Alaskan Mummies.

Four Alaskan mummies were brought down from Alaska by the schooner Kodiak, on her last trip. Three go to Berlin and one to the Smithsonian Institute. The bodies are wonderfully preserved, even the skins in which they are wrapped being intact. One mummy, evidently that of a woman, is now in possession of the Alaska Fur Company, and is in a state of almost perfect preservation.

The mummies were secured by A. Jacobson, who has been over two years in the country collecting for the Royal Museum of Berlin. He is of the opinion that the mummies are at least two hundred years old, all the evidence obtainable pointing to that fact. The Esquimaux formerly preserved the bodies of their dead shammans, or medicine men, and those of their chiefs and their wives and children, in this manner. After death the viscera were removed from the interior of the body through the pelvis, and the limbs being pressed close to the body, the legs well up under the chin, were dried and encased in skins and then placed in some cave or rock shelter which was free from water or moisture. Here they remained for hundreds of years, and were reverenced by the living. To them were offered part of the results of their fishing and hunting excursions, if they were successful, for they judged success to be due to the spirits of those whose bodies were preserved. The mummies just brought down are in a wonderful state of preservation, considering the rude means employed. In the case of one that has been opened, the skin appears to remain intact, and the limbs are movable.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Liberties for Freshmen.

Amherst College is in the throes of a great reform. The sophomores have voted to allow the freshmen to carry canes if they choose and will not molest them in any way. We remember that a sophomore class some twenty years ago voted not to do any hazing, but they had to get rid of their animal spirits somehow. They accordingly picked a quarrel with the juniors and had one of the toughest fights ever known in the college. In those days even the tutors took a hand in regulating the costume of the freshmen. One of the latter wore back from his vacation a Scotch cap, at that time the prerogative of some of the nobby boys of the upper classes. A tutor, who saw the impropriety of Scotch caps, remonstrated sharply with the freshman and advised him to abandon that style of head-gear. But the times are changed. Freshmen can now wear Scotch caps if they like, with none to molest or make them afraid, and, by grace of the sophomores, may carry canes to steady their tottering steps. To the outside world this means very little, but in the college world it means that college boys have become college men, and at Amherst, where a new system of self-government is on trial, it indicates that the college republic is becoming established in the respect and common sense of the students.—*Springfield (Mass.) Unexpected Aid to the Salmon Supply.

An interesting theory in relation to the salmon supply question is put forth by an Astoria gentleman, who has given the matter much attention. He is of the opinion that every cannery on the rivers is in effect a propagating establishment, and accounts for the extraordinary run of the past season on this theory. The first operation in the canneries, he argues, is to relieve the fish of their entrails, fins, heads and spawn, and these, in almost every instance, are dropped directly into the river. Much of the spawn, of course, is eaten by fish or destroyed, but a goodly share, he thinks, finds lodgment on the bottom, where in the natural process it hatches. It is a fact well known that the water about the canneries fairly swarms with young fish during the summer and fall. It has generally been supposed, where the matter has received attention at all, that these shoals were attracted by offal, but it may easily be believed that they are hatched from the offal itself. The theory is worth consideration as a novelty if for no other reason.—Portland Oregonian.

—It may not be generally known that there is a society in this country known as the "Shut Ins." It is composed of people who are confined to their homes by chronic diseases, who are not, however, incapacitated from writing and reading. Through the efforts of this society "Shut Ins," are introduced to each other by letter, and many pleasant friendships are formed in this way, and many a weary hour whiled away by the writing and reading of letters. Sometimes a "Shut In" so far recovers that he or she can go out of town to visit another with whom he has become acquainted by letter, and who has not been so fortunate in bodily improvement.—*N. Y. TELEGRAPH ITEM.

UTICA, June 9, 1883.

FRANK W. HOFFMAN, clerk of the American District Telegraph Co., says; "Having had occasion to use a medicine for kidney trouble with a lame back, I was recommended by one of our Utica druggists to use Hunt's Remedy, as he had sold a good deal of it to many of our leading families here with great success for kidney, liver and urinary troubles. I purchased some, and have only used three bottles. It has cured me, and I can truly recommend Hunt's Remedy to any one in need of the best medicine for these complaints."

In compliance with your request I send you a statement of my case. I will write you with a double purpose, first to thank you for the great amount of good your medicine, "Hunt's Remedy," has done me, and secondly, with the hope that my recovery will induce some sufferer to do as I did, "use the great specific and be cured." For nearly a whole year I was an invalid, unable to go out of the house, and a great part of the time confined to my bed, a living, powerless subject of the most dreadful of all diseases, "kidney complaint." From the long suffering I became weak from the loss of strength, with a lack of vitality, and very much reduced in flesh. All this time I was taking various medicines, and under the care of our family doctor, and not receiving a particle of help. I had almost despaired of getting well when my attention was called to Hunt's Remedy by a boarder in my family. I commenced taking it (unknown to the doctor) with but little hopes of relief. This non-belief was soon dispelled, however, as I daily began to improve. I continued the use of Hunt's Remedy, (and to make a long story short), used eight bottles, dispensed with the doctor, and to the surprise of all who knew me, and my own great satisfaction, became as well as ever. All pains and aches vanished, appetite returned, gained strength and flesh, and to-day consider myself as well as ever, and only too glad to place my testimony with that of many others.

That your medicine, "Hunt's Remedy," brought me from a sick bed I well know, and many people who know of my condition pronounce my cure almost miraculous. I am happy to say I am enjoying excellent health, thanks to your valuable medicine, Hunt's Remedy. MRS. L. W. CLARK,
109 Main Street.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and ACUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

Dangerous "Wine."

In the beginning of last session, when the too flagrant adulteration of wine caused an outcry among experts as well as the general public, Mr. Edouard Lockroy entered the arena as the champion of the fraudulent wine retailers. By importing politics into a question that admitted of none, he succeeded in crippling first and silencing at last intended legislation. "That which hath made them drunk hath made me bold; what hath quenched them hath given me fire," says Lady Macbeth. The quotation has been taken au pied de la lettre by the adulterators of wines and spirits. The tribunal at Marseilles has just given judgment in a case where it was proved that 592 hectolitres of so-called wine forwarded by a French dealer from Barcelona did not contain one drop of grape-juice. The coloring matter contained sufficient arsenic to kill several young cats to whom small doses were administered. It was further proved that the consumption of this wine for a few days would cause severe intestinal complications. But while the wine-shop, according to Victor Hugo's son-in-law, will continue to be the trysting-place of all that is good and great in the French Republic, exemplary punishment is out of the question. The dealer has been fined the magnificent sum of 500 francs.—Paris Cor. London Globe.

—The little village of Annsville, on the Hudson, has derived its existence for nearly half a century from the Annsville wire mills, which employed upward of four hundred men at good wages. Recently the wire mills were destroyed by fire, and threw out of employment nearly all the working population of the village. The proprietors of the wire mills decided not to rebuild, and last week leased Sharp's rifle works at Bridgeport for ten years, where they will in future carry on their business. As a result the storekeepers of Annsville have been forced to close up, and the village is rapidly becoming depopulated. A more desolate-looking place can hardly be imagined.—*Albany (N. Y.) Shall We Let the Child Die?

A hard-hearted political economist, looking at a pale and puny child feebly gasping as it lies upon a pillow, says that the child might as well die. It is so weak and poor that its life will never be worth much anyhow. There are already a good many people in the world who are of not much account anyhow. And what's the use of adding to their number another weakling, who has but slender chance of ever amounting to anything?

Now ask that child's mother what she thinks about letting the child die. About this time the hard political economist had better get out of the way. "Let my child die? No! No! As long as there is a remedy to be found that will save that child, the child shall not die! I'll spend my last dollar to save the child!" Well, try a bottle of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS on that child. See the poor little fellow pick up strength. He revives. He will live. Hosts of other children have been brought almost from death to healthy life by Brown's Iron Bitters. Your druggist sells it. 8

Hon. DANIEL F. BEATY, of Washington, N. J., writes, June 3, 1882:

"Mr. Joseph Fodific, a gentleman in my employ, was afflicted with what was supposed to be Consumption. I got him to use your Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, and I can now state that he has been able to return to his office duties, and that his health is better than it has been for years."

J. C. ELLIOTT, of Binghamton, N. Y., says:

"I was told by my physician that I had Consumption, and I believe myself that I had, and that the use of your Medicines cured me."

Miss Annie W. RITTENHOUSE, of 941 Kurtz Street, Philadelphia, writes, July 16th, 1882:

"I believe your treatment and Medicines saved my life. I was told by several physicians of this city that I had Consumption."

A. SHELLY, of the firm of Smith & Shelly, Dry Goods Merchants, Grass Lake, Mich.,

Is now in perfect health, and in active business. Several years ago he was considered as incurable, with Consumption by his physicians. He says, in a letter to Dr. Schenck, Oct. 27th, 1883: "I had all the symptoms of Consumption—cough, night sweats, and severe pain in my lungs. I have advised many others to use your Medicines, and can tell of some wonderful cures to those who may be interested. I believe that your Medicines will cure Consumption, even in its advanced stages."

REV. HENRY MORGAN

Was cured of Consumption, in its worst form, by Dr. Schenck's Medicines, over twenty years ago. His statement is published in Dr. Schenck's book on Consumption. Referring to which, in a letter to Dr. Schenck, dated Feb. 5th, 1883, he says: "The foregoing letter was written to Dr. Schenck many years ago. I can only say that my lungs were then perfectly cured; I have had no return of hemorrhage or lung difficulty from that day to this."

A. FOSTER, of Putnam, Conn.,

Writes April 13th, 1881, that his son was cured of Consumption by the use of Dr. Schenck's Medicines.

Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup cured me of a cough with which I was afflicted for over three months.
JULIUS WERHELM, Bay City, Mich.

Rev. JOSEPH S. LAME, Pastor of Eighteenth Street M. E. Church, Phila., says:

"I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, Bronchial affections, and Pulmonary trouble, and was so sick that I thought I should be compelled to give up preaching. Dr. Schenck's remedies restored me to perfect health."

A. W. WHITE, Proprietor of the "White House," Pekin, Ill., writes, Nov. 21, '79:

"In 1872 I was told by three prominent doctors that my wife had Consumption, and that she could not live until spring. Soon after, a friend, who lived in Dayton, Ohio, insisted on her giving your Medicines a fair trial. She did so, and, thank God, by their use her life was saved. She is now entirely well."

During the years 1880 and 1881, FREDERICK TRULL, of Hudson, Mass.,

Lost his mother and brother by Consumption, and shortly after was attacked with the disease himself. He supposed that there was no hope, as he had always been told by physicians that Consumption was incurable. As he grew worse, having all the symptoms of a confirmed case, he was induced to try Dr. Schenck's remedies. They saved his life, and he is now well and hearty. See record of his case page 15 Dr. Schenck's Book on Consumption.

GEO. C. REDDEN, Agent of the "White Line Transportation Co.," at Albany, N. Y.,

Writes that his daughter was given up as incurable by three of the best physicians of that city. She was restored to perfect health by Dr. Schenck's Medicines, although the disease is hereditary in her mother's family.

Ex-Lieut.-Gov. BENJAMIN DOUGLASS, of Middletown, Conn.,

Writes, Nov. 6th, 1882: "I have used Dr. Schenck's Medicines in my family for many years. I know of those who have been cured of very serious lung disease by their use."

MRS. SOPHIA M. LAWSON,

Who lives at No. 59 Ann Street, Newburg, N. Y., was sick with Consumption for over two years. She was cured by Dr. Schenck's Medicines in 1873, and has had good health ever since.

In 1876

Mr. H. P. Nelson, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, was attacked with severe bleeding from the lungs. He was cured by Dr. Schenck's Medicines, and has never had any return of bleeding or weakness of the lungs.

THOMAS DRAPER, Proprietor of the Brooklyn House, on 6th Ave., between 28th and 29th Streets, Brooklyn, N. Y.,

After using many remedies, and spending some time in the South for his health, was cured of a pronounced case of Consumption by Dr. Schenck's Medicines. See his letter to Dr. Schenck on page 9 of Dr. Schenck's Book on Consumption. This book is sent free to all applicants.

MRS. CHARLES W. PLUMMER, of No. 274 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.,

Was afflicted with Consumption. Symptoms—loss of appetite, great weakness, dry hacking cough, night sweats, and bleeding from the lungs. She was pronounced incurable by many doctors. She says: "In one week after I began to use Dr. Schenck's Medicines my night sweats stopped, and my appetite began to improve. I commenced to use the Medicines in March; in July I was quite strong, and in two months more I was well, and I have had good health ever since."

Go and see her, if possible. See a full account of her case in Dr. Schenck's book, page 18.

MRS. J. D. GOODWIN, of Canaseraga, Allegheny Co., N. Y.,

Writes Nov. 6th, 1881, that she has been cured of Consumption by Dr. Schenck's Medicines. See her letter on page 9 of Dr. Schenck's Book on Consumption.

The REV. STEPHEN ROESE, Missionary for American Baptist Publication Society at Malden Rock, Wis.,

Says that his wife was entirely cured by the use of Dr. Schenck's Medicines. He has also used the Pulmonic Syrup himself with great benefit for hoarseness or ministers' sore throat. For further information address him at Malden Rock, Wis.

W. D. DUYCKINCK, Esq., whose place of business is at No. 707 Broadway, New York City,

Says: "Twelve years ago my physician left my wife to die, but thanks to your great medicines, she lives today a monument to their efficacy."

W. W. VAN ANTWERP, Editor of the "Daily Patriot," Jackson, Mich.,

Reports that his son was cured of Congestion of the Lungs, after the family physician had given him up, by the use of Dr. Schenck's Medicines.

HARLEY, P. HOPKINS, of Providence, R. I.,

Writes to Dr. Schenck, May 19th, 1881: "I have been cured of what three of the best physicians of this city told me was Consumption of the Lungs, by the use of your medicines." Mr. Hopkins' case is a very interesting one, and we ask you to read his full statement in Dr. Schenck's Book, page 24. Mr. Hopkins resides at No. 2 Howell Street.

Mr. H. I. Leith, Druggist, No. 282 Main St., Providence, says, referring to Mr. Hopkins' case: "He was considered a consumptive in the last stages of the disease by his physicians and friends, and I believe that his recovery is entirely due to the use of Dr. Schenck's Medicines."

When the Draft was made at Connersville, Ind., Mr. Sanford Caldwell was drafted. The examining physician rejected him, saying that one of his lungs was partially gone with Consumption. Mr. Caldwell was soon after this advised to use Dr. Schenck's Medicines, by John S. Benson, who now lives in Indianapolis, Ind. From their use he entirely recovered his health. Mr. L. Rawls, druggist, at Connersville, says: "I know of the above case, and can certify to the truth of the foregoing."

J. McGONIGAL, of the Empire House, Akron, O.,

Says: "My mother was saved from a Consumptive's grave by the use of Dr. Schenck's Medicines."

50 Years.

I have known and watched the use of Swift's Specific for over fifty years, and have never known or heard of a failure to cure Blood Poison when properly taken. In all my life I have never known a remedy that would so fully accomplish what it is recommended to do.
H. L. DENNARD, Perry, Ga.

We have sold Swift's Specific (S.S.S.) with most astonishing results. One gentleman who used half a dozen bottles says that it has done him more good than treatment which cost him $1,000. Another who has used it for a Scrofulous affection reports a permanent cure from its use.
VAN SHAACK, STEVENSON & CO., Chicago.

$1,000 REWARD!

Will be paid to any Chemist who will find, on analysis of 100 Bottles S.S.S., one particle of Mercury, Iodide Potassium, or any mineral substance.
