NEW LAWS FOR NEW YORK CITY.

Gov. Flower Signs the Bill Extending Aldermen's Terms.

The Rainey Bridge Bill and Others That Have Become Laws.

Announcement is made to-day that the Governor has signed several bills passed by the Legislature which affect interests in this city, and some of which are of great importance.

Aspirants for Aldermanic honors in the new Assembly districts to be created were greatly pleased this morning when they heard that Gov. Flower had signed the bill providing for the election of Aldermen under the new apportionment.

Six Aldermen are to be elected hereafter in addition to the present number. The Aldermanic districts are to be identical with the Assembly districts, thirty in number, with the exception of the district comprising the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards. In those wards one Alderman is to be elected in each.

There is also to be one Alderman-at-Large, who will be President of the Board, making thirty-two members in all.

But the most gratifying provision to ambitious politicians is the one increasing the terms of Aldermen to two years at $2,000 a year.

THE RAINEY BRIDGE BILL.

Mr. Thomas Rainey is a happy man to-day, because seventeen years of effort to enact his bill for the construction of a bridge across the East River has finally been crowned with success.

The Legislature had passed and now Gov. Flower has signed the bill. The measure had been long before successive Legislatures. There were years of delay over some amendments, which were overthrown by the courts, but at the recent session Dr. Rainey succeeded in overcoming the objections of the courts.

This bill, now a law, provides for building a bridge, with two piers on Blackwell's Island, to connect the New York Central Railroad with Long Island, with authority to build a branch or spur to the Annexed District. There are to be clear spans between shores, at a height sufficient to admit of the free passage of vessels underneath.

One of the principal objects of the bridge is to enable farmers to bring fresh vegetables in bulk to market daily, their wagons to be carried on flat cars. The capital of the Company is $10,000,000. Dr. Rainey is a gray-haired North Carolinian, sixty years old.

NEW HARLEM RIVER DRAWBRIDGE.

Work on a new drawbridge across the Harlem River at Third avenue is to be begun about the same time that the New York Central Railroad will raise its bridge across the river at Fourth avenue twenty-four feet above high-water mark.

The bill authorizing the removal of the present structure at Third avenue and an appropriation of $1,500,000 for a new one has become a law, Gov. Flower having signed it yesterday.

The new bridge will be operated with improved machinery, and will greatly facilitate travel to and from the Annexed District and navigation of the Harlem River. It is expected.

FOR THE NEW CITY HALL.

As soon as Mayor Grant returns from his vacation he will call a meeting of the Municipal Building Commission to select a site for a new City Hall. Gov. Flower has signed the bill which gives the Commission power to choose either City Hall Park or lands adjacent for a site. It will in all probability be in City Hall Park.

INCREASING THE SHERIFF'S FEES.

Sheriff Gorman's income from fees is considerably increased under a bill which the Governor has made a law allowing the Sheriff to charge $1.50 for every duplicate warrant of attachment issued by him. He is also allowed to charge mileage for services in such and similar cases.

Half the fees go to the city. Litigants will have to pay these additional fees, which it is estimated, will amount to $5,000 a year.

BOARD OF CITY RECORD.

To the various boards and commissions of the city government has been added the Board of City Record, created by an act which was yesterday signed by the Governor. The Board will be composed of the City Register and two Commissioners. The Register will receive no salary as Commissioner, but the Commissioners will be paid salaries of $3,000 a year each. Their terms of office will be five years, and the Mayor is empowered to extend it to ten years.

The new Board is to supervise the re-indexing of the block system of all the records in the Register's office, prior to Jan. 1, 1890, when the block system was adopted. All conveyances, mortgages, papers and pamphlets in the Register's office are to be re-indexed, as well as the original records.

Comptroller Myers denounced the bill as impracticable, and said he would write to the Governor protesting against signing it. The Comptroller waited until yesterday to make his objections, and about the time he said he was going to write to the Governor the bill was being signed by the Governor.

THE STURGIS ON SUNDAYS.

The Legislature provided funds for three popular Sunday afternoons at the Museum of Art and the Museum of Natural History. Besides the regular annual appropriations which the museums receive under the laws, the Legislature passed, and the Governor has signed, bills permitting the appropriation of $2,000 annually for the Museum of Art, on a condition that it be kept open two nights a week and Sunday, and $10,000 for similar purposes for the same institution for two years.

An appropriation of $450,000 was made for an extension building to the Museum of Natural History. The extension is to be one of the main wings to complete the plan for the enlargement of the structure which it is estimated, will cost about $2,000,000.

President Arnold of the Board of Aldermen, this morning called attention to a new provision of the new Excise law, which has not been generally known.

Under this provision, licenses for athletic saloons granted by the Excise Board must be approved by a committee appointed by the Board of Aldermen.

MITCHELL'S $11,000 STACHENEY CLAIM.

Comptroller Myers said this morning that he did not oppose the bill signed by Gov. Flower yesterday allowing William Mitchell's claim for $11,000 against the city which had been disallowed by the Comptroller, because he believed Mitchell was entitled to his money.

MR. O'HALLORAN'S INVENTORY.

His Possessions Sworn to in Supplementary Proceedings.

Owns an Independent Spirit, a Suit of Clothes and a Wife Who Gives Him Money.

Referee Thomas O'Halloran, at 49 Chambers street, today continued the examination of Dennis W. O'Halloran in supplementary proceedings. Mr. O'Halloran's name has been frequently mentioned in the papers of late in connection with an arrest that he caused to be made for criminal libel and in which the Grand Jury refused to indict the accused party.

Mr. O'Halloran testified that he owns no property. He holds no shares in any company, no claims against anybody, is not a legatee or heir that he knows of. All he possessed, he said, was a natural independence, a suit of clothes, and a wife who supplied him with money. "My clothes," he said, "are worth probably $5, and, well, my personal effects may be worth $10, that's all."

"How much money does your wife give you?" he was asked.

"All I want," he replied.

"How much did she give you this morning?"

O'Halloran at this point got angry and protested in anything but gentle terms against the mode of proceedings. The referee ruled the question out.

Continuing, he said that his ordinary expenses consisted only of lunches and car fares.

He admitted having had a fire insurance on his Sixth avenue store, but had transferred it when he sold the property.

"Did you ever collect any money on the insurance policy?"

Mr. O'Halloran again became indignant and called toward the referee, who at that moment happened to be in the inner office.

"See here," he cried, excitedly, "this young man is going back to ancient history, and I refuse to answer any more of his questions. I refuse to be made a guy and a cat's paw by him."

The witness sailed steadily for five minutes, and at the persuasion of the referee finally consented to say that he had collected money but that he had spent it.

Lawyer Elder asked for an adjournment, which caused another protest. "I am here for all day," said Mr. O'Halloran, "and am willing to stay. I won't have an adjournment. The whole thing's a plot any way."

Adjournment was had, however, until Tuesday, May 10, at 11 A.M., Mr. O'Halloran having practically concluded his testimony.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 3.—A strange case of love between women is reported from Altamont. SO DR. POWELL TOOK HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

And It Rescued Him from Danger.

"PAVILION, N. Y., April 5, 1890.

"To C. I. Hood & Co.:

"Gentlemen: I was in very bad condition. I ran down to 125 lbs. The trouble was disappearing in the form of a dreadful cough.

"Nervous Prostration

"I could not sleep. I would wake up at times in a nervous state of mind. I felt that unless I could get relief soon that I should surely die. Since I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla the doctors have told me that they had little hope for me. I declined to take any of the best physicians here and in Rochester, but was no better. I was totally discouraged. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I had never been much in favor of patent medicines. I decided to try it.

"Like a Drowning Man

"I could catch at a straw. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla my face and hands were covered with sores, which are all gone. After I had been taking it a couple of weeks I could not deny that I felt better. I have now taken three bottles, and as a result I weigh 150 lbs., am able to work again and feel a thousand times better. I am certain that in a short time by continuing the medicine I shall be completely cured, as I am not so near it. My friends all express surprise to see such a change.

"C. C. POWELL.

is indeed a wonderful medicine, and its claims are fully justified in my experience. I have never seen a medicine equal to it, and I shall do all I can to publish its virtues. I have written you unsolicited." C. C. POWELL, Pavilion, N.Y.

The Committee then adjourned until Friday noon.

TOOK JOHN INSTEAD OF $10,000.

A Breach of Promise Suit Settled by a Marriage in Court.

A suit brought by Mary Tynan to recover $10,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage from John Wojtasick culminated to-day in the marriage of the young people by Judge McAdam, of the Superior Court.

They came from Poland. The bride is quite pretty and only twenty years old. The groom is not bad looking.

John had been arrested on the breach of promise suit and thrust into Ludlow street Jail because it was feared he would leave the State.

The parties came into Court to-day on a motion to reduce the young man's bail from $1,000. John said he was ready and willing to marry Mary, and Judge McAdam said he would allow them to talk the matter over.

After the talk was had John was more anxious than ever to marry, and Mary's face was wreathed in smiles. Judge McAdam married them, with the aid of Miss Mary Wylander, a mutual friend of the young people, who did the interpreting.

John is a cloak manufacturer's contractor in Clinton street and makes a good living.

Wanted Information.

There is a new house being finished on Sibley street, and the owner was so much annoyed by people asking him if it was for rent that he had a sign printed and hung in the window, says the Detroit Free Press. It bore this unusual announcement:

"THIS HOUSE IS NOT FOR RENT."

Then the people stopped and read the card, but did not annoy the workmen or the owner by perambulating the house, asking questions and suggesting improvements.

That night when the owner of the new house had gone home to his supper, two women called on him.

"We are house-hunting."

"I haven't any house," said the man, crossly.

"We saw your new house and"——

"Did you read the card in the window?"

"Yes, that's what we came about"——

"Goodness, woman, doesn't that card distinctly say that 'the house is not for rent?'"

"But why isn't it for rent? We came on purpose to ask you that question."

"Because," thundered the owner, "I am going to live in it myself."

Then he showed them out and barricaded himself in.

The Beginning of the End.

"Now that we have become engaged, dearest," she murmured coyly, says the Chore Review, "I thought in best to order several new gowns, so that after we are married we shall be prepared."

"You could not have done better," replied the young man. "And now, darling, after this is over there is but one thing more to do."

"What is that?" replied the fair girl.

"That," he replied, with a hard, set look in his face, "is to discharge the dressmaker."
