indeed, to learn more about his double and his whereabouts. Mr. Hurlbert's Seward had the case in charge, and would not be downtown to-day.

It is stated that detectives from Scotland Yard have been in New York for some time in order to William Henry Hurlbert, who is known in London only by the name of Murray, and who is said to be very popular in the London clubs. Mr. Hurlbert left England shortly after the Gladys Evelyn trial, and is now out of reach of process of the Justice Court.

Mr. Hurlbert's family are of some old and high family. They are both well known in New York.

A GIRL HANGS HERSELF.

Miss Emma Hoyland Committed Suicide at Her Home.

Emma Hoyland, daughter of Herman Hoyland, a manufacturer of leather and hides at 56 Frankfort street, took her own life this morning by hanging in the home of her parents, 128 [illegible] fifth street.

She was about [illegible] years old. [illegible] The cause of the act is not known. [illegible] have been ill [illegible] and had [illegible] of late. [illegible] Her father [illegible] The deceased was a member of [illegible] and daughter.

The Jefferson Club's Ball.

The annual ball of the Jefferson Club of the Twenty-fourth Assembly District will be held at [illegible] Hall next Wednesday night. [illegible] orchestra will furnish the music. The Jefferson Club numbers 500 members and is one of the strongest organizations in the district. Ex-Assemblyman Patrick Divver is President of the Club. Other officers are: [illegible] Thomas A. [illegible] Thomas J. Dunn, [illegible] Henry Blake.

Yoorhis Association Officers.

The John R. Voorhis Association of the Nineteenth District has elected the following officers for 1892: President, Lawyer Frank E. Hipple; Vice-Presidents, William H. Newell, John Meehan, jr.; Corresponding Secretary, Thomas Hussey; Recording Secretary, Andrew J. Hickson; Financial Secretary, Thomas Murphy; Treasurer, Jacob Fenlon; Sergeant-at-Arms, Edward Seery, Charles Falk; Conductor, George Cammeyer.

Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

Mrs. Sarah J. Miller, who lived on Powell avenue, near Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn, died suddenly of heart disease in the Municipal Building in that city this morning.

ADDED TO BRENNAN'S TASK.

Principal Thoroughfares, Though, Were Cleared of Snow.

Extra Laborers Employed to Care for This Morning's Snowfall.

"I'm sweary," remarked Commissioner of Street-Cleaning Thomas S. Brennan when he arrived at his office in the Stewart Building at 11 o'clock this morning. He had been fighting the snow since Wednesday, with hardly an opportunity for sleep, and he has done remarkably well in clearing the principal thoroughfares of traffic-obstructing snow.

He was assured by his subordinates, who had experience with that sort of thing, that to-day's snow all would and little to his burden, and he felt relieved.

Last night the Commissioner personally directed the operations of his extra snow gang, which was employed on Broadway, between Forty-second and Forty-seventh streets, and on Forty-second street, between Seventh avenue and the Grand Central Station. The snow was entirely removed between the points named by 2 o'clock A. M.

His first thought this morning was of snow and the cleaning of Twenty-third street, and his next act was to organize an extra force of sixty men to remove the accumulated "beautiful" from that street from Second avenue to the North River.

The big flat cars of the Twenty-third street surface road are being used to remove the snow heaped of carts as in other streets.

No scups have been taken yet to pile the snow in Fifth avenue and this morning's storm put a little extra finish to the sleighing there.

SLEIGHING FOR NEXT WEEK.

To-Day's Snow to Be Increased and Then a Cold Wave.

People who were astir early this morning might have thought that the weather gods were arranging another small blizzard. They were mistaken. It was simply a snow squall that had its beginning somewhere between here and Philadelphia, and its ending a few miles out at sea, where it probably turned into rain.

Weather Forecaster Dunn says it was due to a little jump in the mercury, which took place a little before daylight. This seems to be rather an unusual mode of procedure for snow flurries, but that is the only explanation that he vouchsafed.

What is more interesting is the news that a cold wave of considerable dimensions is now on its way eastward, and will begin to get its work in in New York some time this afternoon.

It will not show up in full force, however, till next Monday morning, when the temperature will have reached its lowest point.

From the present outlook, it will bring the coldest weather which New York has had this season, and will insure good sleighing for at least three or four days.

RAN AMUCK IN THE FLAT.

Somebody Destroyed Things in Mr. Michener's Home.

The police of Brooklyn's Eighteenth Precinct have not yet learned who wrecked C. A. Michener's cosy flat at 119 Thirty-ninth street, South Brooklyn, Thursday, but they have a clue.

Michener is an employee of the H. W. Johns Asbestos Manufacturing Company. He came from Philadelphia about a year ago, and when he furnished the flat a few months later his adopted daughter, Mrs. Emma Sneider, came from the Quaker City to make it home-like for him.

Mrs. Sneider's husband had urged her to return and Thursday he was come after her. When Michener left home that morning his flat was in apple-pie order, and so it was when Mrs. Sneider started for Jersey City to meet her husband. But upon her return at 1 o'clock the flat was a wreck.

Pictures had been torn, the furniture broken, three canary birds crushed in their cages and the whole place looked as though some one with a grievance had taken vengeance in this way.

Although Michener was supposed to be a widower, it has been learned that he has a wife in Philadelphia, and he is alleged to have telegraphed there to learn his wife's whereabouts Thursday.

Texas Wanted Cigarette-Maker Duke.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALBANY, Jan. 9.—There was to have been a hearing before Gov. Flower this morning on an application by the authorities of Texas for the extradition of J. R. Duke, a cigarette manufacturer, of New York, indicted in Texas for felony in conspiring with another to regulate the production and the prices to be charged for cigarettes. The accused manufacturer appeared with his counsel and an officer from Texas was here, but nothing was done, it being stated that steps had been taken to bring about a settlement without Duke going to Texas.

Oliver Hitchcock's Half-Million.

Oliver Hitchcock, the founder of the famous Park Row bakery, leaves by his will the entire interest in his eating-house to his son Oliver, and the income of the remainder of his property to his widow, Louisa Hitchcock. At her death it is to be divided equally to his two sons, his daughter and his grandchild. The entire estate is valued at something less than half a million dollars.

Oberle Must Be Tried Again.

Watchman Joseph Oberle, of the New York Central freight yard, will have to be tried again on the indictment for clubbing little Willie Moran. The jury which tried him in Judge Fitzgerald's Part I. of General Sessions Was discharged last night, having failed to agree on a verdict. Judge Fitzgerald remanded Oberle to the Tombs.

Killed by Morphine.

William F. Randorff, a lodger at 57 Hicks street, Brooklyn, was found dead in his room this morning with a bottle partly filled with morphine near him. Randorff was in the habit of using the drug, but it is not known whether he took an overdose or swallowed it with suicidal intent.

Caught Robbing a Show Window.

Frank Hodge and Charles Price, who say they are homeless, were held in the Tombs Court to-day charged with attempted robbery. They had smashed a plate-glass window in Jacob Harris' clothing store at 186 Bowery and were reaching in for overcoats when arrested.

Stole His Father's Watch.

The police to-day sent out a general alarm for the arrest of John Hanft, twenty-one years old, son of Adam Hanft, liquor dealer at one hundred and sixty-fifth street and Harlem River, who last night beat his father and then disappeared with his watch and chain valued at $100.

FOR SEVEN BURIALS, $5,500.

Undertaker Riley's Bill for Interring Hastings Victims.

He Explains His Charges, Denying that They Are Excessive.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

YONKERS, Jan. 9.—An interesting feature of the Christmas Eve New York Central Railroad disaster at Hastings, in which thirteen persons lost their lives, is the bill of expenses for the burial of the victims just rendered to the Railroad Company.

J. W. Riley, an undertaker of this city, buried seven persons who were killed. To an EVENING WORLD reporter Undertaker Riley declared this morning that his bill for burying the seven people calls for about $5,500.

"There is no reason in the world," he said, "why anybody should be startled at the amount of this bill. I gave each of the bodies I had charge of the best burial that could be given, and in this I was merely carrying out instructions.

"The seven bodies I had charge of were those of Mrs. Baldwin and her daughter Lillian, Mr. Polley, Dr. Best, Miss Ford, Editor Murphy and Wagner Car Porter J. W. White.

"I was instructed by Division Supt. McCoy of the New York Central, to spare no expense in the burial. I accordingly encased each body in a metallic case with rich silk plush exterior ornamentation, embalmed all the bodies, shipped them to the various places of interment, each accompanied by a representative of my establishment, and paid out of my pocket all moneys required in the burials.

"The caskets were of solid cedar, copper lined, and each had a solid oak box. They were commensurate with the standing of the dead persons, and I have been assured since by relatives that the latter were satisfied with everything, and that if the Company refused to pay the bills they would be responsible.

Mr. Riley declared that the principal item of cost was for the metallic caskets, which he said were taken from the showcases of an undertakers supply house in Great Jones street, New York, and cost in the neighborhood of $250 apiece. Then came the incidental expenses, so common in an undertaker's bill, besides the shipping expenses which he claimed were entirely legitimate charges.

"Out of regard for the families of the deceased persons," he continued, "I do not think it advisable to print any itemized bills. The bills were forwarded to Supt. McCoy this week, and anybody who wants to see them can do so there. There is nothing exorbitant or excessive about the figures."

No amount of persuasion could induce Mr. Riley to make public any of the itemized bills. He said that so far the New York Central officials have not questioned his bills, and they are not likely to do so now.

SHOT HIS WIFE IN THE HEAD.

Charles S. Quackenbush, of Newark, Then Took His Own Life.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)

NEWARK, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Charles S. Quackenbush, who was shot at her home here last night by her husband, who then put a bullet through his own brain, is in St. Michael's Hospital in a critical condition. It is considered impossible for her to recover.

Quackenbush, who is the son of a former Mayor of Albany, was under $1,000 for a previous assault on his wife.

He returned from a visit to Montreal yesterday, and, after a quarrel with his wife, shot her through the head, and then turned the pistol upon himself.

THREE CRANKS PUT AWAY.

These Men Had Mild Delusions and No Dynamite.

Three cranks were committed to the care of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction from the Harlem Police Court this morning.

The first, Fred Rohkahl, of 239 East Fifty-ninth street, has been annoying Contractor Matthew Beard, of 807 Lexington avenue, who, he says, is wearing his overcoat.

The second, Peter Doris, of 229 East One Hundred and First street, is deluded by the idea that beautiful ladies have made appointments to meet him at the Fifty-third street station of the Third avenue L, and the third, Leopold Blumper, of 1,405 First avenue, was found yelling and dancing in front of Russell Sage's house on Fifth avenue.

WELL CONNECTED PRISONERS.

Two Suspected Burglars Who Come of Good Families.

Justice Kelly in the Harlem Court this morning remanded for a further hearing Joseph Decker, twenty-one years old, and Ulysses Duryea, twenty-four, of 207 West Twenty-fourth street, who were arrested on suspicion of having broken into Healy's liquor store, corner One Hundred and Twenty-second street and Eighth avenue, on three different occasions within the past two months.

Decker is said to be a son of Decker, of the Morris Park race track, and the other a nephew of Gen. Duryea.

Brought the Germanic's Passengers.

The White Star steamship Adriatic arrived here to-day from Liverpool and had on board fourteen of the cabin and all of the steerage passengers of the Germanic, which broke her shaft off Queenstown on Dec. 24.

Narragansett Club's Dinner.

The Narragansett Club, the Tammany social organization in the Nineteenth Assembly District, will indulge in a beefsteak dinner this evening at the club-house, 307 West Fifty-fourth street.

ALLEGED ATTACK ON HAYTI.

Story That a Privateer Has Been Fitted Out Here Disbelieved.

A report was published this morning that the foes of President Hippolyte, of Hayti, who were planning his overthrow, had purchased in this country a vessel which was fitted out as a man-of-war, with armor plates and big guns, and that the ship was now on her way to attack Port au Prince, the capital of the unfortunate little Republic.

The name of the revolutionary man-o'war is given as "Le Pays." It was said that she was purchased by Francois Robert and Georges Richet, agents of the Haytian malcontents. According to the story she lay a short time in a ship-yard in Brooklyn, and was finally taken to Galveston and fitted out. The present whereabouts of Le Pays was not given.

The chief conspirators were said to be Gen. Francois Manigat, leader; Gen. Anselme Pierrotte, ex-President Lysius Salomon, Gen. Boisbrand, and their backers, it is alleged, are New York capitalists.

The revolutionary movement is said to be the result of Hippolyte's action on May 28, 1891, when he ordered the execution of the leaders of the present alleged conspirators, who also rebelled against his authority.

Hannibal Price, Haytian Minister to the United States, was reported to have discovered the conspiracy and to have asked Mr. Blaine to have Le Pays pursued and seized.

Mr. Price could not be seen at his office, 161 Pearl street, last night. He was said to be at the bedside of his wife, who is dying. Consul-General Haystedt and Vice-Consul Klatte, however, said that they did not believe there was a word of truth in the reports of the threatened revolution, and they had no knowledge that the State Department at Washington had been appealed to by Mr. Price.

No such vessel as Le Pays is known at the Maritime Exchange, and no vessel has been sold recently to Francois Robert and Georges Richet.

FOUR LONG-TERM CONVICTS.

Their Stay at Sing Sing Will Aggregate Forty-three Years.

A quartet of convicts was taken from the Tombs to Sing Sing Prison this morning in charge of two deputy sheriffs. The prisoners were:

Harris Pitt, the Allen street firebug, whose sentence was for eighteen years and six months.

Samuel H. Lewis, who swindled his wife out of her fortune, and who goes up for ten years.

John Macormack, the ex-employee of the Metropolitan Life Ins
