BOLERO'S VERY FAST RACE.

Raindrop Beats Minnehaha for the Clover Stakes.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, May 24.—The weather was simply perfect for racing purposes to-day. It was neither too warm nor too cool, and fleecy clouds obscured most of the time the sun, whose blazing rays are most felt at this season of the year. The weather was a sample of Sergt. Dunn's best. The forecaster of storms and sunshine is generally most perverse in his weatherings with racing people. When the latter want clear weather he sets in rain.

Sergt. Dunn is now giving tips on the weather for a sporting paper, and it was hinted that after Saturday's furious downpour of rain he was notified that if he could not do better his services would not be required any longer. The Sergeant promised to do better, and has kept his word during this week, furnishing beautiful weather.

The track had dried off splendidly when the crowd arrived at the track to-day. Not a wet spot was to be seen and Dreadnaults rolled up after the flying horses like smoke from a cannon.

The attendance was large, nearly 8,000 people being present. The opening event was a dash of five furlongs, with Proclus the opening favorite. A plunge was made by M. F. Dwyer on the Ethle colt, who had a jockey up the coat of Cox or Keshoe. The public followed the lip and backed the money. Hiona at long odds was second, just a head in front of Warsaw, on whom Walcott & Campbell bet considerable money. Proclus went to 7 to 4 to 1 and was never in it.

The second race saw Vanglad, a hot favorite at odds on. Stockton was second choice, but not heavily played, for his people did not believe him quite quick enough. Bolero was third choice, and was well played by a certain party.

The results of Tuesday's Gravesend Notes were fully informed that the colt Was very good and had gotten rid of his sulking propensities. They played him and got the money.

Bolero won like a racehorse easily in fast time. Raindrop held second and Stockton third. Zerling would have had third had she not been shut off close to the rails near the finish.

The talent played the double-footed Minnehaha in the third race, and went down in a heap. The Morris filly, after a very considerable speed, quit like a cur in the stretch, and Raindrop won easily at odds of 5 to 1. Mr. Ehret declared to win with deception, and the smart ones played the other. Prosperity—and got good odds for the place, he just beating the favorite for the place.

Patron went out and made the running with the others close up and all under a pull around the first turn; the pace increased a trifle and Patron went on a little faster. BALTIMORE, May 24.—Billie Barnie has given up his residence in Baltimore and last night left for Brooklyn. There is a strong feeling of regret among the baseball public at the departure of the popular and able manager. FIRE ALARM FROM SCHOOL 11.

It Was Out of Gear and Summoned Engines Unnecessarily.

An old fire signal in Grammar School No. 11, in Seventeenth street near Eighth avenue, which had not been used in years, caused quite a scare in that neighborhood shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

An unknown woman was found sick by a policeman in the hallway of 337 West Seventeenth street, and he went to the school to summon an ambulance.

The janitor pulled the signal in the alarm-box and a half dozen engines, besides an ambulance, responded.

The firemen found that they had been called out on a false alarm, and an examination of the signal disclosed the fact that it had been operated for a fire call.

There was excitement among the pupils in the school, who were ignorant of what had occurred.

BYRNES REPORTS PROGRESS.

Reform Work Done Since He Has Commanded the Police.

Six Roundsmen Promoted To-Day to Be Police Sergeants.

At the meeting of the Police Board to-day Supt. Byrnes made a report on his efforts to enforce the law since he became Superintendent. He said that the first thing he did upon assuming the office was to order each Inspector to render a weekly report of the condition of his district and also have each Captain make a report once a week upon his precinct, telling what efforts they had made to enforce the law.

Within two months in Inspector Williams' district six reputed gambling-houses have been closed, ninety-three policy-shops closed and 104 disorderly houses raided.

In Inspector McAvoy's district thirty-three gambling-houses and sixty-nine policy-shops have been closed and forty-two disorderly houses raided.

In Inspector Collins's district two reputed gambling-houses and eleven policy shops were closed. The Inspector says there are no disorderly houses in this district.

The Superintendent reports that there is no public gambling. There may be a few gambling places, but they are behind bolted doors.

The policy business is entirely broken up, he adds, and what little there is of it is confined to concealed places.

As to disorderly houses, the Superintendent thinks they are a question for future legislation. He is in favor of licensing them, as is done in some other countries. It is a question, he thinks, as to whether the scattering of disorderly houses is not more injurious than the herding of them in one locality.

In the past since July 5 50 arrests have been made for violations of the Excise law. The difficulty in properly enforcing the Excise law lies not with the police, but with the courts. If the magistrates would punish persistent violators, he says, it would be easy to enforce the law and stop the illegal sale of liquors.

Six roundsmen were promoted to-day to be sergeants. The following men were:

John Cullen, Lexington, in the West Thirteenth street station. He goes to the Oak street station.

Charles A. Patterson, of the Mercer street station, East Fifth street.

Dennis J. Brennan, of the Eldridge street station, Elizabeth street.

Francis McGuirk, of the Liberty street station, Oak street.

FOUR HUNDRED MEN STRUCK.

Housesmiths, Engineers and Other Jackson Iron Works Employees.

Four hundred workmen were thrown out of employment this afternoon by a strike on the new Criminal Courts building, at Centre and Franklin streets, against the Jackson Iron Works, because of their employment of Paul Chandler, an engineer, who was suspended a month ago by L. A. 3,129, K. of L.

One hundred other engineers were ordered out by Delegate Carroll, and 40 housesmiths struck in sympathy. The suspension of hoisting competes 100 bricklayers and hod-carriers to quit work.

The strike soon spread to the Metropolitan Insurance Company's building, at Madison avenue and Twenty-third street, and Kranich & Bach's new piano factory, on Twenty-third street near Second avenue, where the Jackson Company also had engineers, and fully 250 more men struck or were compelled to quit work.

The strikers say Chandler is a non-union man. He came to work on the Criminal Courts Building yesterday, and he says:

"I am still a good union man, although I was suspended because I refused to pay a $50 fine during the Pelham Hod-hoisting Company's strike on the new Astor hotel at Fifth avenue and Thirty-third street last month.

"I made a year's contract with the Jackson Company ten days before the strike, and had to go to work or lose my job. I did not, however, hoist any hods, simply our own iron.

"My assembly suspended me and refused my dues. D. A. 49 refused to listen to me, and I shall appeal to General Master Workman Powderly because I have been outraged, not by my local assembly but by a clique."

STRUCK BY AN L ENGINE.

Two Guards on the Third Avenue Line Hurt at 107th Street.

Wallace Hewston and Alexander Jager, two guards on the Third Avenue Elevated Railroad, were standing on the track at One Hundred and Seventh street and Third avenue at 7.30 o'clock this morning when engine No. 251, going north, knocked them down and injured them severely. Hewston is twenty-five years old and lives at 202 East One Hundredth street. He was taken to Harlem Hospital. Jager was sent to the Presbyterian Hospital. He lives at 233 East One Hundred and Eighth street.

A JUROR DROPS DEAD.

Broker M. T. Moran Fell Fainting in the Court-House Hall.

The Jacobs-Sire Breach of Promise Suit Put Off.

The Tragedy Gives the Defendant a Delay Until November.

Michael T. Moran, a broker at 97 Pine street, and a juror in the Jacobs-Sire $50,000 breach-of-promise suit, dropped dead in the upper corridor of the County Court-House at 10.30 o'clock this morning. He resides at 157 East Seventieth street.

Mr. Moran was a tall, spare man of fifty-five years. He had been accepted as the third juror in the trial of the suit of Miss Esther Jacobs against Henry B. Sire.

Judge Gildersleeve was calling the case when an attendant hurriedly entered and informed him that Juror Moran had fallen in a fit.

He was followed by another attendant who said the man was dying, and a moment later a third attendant brought the information that Mr. Moran was dead.

The court-house corridors at 10.30 were filled with suitors, lawyers, witnesses and jurors, all of whom were startled by a shrill cry uttered by a bystander as Mr. Moran fell.

Juror Moran, arriving late and in a hurry, was much excited. A bar had been placed across the entrance to the chamber where the trial was going on, and as Mr. Moran stooped to pass under it he plunged headlong into the arms of Henry Dyer, the officer on guard there.

He was carried into the chamber known as Part IV. of the Superior Court, and died almost immediately. An ambulance was summoned from Chambers Street Hospital, but the surgeon arrived too late to be of any assistance.

Coroner Schultz responded at once to a telephone call, and he stated that Mr. Moran had died of heart failure.

The dead man's brother and business partner, Daniel A. Moran, who also lives at 157 East Seventieth street, was notified.

Judge Gildersleeve informed the large assemblage in Part I. of Juror Moran's sudden death, and, turning to the lawyers, said:

"Gentlemen, it is for you to say whether you shall go on with the trial before eleven jurors only, or shall discharge the jury and select a new one."

Charles W. Brooke, for Miss Jacobs, said he was ready to go on before eleven jurors, but Chauncey Truax, counsel for Henry B. Sire, asked for an adjournment until 1.30 this afternoon, when he would decide whether he would go on or not.

The trial of Miss Jacobs's suit had drawn an immense court audience, for it had been whispered by the friends of the defendant that each of the sixteen witnesses on his side would relate a story of how he had been accused by Papa and Mamma Jacobs of being engaged to one or another of their six pretty daughters, and this would bear out the claim of Henry B. Sire that the Jacobses were hot "out for money," not for husbands.

Miss Esther had reached about the middle of her narration of how young Mr. Sire wooed, won and lost her in a three years' courtship when court adjourned yesterday. Several love-letters had been read and explained, and several more were to follow to-day.

In them there was mention of moonlight sarques, lovely new bonnets, the roses, hundreds of kisses and love for dear papa and dear ma, and, read consecutively, they illustrated how the ardor of Henry had warmed and warmed, and when Mr. Brooke ceased the swain had reached a fever heat with a promised splendidly for the next letter.

The case is peculiar in the fact that the beautiful Miss Esther admits that she herself broke the engagement, for the reason that her fiancé was constantly referring to a fault which he could not shake off, and she sues not for balm for a broken heart, but for damages incurred through her breaking and refusing several splendid engagements as a concert singer on account of scandal.

Three of the six little Jacobses accompanied Miss Esther, the latest regal of their sex, to court to-day. They were the plump and petite Mrs. Clara Harris, the equally plump and petite Miss Minnie Jacobs, a New Jersey lady with jet-black hair and eyes to match, Papa Jacobs, iron-gray and wide-awake, and Mamma Jacobs, iron-gray and with a thin, pale, troubled face, were with them.

The girls, Minnie and Tillie, are teachers in the public schools. All hurried away with the plaintiff at the first opportunity.

At the reassembling of Court Mr. Truax said that he was unwilling to go on with the trial before eleven jurors. He said no one more than the Judge could realize how certain it was to the defendant in such a case to have the judgment of a full jury of twelve men. He added that the defense was not ready for the trial, owing to the absence of a material witness in Europe.

Mr. Brooke replied slowly and deliberately that if Mr. Truax would dictate to the stenographer exactly what he hoped to prove by this absent witness he, Brooke, would accept it as if it had been sworn to by that witness.

Judge Gildersleeve said the defense was unwilling, and at the request of both lawyers he ordered that the case be put on the calendar of the October Term.

Locked-Out Men's Demands Conceded by a Big Quarry Company in Barre.

The Second Break from the Manufacturers' Association.

Particulars of the Settlement with the Cape Ann Granite Company.

Paving Contractors in This City Given Another Day's Grace by Commissioner Gilroy.

Secretary Grant, at the head of the combined Cutters and Granite Workers' Strike Committee in this city, this morning received a despatch from Barre, Vt., announcing the withdrawal from the New England Granite Manufacturers' Association of the Webster & Morse Granite Company of Barre.

This company, he said, is one of the biggest companies in the Association. It employs about four hundred men, and has agreed to the workingmen's demands that the yearly scale of wages shall be signed on May 1.

The news received positive confirmation from the Company's agents in this city, and it was said that work will be resumed in the quarry in a day or two.

THE GLOUCESTER BREAK.

The Cape Ann Company's Settlement with Its Locked-Out Men.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

GLOUCESTER, May 24.—The granite-cutters of the Cape Ann Granite Company, who had been locked out, will return to work this morning, and because of the breaking away of that Company from the Granite Manufacturers' Association of New England, there is great rejoicing among all the locked-out granite-workers on the Cape.

Yesterday afternoon the receivers of the Cape Ann Company met a committee of the Stone Cutters' National Union and a committee of the men at the office of the Company and the agreement under which the men will day return to work was effected shortly after 3 o'clock, when the meeting broke up for a short time in session. A copy of the agreement follows:

BAY VIEW, MASS., May 23, 1892.

It is hereby agreed between the undersigned Receivers of the Granite Union Company of the Cape Ann Granite Company, that the bill of prices, as set forth in the agreement between said Granite Union Company and said Cape Ann Granite Company, upon which the Cape Ann Granite Company now is, is hereby accepted.

(Signed) HENRY H. BENNETT,
CHARLES F. SEAVEY,
Receivers Cape Ann Granite Company.

John Cruickshank, David Stone, John Flaherty, Amos Cooper, James M. Barry, Committee on behalf Cape Ann Branch Granite Cutters' National Union.

The receivers of the Company received the following letter from Col. Jonas H. French, who was President of the Cape Ann Company before its assignment:

I make an earnest protest against the action of the receivers in signing the bill of prices, especially during negotiations with the stone-cutters being employed by that Company in Quincy, Mass., and Barre, Vt.

The Cape Ann Granite Company is a member of the Granite Manufacturers' Association of New England, and has been since its formation, and I am a member, or its president.

Work was suspended because that Association demanded for the best interests of the members of the association, and work was resumed because it is a violation of the good faith on that Company not to recognize the Manufacturers' Association. It seems to me, if I may use the language of the receivers, as though the Cape Ann Granite Company, instead of "Bay View," Mass., should be "Bay View," Quincy, Mass.

Respectfully yours,
JONAS H. FRENCH,
President.

Delegate Grant, in conversation with THE EVENING WORLD correspondent last evening, stated that a strike would start in Mr. French, who was formerly the President of the Company, has now no connection whatever with the Cape Ann Granite Company, and that the receivers possessed full power to take any action they saw fit without consulting Mr. French.

By the adjustment with the Cape Ann Company about forty cutters will return to their posts.

The agreement which the Company has made with its men is looked upon as a direct violation of the pledge made to the Granite Manufacturers' Association, and is considered to labor circles the breaking away of the Cape Ann Company from the Manufacturers' Association. It is certainly a break in the solid front heretofore presented by the granite-makers against the demands of the stone-cutters, and means that the Cape Ann Company will withdraw from the manufacturers' combine is still a guess.

A despatch from Gloucester this morning says that the settlement with the Cape Ann Company was hailed with great satisfaction by Messrs. Hunt and Dodge, the granite-workers' generals, as the opening wedge to a final adjustment of the whole trouble.

This settlement, however, does not yet affect the striking paving cutters and others at Lakeville and Pigeon Cove. The strikers at Rockford and Hingham last evening expressed the greatest satisfaction at the news of the settlement with the Cape Ann Company.

MANUFACTURERS IN SESSION.

At the Quincy Hotel, where the Executive Committee of the Granite Manufacturers' Association of New England convened, the men present represented $10,000,000 in capital, and are the proprietors of one of the greatest industries of New England.

Secretary Dodge said that there was an underlying sentiment across to their conversation, suggesting the many jokes passed previous to the opening of the meeting, and all seemed to realize the fact that the trouble had become more widespread than they had expected.

The President of the Association, Mr. John Quincy Adams Field, of Quincy, Mass., was greeted like a savior of a long lost.

He at once proceeded to lay before the law to some of the more trouble-some questions.

"I expect nothing new to come from this meeting," said Mr. Field to THE EVENING WORLD correspondent, although I have not talked to any of the delegates.

Much some of the manufacturers were asked concerning the statement which was to have been given to the public May 16, they remarked that the matter was not one concerning the public, and Vanderbilt's famous statement was used with even more force than the original was credited with.

They spoke lightly of the concession of the Cape Ann Granite Company and said that it was matter that would not affect the other members of the Association.

STRIKERS TAKE COURAGE.

They Will Push Their Charges of Conspiracy Against the Bosses.

At the headquarters of the combined cutters and granite-cutters strike committee, in Germania Hall, to-day news from Boston and Gloucester was eagerly awaited.

The Executive Committee of the New England Association of Granite Manufacturers is in session in Boston, and the strikers hope that the break in the lines by the withdrawal of the Cape Ann Granite Company will be followed by others.

Whether the desertion from the manufacturers' ranks will be perfected or not the action of the Executive Committee is expected to have important bearing on the difficulty. The Gloucester break felt the strikers with hope. It was announced exclusively in THE EVENING WORLD.

Owing to the heavy rain which made in the West and impassibility, Commissioner Gilroy has extended the time for the contractors to begin repairs in the city streets, so the repairs will not be made until Friday.

To an Evening World reporter the assistant Corporation Counsel said that the Commissioner did not begin relaying the streets yesterday, he would do so to-day, as the Commissioner has given the contractors one day more, so that the repairs would be made on Friday. The reason for the delay, he said, was that the contractors had raised a material point in appealing to Corporation Attorney Grant to-day, and the Commissioner wished to have the point settled before he proceeded to the work. The point, he said, was that the contractors claim that they are not obliged to do the work, the Commissioner claiming that they are obliged to do it.

Corporation Counsel Grant said that the contractors claim that the Commissioner has no right to make them do the work, and that they should be paid by the city for it.

It was reported at the strikers' headquarters this morning that the Commissioner of Public Works had ordered that the paving-blocks taken from the streets should be kept by the contractors, and that they would be paid for the work of replacing them.

Commissioner Gilroy said that the paving-blocks taken from the streets by the contractors would be purchased by the Department of Public Works.

LET O'BRIEN TAKE A WALK.

How the French Police Lost the American Bunco King.

His Arrest Was Caused by the United States Consul at Havre.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

PARIS, May 24.—The following facts have been learned in regard to the arrest of Thomas O'Brien, the notorious American bunco man, who, after its extradition from England, was sentenced in Albany, N. Y., to ten years' imprisonment for robbing a man of $10,000, and who subsequently made his escape.

Mr. Blaine, the American secretary of state, sent a cable despatch on Saturday to Mr. Monty Vignaud, the secretary in charge of the American Legation during the absence of the Minister, telling him that it was thought that O'Brien was on the French steamer Marseille, which sailed from New Orleans May 1 for Havre and calling upon him to cause the fugitive's arrest.

Mr. Vignaud saw M. Ribot, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the Prefect of Police, both of whom promised to do their utmost to assist in capturing O'Brien.

Mr. Vignaud then telegraphed to the American Consul at Havre, informing him of the expected arrival of O'Brien.

When the Marseille arrived on Saturday a watch was kept on the steamer, but O'Brien made no attempt to land that day. On Sunday he was found in his stateroom, the police making any attempt to stop him. The consul, however, found him on a train and arrested him and delivered him to the police. Great fear that he was a dangerous man.

The police telegraphed to Mr. Vignaud that they had O'Brien. Yesterday the consul learned that the police had let O'Brien take a walk. Upon that time he has not been seen.

Washington, May 24.—A cable message was received at the Department of State this morning from the Secretary of Legation at Paris confirming the news despatch that O'Brien escaped from the French police at Havre.

London, May 24.—The American Legation in Paris had telegraphed to Mr. Robert T. Lincoln, the United States Minister here, to send Chief Clerk Hodson to France to identify O'Brien.

Mr. Hodson was straight to depart when a second telegram was received stating that O'Brien had escaped from the French officers.

The fugitive was supposed to have embarked at Havre on the steamship Ethe, which arrived in the Thames yesterday. Detectives met the steamer upon her arrival and taken possession of her. They did not, however, find O'Brien.

Proprietor William A. Thompson, of the Gloucester track, has been indicted again so has Starter T. Tighe.

Pitt Dwyer played Tom Tough yesterday. His own horse Temple won easily.

Jockey Thompson, it is said, can ride Dale better than any other boy. It must be confessed that his riding yesterday was a most artistic piece of work.

Orlando has been declared out of the Derby. He must be a sick colt to have made the Duke of Westminster declare him, after the latter's statement that he would start if he only had three legs.

Young charles Fair, son of the Bonanza millionaire, has purchased a stable and will go in for racing. Yesterday he paid $60,000 for four horses, paying $30,000 for Yo El Rey, which is next to the highest price ever paid for a two-year-old. His other purchases were Stanford's Princess and Floodgate and H. L. Thurston's Darthulartie's colt. Yo El Rey is by Joe Hooker, and is a full brother to Yo Tambien and half brother to the Earl of Norfolk, Rey del Rey and other cracks. He was bred by Theodore Winters.

Imprisoned for Cutting His Throat.

John Kelley, a laborer, of 906 Third avenue, attempted suicide at 6 o'clock this morning by cutting his throat with a razor. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital, a prisoner.

EXTRA THE TURF.

Merriment, Owned by Guttenburg Outlaws, Wins at Gravesend.

LONGSTREET'S GOOD FORM.

Kingston's Defeat by Leonawell Causes Unpleasant Remarks.

Notwithstanding the law passed by the Board of Control prohibiting the running of horses owned by Guttenburg horsemen at the tracks under their jurisdiction, a colt owned by two outlaws (?) raced and won an overnight event at the Gravesend track yesterday. This simple happening would not cause much comment were it not for the fact that the colt raced in the colors of Mr. John A. Morris, who is supposed to be the high kingpin of that most august and self-appointed body. The colt was also ridden by Mr. Morris's jockey, Fred Littlefield. The colt in question was the two-year-old Merriment. He was purchased by Messrs. Gibbons and O'Leary from Wyndham Walden, trainer for the Morris stable, on Saturday night for $3,000. Mr. Morris was present, witnessed the transaction, and saw the deposit ($500) made. The understanding was there and then made that the colt was to be entered in the overnight sweepstakes and, in the event of his winning, the purse was to go to Messrs. Gibbons and O'Leary. The colt ran and won. The Board of Control did not wake from its trance and the officers of the Association shut their eyes and ears before and during the progress of the race. After the race every one professed ignorance as to the real facts of the case. Mr. Morris admitted seeing money passed, and knew that the colt was sold, but did not know who the purchasers were. None of the association's officers were aware that the colt had been sold, notwithstanding the story was told about the track during the morning. It remains to be seen what the board of Control will do. Of course it would not dare to censure Mr. Morris or the officials of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, because both Mr. Morris and Mr. P. J. Dwyer are members of the Board. The blame, therefore, must fall upon the trainer, Walden, and he will probably be disciplined. Money was probably the salve that smoothed everything over. Mr. Morris got an exceptionally good price on his colt, and Mr. M. F. Dwyer secured Merriment in the race. Why should anyone protest and spoil the little picnic?

The good people who visited Gravesend yesterday saw Judge Morrow, the winner of the Brooklyn handicap, defeated by Longstreet. There are no excuses to be offered for Morrow's defeat, save that he was giving weight to the acknowledged best horse in the country, and was further handicapped by carrying a load pad weighing about thirty pounds. Add to this a small boy who never could ride, notwithstanding his lucky win in the Handicap, and you can figure out why Morrow was beaten. Longstreet is almost himself again, as the writer predicted several days ago when others were complaining of his two prestofis defe
